KAISER FOUGHT HARD AGAINST ABDICATION

HAND FORCED AFTER SEVERAL CONFERENCES WHEN PRINCE MAX MADE STATEMENT

(By Carl D. Groat).

BERLIN. — (Correspondence). — Germany has a hard time admitting that she was "militarily" defeated when the armistice came.

But Gen. Hindenburg, Gen. Groener and many other of her prominent leaders knew it quite well, and very plainly told the Kaiser, November 9 last, that the "jig was up" entirely and that he must abdicate at once, according to revelations just made in the pan-German press from "authentic sources"—which in Germany usually means quite official sources.

While the purpose of the pan-German press in making the disclosures was probably to present quite a different aspect of the closing days at great headquarters, Spa, nevertheless the admission of defeat is quite outstanding.

The revelations, in a nutshell, show that a group of generals urged the Kaiser to abdicate because of the internal revolution; that he hesitated and wanted to lead an army against the revolters "to save the Fatherland," that a canvass of other high generals showed such a project was impossible; that they couldn't guarantee their troops would fight Bolshevism; and that almost without exception they declared the army was in such shape that it wanted only to quit and get home.

Desperate Situation.

The situation was pictured to the Kaiser as one of desperation, with food and supplies low, with a crack in the lines coming any time—in a word, that Germany was militarily beaten and in no shape to carry on. The Kaiser's hand was finally forced after Prince Max of Baden, without permission, gave out to the Wolff official news agency a statement that Wilhelm had abdicated. The Kaiser was willing to renounce the title of Kaiser but not iKng of Prussia. He was finally persuaded to leave, though not until he had had several changes of heart, and until his generals had told him that they could not guarantee his safety if he did not take an immediate departure for Holland.

The pan-German journals produced the outline just at the time when the pan-German group in the Assembly was seeking to uncoat Erzberger and embarrass the Government. The object of their disclosures perhaps was to strengthen the position of the Kaiser with the people, and thereby to support the Deutsch national party in Weimar, by picturing him as seeking only the weal of the fatherland up to the last minute of his rule.

It was on the first of November in the great headquarters at Spa that the subject of abdication was first broached to the Kaiser, who promptly rejected the idea. On the 5th and 6th General Groener was in Berlin, where he gained the impression that the abdication of both the Kaiser and the Crown Prince could hardly be postponed any longer with safety, but felt as an officer he ought not to broach the matter further, since the Kaiser had once refused. On the 8th, the Kaiser conceived the notion of leading an army against the revolters.

Spa Conference.

On the same day, Hindenburg, Groener and Gen. Plesse conferred at Spa. Plesse, who was close to the Kaiser, was a dissenter from the whole scheme, but the discussion developed that the movement inside Germany was desperate, that the supplies and food for the troops were sufficient for only a few days, and that transport of other material was already being hindered at important junction points, including Cologne.

The group agreed that sufficient reliable troops for a march against the revolutionists were not to be had.

So the following morning, the whole proposal was presented to the Kaiser. Plesse and General Schulenburg dissented. Hindenburg and Groener said that the fact that the troops had fought well in the spring was no proof that they could longer be depended on, and that chaos was unavoidable if the abdication did not come immediately.

The Kaiser Sticks.

The Kaiser still stuck with Plesse and Schulenberg, but consented to an armistice, saying he would lead his army in peace back home. He was told this would not suffice; that he must quit "cold." The Crown Prince offered to take up the leadership, but apparently was not trusted for his task. Then came the canvass of officers, who even more than ever showed that abdication was a necessary. Communication with the chancellory in Gerlin showed the streets already flowing in blood.

Abdication, the Kaiser was informed, was not a question of hours, but of minutes.

While the negotiations were preceding, Prince Max of Baden gave the Wolff Bureau a statement of the Kaiser's complete abdication, although he had no authorization for such a step.

"To the last, the Kaiser permitted himself only the one thought—to serve truly his fatherland."

The Pen's Part in Canada's Reconstruction Problems

A stroke of the pen gives effect to an agreement affecting millions—as, for instance, a Peace Treaty.

And these signed documents are the fabric of our civilization, the Rivets of our Reconstruction, wherein the Waterman's Ideal Fountain Pen is called to play a leading part.

The Bookkeeper, the Stenographer, the Clerk, the Mathematician, the Engineer, the School-teacher, the Student and the Merchant, all who put pen to paper, find greater pleasure in writing with a Waterman's Ideal.

Even if it were not a distinct economy, all these men and women should own a Waterman's Ideal, with a point suited to their individual requirements, because it lightens the day's work and makes for that greater content which we must seek to promote in these days of Reconstruction.

At the Best Dealers everywhere, in a variety of styles, and with a choice of points to suit all writers.

LORRAINE MAKES A FOURTH AT LUNCH

CHAPTER LXXXII

When we drew up to the curb in front of the restaurant Neil and Mr. Frederick were just turning in. They saw us, and helped me alight, then Neil said to Lorraine:

"Aren't you coming, too?"

"I wasn't asked?" she replied smiling.

"You are asked now, Miss Morton, please join us," Mr. Frederick quickly responded.

"If you are really want me, I should be delighted."

"Take it for granted that we do, Lorraine and come along." Neil took her arm and they walked ahead of Mr. Frederick and me so giving him a chance to say:

"We will not be able to talk, but perhaps it is just as well, I like you and —Forbes to be seen with her."

"She is a dear," I returned, just as the waiter showed us to the table which had been reserved, adding another place.

"See! I wasn't expected!" Lorraine bantered.

"Se ..' :ff!: 4(4.':ki;*!hz,6,6,6

As is always the case when one's mind is filled with a certain subject the conversation veered around to business before we had finished our luncheon. Lorraine seemed terribly interested, and asked several intelligent questions which showed her familiarity with terms used in talking of monetary affairs. Neil was explaining a certain deal he was about to take up to Frederick. He seemed to me to be trying to impress his listener with the probity of the deal. I tried to grasp what was being said, but most of it was over my head.

"Have you seen this tract?" Mr. Frederick asked.

"No—" Neil flushed. "but Tearle has. He brings glowing accounts of it's possibilities."

"Will you wait until I have investigated it. I wouldn't take Tearle's word under oath." Someone had just spoken to Lorraine as they passed so she did not hear, although Mr. Frederick had lowered his voice—I knew for that purpose.

"It is too late the prospectus has already gone out."

"When?"

"About a week ago. We have had several returns, hundreds of inquiries. The country is prosperous. People are anxious to invest their money."

"And Tearle tells them how." It was the first sarcastic speech I ever had heard Mr. Frederick make.

'Come you too you must stop talking business when you have ladies with you," I hastened to say. I saw a look on Neil's face which I recognized; one he invariably had when he was beginning to get angry or impatient.

"That's right, Mrs. Forbes. We aren't very polite," Mr. Frederick answered, while Neil, looking relieved, turned to Lorraine. "I'll see your husband in his office later." I knew he had added that to let me know he would not so easily give up helping me, and attempting to make Neil see things as he wanted him to.

The remainder of the luncheon passed pleasantly. Before we rose from the table Lorraine said:

"Won't you and Mr. Frederick dine with me one night, when ever it is convenient to you men of business?"

"That will be lovely," I hastened to say. I would know that Neil was not with Blanche Orton for that night, and I should enjoy dining with Lorraine and her father. It flashed over me that Mr. Frederick would be sure to make a good impression, and as he was a friend of Neil's it would help Neil. Little did I think that the lunch, his acceptance of Lorrraine's invitation were both because of that very idea. He knew that Neil would soon need friends. He also knew that it helped him to be seen with nice people.

But not until years afterward did I learn all that this man had done for us.

At every Borden Condensary, the milk is passed only after a careful physical test, supplemented later by a test for butterfat and minimum bacteria. No milk is accepted which does not come up to the Borden standards, since the quality of the milk accepted regulates the quality of the finished product. This is why Borden's St. Charles Brand is uniformly pure.

Hermetically sealed in sterilized cans, Borden's St. Charles Milk keeps indefinitely as long as the cans remain unopened. Stored on your pantry shelf, this milk solves the problem of shortage, and makes you independent of any other milk supply. Handy, convenient and economical—just add an equal amount of water and you have milk as fresh as when drawn from the cow. Use it for all purposes that require milk. CAUCUS WAS OF SHORT DURATION

PREMIER BORDEN PRESENT—UNION GOVERNMENT WILL CARRY ON.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—At the conclusion of this morning's caucus of the government members, Sir Robert Borden proceeded to his office in the Museum and held a short council. Interviewed on his way thither he declared that a very harmonious and satisfactory caucus was held, and a statement will be given out later in the afternoon."

The caucus was of but short duration, lasting only from ten to twelve and concluding with three cheers and a tiger twice repeated. Its very brevity is evidence in itself that no definite decision was reached. The Premier's statement was comprehensive and occupied a considerable part of the time of the conference.

While no official statement has yet been given out it is learned on good authority that further action toward the consolidation of the party will be postponed until the next session. The Prime Minister is not in a condition of health to permit of his embarking on the difficult task immediately of organizing the various elements. It is hoped, however, that he will recuperate fully with a couple of months' holidays and rest. In the meantime the Union government will carry on as usual.

MISSIONARIES SALARIES UP

TORONTO, Sept. 30.—Salaries of Methodist missionaries were raised by the action of the Board of Managers of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church, meeting in the Metropolitan Church, but this relates only to those workers in the mission fields sustained by this organization.

Salary increases of $11,500 a year were voted, $100 being added to the salary of each missionary in Canada, and salaries for China and Japan being placed at $650 for the first year, $700 for the second, $750 for the third, fourth and fifth years, and after that $800. Salaries on furlough are to be $800.

The following appropriations of funds were made: Japan, $60,560; Japan (supplementary), $6,750; China $63,880; China (supplementary), $10,600; China and Japan in British Columbia, $17,780; French work, $10,036.50; Foreign Missions (Montreal), $4,384; Indian work, $21,211.87; Austrian work, $13,239; work among other European foreigners, $19,740; special literature, etc., $52,049; preparation fund, $600.53.

Miss Elizabeth H. Alcorn, who has been a missionary in Japan for 20 years, has been appointed field secretary.

An Inside Bath Makes You Look and Feel Fresh

Physicians the world over recommend the inside bath, claiming this is of vastly more importance than outside cleanliness, because the skin pores do not absorb impurities into the blood, causing ill health, while the pores in the ten yards of bowels do.

Men and women are urged to drink each morning, before breakfast a glass of hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of helping to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the previous day's indigestible material, poisons, sour bile and toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Just as soap and hot water cleanse and freshen the skin, so hot water and limestone phosphate act on the eliminative organs.

Those who wake up with bad breath, coated tongue, nasty taste or have a dull, aching head, sallow complexion, acid stomach; others who are subject to bilious attacks or constipation, should obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drug store. This will cost very little but is sufficient to demonstrate the value of inside bathing. Those who continue it each morning are assured of pronounced results, both in regard to health and appearance.

HOME CIRCLE COLUMN

THE HAPPY MAN.

The happiest man in the world is the common, every day chap, who makes his own living, pays his own bills and has the respect of his neighbors. He saves a little money as he goes along, but doesn't try to get a corner on his local output and he is not a slave to ambition or society. He never expects to wear out his trousers in the senate and when he glides out of bed in the morning he never wastes any time trying to pick out the right tint of socks, suspender and necktie that will blend with the general effect.

He only wears a high collar when he feels like it, and when his pet corn begins to jump, he jerks out his knife and cuts a four-inch gash in the side of his shoe and nothing is said about it in the local paper. He never has to set up at night to poultice his conscience. He believes in the doctrine of live and let live. When he encounters one of the needy he doesn't stutter with his pocketbook. The plain plug of a man is happy, because he is satisfied and he doesn't spend half of his time yearning for something which his salary will not permit him to buy. Give us more plain men and the world will be better.

The well informed woman may generally be known, not so much by what she tells you, as by what she does not tell you; for she is the last to take pleasure in mere gossip. To make vulgar allusion to the appearance, dress or personal habits of her friends and neighbors.

Pull together, brethren. We are all here for the same purpose. Then live and let live. The best way to build up Peterborough is for each and every man to pull together and not to rend and pull down. All the residents of Peterborough are partners, not opponents. In all likelihood, the more business done by your rival the more you will do.

Every well regulated family ought to be a little theatre and concert room to itself. Teach your sons and daughters to sing, read, recite and declaim. After a little discipline they will make the evening the brighest part of the day.

BOY WANTED.

A business house in Peterborough wants a young man who is willing to start at the bottom and work up. Some of the requirements are that if the street car has stopped he will not wait but go on foot. They want him to know how to spell, punctuate and know the meaning of words.

Not a fellow who merely looks ahead to help build up the business, work overtime if necessary and become a real, active part of the business—not a girl, because if she is a good one some fellow will want to marry her. But a boy who wants to be a man in all that the term means—who can be a stenographer, a clerk a real honest, earnest boy who can make good and is willing to do so. A thousand places are now open to such boys, but only one in a thousand for a boy who is only a salary hunter. Where are all the boys who want to make good and are willing to work to make good? The best places in Canada wait them.

When a town ceases to grow it commences to die, and the more the people try to kill off each other in their business and good name, the more rapidly will utter ruin come to all. Stand together for the advancement of every citizen. If a man shows ability to prosper do not pull him back with jealousy or weigh him down with cold indifference.

Many a woman goes out shopping dressed in silk and enveloped in perfume, whose hard working husband hasn't had a new suit of clothes or a decent meal in five years. Yes, and many a loafer stands on the street with a stinking pipe in his face, his tank full of 'booze' and his mouth full of profanity, whose hard-working wife hasn't had a new dress or a kind word since she was married.

Strange what made that dress wear out so quickly. Paid a good price for it and it should have lasted two summers. Bought it away from home, didn't you? Serves you right! If you had purchased it at home it would have been as good as new right now.

CRIMINALS RETURN

Now Demobilized Return to Civil Vocations.

Lord Buckmaster tells us that "hunger, bankruptcy, and revolution will soon be knocking at our doors." However that may be, the burglar is knocking at them already and is getting inside our houses with rather alarming success. All wars have been followed by an increase in crime, and the last war is proving no exception. House raiding in the holiday season is no new thing, but some districts here are suffering from it with unusual severity. Attacks on shopkeepers' cash tills are significantly frequent, and the latest development is the raiding of the booking offices' cash at railway stations. The other day a robbery was brought off successfully at a station in the West of London, and another is reported from an important station just beyond Croydon, in the south-west portion of the Metropolis. Amazing stories are told daily in the newspapers here of robberies by gangs of shop thieves riding about in motor cars, and of motor cars left unattended. There is abundant evidence that the criminal class of London, having done its bit with others in the war, and being now demobilized, has returned to its civil avocation with an energy and daring that will need to be sternly repressed. If, as Lord Buckmaster prophesies, we are facing a time of civil disorders, no police force is likely to be adequate for the protection of life and property in great cities. The householders will have to defend themselves as best they can.

The Why? of Another Victory Loan

WHEN, on the morning of November 11th, 1918, the guns were hushed and glad tidings flashed across the world, there followed with the Nation's Prayer of Thanksgiving, one yearning query, which found echo in the faster-beating hearts of wives, mothers, fathers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts.

THAT query was, "How soon will our boy be home?"

AND, from France and Flanders, from Italy and Egypt, from Palestine and from far-off Siberia, there came an answering echo, "How soon, how soon, may we go home?"

CANADA caught the spirit of these longings, and at once resolved to satisfy them.

IT was an appalling task. Shipping was tragically scarce. The composition of the Army of Occupation had not then been settled. And other parts of the Empire as well as Canada were looking for the speedy return of their men.

THE problem was this. The half-million men that Canada had overseas had taken more than four years to transport to the field of battle.

TO bring them home in a few months was a gigantic undertaking—one to tax all Canada's ingenuity and resources.

CANADA solved the problem, but it meant crowding into a few short months, an expense for demobilization which it was impossible to foresee.

THEN, too, besides the sentimental aspect of the necessity for bringing the men home quickly, the economic side could not be overlooked.

THAT was, to transform efficiently and speedily the nation's army of fighters into a national army of workers.

+ + + +

Need Divides Itself in Two Parts

The answer to the question "Why does Canada need another Victory Loan?" divides itself into two parts.

(a) To finish paying the expenses of demobilization, and the obligations we still owe to our soldiers.

(b) To provide national working capital.

+ + + +

Obligations to Soldiers

The obligations to soldiers include:

That already incurred cost of bringing home troops from overseas.

The payment of all soldiers still undemobilized. This includes more than 20,000 sick and wounded who are still in hospital, and who of course remain on the Army payroll till discharged.

The upkeep of hospitals, and their medical and nursing staffs, until the need for them is ended.

These three items alone will use up at least $200,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1919.

Gratuities

There is also the gratuity which has been authorized, and has been and is being paid to assist soldiers to tide over the period between discharge and their re-adjustment to civil life. For this purpose alone, $61,000,000 must be provided out of the Victory Loan 1919, in addition to the $59,000,000 already paid out of the proceeds of the Victory Loan 1918.

Land Settlement

Furthermore, soldiers who desire to become farmers may, under the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, be loaned money by Canada with which to purchase land, stock and implements. The money so advanced will be paid back; meantime each loan is secured by a first mortgage. Up to August 15th, 29,495 soldiers had applied for land under the terms of this Act; and 22,281 applications had been investigated, and the qualifications of the applicant approved. For this purpose Canada this year requires $24,000,000.

Vocational Training

For this work which, with the Vocational Training and Soldiers' Service Departments, embraces the major activities of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment, an appropriation of $57,000,000 is necessary.

These national expenditures are war expenses. They will be accepted readily by every citizen who gives thought to the task which Canada faced following the Armistice, and to the success with which she has met it.

+ + + +

National Working Capital

Canada needs national working capital, so that she may be able to sell on credit to Great Britain and our Allies the products of our farms, forests, fisheries, mines and factories.

You may ask "Why sell to them if they can't pay cash?" The answer is, "Their orders are absolutely essential to the continuance of our agricultural and industrial prosperity."

The magnitude of these orders and the amount of employment thus created, will depend upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

The "Why" of Credit Loans

Farmers and manufacturers (and that includes the workers on these orders) must be paid cash for their products. Therefore, Canada must borrow money from her citizens to give credit, temporarily, to Great Britain and our Allies. Actually, no money will pass out of Canada.

If Canada does not give credit, other countries will; and they will get the trade, and have the employment that should be ours, to distribute amongst their workers. And remember, we absolutely need these orders to maintain employment. If we don't finance them business will feel the depression, employment will not be as plentiful, and conditions everywhere will be adversely affected.

For Transportation

Money must also be available to carry on the nation's shipbuilding programme, and other transportation development work.

For loans to Provincial Housing Commissions who are building moderate priced houses.

These, then, are some of the things for which Canada needs national working capital. She is in the position of a great trading company, and her citizens who buy Victory Bonds are the shareholders.

Those who give thought to our outstanding obligations to soldiers, and to our need for national working capital, cannot fail to be impressed with the absolute necessity for the

Lt. Badgley Married June Elvidge, the Popular Movie Star—She Denies Allegations.

NEW YORK—Lieutenant Frank C. Badgley, of the Canadian Expeditionary Force, formerly of Ottawa, has filed a suit for divorce against June Elvidge, the celebrated screen star. Lieutenant Badgley fought overseas from early in the war until December, 1917, when he was invalided home suffering gas, shell shock and wounds.

His marriage to Miss Elvidge who has achieved popularity as a concert and stage singer and movie actress, on November 19 last, was regarded as a happy outcome of a war romance. Very litle of the details responsible for the Canadian officer's suit was revealed in the papers on file with the Supreme Court. He refers to a certain mysterious "Jack" without divulging the surname of the latter as the party whose interest in the actress was greater than a platonic one.

Miss Elvidge when served with notice of the action promptly filed a vigorous answer denying the allegations.

EFFECTS OF ALCOHOL ON THE BODY

Looked at from a purely scientific standpoint, the question of the baneful standpoint, the question of the baneful effects of alcohol on the human body cannot be doubted, in view of the overwhelming testimonies against it by prominent physicians of world-wide fame.

The American Medical Association, representing 71,000 reputable physicians, passed the following resolution at its annual meeting in June 1917:

"Whereas we believe that the use of alcohol is detrimental to the human economy, and its use in therapeutics as a tonic, or stimulant or for food has no scientific value; therefore,

"Be it resolved, that the American Medical Associatian is opposed to the use of alcohol as a beverage"; and,

"Be it further resolved, that the use of alcohol as a theapeutic agent should be further discouraged."

Dr. Howard Kelly, head of John Hopkins' Hospital, Baltimore, in an address at Washington in 1909, said:

"I began my practice in private life by prescribing alcohol in its various forms as an easily diffusible stimulant in cases of periodic weakness, in low fevers, and exhaustion, in accordance with the common custom of a generation ago. My experience has told me that the effect is temporary, evanescent, that the drug (for so it is) does no real good, and that a dangerous habit is thus easily engendered which may be most difficult to eradicate, a habit that may utterly ruin the patient's body, soul and spirit."

And after ten years' further experience Dr. Kelly in again addressing a large audience at Washington this summer said:

"Whether liquor has any real claim medicinally is purely an academic question For myself I consider it worse than useless and the medical profession of America stands unquestionably against liquor either as a drug or beverage"

An Address.

Dr. A. H. Desloges, general superintendent of asylums for province of Quebec, in an address before the medical covention in June, said:

"Alcohol is one of the universal founders of lunatic asylums, and temperance might be styled one of the most active agents to keep the doctors idle"

Mr. W. H. Waugh, editor of the Clinical Magazine, Chicago, said:

"Personally I stand ready to use alcohol at any time when I believe it to be to best interests of my patients but I do not know of a solitary use or a solitary case occurring in the widest range of medical practice in which alcohol is the best remedy that can be supplied."

"I think the tendency of the medical profession throughout the country is to give up alcohol in the treatment of diseases," writes Dr. Matthew D. Mann, Dean of the Medical College of Buffalo.

"My belief is, there is very little need for the use of alcohol. I almost never use it in my practice," Dr. E. G. Cutler of Harvard Medical School

"I think the effects of alcohol are positively harmful in the vast majority of medical cases," writes Dr. Allen A. Jones of the University of Buffalo, New York.

"There is no scientific justification for the employment of alcohol in medicine." —Dr. Alfred Carpenter.

Secretary H. Benton, M.D., of the American Society for the study of alcohol and other narcotics writes:

"In my personal practice I never have prescribed alcohol internally in any form nor for any cause except in cases of chronic alcoholism, and then temporary during the process of sobering the patient up."

Dr. H. Kress, M.D., medical superintendent Washington Sanitarium, Washington, D.C., says:

"I never prescribe alcohol for my patients. It covers up, conceals or changes symptoms, which every physician needs as a guide in making out his diagnosis and prescriptions. Alcohol receives not merely the patients but the physicians as well."

"The alcoholic treatment of disease received a fair trial and has been found wanting."—Sir Victor Horsley

"Alcohol migh be wholly dispensed with without injury to the sick, every intelligent physician being able to supply its place with other remedies of equal, if not greater, value in the limited number of cases in which it is applicable."—Dr. N. S. Davies.

Concerning the use of alcohol in pneumonia, Dr. A. A. Hill writes in the British Medical Journal:

"I rely on digitalis, strychnine, careful feeding, and absolute rest, but always refuse at the critical period when the overburdened and dilated right heart had almost reached the breaking point, to help my patient over the precipice by prescribing the so-called stimulant that must often, by its paralyzing effect on the cardiac nerves, take away his last chance for recovering. 'Lobar pneumonia, cardiac failure'—so runs the usual certificate, and the cause of the cardiac failure in ninety- nine cases out of a hundred is alcohol.

J. H. Kellogg, M.D., founder of the Battle Creek Sanitarium, Battle Creek, Michigan, says:

"I have been practising medicine for the past thirty-five years and have never used alcohol as a remedy. During thirty-three yars of this time I have been medical superintendent of the Battle Creek Sanitarium and have had under my supervision from two to six thousand cases annually. I have thirty assistant physicians working with me. None of us make use of alcohol in any form as a tonic or stimulant remedy. We find no necessity for its use and believe it could be easily eliminated from the materia medica, not only without any loss, but with a great gain to human welfare."

TORONTO TEACHERS SEEK 25 P.C. INCREASE.

TORONTO, Oct. 1. — A demand for a general 25 per cent. increase in the salaries paid the public and high school teachers is about to be made, the demand to apply to the 1920 schedule. This would boost the city's annual bill to $3,155,177, as the total now paid is $2,523,094. Of this amount $1,847,800 goes to the public school teachers. The high school teachers are said to have prepared their request already and it is stated that the public school teachers will follow their example shortly.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur it Darkens so Naturally Nobody can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and atractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tlel it has been applied. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

TO BE CONTROLLER OF GRAND TRUNK RLY.

J. M. Rosevear Appointed to Important Post—J. B. McLaren Named General Auditor and W. S. Harrison Auditor of Revenues.

J. M. Rosevear to be Comptroller, vice W. J. Ardley, retired.

J. B. McLaren to be General Auditor, vice J. M. Rosevear.

W. S. Harrison to be Auditor of Revenues, vice J. B. McLaren.

The new Comptroller of the Grand Trunk is one of the most widely known railway accounting officers. A son of W. H. Rosevear, for many years General Car Accountant of the Grand Trunk System, he was born at St. Lambert in 1869, educated at the Montreal private schools, and after experience in the railway and commercial field, entered the service of the Grand Trunk in 1897, as clerk in the office of the Auditor of Disbursements. He was appointed travelling accountant in 1904, chief clerk to the Auditor of Disbursements in 1906, Auditor of Disbursements of the Grand Trunk and Grand Trunk Pacific Railways in 1908, and General Auditor in 1918.

Mr. McLaren, appointed General Auditor, joined the Grand Trunk in 1892 as junior clerk at tBrockville and later held positions of Accountant, Chief Clerk, Agent, and General Yardmaster at Durand, Mich. He entered the audit office at Grand Trunk headquarters as clerk in 1901, and has been successively Travelling Auditor, Chief Clerk to the Auditor of Freight Accounts and Auditor of Revenues.

Mr. Harrison, appointed Auditor of Revenues, entered the service of the railway in 1899 at Mimico as junior clerk and was operator, agent and despatcher before transferring to Montreal in 1908 as travelling auditor. He has since held the positions of chief clerk and assistant to the Auditor of Revenues.

WOODSTOCK CRIME INCREASES

WOODSTOCK, October 1. — According to Chief of Police Moore there has been an increase of 200 per cent. in the number of drunk cases reported in the court, compared with last year and this percentage is only for the first nine months of the year. The Chief could not offer any explanation for the big increase. In the criminal cases that have come before the magistrate there has been a 20 per cent. increase.

SUIT TO RECOVER EXPENSES PAID OTTAWA DELEGATION

BRANTFORD, Sept. 30.— An interesting suit is scheduled for the local County Court when Wm. Milmine and other ratepayers will sue next week for the recovery of expense money paid to certain farmers who went in the delegation to Ottawa in 1918 to protest against their boys going to war. The bill amounted to $919, and Mr. Milmine complains that the disbursements from the county treasury was illegal. In defence, the Councillors of Burford admit voting the money, but claim that they acted honestly and reasonably.

WINDSOR BUILDING BOOM.

WINDSOR, Oct. 1. — This city is enjoying the biggest building boom in its history and the total value of permits issued for the nine months of 1919 to date figure $1,800,000, compared with $650,000 in 1917, when Windsor construction reached the top. Five hundred new houses have been started this year but owing to the difficulty in obtaining materials, about fifty per cent. of these are yet unfinished.

IS ICE-COLD WATER BAD FOR RHEUMATISM?

A SOLDIER SAILOR'S EXPERIENCE

This story of Wm. Rogers, a seaman in the Mine Sweeping Branch of the Royal Navy, is absolutely true and can be readily verified.

At Niagara Camp, in 1914, Rogers contracted Rheumatism. He was sent to the Toronto General Hospital, where for over 19 months he was a patient, finally being discharged as incurable. In despair he took a friend's advice and tried Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. The results were astounding—in a short time he was able to pass the stiff examination set by the Navy, and became an A.B. in the Mine Sweeping Branch.

For 17½ months he did service in the North Sea. On three occasions he was blown into the sea and remained in the ice-cold water as long as eleven hours at a stretch. Despite these hardships Rogers had no return of his previous trouble. Think about it. If T.R.C.'S did so much for Rogers—will they not do the same for you?

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templeton, 142 King West, Toronto). 60 Rheu. T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.25.

GUILTY OF MURDER WAS THE JURY'S VERDICT IN THE CASE OF TOM KONEK, ONE OF FIVE MEN EACH OF WHOM WILL BE TRIED ON SIMILAR CHARGE

COURT HAS NO ALTERNATIVE BUT TO IMPOSE THE MAXIMUM PENALTY WHICH MEANS THAT KONEK WILL HAVE TO PAY THE EXTREME PENALTY--JURY ADDED A RECOMMENDATION FOR MERCY

Guilty with a recommendation for mercy was the jury's verdict last evening in the case of Tom Konek charged with murder. "I concur in your verdict" was the reply of Chief Justice Mulock after a poll of the jurymen was taken at the request of Counsel for the defense. "I have no alternative but to impose the penalty provided for a capital crime" added His Lordship. Sentence was deferred when to the usual question of the court as to whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed, Konek intimated through his interpreter that he wished to make a statement. Fearing Konek's statement would predjudice the case of his four companions who are to be tried on a similar charge. His Lordship decided to defer sentence until towards the end of the Assizes. The jury was out nearly two hours. His Lordship assured the jurors that their recommendation to mercy would be forwarded to the Executive Council of the Governor General.

Closing Evidence.

"The accused is a foreigner, but he is entitled to just the same consideration as if he were one of ourselves and a British subject. I ask you to give an impartial consideration and I am satisfied that when you consider all that has been said that the Crown has absolutely failed to prove that the prisoner killed Philip Yanoff. If you are not satisfied that the man who stands there is not the man who fired the shot, then I ask you to give him the benefit of the doubt, and find that he was not the man who fired the shot."

Such was the opening address to the jury by the counsel for the defense, Mr. W. B. Essery, yesterday afternoon.

Speaking of the evidence he brought forth from the evidence that the quarry is open to everybody, a railroad near by, there were automobile tracks, buggy tracks and the imprint of human beings on the road that day and someone else may have been at the quarry that night other than the unfortunate accused. This man is entitled to the doubt and these men were not the only men at large that night."

The Heel Prints.

Mr. Essery then spoke of the rubber heel imprint with its five marks of counter-sunk nails. The prisoner had no rubber heels. No inspection was made to see if any employees of the quarry had rubber heels. They examined the heels of the Russians after they were arrested and said they identified it as the same as the one which made the imprint on the road. Yet they examined it three feet away but they did not fit that heel into the imprint on the road. They neglected their duty, and is a human being going to pay with his life for their neglect. Constable Williams did not know whether there were five or six holes for the nails in the rubber heels in the imprint on the road. The Crown did not take the trouble to keep the name of the man to whom the shoes belonged. Is a man's life going to be taken on such evidence?

Referring to the bunk house Mr. Essery repeated the evidence of the Macedonians, who said that the robbers with pistol pointed to him and the glare of a flashlight on him the robbers said: "Produce the money or we shoot."

"In this peril the Macedonian said 'shoot!'"

"Do you believe it?" asked the defence. "Isn't that a little bravado peculiar to peoples of the Balkans?"

"Moitzoiff said the man had a handkerchief over his face up to the top of his nose and a cap down to his eyebrows and that his eyes only were visible Yet with that gun pointed at him, fear in his heart and the robber cast in the shade by the searchlight being turned on himself, he recognized the prisoner. Do you believe it? Moitzoiff says the prisoner is the man that committed that crime and when he said that he denied what he said at the preliminary hearing in this case."

Crown Prosecutor's Address.

At a quarter after four the address to the jury by Mr. T. J. Rigney began, and he complimented the ability shown by the counsel by the defence in marshaling his evidence.

"We are agreed in many respects that the evidence has been of a conclusive nature.

"Is there any possible justice for the witness to tell what is not the truth. A man is dead, the defence admits it, and medical men have given you the cause of death. There is no evidence of any eye-witness who actually saw the shot fired. The law of the country does not demand that there should be. The Crown's case is proved without that. It matters not at all who killed him. But I don't place my reliance on that."

Peculiar Eyes.

"I placed men in the witness box —3 men who were in the bunk house the night of the murder. Moitzioff said he noticed that the prisoner's eyes were crossed but he goes further and said that he told Constable Puffer before he saw the man here that he had peculiar eyes. Could any identification be more complete?

The second witness swore he was forced to open his trunk, money taken, and the watch in court, which he identified, was the one which he took from his trunk. The bunk house residents all swear that only one shot was fired; an empty shell was found near the bunk house. Fitted into one of the pistols taken from the prisoners, it fitted exactly and there was only that one bullet missing. The footprints seen at the quarry were followed to Indian River, and there the men were arrested. One of the men's heels was found to exactly correspond to the imprints on the road. Mr. Riseborough, the station agent at Indian River, swears that the night before he locked the waiting room and there were no guns there. The men the next day are arrested, placed in that room and afterwards the guns found there. Do you believe that those guns were left there by someone else? The prisoners were searched in Peterboro and money found—three $100 bills and one $50 bill. The evidence of the foreigners who were robbed of money, lost bills of those denominations. The prisoners were hoofing it on the railroad. Is it your experience that men with such an amount of money walk, when trains are available, or were they afraid?

"My learned friend says if there is any doubt at all you must give him the benefit of the doubt. That is not the law. You must not conjure up any doubt. You must have a reasonable doubt.

"The prisoner accepted the hospitality of this country, and is assumed to know the law. You are asked to go to your juryroom, and find a verdict, not pass a sentence, and if our homes are to be kept inviolate, we must see that the law is respected regardless of consequence."

Chief Justice Mulock.

"It is to you and to you only to find a verdict. The killing of one person by another is called homicide. Culpable homicide is killing without any reasonable excuse. Culpable homicide is divided into two classes—murder and manslaughter. If a man kills, knowing that it will kill, it is murder. A man may be guilty of murder under other circumstances.

"If a number of persons assemble to engage in some unlawful acts. If any one of them, whilst aiding in its accomplishment, kills another, he commits murder and the others are also guilty of murder. Applying this law to the case. We will suppose that five men, some of them armed visit a room in the dead of night where men are sleeping, for the purpose of robbing. If one of them kills one of the persons being robbed, they are all equally guilty of murder. If circumstances warrant it, the jury should cut down the charge to manslaughter. In dealing with an indictment for murder, if the evidence proves, it is the duty of the jury to find murder, but if the evidence proves only manslaughter, it is the duty to find manslaughter. If the evidence does not find manslaughter, he should be acquitted. The juries have to be governed by the evidence. The defence here is that the prisoner had no part in the murder or in the assemblage of men when the murder takes place. The case narrows down to whether the prisoner was there when Yannoff was murdered. The men came with faces covered. One of them shot Yanoff. One witness tells us that he identifies the prisoner by his eyes, they looked different. Circumstantial evidence plays a most important part in all cases and must not be disregarded."

Chose One Conclusion.

"Where there are a great many circumstances reaching to a conclusion and rejecting all other conclusions, it is the duty of the jury to reach that conclusion. But if there are a number of conclusions, then you must close one of them If you find that these men were there when Yanoff was killed, they are all guilty of murder. If this prisoner was there with the other robbers, he is responsible, with the others, for the murder of Yanoff." His Lordship admonished the jury to have no prejudices against the prisoner because he is a foreigner.

"Your duty is to find according to the evidence."

At twenty minutes to six the jury retired to their room to reach a decision.

The prisoner, during his pleadings, remained perfectly calm and collected, and only once asked for a drink, which was given him. When the jury retired his eyes followed them only with that idle curiosity which was seen on faces of everyone present.

...nbly Resolution Complains of American Business Invasion.

BERLIN—A German National Assemblyman, Herr Hugenberg, former Krupp's manager, supported by ...al Conservatives, has introduced a resolution complaining of conditions that allow American business men to come into Germany before the Peace Treaty is ratified, and pointing out that Germans cannot go to the United States until then.

The resolution says that it is true that the United States Government has declined to issue passports for Germany, but it charges that business men have been aided in efforts to enter through Scandinavia. It requests the Government to state what it intends to do toward equal treatment for German and American commercial travelers.

LARGER RECEIPTS

THE TORONTO STREET RAILWAY COMPANY HAD A RECORD YEAR —CITY GETS LARGER PERCENTAGE.

THE FIGURES

Special to the Examiner:

TORONTO, Oct. 4.—For the year ending with August, being that on which percentage payments to the city are based, the Toronto Railway Company's passenger receipts were the largest in its history. They were $3,240,838, an increase of $181,304 over the previous twelve months, despite the loss of $240,000 in fares during the strike, as the city gets 20 cents of every dollar of new business done by the city. Its receipts in the way of percentages from the company, $1,084,933, were $36,261 higher. The railway passenger receipts of $1,022 for September were not only a high record, but its August and September receipts together were $5,616 in excess of the corresponding months last year. If this rate of increase can be maintained the company's receipts will jump a million dollars during the year, which will end with August, 1920, on condition, of course, that there is no strike loss during that year.

COST OF KEEPING PRISONERS AT COUNTY JAIL

THIS YEAR IT COST EIGHTEEN CENTS PER DAY FOR EACH PRISONER.

Each prisoner confined in the County Gaol during the year ending September 30th cost the county 18 cents per day for board. This cost is about 3 cents in advance of the cost last year, and 10 cents from eight years ago. The advanced cost is due partly to the rise in price of bread of which each prisoner is allowed one and a half pounds a day, and the advance in

HAYES AND GRAHAM DISAGREED OVER THE PROFITS—VERBAL FIREWORKS AT THE SCHOOL BOARD—MR. G. N. GORDON'S RESIGNATION WAS ACCEPTED.

Messrs. Hayes and Graham who were awarded the contract for the building of the new Memorial School, refused to sign the contract and at a special meeting of the Board of Education, held last evening, the contract was awarded to Richard Sheehy and Son, their tender calling for $169,779.00, or $816 higher than the tender of Messrs. Hayes and Graham. Mr. E. G. Patterson, Chairman of the Building Committee, explained to the Board the reason why Hayes and Graham refused to sign the contract When the two partners came to check over the plans, Mr. Graham stated that he expected to receive 50 per cent. of the total profits. Mr. Hayes could not agree to this but he thought that Mr. Graham should receive the profits for the carpentry work and himself the profits on the rest, of the construction. This Mr. Graham refused to consent to and they both refused to sign the contract. Mr. John Hayes, who was present at the meeting last evening, stated that he would accept a tender by himself at the same figure as that submitted by Messrs. Hayes and Graham. The Board, however, rescinded their motion that previously awarded the contract to Messrs. Hayes and Graham.

Speaking personally, Mr. Patterson stated that he favored accepting Mr. Richard Sheehy's tender, but that in order to save the city as much money as possible, he thought that the contract should be awarded to Mr. Hayes. Mr. J. W. Worth strongly objected to the contract being awarded to Mr. Hayes, as the time for submitting tenders was a month past and he did not think it in order to accept a new tender from Mr. Hayes.

Sheehy Tender Accepted.

"I believe every citizen would uphold us in giving the contract to the next lowest tenderer (Messrs.Sheehy and Son.) The tenders are closed now and we cannot honestly accept a new tender from Hayes."

Mr. J. Mendel Greer—"I don't see how this Board can give a tender to a man who didn't tender at the time which was a month ago. I move that Messrs. Sheehy and Son be awarded the tender for the new school, at their previous amount of $160,779." Mr. Worth seconded the motion and the motion was carried unanimously.

Mr. Patterson explained to the Board that he asked Mr. Sheehy if he would not accept the contract at the price submitted originally by Messrs Hayes and Graham, but Mr. John Corkery, jr., solicitor for Mr. Sheehy, told the Board personally that Messrs. Sheehy and Son could not see their way clear to lower their tender as they had now the lowest tender in, as Messrs. Graham and Hayes had withdrawn. The meeting decided to return the checks of all the unsuccessful tenderers. Mr. Patterson stated that Mr. Sheehy was prepared to sign the contract this morning at his original tender. The contract called for the school to be completed by November 15, 1920, but Mr. Patterson thought that this a practical impossibility now that three weeks had been wasted, and asked that the date be left to be decided by the Building Committee.

"If we leave it to the building Committee they might set the date five years ahead," said Mr. J. W. Worth in a half jocular tone.

This remark precipitated a rather heated discussion between Mr. Patterson and Mr. Worth, and seemed to react on the other members who withdrew their chairs a short distance from the table.

"I tell you that you have made some absolute unworthy statements sitting there in that chair, not worthy of you," declared Mr. Patterson.

"Gentlemen, Mr. Patterson is becoming heated and flying at me because I am the only man that is not afraid of him and he knows it," was Mr. Worth's reply.

"Nonsense," said Mr. Patterson laconically.

Chairman Renne then called the members to order and business was resumed. March 15, 1921 was decided by the Board as the very latest that the Building Committee could decide that the school was to be completed.

"I object to the Building Committee having so much power," said Mr. Worth emphatically. "The Committee has too much power now."

"But their finding is subject to the approval of the Board," exclaimed Mr. G. O. Cameron.

The present contract calls for the contractor to put as security two thirds of the value of the contract. Mr. Patterson thought this an exorbitant sum and thought that one third of the value of the contract was quite ample. This was decided upon by the Board.

Mr. Worth made a comeback and demanded of Mr. Patterson that he withdraw his remarks, "if I am going to sit on this Board with him."

"I've nothing to say," said Mr. Patterson quietly, "I objected to his remarks."

"He is not taking the stand of a gentleman and not worthy of a man of his intelligence," said Mr. Worth, closing the incident.

Mr. Gordon's Resignation.

Mr. G. N. Gordon's resignation from the Board was then read by the chairman.

"We regret to lose a man of the experience of Mr. Gordon," said Mr. G. O. Cameron, "and it came as a complete surprise to me. We are all busy men and I think that Mr. Gordon ought to make sacrifices like the rest of us. In fairness to the electors who gave him such a handsome majority, I think he ought to reconsider his resignation. Before anything is done in the matter, we should have an interview with Mr. Gordon."

Mr. A. A. Fowler—"This is a personal matter I think with Mr. Gordon, and we should accept his resignation. I move that his resignation be accepted."

"Mr. Worth seconded Mr. Fowler's motion. Messrs. Fowler, Greene, Worth and Patterson voted for the acceptance of the resignation and Messrs. Cameron and Dr. Neil voted nay.

MICHAEL BAHRI FOUND GUILTY ON MURDER CHARGE

SENTENCE DEFERRED UNTIL THREE COMPANIONS ARE TRIED —SECOND MAN TO BE CONVICTED.

COURT ADJOURNED

Coming all the way from his home in Fort William, the father of Michael Bahri arrived in the court room last night just as his son's doom was pronounced. Mr. A. M. Cowling, foreman of the jury arose from his seat and anounced that the jury had found Michael guilty of murder just as the swing doors at the rear of the court swung in admitting the accused's father. He made quite a commotion as he shuffled up to the box where his son stood and Chief Thompson called for order but he had reached the prisoner's box and listened to His Lordship as he spoke to the jury. The jury also made a strong recommendation for mercy and Sir William Mulock promised that the recommendation would be forwarded to the Minister of Justice. The tension was almost unbearable to those in the court room, while the jury slowly filed into the room and took their places in the jury box. Only the prisoner seemed perfectly composed and when the jury gave its verdict the only indication that the prisoner heard was a slight drooping of the head and the consequent disarrangement of his well brushed hair. The jury had arrived at a decision a few minutes before the court had assembled but at six minutes to seven they were marched from ... and marched them ... London, counsel ...

ed that the jury be polled which showed that every member of the jury concurred at the general verdict arrived at.

"You have had an anxious time, no doubt," said His Lordship to the jury. "But you had a plain duty to perform."

Judgment was deferred until all the murder cases are disposed of. Not wishing to keep the jury locked over Sunday, as they very likely would be if another trial was started to-day, His Lordship adjourned the court until Tuesday at one o'clock p.m., when the trial of either Samuel Zuluski, Aexander Martinoff or Philip Rotynsky, the remaining Russians accused of murder, will begin.

A difficult technical point was brought up at yesterday afternoon's session of the Fall Assizes. A confession was made by Mike Bahri to Chief Thompson at the Police Court, the day of the ... demands that ... read by ... jury. It will be found on page seven of to-day's issue. It deals mainly with the question of Prohibition, and will prove interesting at this stage of the temperance issue.

MR. ROEBUCK'S ADDRESS ON TEMPERANCE QUESTION

The main portion of the address given by Mr. A. W. Roebuck at the Liberal Convention held here on Thursday evening, was inadvertently left out of last night's issue of The Examiner. It will be found on page seven of to-day's issue. It deals mainly with the question of Prohibition, and will prove interesting at this stage of the temperance issue.

PROGRESS OF THE STRIKE

ANY POSSIBILITY OF MEDIATION THAT WILL BRING BRITISH RAILWAY STRIKE TO AN END SEEMED ALMOST HOPELESS.

CALL FOR VOLUNTEERS

(United Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 4 (by Ed. L. Keen).—Any possibility of mediation that will bring the British railway strike to an early end seemed almost hopeless to-day, following a collapse of yesterday's efforts to effect an agreement. The Government's proposal of a seven days' truce, during which the railwaymen were to return to work pending further negotiations, was rejected. At the same time all efforts of the Transport Workers' Federation to provide a basis of agreement between the strikers and the Government ended in complete failure.

That the government has recognized the failure of the negotiations, and foresees an extension of the strike, was indicated when the Ministry of Labour posted notices requesting urgently that 20,000 volunteers offer their services as bus drivers.

Preparing for a possible growth of disorders, the Government has called upon local authorities throughout the country to form Citizens' Guards to assist the police.

The Commissioner of Police, declaring that an emergency had arisen, early to-day summoned all special constables to report for duty immediately.

The executive body of the National Union of Railwaymen will not meet over the week-end, the members spending the time in addressing campaign meetings throughout the country.

The transport workers have postponed their decision with regard to a sympathetic strike until Tuesday, but some of the Unions will ballot to-day and to-morrow.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Pending the outcome of Tuesday's meeting of all the Trade Unions in Great Britain, the Executive Committee of the Vehicle Workers' Federation will not call a strike of the bus drivers and taxi drivers.

An official of one of the largest railroads in England states that from 15 to 20 per cent. of the trains normally operated are running. Another road claims that forty per cent. are in operation. This strengthens the opinion that the strike will not be decided on the food question, considering the efficiency of the lorry system for collection and distribution.

Railroad officials believe that sufficient coal can be moved to keep the railroad power plants in operation on an emergency basis.

Active preparations are being made for coping further with the strike situation. A communique from Downing street announced to-day that the number of freight trains in operation is increasing.

KING MAY GET SEAT BY ACCLAMATION IN PRINCE COUNTY

LEADER HAS STRENGTHENED HIS POSITION IN THE CONSTITUENCY —STRONGER OPPOSITION NEEDED.

(Special to The Examiner.)

CHARLOTTETOWN, P.E.I., Oct. 4.—It is the general impression through Prince County that the Hon. MacKenzie King is to have no opposition at the bye-election on the 27th. The Liberals claim that the complete and convincing statement of their Leader at Summerside on Thursday with regard to his war record is largely responsible for his probable coming acclamation.

Mr. King addressed another large meeting last night in Alberton, and he emphasised the need of strengthening the Opposition at the present time. He declared that the recent caucus indicated that the Union Government is disintegrating, and that extravagant expenditure needs to be checked.

MR. JAS. THOMPSON GAVE AN ADDRESS

About one hundred electors attended the meeting held at Stewart's Hall when Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., gave an address dealing with the U.F.O. platform. He also spoke on the Government temperance record and explained the ballot fully.

The chairman, Mr. C. F. Kitney, called upon Mr. Highland to address the meeting, and he spoke upon the Government's educational and agricultural platform. Asked by a lady present how he would mark his ballot Mr. Thomp... answered:

WILSON IS A SICK MAN

PRESIDENT HAS BEEN ISOLATED FROM BUSINESS AFFAIRS—CURIOUS CROWDS AT THE WHITE HOUSE.

LATE BULLETINS

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 4.—President Wilson's condition this morning was about the same, according to official information at the White House at eight o'clock. The President is still "gravely ill," he showed a slight improvement last evening. Hope was expressed at the White House that this improvement recorded by Dr. Cary T. Grayson's last official bulletin would mark the turning point in his illness and that he would show progress to-day. Dr. F. X. Dorcum, a Philadelphia nerve specialist, was due in Washington this morning for another consultation with Dr. Grayson and the other physicians attending the President. It was emphasized at the White House that no alarm should be felt over Dr. Dorcum's visit as it was arranged when he first came into the case several days ago that he would come back to Washington for another consultation to-day.

Pulse Normal.

The President's physical condition, it was learned unofficialy was good at an early hour this morning. His pulse was normal and there has been no high temperature. The program of absolute isolation from affairs outside his bedroom was to continue in force in the Presidents' case to-day. Mrs.Wilson, his nurse and physicians were to be his only visitors. Secy. Lansing has called a meeting of the Cabinet for Monday. He will preside. This Cabinet meeting will discuss the most pressing matters before the Government and probably will make plans for the International Labor Conference, which is to convene in Washington this month. There were no evidences of excitement outside the White House early to-day, the curious crowds, nothing to indicate that the President of the United States lay seriously ill. An occasional automobile rolled slowly up the sweeping drive to the stately pillared portico. In the wing which houses the executive offices the motto seemed to be, "Business as usual." Clerks and stenographers were at work. The telegraph department of the White House was, in fact, busier than ever, due to the great volume of telegrams, and cablegrams of sympathy, and expressions of hope for Wilson's speedy recovery, which were pouring in from all parts of the world. Mrs. Wilson is reading many of these but the president is too ill to see them. The newspaper reporters' room at the White House gave some indication of the situation, it was crowded. Word has been received at the White House that the King and Queen of the Belgians, now in New York, will make a very quiet tour of the United States, due to the illness of the President, after visiting Boston and Buffalo. These advices say they will go to a quiet place in California until October 14, when they visit San Francisco. It is hoped here that Wilson's health will be so improved by that date that the King and Queen can fulfil all their engagements while en route east.

THOMAS TOOMS NOMINATED AS A LABOUR CANDIDATE

SUBSCRIBE TO PLATFORM

The standard of the Independent Labour Party was unfurled for the first time in West Peterboro last night, and placed in the hands of Mr. Thomas Tooms, when he was nominated as the Labour candidate for the Provincial elections in this riding. Mr. Tooms was returned on a second ballot with a majority of three over Mr. Thomas H. Lane. Mr. Alex Morrison, Ald. Gainey and Peter McArthur were also proposed, but the later two withdrew.

The first poll resulted as follows: Tooms 31, Morrison 15, and Lane 26, and on the second ballot from which Mr. Morrison's name was omitted, Mr. Tooms received 40 votes and Mr. Lane 37. When Mr. Peter McArthur, president of the Party, announced the result, Mr. Lane was the first to congratulate Mr. Tooms and Mr. Morrison was a close second.

A Few Farmers Present.

There were a few U.F.O. representatives at the meeting and Mr. R. N. Scott of Smith township, occupied a seat on the platform. He explained that the Farmers of West Peterboro were not as united as in the East riding and in some other constituencies, and for that reason he could not speak for any organization, but he promised to give his personal support to Mr. Tooms and assured him that there were quite a number of farmers in this riding who were dissatisfied with the old parties and would work for a Labour candidate.

Mr. McArthur and Mr. Tooms appealed to the working men of the city and townships to give every possible assistance to the promotion of the Independent Labour Party's initial campaign. Both speakers referred to the fact that this was launching a new movement that required both funds and hard work to prove successful. It was emphasized that the campaign was exceedingly brief and that energy would have to be concentrated upon a few weeks of careful electioneering.

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Tooms said that it was a complete surprise to him and he could only offer his thanks for the honor conferred upon him.

"I hope that I have the ability to carry out your desires and wishes," he continued, "and that I may have the privilege of doing something worth while not only for Peterboro, and that has always been the aim of my efforts, but also for the coun-

WILL LEAVE FOR PACIFIC COAST

(United Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.—King Albert of the Belgians has cancelled the arrangements for his tour of the United States owing to President's Wilson's illness.

The programme for the entertainment of the Belgian Royal party in Boston to-morrow and in Buffalo on Monday, will remain unchanged, but from the latter city King Albert, Queen Elizabeth, Prince Leopold, and their retinue will go direct to the Pacific Coast, travelling incognito.

There they will remain quietly at some point in California until 14th October, when they will go to San Francisco to resume their tour if the President's condition is sufficiently improved in the meantime.

THE BATTEN EXCURSION

THE ANNUAL TRIP TO BOBCAYGON FAIR GREATLY ENJOYED THIS YEAR

There was another capacity attendance at Batten's ("Massey") annual steamboat excursion to the Bobcaygeon Fair last Saturday, September 27th.

The steamer "Stoney Lake" was chartered for the trip, and left the Lakefield wharf flying the "Union Jack" and Mr. Batten as commodore, carrying as jolly a crowd of farmers and their friends as could be packed away in the commodious steamer.

Calls were made all the way up at different points on the lakes along the route to take on additional waiting passengers eager to join the party.

Mr. Batten has a habit which he has assiduously kept up for years, and which has never been overcome, of pleasing everybody. But this is just another way of saying that the "Massey" promotes gives satisfaction, as the ideal machinery for the farmers.

Arriving at Bobcaygeon, the party landed and distributed themselves at the Fair and other principal sights around the village. After an enjoyable afternoon the passengers reembarked on the "Stoney Lake" for the home run. During the sail up and down, nothing happened to mar the pleasure of the event. The principal public questions of the day were thoroughly discussed, including the referendum, the farmers' party, and the coming Provincial elections. But there was no break downs and no parliamentary rules broken, because the Speaker ("Massey") kept a watch over the proceedings.

Everyone declared the event to have been a well-managed affair, although some did not get home in time to do the milking that evening.

Mr. Batten received a hearty vote of thanks, and hoped the excursion would be continued next year.

THE WEATHER

The trees are now in all the glory of their autumnal tints. Their hues are many and varied. Some have donned colours modest and delicate in their composition; others are more gaudy in the brilliancy of their colours, while here and there one stands out from all the rest in the gorgeousness of its rainbow tints. The display this fall is more brilliant than usual, and for those whose eyes have been opened to the beauties of nature the forests present a picture of surpassing beauty at the present time. Yesterday was an ideal day—rather a day in June than the month of October. The thermometer rose to 82 degrees in the shade. This morning broke particularly bright and promising for another fine day, but too often these roseate promises of the early morning fail to materialize, and a change is looked for.—W. P.

Let Us Be Known as

A THRIFTY PEOPLE

Let us stop spending heedlessly, and needlessly, and begin to save now and save regularly.

There is a Savings Department at Every Branch of

The Royal Bank of Canada

WHY IT IS.

The decline in foreign exchange, Henry Clews writes, is due to the abnormal condition of foreign trade. The tremendous pressure of exports and the slow increase of imports show few symptoms of abating. "There is still much discussion about financing export trade during the present emergency, but no satisfactory plan of adjustment has yet been reached. Europe must have our food products and crude materials, or reconstruction will stop and disorder revive. For our own good as well as that of war-torn Europe, we will be obliged to send considerable of our surplus abroad on credit. No attempt at supporting sterling seems to be forthcoming; British bankers, as is their custom, preferring natural law to artificial regulation. In London banking circles there is a disposition to allow sterling exchange to fall in order to discourage imports, and thus place British export trade on a better basis. The drop in France was also due to heavy offerings of export bills."

Corn is so difficult to can well that most people would do better to dry it.

Save the broken toys for the rainy days. They are a real source of interest.

PETERBOBO PARK LOTS NOW RESIDENTIAL PART OF THE CITY—FRIENDLY DESCRIPTION OF PERSONS, PLACES AND THINGS.

One large advantage that the present has over the past is in the perfection of the art of photography. Instead of relying on the pencil or pen sketch of some deft person for pictures of the town and city, we have illustrations of great beauty taken from all points of view, even from the air. So posterity can be well apprised how this old-young city looked in the year 1920.

When we get back behind the early fifties we have nothing of photographic work, except some things very crude. Those of the tin-type calibre—quite unsatisfactory and dim. Indeed, not the thing one would like to bring out when welcoming the traveller to our city. So we have to rely on verbal description if we wish to picture, in our minds, the appearance of the locality and vicinity in the early days of settlement and afterwards.

Such descriptions are extant, many of them. Interesting, in that they convey the impressions of the observer, and occasionally his conception of what the future has in store for the place and people.

Sizing Up the Promised Land.

An interesting contribution to the literature of that day is a little old, tattered book, published in 1832, now nearly ninety years ago. It is entitled, in the quaint diction of the time

as they commend themselves to the enterprise of Emigrants, Colonists, and Capitalists,
Etc., Etc., Etc.
Compiled from Documents
By Andrew Picken.
With a Map.

A certain John Gault, Esq., had been sent out by the Canada Land Company and the British American Land Association, very much as the two spies were forwarded to appraise the land of Canaan, as related in Holy Writ. Landing at Quebec he made a careful peregrination from Lower Canada, through Upper Canada, as far as the shores of Lake Huron, with a visit into the State of New York, and further entry into Nova Scotia. He gives minute description of lands, locations, and opportunities; advises as to prospective settlements; analyses the crops as to quality and quantity; states facts in regard to population; and cover a very wide field of possible inquiry. The small volume is well worthy of being reprinted as a mirror of the times and the country at the date indicated.

What will interest us is his remarks on the immediate vicinity and in and about Peterborough. Space will not permit reprinting all he says and quotes, but it is singular how wise and real have been his anticipations and how faithfully his prophecies have been carried out.

Cobourg In Its Infancy.

He was at Cobourg. This place, he remarks, had only one house in 1812, but at the time of his visit had 40 houses, 4 distilleries, 4 stores, 2 good inns, a Methodist chapel, Episcopal Church, and about 300 souls, and he adds "that the trade of Cobourg is increasing rapidly more through the spirit of its merchants than its natural advantages." Which is quite in line with Board of Trade recommendations.

Coming on through the township of Hamilton, he crossed the Rice Lake Plains to the shore of the Lake. He notes the farm lands and says that "David Sidey bought 200 acres at 15s per acre; paying £25 down and the rest in five annual instalments." This farm, Lot 16, in 5th Concession, Hamilton, is now one of the banner farms of the district.

Crossing the Lake to Bannister's Landing (now Hiawatha) he makes running comment on the topographical features of the Township of Otonabee. "Forming the northern shore of the Lake, it has excellent soil in general (loam on clay), but has been but very partially settled. Difficulty of access to market is being removed and roads improved and grist and saw mills erected (Lot 13, on Con. 6). There are numerous swamps in the township, and sandy plains skirt the Lake sore. The settlers in Otonabee are chiefly from the Lowlands; the rest are Highlanders and a few English." The reader will notice the distinction.

Writing of the town site proper, he says: "The town-plot of Peterborough is in the north-east angle of the township of North Monaghan. It is laid out in half-acres, the streets at nearly right angles with the river; park lots of nine acres each are reserved near the town. The patent fee on each is £8, provincial currency, and office fees and agency will increase it 15s or 20s more."

The statements made in the preceding paragraph show the advisability of casting one's bread on the waters as a venture. It is interesting to contemplate that the section of the city, west of Park Street, and from Smith Street clear down to Lansdowne Street, including the valuable Weller Street-Homewood Avenue-Charlotte Street frontages, and ground covered by the C. G. E. Co., was acquired by the original owners at about $4.50 per acre. Land, in those days, was a drug in the market.

Recognizes Industrial Importance.

He continues: "The situation is most favourable, being on an elevated sandy plain, watered by a fine creek, which discharges into the river below the town site. The country around is fertile, and there is great water-power on the town plot, on which mills are now being built by the Government. These mills are on an extensive scale, being calculated to pack 40 barrels of flour; and the saw mill to cut 3,000 feet of boards per day." As a comparison it may be remarked that the Quaker Oats plant turns out one hundred and seventy barrels of flour in sixty minutes.

Continuing he states: "A very substantial frame bridge has been thrown across the Otonabee at this place. There are now upwards of twenty buildings in Peterborough, including one store, which does an extensive business, and another is being built. There is a medical practitioner, two resident clergymen, a school, to which the Government allows liberal aid."

Travelling About the Townships.

Here is a pen picture of the township of Smith: "This township is a peninsula formed by the mud or shallow lakes which divide it from Ennismore and Harvey, and the Otonabee River, which separates it from Douro. The soil is loam; in the north east angle it is rocky. The settlement was commenced about nine years ago by a small body of Cumberland miners, who were located by Government on either side of the Indian portage (now Communication Road), from the Otonabee River to Mud Lake. This is about seven miles over, and the road is now tolerably good. To these immigrants, on depositing a sum of money, I believe, in the proportion of £10 to each head of family, a free passage was afforded. The money was returned when their settlement was completed." And he adds, as the result of nine years of pioneer work "these settlers are now independent farmers, although at first several had their own exertions alone to depend upon."

He tells of the settlement on the 7th Concession and on Mud Lake to the 11th Concession. Also that several have located as far back as the 12th and 13th Concessions. Forecasting the possibilities for sport, he affirms that the lakes and other waters bordering on Smith "abound with maskinonge and bass, and Clear Lake with salmon trout to the weight of 30lb. and 40lb." He infers that the canal which is spoken of will cross the peninsula near the base. Meaning that instead of building the Trent Canal by way of Burleigh Falls, the line would cross direct from Clear Lake to Buckhorn Lake. He says that several of the miners "informed me that being in search of a salt spring, they had discovered on the 27th, in 10th Concession, a spring, which in taste and smell resembles that of Gotland." It is inferred that he refers to the spring, known to canoeists as Victoria Spring, flowing out of the cliff where on the west side Deer Bay joins on to the river, and between Lovesick and Buckhorn. The shore, in low water, is quite white with sedimentation from the waters of the spring.

Douro is described in a few paragraphs. Dummer receives more attention. Curiously, he describes the Indian River, as it appeared in those days, and speculates as to what use might be made of the river were the waters of Stoney Lake directed into the ancient channel of the Indian River. He writes:

Speculations as to Water-Power.

"A large creek called the Squawkone-gaw, takes its rise in a small lake and within fifty or sixty rods of a bay of the large lake on the Otonabee River. (This refers to Gilchrist Bay on Stoney Lake.) They are separated by a rocky ridge, at the highest not more than six or seven feet above the level of either lake, and as the rocks rise abruptly on either side a ravine is formed, down which parts of the waters of the Otonabee find a passage in the spring flood. Were it at any time to become an object (for the sake of the mills, etc.), by throwing a dam across the Otonabee River at Lot 25 in the 4th Concession, Douro, a certain supply of water might at all times be diverted down the Squaw-kone-gaw, and this again might be regulated by a sluice-dam on the ravine, which, it is believed, is on 30th Lot in 6th Concession, Dummer." His suggestion was carried out in after years by the erection of the dam at Young's Pt. For many years there was strenuous contention over the effort to send down the Indian River a larger contribution from Stoney Lake, while the junction of the river and lake was the scene of pitched battles between opposing factions.

The traveller in his explorations seemed to have made his way by the river and lakes to Lindsay, or rather the site where Lindsay is located. He mentions the rapids at Buckhorn, giving the Indian name of Pau-boo-kaije-wenum, and remarks that a short detour enables the danger to be avoided. He gives a glance at Ennismore and states that a large proportion is taken up by reserves and survivors' lands the remainder by emigrants of 1825 chiefly from Kerry and who are doing well. Discusses the opportunities afforded in township of Emily, and notes that Peterborough is destined to attract to itself the trade of these townships on account of the excellent mills under

CHRISTIAN MOTHERS WILL HOLD SHOWER

DONATIONS SUITABLE FOR HOSPITAL NEEDS WILL BE APPRECIATED.

On Wednesday of next week the Christian Mothers Confraternity will hold a shower at St. Joseph's Hospital for the purpose of receiving any donations which could be used in an hospital, and will gratefully receive any gifts the citizens feel they would like to make to the institution which, although doing limitless good in alleviating suffering, is not backed by any financial resources.

Since its formation in January, the club, formed primarily for the purpose of educating and elevating mothers in the community, has laboured ceaselessly in their work of helping to make life a little brighter for all in times of sickness and adversity, and through their efforts scores of families have had their lives made a little more bearable.

The members of the club have gone into the different institutions, such as the Orphanage, the House of Providence, and St. Joseph's Hospital, and undertaken such relief work as is possible, with the result that their every visit to the homes is looked forward to eagerly by both staff and inmates.

While at present their activities are limited largely to work amongst the mothers, the members hope soon to have lectures on sanitation and hygiene that they may extend their field still farther. They will also help out in the North-West missions.

This Great Contest is Absolutely Free of Expense Send Your Answers Today!

This great contest is absolutely free of expense and is being conducted by the Continental Publishing Co., Limited, one of the largest and best-known publishing houses in Canada. That is your guarantee that the prizes will be awarded in absolute fairness and squareness to you and every other contestant. Frankly, it is intended to further introduce EVERYWOMAN'S WORLD, Canada's Greatest Magazine. You may enter and win any of the prizes, whether you are a subscriber to EVERYWOMAN'S WORLD or not, and, moreover, you will neither be asked nor expected to take the magazine or spend a single penny of your money to compete. Here is the idea.

EVERYWOMAN'S WORLD is so popular everywhere that it now has the vast circulation of 100,000 copies a month, but our motto is "Everywoman's World is Every Woman's Home." We want more Canadian readers to become acquainted with this famous publication. Therefore, when we acknowledge your entry to this contest, and you know your standing for the prizes, we shall send you a copy of the very latest issue and a review of many of the fine features soon to appear, without any cost to you. We shall also send, free of charge to all qualified contestants, a charming photo of Miss Mary Pickford with reproduction of her autograph in her own handwriting. Then, in order to qualify your entry to be sent on for the judging and awarding of the big prizes, you will be asked to assist us in carrying on this big introduction plan by showing your copy to just four friends or neighbours, who will appreciate this really worth-while Canadian magazine and want it to come to them every month. You will easily fulfill this simple condition in a few minutes of your spare time.

How to Send in Your Solution

Use one side of the paper only, and put your name and address (stating whether Miss, Mrs., Mr. or Master) in the upper right-hand corner. If you wish to write anything but your answers, use a separate sheet of paper.

Miss Mary Pickford, as Honorary Judge and three independent judges, having no connection whatever with this firm, will award the prizes, and the answer gaining 250 points will take first prize.

You will get 20 points for every name solved correctly, and 40 points will be given for general neatness, punctuation and spelling; 10 points for hand writing, and 100 points for fulfilling the conditions of the contest. Contestants must agree to abide by the decision of the judges. The contest will close at 5 p.m., May 31st, 1920, immediately after which the answers will be judged and prizes awarded.

DON'T DELAY! Send your answers to-day. This announcement may not appear again in this paper. Address your entry to:—

Turning south he notes "that a wagon road has been open for about nine years from Smith's Creek (Port Hope), following the boundary line between Hope and Hamilton, Cavan and Monaghan, to Emily and Smith." This road was broken in places by swamps and ridges, and much labour was required to make it passable. A few years after a company was formed, and part of the road planked and improved, the builders being recouped by charging a toll for use of the road. Six toll stations were located on the road, and the traveller using the road had to pay one penny between each station. So from Peterborough to Port Hope cost the sum of sixpence. In after years the tolls were abolished. The first gate out of Peterborough stood just where the extension of Sherbrooke Street joins the Gravel Road to Port Hope.

Monaghan (North), he states, was settled at the same time as Cavan, which was in 1817, though he probably refers to Monaghan South. He states that the majority of the inhabitants are from the north of Ireland, the remainder English, and from conjecture that the first were Presbyterians, but attended the Episcopal service in the absence of a clergyman of their own. The Episcopal Church, the first in the township stod on lot 12 in the 10th concession, with a sionary as resident from the first settlement of the township. It is stated that the timber, for the most part, remains uninjured, which is taken to mean that the lumber industry had not commenced its operations.

After making some reflections of the energy and prosperity of those settling in the township, he adds that "two families deserve mention. Both came out eight years ago. The Rutherfords, from Jedborough, Scotland, had in 1820, about fifty head of horned cattle, besides grain and meadow lands. John Smithson, from Yorkshire, raises, upon the average, fifty acres of wheat every year."

As the object of the inspection was to gather facts that would, when disseminated, induce others to come to Canada, in addition to stating the impressions of personal observation, he collected, both in Canada and in England, the personal views of those who the testimony is contained in letters and extracts from letters written by the immigrants to friends and relatives at home. Without exception these communications breathe a spirit of satisfaction and hope. Those in England are urged, at whatever cost, to sell out, to raise the money and hasten to Canada. It is the Promised Land, indeed. So in another article excerpts and comment from these letters may be printed to show the spirit that animated the early settler in this vicinity, and his confidence in its future.

What is Indurated Fibreware?

EDDY'S Indurated Fibreware is wood without any of the drawbacks which are commonly associated with wooden household utensils. It is made in one piece without joints or hoops, it will not splinter, will not fall to pieces if dropped, and is impervious to taints and odors. And with all those qualities it has all the lightness and the resiliency of wood.

Eddy's Indurated Fibreware

are made from wood-pulp, ground so as to preserve the long fibres intact. It is moulded to the required shape, in a single piece, under tremendous hydraulic pressure. This welds the fibres into a homogeneous mass, stronger in texture than the original wood itself.

The moulded shapes are then dipped in oil and put into large ovens, and baked for hours with intense heat. This produces a hard, glossy surface, which is impenetrable to liquids, and which effectively warps off every outside taint.

The next time you buy a washtub, a milk pail, a household pail or butter tub, ask for Eddy's Indurated Fibreware. You will find it much easier to lift, much easier to keep clean, and much more economical than the ordinary wooden or metal receptacles.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 4TH, 1919.

A TYPOGRAPHICAL ERROR.

A printer's slip in dropping the word "only" from a sentence in these columns last evening, referring to the candidature of Mr. Gillespie, was responsible for a change in the meaning of the particular sentence. The article was intended to read as follows: "Mr. Gillespie's connection with politics has not only enhanced his own reputation for honesty and fair play, but has put political campaigning on a higher plane than has sometimes been known." The omission of the word "only," it will be noticed, gives a twist to the sentence that would have been serious had it been referring to anyone whose reputation for honesty or fairness was less firmly established than that of the Liberal Candidate in West Peterboro.

THE SCOUT MOVEMENT.

The annual meeting of the Peterboro Scout Association in the Collegiate Hall on Monday is an event that should bring together a large and representative audience. One of the most important items of business that is to come up is the election of the Scout Council for the ensuing year. This body not only acts in an advisory capacity, but also governs the activities of the Scouts in Peterboro and it is therefore of the greatest importance that citizens who are interested in the all-round development of the boys, should be willing to serve on the Council, where there is opportunity to do a great work on behalf of the youngsters. The scout movement should have the support of the community generally and the sympathy of the public can be attested in a practical manner by a large and enthusiastic meeting on Monday evening, when Mr. H. G. Hammond, one of the leaders in the Scout work in Canada, will give an address.

FIGHTING FOR PATRONAGE.

The name of Mr. J. H. Burnham, member for West Peterborough, appears in the list of those Conservative members of the House who talked strenuously on Thursday on behalf of the patronage system. Mr. Burnham is one of the many old line Tories who appreciate the prestige that having control of the pork barrel in his constituency gave the private member of Parliament. The power of appointing camp followers to the snug little berths that the member had under his control has passed to the Civil Service Commission, and Mr. Burnham naturally does not like it, and said so. At that he was not so frank in his statements as was Mr. Thomas Foster, the Unionist member for East York, who unreservedly told the House why Civil Service reform was unpopular in certain quarters. Mr. Foster grew almost mournful as he pointed out that under the old system thousands of people would respond to a call for a political meeting. "Now you can't get a corporal's guard," declared the member for East York. The reason he gave was that "there is nothing for them to look forward to now except to get out and work hard at election times." The admission of Mr. Foster shows the reason why he and Mr. Burnham and Dr. Edwards and the rest of the Ontario Tories are fighting Civil Service reform. They have no way of rewarding the party workers now, and they do not relish having to stand only on their own qualification on the platform of their party. It was easier in the old days when there was a nice little parcel of patronage for each of them to distribute.

THE LABOR CANDIDATE.

Although last night's convention in the Labor Hall was advertised as an Independent Labor Party,—United Farmers' Convention, the agricultural interests were represented by only a half dozen farmers of which Mr. W. E. Scott was spokesman, and the meeting resolved itself into a Labor meeting pure and simple. The candidates whose names went before the convention were all members of the Independent Labor Party so the chair ruled it was necessary that they should be and the farmers had only a speechless part in the proceedings, Mr. Hunt providing the money.

The choice of the convention as a candidate-labourer was Mr. Lawrence Aylen of the Bobbin-Shuttle Finish. Mr. Tipton, generally known outside of the ranks of organized labor, save through his communications to the press on labor questions, is a deep student of political economy and possesses an unusual knowledge of the problems of labor.

He is besides a speaker of no mean ability, who can discuss public questions throughout the riding and cam tions intelligently and well. Against these qualities, however, is the fact that he is not generally known throughout the riding, and the campaign is such a short one that he will be handicapped on that account.

THE CASE OF BILL.

A boy left school at the age of 17 and joined an infantry battalion. He was tall and strong, but his chief duties in life, so far, had been to play Outside Wing on the football team, and Cover Point on the hockey rink. For four years he lived and fought in Flanders, a cheery, irresponsible private of full size. His father said, not bitterly but rather proudly: "Bill joined as a 'private, and by ardent effort has succeeded in retaining his rank."

Now he has come home at the age of 21; too old for high school and wholly inexperienced in the serious task of earning a living. He had no trade. Only blind-alley jobs are open to him. But the Federal Government has established training courses to fit Bill for any one of 260 remunerative occupations.

He may decide to be a telegraph operator. If so, he goes to the training classes and learns the business thoroughly, receiving army pay and allowances during the whole time of his instruction. The Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment helps him to get a position. Thus he has been given a good start in life.

It must be obvious that to establish and maintain technical courses of this kind is a necessary war outlay. Soldiers must be changed into civilians, self-helping and self-confident. The continuance of this work on a proper scale depends absolutely upon the success of the Victory Loan. It is capital expenditure made necessary by war. The cause cannot but appeal to the people, and we feel confident, once the facts are known, that the full sum required will be made available.

THE PREMIER'S VISIT.

The announcement that Sir William Hearst is to visit Peterborough next week to speak on behalf of the Hearst candidate in West Peterborough, is of interest, even if nothing more is expected of the Ontario Premier than an address of self-laudation for the performance of himself and his Government and of "glittering generalities" about his future policy. His visit would be much more interesting, however, if Sir William would enlighten the electors of the district on a number of points over which they are perplexed at present. For instance, the Premier might give his reasons for delaying the announcement of the date of the elections until the last possible moment. He could explain the real reason why the present referendum ballot is being submitted instead of the simple single question provided for in the Ontario Temperance Act. He might too tell the Labour men why, after being fifteen years in power, the Conservative Government is only now on the eve of an election, promising to introduce a minimum wage system. The Premier might also tell of the matters in which he does not "see eye to eye with Sir Adam Beck," as the Mail and Empire puts it, and also throw some light upon the Hydro knight's action in preferring to run as an Independent rather than as a Hearst candidate. He might enlighten his audience as to why the Government claims all the credit for the war record of the province when, as a matter of fact, party lines were dropped and the Liberals heartily co-operated in every patriotic movement. He might even have a reason why the lethargic Mr. Lucas is retained as Attorney-General and be able to tell how the Government hopes to do anything to reduce the cost of living with the Attorney-General's department headed by such a Minister. These questions and many others that could be suggested would furnish material for a very interesting evening if Sir William would only deal with them. But it is not likely that he will.

GOOD ROADS AND HEALTH.

There are fewer physicians in the rural sections of the country than in the cities; there are very few nurses, and practically no hospital facilities in rural regions. In some communities, even in the older states, there is only one physician to 1,500 people and many cases can be found where there is only one physician to 3,000 people, while the average for the cities is generally about one physician to 650 people.

The inadequate supply of physicians in the country is not due to the superior health of the people; there is just as much work needing to be done by the physician in rural as in urban sections. The reason is rather to be found in the lack of means of getting around the country without extreme hardships. It is becoming harder and harder for the young medical graduate to choose a rural location where he must face intolerable travelling conditions for the greater part of the year. After nine years of training for his profession, there is small appeal in the prospect even of a good practice, when the hardships of travel over the country roads are taken into account. Yet hundreds of young medical graduates would by inclination favour a rural practice if it were possible to avoid the unhappy features of country travel. The problem is important to physicians, not only because it is difficult to travel through mud to see their patients, but also because it is quite difficult, if not impossible, to transport patients needing special care, or to consult with specialists at a distance or to counsel with other general practitioners.

The results of these conditions have been serious. The death rate of the country districts is only slightly lower than the city and has not improved as rapidly as in the city; the sickness rate is no more favourable; the proportion of young men physically unfit for the army was nearly as great in spite of the boasted physical prowess of the country, and all surveys have proved that a higher percentage of curable defects is found among rural children than among city children.

But there is a worse condition still. The number of deaths of women in child-birth is proportionately greater in the country, and the number of babies who die within the first thirty days after birth is far greater. Forty per cent. of all the babies that die in their first year in the cities die within thirty days after birth, while the corresponding figure for the country districts is 47 per cent. No better index of medical care could be given than these facts. They tell the story that nearly every one knows; viz., that adequate medical care is not available for the rural mothers and babies.

Good roads would enable the rural sections to secure nursing and specialists' services which are now practically impossible in many sections. Much of the future development of public health work, visiting, nursing and medical service generally in the rural communities depends upon the development of good roads. It is quite impossible to provide such service effectively under present conditions.

There is also looming up the possibility of a rural hospital service with facilities for transportation to, and care in, community hospitals in which the facilities for diagnosis and care would far exceed the meagre provisions of the home. The coming of good roads will hasten this development.

The city residents are concerned also in the condition of rural roads from the standpoint of health protection because they are dependent upon good roads for fresh milk. Large cities are furnished milk from remote rural regions. Bad roads delay its delivery. It is not uncommon for milk to be allowed to accumulate for two or three days before delivery from the farm. Bacteria often develops dangerously in the meantime. Good roads will emancipate the cities from depending upon existing clumsy means of transportation. — From Modern Medicine.

PREPARING FOR ANNUAL DANCE

At the regular monthly meeting of the 57th Chapter, I.O.D.E., held yesterday afternoon, it was decided to hold a dance in the Great War Veterans' Rooms on Armistice Night, November 11th. It was decided that in view of the funds, which the Chapter is called upon to raise, the dance will become an annual affair. The membership of the Chapter was broadened to include any wife, mother, sister or daughter of a member of any military organization and any relative of any veteran of '66.

Donations Sent.

The financial statement presented showed $24 sent to the Mary R. Gooderham Emergency Fund and $50 to the National I.O.D.E. War Memorial Fund.

Mrs. C. R. Widdifield was appointed delegate to the Educational Congress to be held at Hamilton on October 8th.

Socks Received.

Bean Chops.

Soak one pint of dried beans overnight; then parboil, drain and cook them in boiling water until they are tender enough to put through a sieve. To the pulp add two cupfuls of strained tomatoes to which a pinch of soda has been added, two tablespoonfuls of melted butter, one cupful of finely crushed walnut meats, a pinch of powdered sage, one teaspoonful of onion finely minced, one half cupful of bread crumbs, one well-beaten egg and a little salt and pepper. When the mixture is cold, mould it into chops, or put it into a bread tin and form it into a loaf. Brush the chops in slices with butter and brown them in a hot oven.

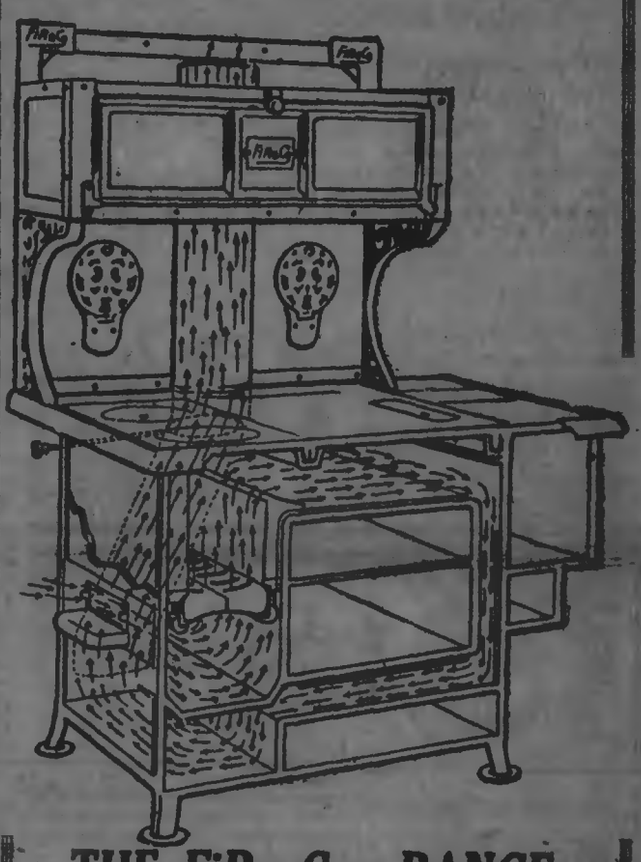
Economize In Fuel



THE FiRe Co., RANGE

In the FiReCo Range the fire travel is LONGER than in any other range. The longer the flue, the less heat escapes up the chimney. The flues in the range being exceedingly large lessens the friction in the fire travel, and therefore assists the chimney in doing its work. The exceptionally large flue above the oven forms a SECOND COMBUSTION CHAMBER, and materially increases the efficiency of the fuel.

The burning of escaping gases in the second combustion chamber is a real source of ECONOMY, and at the same time enables one to use soft coal as a kitchen fuel. In this Range the BLACK SMOKE IS CONSUMED into ashes, and therefore not deposited as unburned carbon or soot, which clogs the flues and prevents the use of soft coal as a fuel in the ordinary kitchen range. Any variety of SOFT COAL is an IDEAL FUEL in the FiReCo Range.

The Dominion Government Test, made on 25th November, 1918, PROVES THIS ABSOLUTELY.

Saves Fuel

The FiReCo Range has been built and designed for the particular purpose of saving fuel. Thousands of people using this Range now tell us that ONE BUCKET of coal in a FiReCo Range or Heater will do your Cooking, Baking, or Heating more satisfactorily than TWO BUCKETS in any other Range or Heater.

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

BARBARA IS OBLIGED TO GO TO THE MIDNIGHT TRAIN.

CHAPTER LXXXIII

That afternoon after my return home I felt happy at times because of my faith in Mr. Frederick; that he would influence Neil to end his intimacy with Tearle and men of his kind; unhappy at other times when I dwelt upon the fact that it had become a necessity.

About six o'clock the telephone rang.

"This is Mr. Forbes' office. He wished me to telephone Mrs. Forbes that he would not be at home to dinner"

"Is Mr. Forbes in the office?" I recognized the blonde stenographer's voice.

"Very well, thank you."

Regardless of what Mr. Frederick had told hm of Tearle's character and reputation, Neil had gone out with him. It seemed to be such a reckless thing to do. I, of course, did not realize that it isn't an easy thing to break off business relations at any time; that under certain circumstances it might be almost impossible to accomplish any great change in the personnel of a company quickly. So I dwelt upon the idea that Neil had decided to pay no attention to Mr. Frederick, to me, or to what he had been told others were saying. That he had decided to go along in the same way he had been going—a law unto himself.

I was the more distressed that he did not come home as his aunt had telegraphed while we were out to lunch that she would arrive on the midnight train. I called his club hoping to catch him here. They had not seen him. I tried one or two other places. He should meet his aunt. It would be dreadful for her to find no one at the station.

Finally I gave up trying to locate him. I ate my dinner, then sat down with a new magazine and tried to read. He might come in any minute, I said to myself, knowing he would not. Of late he had remained out the entire evening and far into the night when he had not died at home.

"If he doesn't come I will go to the station," I said aloud. Then: "I wonder if he is at Blanche Orton's. Just the thought made me so miserable the tears started. "Oh, what shall I do?" I felt that never was anyone so unhappy as I; that never was a woman so anxious and worried. "If I didn't love him so much!" I continued my soliloquy "if I didn't it wouldn't be so hard to lose faith in him. I wonder if he does care for Blanche Orton, perhaps Mr. Frederick is mistaken about that. It doesn't seem as if he would go there so much if he wasn't."

"I couldn't read, and finally threw down the book in digus. It was growing late. Should I try the club again? If Neil had not gone to Mrs. Orton's he might be there now.

"Is Mr. Forbes in the house?" I asked when they answered. "Will you page him please so that I may be sure. I will hold the wire." It seemed they would never come back to the telephone. After waiting an unconscionable time a voice said:

"Hello—Mr. Forbes is not in the house."

I hung up disgusted that I had waited so long. "I might have known he wouldn't be there!" I scolded. I would wait until a little after eleven, then I would get ready and go to meet his aunt if he did not come in by that time.

I started at every sound. There was no use fooling myself. It was not the anxiety that he meet his aunt which caused me so much uneasiness, it was the feeling that he was at Blanche Orton's. I was not at all timid. Even had he been at home I should probably have gone with him, so it was not disinclination to go out either which made me nervous. It was the fear that he was with another woman; a fear which amounted almost to a sure knowledge.

If he had been with Mr. Frederick I shouldn't have cared, I said. After the clock had struck eleven I arose to prepare for my errand. It was strange how in every unhappy moment my thoughts flew to him.

Was it because I knew he loved me?

To-morrow—Barbara Angers Neil by Calling Him at Blanche Orton's.

A LESSON FROM THE ALMANAC.

Well, son, so you want to learn to be an editor? You think it would be such a fine thing to "mould public opinion;" to help "lift up the masses;" to write choice puffs worth five dollars a paragraph, in return for twenty-five cent, paper covered novels; to tell the public that the man your party has nominated is one of God's noblemen, while the other fellow is a rascal from the crown of his head to the soles of his feet?

Yes, Yes, son, so it would! But don't you remember the almanac that used to hang in grandpa's kitchen back on the farm in Smith Township. And don't you remember the poor chap that always stood in the centre of the first picture on the first page, with the fish and the scorpions and the sheep and the bulls and the twins around him? And don't you remember that he had nothing in his stomach to speak of?

Well, son, that poor fellow used to edit a newsparer.

HEAP BIG MEN.

There are a heap of men who think they are big enough to run this town. They are sweating blood in an effort to make other folks believe that same thing. Most of these big men are "big" in the same way that a certain Ohio office seeker was "big." He had helped elect McKinley and had gone down to Washington to pick out a job for himself. And down there they had him sized with moderate accuracy. He said that he knew his inability to speak German would prevent his being appointed minister to Berlin, heretofore, he would have to content himself with being minister to London. The officials looked at him with astonishment. Then they said: "Don't you know that we have got to have a big man for that place?" With equal astonishment he came back with the exclamation: "Gracious goodness! If I land this place I'll be a big man, won't I?" A majority of the "big" men in public office to-day are only "big" in the same way.

Everybody knows that a man of small means pays more in proportion to his means than a wealthy man. And to suppose that a man who owns a hundred dollar town lot which he can sell or leave in an hour, feels any more interest in the town, or has any more right to speak of it or is any less likely to "leave in case he can make ten dollars by so doing" than another who has ten or twenty times that amount in chattels which belong to his home or his business, is simply ridiculous if it not more. We have seen men of small means who were so, mainly because of a self-sacrificing public spirit, which prompted them to labor, and think, and pay out money for the public good, while the man who never gives a dollar or a day that is not wrung from him by law, for such purposes becomes wealthy, of course. Possibly the latter shows more wisdom. He certainly does, if to accumulate wealth is the only end and aim of life worth living for.

HOW WOULD IT DO

To liven up.
To push things.
To boom Peterboro.
To advertise your business.
To renew your subscription.
To help your fallen brother rise.
To speak kindly of all, evil of none.
To wear a smile instead of a frown.
To trade at home the coming year.
To take advice as freely as you give it.
To get good yourself and do good to others.
To stand by Peterboro and all its interests.
To school your sons and daughters in our schools.
To give every loyal enterprise your help and encouragement.
To speak your appreciative words while your friends can hear them.
To whoop your business to the front and help your competitors to keep up.
To send this paper to your friends that you wish to kindly remember.
To show your interest for your town by speaking well of it, standing by it and living by it?

ST. VALENTINE

The St. Valentine, who suffered martyrdom on the 14th of February, was one of fifty-two saints of that name, but nothing has ever been found in his life or in the lives of any of them, that would give occasion for the singular observances of the day. It has been maintained that it was an ancient custom among the Romans during the Lupercalia, celebrated in the month of February, for the boys and men to draw the names of their future wives in honor of their goddess, Februate Juno, and that the Christian clergy, finding it absolutely impossible to abolish this heathen practice changed it to a religious ceremony by writing on the slips of paper instead of the names of women, those of particular saints, whom they were to follow and imitate during the years.

OLD DEAD OR ALIVE REWARDS ARE REVIVED BY BANKS AFTER MANY CRIMES ARE COMMITTED

Reviewing of the recent robbery of the express car of an Intercolonial rapid near Quebec, when $21,000 was taken by five masked bandits, the following story by Herbert Corey relative to the unusual activity of bank robbers in Kansas is very interesting:

By Herbert Corey.

KANSAS CITY, Sept. 22.—Long years ago there was a most successful "deputy" in Kansas. He belonged to the "go-gettem" rather than to the modern or magazine style of deputy United States marshals. Every now and then he started on the trail of some fiend who had been sticking up a bank or making a faro dealer take long quivering sniffs at the bouquet end of a six-shooter. And just as like as not he would return empty-handed, but satisfied. His papers would be turned in indorsed in this fashion:

"This man died while I was serving the warrant."

Frank Albright, who used to ornament Wichita, and points west, and who was, when last heard from, in command of a fleet of lumber yards which own Cleveland as their home port, rode with this "depitty" several times. He finally gave up the deputy business because some of its more material features got in the way of its aesthetics. Things happened sometimes, said Alright, that were really grating. There was he occasion, for example, when this deputy laid out in the brush for several days and finally got his man when that misdemeanant came sneaking in to get a drink at the spring.

Sought His Cash Reward.

"It was hot weather," said Albright, "so the deputy just cut off this outcast's head and rubbed a little salt on it and put it in a sack and started for town to cash in on the reward. The state paid 'dead or alive' in those dear bygone days. When he got right near Wichita his horse went lame on him and he turned it loose and started to walk in. But by and by he caught up with a farmer driving a load of hay and he climbed up on top with the wranger.

"'What you got in that there sack, Mister?' asked the inquisitive sod-mangler. And the deputy, being a little cross that morning, what with his horse going lame and everything, he just untied the mouth of the sack and picked the sack up by the bottom and spilled that salted head onto the hay in front of the farmer.

"'He never uttered a word,' the deputy told Albright later. 'No, sir, it was quite queer. He never uttered a word. He just sort of spread out his arms and skimmed away from there like a right worried duck. I reckon it was three hundred yards before he let down his legs and went to running.'"

Reward Recalls Old Days.

The old days are recalled by the recent action of the Kansas Bankers' Association in offering a reward of $5,000 for the capture and conviction of each individual engaged in a bank robbery. The industry as developed in Kansas calls for a crew of four men. Two do the actual sticking up of the bank officers, one acts as lookout, and the fourth is ready at the wheel in the automobile. So that lucky people who can drop the butterfly net over a quartette of bank robbers in Kansas might conceivably cash in to the extent of $20,000.

Volunteers for robber catching have been few and sparse in the past. Every one realized that it is a civic duty to throw a bank robber and sit on his head if he is detected in the pursuit of his nefarious arts, but the trouble has been that the average bank robber fights quite up to the very high standards of the old James and Younger days.

Three men robbed a bank at Baileyville, and two of them, unexpectedly ran into Kansas City policemen. The two were shot. So were two of the three patrolmen. A stool-pigeon tipped off the fact that his two partners planned to rob a bank near Tulsa. A posse waylaid the robbers, but they killed one officer before they died.

"One man might have escaped, but he tried to help his desperately wounded companion away," the news reports stated.

Many Kansas Banks Robbed.

Twenty-five Kansas banks have been robbed since the first of the year. In only one case were the robbers captured, and that was when the Kansas City officers accidentally ran foul of the Baileyville group. Oklahoma banks have likewise suffered. So have banks in all the western states. The practice of bank robbing with impunity—one might almost say with immunity—has so grown that some action which would bring home the predatory bacon was forced upon the bankers. So they offered a reward for "arrest and conviction."

But that does not carry any lure with it to the wise man. Arresting a bank robber is about as hazardous as biting a shark on the lip, for one thing and conviction does not always follow arrest. It has happened in other states—though presumably never in Kansas—that the man who did the arresting found his ultimate reward boiled down to a few chips and a couple of whetstones, while police chiefs, nephews, prosecuting attorneys and welfare associations got the money. The Kansas Bankers' Association evidently foresaw a certain reluctance on the part of good citizens. So they added another clause that really counts:

"If a robber is killed in the act of robbing a bank or resisting arrest, the $5,000 reward will be paid on the theory that this constitutes a conviction."

Music In The Home

MUSIC SOLVES PROBLEMS IN FARM HOMES AND RURAL DISTRICTS.

The problem of the depopulation of the rural districts has been, and still is, receiving much attention in the press. Its importance justifies all the space given. But the question is not yet solved. "Back to the Land" and "Stay on the Farm" are slogans widely used by our writers and economic advisers. The use of music in the farm home has never yet had the serious consideration it is entitled to as a means of making farm life more attractive.

Much can be accomplished through the country choirs meeting in one another's homes for the weekly practices. But the greatest need is music in each home, every day—music that all members of the family and their friends will enjoy. Wherever possible it is fine to see different members of the family playing the piano, organ, fiddle or perhaps in the local band. Yet the limited number equipped musically to do this makes instruments that play automatically a necessity.

It being in the interest of the nation to main the farming communities at their best, it is in the nation's interest that it should be made as easy as possible for farmers to have music in their homes. To that end it directly helps our national welfare to increase the use of phonographs and player pianos in rural Canada.

Music readily available during the noon hour when there is a half hour or so for rest after dinner is a boon to those that work in the fields. Music in the evening when friends call is a great entertainer. In fact music in a home attracts visitors to share its cheer. Music on Sundays is a great need in many farm homes. Music will help keep the farmer's sons and daughters on the farm. Music in the farm home will help keep the hired girl and hired man from wanting to make a change. Music stands ready to help solve the whole problem of keeping up the rural districts.

HELP THE SCHOOL MUSIC SUPERVISORS.

Teachers everywhere in the country should get into touch with the music work in their local schools for their help is needed to carry it up to and keep it at the proper plane. School music supervisors are working hard, against odds in the majority of cases, and need all the help they can get. They may need constructive criticism, too, for it is important that the fundamental work they are doing with young minds should be along the right lines. They are being entrusted with young voices which need specially careful handling. Hardly less careful handling is needed by youthful musical taste. Tactful co-operation from the music teaching fraternity will work the problem out satisfactorily.

WHAT SCHOOL MUSIC LEADS TO.

Music is, of all school studies, most generally interesting. Many of the other studies are taken up purely from a utilitarian viewpoint, while music has its recreative side. Thus the pupil is more likely to acquire power of self-expression through its use. In speaking of music as an activity and of the power which may be gained by it, it is necessary to keep in mind that some conditions which are commonly regarded as passive are really intensely active and are based on the training of faculties of an apparently passive character.

Thus, when we hear, we are acted upon; hence we are passive; but intelligent hearing of music is based on ear training, which is keenly active. This activity is the one most essential to music, the one which makes intelligent listening to a musical composition something that is by no means a passive exercise. This is a goal to which the school music course should lead to directly. Ear training is one of the first fundamentals which should be studied, since so much of our influence on the musical life of the school and community, depends on our own musical intelligence.

NEED FOR CONCERTS AT POPULAR PRICES.

Parents should do all they can to support good concerts, and let their children go to them. You cannot expect your child to be articulate in the language of music without hearing any. You might as well expect him to talk fluently if brought up entirely in a dumb community. There is a great need for a series of attractive chamber music concerts at popular prices, where the standard works and novelties in quartettes, trios, piano, violin and vocal solos could be heard. Little educative value (proportionately) is gained if all the money goes to one "star" concert. In all arts the "star" craze is a curse. Usually it amounts to a form of sensationalism of some kind. Intrinsic musical value is one of the things that cannot be measured by dollars—thank God! Seek to support and build a general high level. Pay much more attention and interest in the matter performed rather than in the performer. Usually if a concert or theatre is suggested the question at once asked is "who is playing," and not as should be the case, "what is being played?" The artistic life of a community is utterly stifled so long as this highly pernicious and materialistic attitude of mind is flourishing.

Alcoholic Insanity Disappears

Our Foremost Alienist Says It Has Now Practically Vanished

"SINCE the passage of the Ontario Temperance Act Alcoholic Insanity has practically disappeared," says Dr. C. K. Clarke, Canada's foremost Alienist.

Dr. Clarke's statement to the Ontario Referendum Committee continues:

"ALCOHOL is one of the important factors among the causes of insanity, especially indirectly. Since the passage of the Ontario Temperance Act certain forms of insanity in this province have practically disappeared.

"The abolition of the bar has undoubtedly had a wonderful effect in protecting the weaklings in the community from temptation and inevitable degradation.

"It is much too soon to determine how far-reaching the benefits of prohibition have been, but doubtless police and jail statistics will bear testimony as to the diminution of crime.

"The removal of the bar must be regarded with satisfaction by every right-thinking person in the country, especially by those who know how easily mental weaklings and neurotics fell into deplorable habits through its malign influence.

"It was not that these persons suffered alone, but that many of the next generations lost whatever chance they had of living down the curse of a bad heredity.

"Alcohol simply intensified the defects of the parent and thus made hopeless the lives of the children."

DR. C. K. CLARKE
Medical Director National Committee for Mental Hygiene. Superintendent Provincial Hospitals for the Insane, Kingston, 1891-1908 and Toronto, 1908-1911. Superintendent Toronto General Hospital, 1911-1918.

The Menace of Insanity

"Insanity is the Mad Son of Alcohol, Idiocy is its Driveling Daughter," says Vance Thompson.

ONTARIO maintains 6,000 patients in the Insane Asylums at a cost of about $1,000,000 a year and an indirect cost of many millions more.

Ontario has one insane patient to every 417 people—not including the feeble-minded. Kansas, pioneer "dry" state of the West, has only one case to every 873 people.

The menace of insanity has alarmed government authorities and brought about the recent appointment of a National Committee for Mental Hygiene, of which Dr. C. K. Clarke is the Medical Director.

Read what he says:

"Since passage of the Ontario Temperance Act, Alcoholic Insanity has practically disappeared."

Next to "mental strain, overwork and worry," "Alcoholism" is the chief assigned cause of insanity, according to the yearly reports issued by the Ontario Government. Since the Ontario Temperance Act went into force private hospitals for alcoholics, "Gold Cures," etc., have been closed.

Remember what experts on insanity say when you answer the questions on the Referendum ballot and vote for sane legislation by marking your ballot with an X after each question under the word "No."

Mark Four X's

(One X under each "No")

Do not spoil your ballot by marking it with anything but X four times.

		YES	NO
1	Are you in favour of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act?		X
2	Are you in favour of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one-hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?		X
3	Are you in favour of the sale of light beer containing not more than two and fifty-one one-hundredths per cent. alcohol weight measure in standard hotels in local municipalities that by a majority vote favour such sale and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?		X
4	Are you in favour of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies and amendments to The Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale?		X

TEMPERANCE ISSUE COMPLICATED NOW

In a timely and thoughtful review of the progress of temperance legislation in Ontario during recent years Mr. Arthur W. Roebuck of Toronto, speaking at the Liberal Convention last night as a substitute for Mr. Hartley Dewart who was detained by pressing business in Ottawa, exposed the pretensions of Sir William Hearst and his Government as proponents of prohibition. Absurd efforts were being made in an attempt to show that at last the Conservative party had become the party of temperance. The statement has been put forth that the Prime Minister was going to vote "No" on the referendum.

"Personally I am glad to hear it," said Mr. Roebuck. "I am going to vote that way myself, but his vote is more important than mine. It is just one in a million."

Refused Legislation.

"It is his public life that must be considered when a man seeks a public office. You remember the dramatic incident in 911, when the Liberal leader offered the Government that if they would bring down a temperance measure for the abolition of the bar the Liberal party would throw in its lot with the Conservatives, and the question would thus be taken out of politics and placed in a sphere in which it could be properly enforced.

Sir William Hearst sat with the rest of his party who turned a cold shoulder to that offer."

Would Not Shorten Hours.

In the 1914 campaign, Mr. Roebuck recalled, he was the Liberal candidate in Temiskaming, but there was no doubt in his mind as to the attitude of his opponent on the temperance question. Shortly after the Liberal party made another overture to the Government when Sam Carter of Guelph moved for the reduction of the hours for the sale of liquor. All the Conservatives stood for night drinking. Sir William Hearst voted with the rest of the Conservatives to keep the bars open at night. It was not until the force of a petition, signed by 75,000 electors was brought to bear on the Government that they were compelled to enact what they are pleased to call a Temperance Act.

It was introduced as a war measure not as a temperance measure, it was an economic instrument and was not introduced as a protest against the bar and the liquor traffic.

Question Complicated.

Mr. Roebuck declared that the prohibition ballot had been complicated by the four questions the electors must answer, instead of a plain, simple question that had been desired by temperance workers. Booze must win only one of the four questions but temperance must obtain a majority on each of the four questions.

A Booze Referendum.

This is not a temperance referendum but a booze referendum. You are asked not whether you are in favor of temperance, but whether you are in favor of the abolition of temperance. It asks you whether you want hard whiskey or not and if you don't want whiskey do you want wine, and if you don't want wine won't you have beer and if you don't like it that way then for God's take it some way. That's the referendum, and it is a booze referendum written by the Prime Minister's own hand.

Calculated to Deceive.

Proceeding, Mr. Roebuck touched upon the question of light wine of 2.51 per cent. weight measure as shown on the ballot. This was further evidence that it was a booze referendum. Why was the phrase weight measure used by the Prime Minister instead of proof spirits, unless he hoped that the public would not know that alcohol weighs only one-half as much as water. An alcoholic content of 2.51 per cent. by weight is 5.46 proof spirits. This was a patent attempt to deceive the people that they were obtaining a 2.51 per cent. beer.

The beer offered by the Prime Minister is one half as strong as hard whiskey. It is five times stronger than what is allowed to be sold in the United States. That is what the Prime Minister is offering to your boy and to mine in this referendum.

Will Bring Back the Bar.

The Government has said that the bar may be re-established if the vote is for the repeal of the O.T.A. This means that in every municipality where you and I and so many of the people of Ontario have fought for temperance the bar will be thrust back upon us by this referendum, where a three-fifths vote was needed to abolish the bar and fifty-fifty for its return. Mr. Roebuck declared that it could be shown mathematically that this is a booze referendum.

Because of certain harsh features the O.T.A. was unpopular with many persons largely because of its outrageously partizan administration. The Prime Minister knows that. Then by the referendum if the people vote to abolish this Temperance Act the Prime Minister says it shall mean the re-establishment of the Liquor License Act. It means the re-establishment of the bar in this province. Why has the Prime Minister made that declaration? Because he hopes that the unpopularity of the Temperance Act may lead to the re-establishment of that other thing. And this is the Government that has the nerve to call itself a Temperance Government.

By contrast Mr. Roebuck showed that Mr. Dewart endorsed the Liberal party's projected measure, and had pledged himself over and over again to carry out the wishes of the people on temperance. He had stated that if the people don't like the Ontario Temperance Act he would give it the revision needed to bring it into accord with the democratic spirit of this age. However, it is the cause that counts.

The Liberal Party has been the party of reform in the past and with the consent of the people will continue to be the party of progress and reform in the Government.

BERLIN, Oct. 3. — Fifteen thousand strikers despite a warning from the German government, attempted to hold a mass meeting in a northern suburb to-day. Troops fired into the crowd, killing one and wounding a score.

SITUATION IMPROVING

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 3.—Certain assurances, it is reported, were given by Lloyd George to Labor men in the course of a conference to-day. These will be laid before representatives of the Railwaymen this afternoon.

"The situation is easier", said J. T. Brownlie, of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, after a prolonged conference between Labor men and the Premier this afternoon.

C. L. Keen, London, Oct. 3.—After a conference at Downing St. to-day it was stated on behalf of the Labor leaders that: "The position was much easier," and that there was a prospect of resuming negotiations with the Government. Commenting on the failure of yesterday's negotiations, one section of the press considers that the Government action in withholding last week's pay from the Railwaymen was unwise and provocative. The "Daily News" denounces it as a signal act of folly. The "Times" regrets that mutual pride is preventing a renewal of mediation between the Government and the strikers.

TALK WITH THOMAS

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 3. — Secretary Thomas talked with the Associated Press representative this afternoon with reference to the Downing Street conference that had failed to result in an agreement yesterday. The Government demanded unconditional surrender, which was impossible he said. Railway men are more solid to-day than ever in their determination to see it through. Inspired tales that they are returning to work are untrue.

After the arrival of Special Messenger from Downing Street, at headquarters of the National Union of Railwaymen, a deputation of Trades Unionists, together with the Executive Board of the National Union of Railwaymen, went into another conference with Lloyd George.

The big dose purges its way through the system fast, but does not cleanse thoroughly.

The small dose (if right) acts gently on the liver, and gives it just the slight help it needs to do its own work, and do it well.

Take one pill regularly, until you know you are all right.

CAMERA CRAZE REVIVED.

London.—The camera craze among amateur photographers has been revived since the armistice, and records show that more than 80,000,000 cameras, mostly of the cheaper variety, have been sold since November 11 last. Chemists are working night and day in an effort to develop films and print pictures with which they are being swamped. During the war there were rigid restrictions on the use of cameras.

BAG TO MATCH UMBRELLA.

London.—The woman of fashion today must have her umbrella and hand-bag to match. Tortoise shell and ivory fittings are the favourite choice of silk umbrellas and bags. At the beaches, cretonne covered sunshades with hand-bags to match, are all the rage. The sunshades are comparatively small, and dome-shaped. They are patterned with Chinese garden, large bird and flower designs.

try as a whole. However, without your assistance and the assitance of the workingmen and the women of this riding I cannot do much. I therefore appeal for your most generous support."

The President's Address.

In opening the convention, Mr. McArthur said he had never attended a political meeting in this country, and as this occasion approached he grew uneasy about the customary method of procedure. For his own direction he attended the Liberal meeting and said he hadn't much to regret for that visit.

He was struck by the reiteration of Mr. Widdifield's statement that Mr. Gillespie was an honest man.

"I don't see any reason to question it," said Mr. McArthur, "but it struck me forcibly that this was practically the only recommendation they gave him. The politics offered us in the addresses were excellent, until they advised us to support the Liberal party. The platform proposed was nothing more nor less than the Labour Party's, but they declared that it needed a Liberal Government to put it into force. I expect the Conservatives would say the same thing for themselves. Of course I differ with them. Labor wants its platform put into force no matter by what Government, but this can only be done when Labor has a force in Parliament that will compel the Government to put the platform into effect. I don't anticipate that Labor will have a majority in the House. Most of the Liberal platform was taken from that of I.L.P.; and it seemed to me that any original platform acceptable to workers must come from Labor men. However, before they can hope to get anything, they must press for it on their own platforms.

"We don't want a candidate to look after Labor and no one else. It has said that we are after class legislation. I say that the Labor man can legislate as capably as the lawyer, the doctor or the minister. It all depends on the class of men you put in. Labor is young in Canada and may not have as much talent as the older parties, but it will become educated and before many years it will have the men to set up a Labor Government."

Mr. McArthur mentioned the responsibility that had been thrust upon Labor men in Great Britain during the war, when the old political groups could not produce men capable of undertaking the tasks. As workingmen they had accepted those duties and carried them out to a success for their country.

Double to Fight.

The first detail of the convention was a general vote by which it was decided to put forward a candidate in the interests of the Labor Party. Mr. McArthur was the first member proposed, but he declined stating that a great deal of spade work had to be done and that it was a young man's task. Were he younger he would have delighted in the position. He guarantees his whole-hearted support to whoever was chosen. Mr. P. C. Lloyd was also proposed but withdrew his name.

Mr. A. McLaren pointed out that a candidate had to be a member of the party for at least three months. Another member mentioned Ald. McIntyre, but it was stated from the chair that he was not an I.L.P. man.

When the president called for nominations Mr. Chas Duggan remarked that it had been expected that the executive would submit names.

Mr. McArthur—"You are used to the old Conservative tricks. I think we should throw this convention open to all members so that they may make the freest choice."

Mr. Toom's Address.

It was required of the nominees for the candidacy that they accept the platform of the Independent Labor Party and agree to the recall by which, if chosen, they would write out their resignation and place it with the executive to be used in the event of their failure to carry out the conditions upon which they would be elected. Mr. Tooms, Mr. Morrison and Mr. Lane subscribed to the entire platform.

Before the balloting the members proposed for the nomination were given an opportunity to address the meeting. Mr. Tooms stated that Labor in Peterboro had reached a new stage in the game.

"It puts me back twelve months," he said, "when Labor tried to fill what they regarded as a need in the affairs of this city. They sent four candidates up for the municipal elections and all four were elected. Encouraged by that act the Independent Labor Party are now putting the opportunity of a Labor representative before you. We have heard of democracy so much that we are beginning to feel that we want it. The democracy I stand for is both political and industrial, for you can't have a political democracy and an industrial despotism. I am sorry that there are not more ladies present. They have just got the privileges of voting. We must realize that Labor cannot become 100 per cent. organized unless it has the women in it. The married men should raise the interest of the women in political questions."

Mr. Tooms spoke of the kindred interests of the farmer and city workman. All labor had been exploited by the capitalists class, but the farmer as a producer and the industrial worker in the city had a common cause.

Dealing with the platform of the Labor Party he took up the planks in order and discussed nearly all of them. He stood for co-operation, for the betterment of working conditions, for equal opportunity for all men to rise to that position for which their talents fitted them. He fully approved of free and compulsory education and wanted an equitable distribution of wealth. Mr. Tooms spoke of the success of the Labor Government in Queensland, elected in 1915 and returned to power at a subsequent election with a majority of more than two to one. That Government had reduced prices to the pre-war levels, established state butcher shops, naturalized the timber industry and put into force other enterprises for the benefit of all the people. This was an earnest example of what a Labor Government could do.

Ald. Gainey.

Withdrawing his name from the convention, Ald. Gainey stated that he had not attended with any intention of standing. He had received enough honors from the workingmen this year. Besides according to the constitution he couldn't qualify as a candidate as he hadn't been a member long enough. The honor should go to some of the workers who had helped build up the party during the last year. Ald. Gainey promised to give all the assistance he could to secure the election of the Labor candidate.

Alex Morrison.

Mr. Alex Morrison stated that if he was chosen he would stand by the I. L. P. platform. He was known as a farmer in Smith where he had lived and a workingman in the city. He had done all he could for the betterment of Labor and if elected would do nothing of which the Party would feel ashamed.

Mr. Thomas Lane.

Mr. Lane made a snappy speech, referring to his association with the Labor movement in Peterboro. The workers comprised 85 per cent. of the population and the remaining 15 per cent lived off the backs of Labor. But the Government had Legislated almost entirely for that 15 per cent.

"Isn't it time something was done for the 85 per cent? If the farmers and Labor of West Peterboro stand together we'll send a man down there to keep an eye on them. The press says that Labor and the farmers can't pull together, but the Liberals tell us that they can smooth things between Labor and the Farmer. Is that reasonable? Let's use our toppiece. Flowery promises last only until the ballots are counted."

Mr. R. N. Scott.

In the final vote on the candidates three ballots were unmarked. The last speaker was Mr. Robert Scott of Smith. The convention, he said, showed the laboring men had at last got a move on, that they had some starch in their backbone. They had been tied to the old parties too long. Mr. Scott had come to the conclusion after a life time in politics that there was not much in it.

"I am pleased that you have men who can express themselves as well as they did to-night," he said. "I can't speak of the farmers since the U. F. O. is not organized in this riding, but there are many individuals who are dissatisfied with the way things are going. Some have doubts that the farmers and labor man can get together. The question of hours and wages they think is a stumbling block. That can be overcome. The hours of the farmer can't fall in line with that of the city working man. If it rains we can't go on with our work, but taking it the year round, we don't work much more than seven or eight hours a day on the average. Some say that Labor causes shorter hours and higher wages and that this entices the young men from the farms. I have known a few who went to the city, but they were soon glad to come back. I will do what I can to help elect your man. We expect him to get out into the country and I am sure Mr. Tooms will make a good impression.

An Old Country Model.

As a concluding remark, Mr. McArthur stated that he was disappointed with a custom in Canada by which it seemed that a member of Parliament never met his constituents except during elections. In the old country a member was required to appear at least once a year before his people to give an account of what he had done and to educte the people upon the questions that were before the country. Mr. McArthur believed that Canadian politics would be much improved by this system, and the electors would have a better knowledge of public affairs. He hoped that it would be adopted here and as certain that it would become a practice of the Independent Labor Party.

X-RAY FAILED

Mechanic Gives Evidence

There are cases where science in its most profound phases is absolutely baffled, yet other help is at hand.

This is proved by the testimony of a mechanic, 35 years of age, who suffered, at times, positive torture from stone in the bladder. After trying many remedies without result, he had an X-Ray photograph taken, which also failed to show where the trouble was. Fortunately, just at this juncture, when he almost had given up hope of any relief, Gin Pills were brought to his notice. These famous Pills in a very short time enabled him to pass the stone which was the cause of his trouble. We will give the name of this man on request.

Kidney and Bladder troubles should not be neglected. The first symptoms should be sufficient warning. Pain in the sides or back, constant headaches, neuralgic and sciatic pains, rheumatism, dizziness, constipation, gravel, highly-colored urine, specks before the eyes, all point to derangement. Gin Pills should be obtained without delay. Druggists and dealers carry them—50c—your money refunded if not satisfied. Free sample on request.

Martin-Senour Paints 100% Pure

When You Paint Your Buildings You Do So for Two Reasons FIRST Protection and SECOND Beauty

And that paint which serves best and for the longer period fulfils these two purposes is the best paint—and the longer the term of paint service the greater the saving. Cheap paint goes only half as far as a gallon of good paint. Besides the building will look, shabby a few months afterwards. Moreover, it costs just as much to apply a cheap paint as it does a good one, that will look more beautiful and last years longer. Martin-Senour Paints represent the highest standard in the trade to-day.

SERVICES IN ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

The services in St. Andrew's Church to-morrow will be special. It is the annual Rally Day for the congregation in all its departments. The Minister will preach in the morning, outlining the church's work. At 3 o'clock there will be a rally of the Sunday School and Dr. Allen will hold the first session of a Young Men's Bible Class. At 7 p.m. a solid bronze Memorial Tablet, bearing the names of the men of St. Andrews who gave their lives in the Great War will be unveiled. Captain T. F. Best, a veteran of two wars, who speaks to men in the Allen Theatre in the afternoon, under the auspices of the Y. M.C.A. will be the preacher. The Great War Veterans will be present in a body and also the St. Andrew's Troop of Boy Scouts. A great rally of young people is expected at the evening service.

ABOUT HOUSES

"Boudoir" really means a "sulkery," for it is derived from a French word meaning "to sulk." Thackeray had a room in his house upon the door of which was a sign: "My Sulkery" and whenever that door was locked he was never disturbed.

In Suffolk people used to say that if the broom is accidently left in the corner after sweeping the house "strangers will visit you," while up North folk had a superstituoun that "to sweep dust out of a house by the front door fortune and happiness leaves your home."

Old railway carriages, hulks and even wrecks, have been used as habitations in years gone by. Some time ago, the G. E. R. would deliver a carriage body free at any of their stations for $5. If they would only do it now, what a blessing it would be in these days of housing anxieties.

Just over twenty years ago the estibates for building were as follows: "Cost of a workman's plain country cottage, 3d. per cubic foot. Ordinary semi-detached 8 or 10-roomed house, 8d. or 9d. per cubic foot. Mansions 2s. a cubic foot and sometimes more. These sums did not include cost of land or fencing."

"Drawing-Room" is an abbreviation of "withdrawing-room," which was originally the apartment in a house to which the ladies withdrew from the hall, which was the usual living and dining room. The custom of withdrawing after dinner is derived from the Norsemen, for the Vikings always dismissed women from their drinking bouts.

A paper house was once erected in Hamburg. It was used as a restaurant. Its walls were made of double layers of paper stitched on frames and impregnated with a fire and water-proof solution. The roof and walls were fastened together by means of bolts and hinges, so that it was collapsible. The dining room was capable of holding 150 people. There was 22 windows, 4 skylights and the heating was effected by a couple of isolated stoves. It cost 75 pounds to build and was a popular rendezvous in Hamburg.

DREADED INFLUENZA

MEDICAL MEN BELIEVE IT WILL AGAIN VISIT CANADA THIS AUTUMN AND WINTER

Medical Men Believe it Will Again Visit Canada This Autumn and Winter.

There is a widespread belief among medical men that the epidemic of la-grippe or influenza, which swept over the world last year will again appear in Canada during the autumn and coming winter. This dangerous trouble spares neither age nor sex, but it naturally finds its easiest victims among those who are run down in health, or those whose blood is weak and watery, and it is among the latter class in which the greatest number of fatalities occur. The surest way to prevent an attack of this dreaded trouble is to keep the blood rich and pure, and the safest and best way to do this is through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

No reasonable precaution to avert an attack of influenza or la grippe should be spared. The disease itself is deadly, but its after-effects, among those who are spared, make the life of the victim one of constant misery. Ask almost any of those who have been attacked by influenza what their present condition of health is and most of them will answer: "Since I had the influenza I have never been fully well." This trouble leaves behind it a persistent weakness of the limbs, shortness of breath, bad digestion, palpitation of the heart, and a tired feeling after even slight exertion. This is due to the thin-blooded condition in which la grippe almost always leaves its victims after the fever and influenza have subsided. They are at the mercy of relapses and complications, often very serious. This condition will continue until the blood is built up again, and for the purpose of building up the blood and strengthening the nerves nothing can equal a fair treatment with Dr. Williams Pink Pills. From first to last dose these pills make new, rich blood, which reaches every organ and nerve in the body. Thus the lingering germs are driven out, and the weak, despondent victims of influenza are transformed into cheerful, healthy, happy men and women.

But better still, you can put yourself in a condition to resist an attack of influenza by enriching the blood through the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and this, it seems, is the sensible thing to do at once.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all dealers in medicine or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

GOOD FOOD SUPPLY.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—Premier Lloyd-George's appeal for the formation of "Citizens' Guards" throughout the country in an emergency caused by the railroad strike and its possible speed, met with a prompt response on all sides to-day.

The Lord Mayor of London lost no time in complying with the request, and his example was followed by civic authorities the country over. Representative committees were formed everywhere to recruit the Guards, whose duties will be to assist the police in the protection of citizens engaged in the maintenance of the supply of food, and otherwise preserving order.

The Government is condemned in some quarters for its appeal for the "Citizens' Army" in connection with the railway strike. It is thought that this somewhat premature move would lead to antagonism. At the same time, the situation is considered as being far from hopeless.

STILL MEDIATING.

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The efforts of Trade Unionist mediators to find a means for bringing the Government and leaders of the National Union of Railwaymen together have not been abated, in spite of the breach in the negotiations. Fourteen chosen delegates met this forenoon at the headquarters of the Tfansport Workers' Federation for the purpose of formulating further proposals. It is expected they will approach Premier Lloyd-George on Monday and lay their propositions before the Trades Congress on Tuesday.

The Cabinet met early this forenoon at the residence of Premier Lloyd-George to discuss the strike situation. There were many conjectures among the people whether King George, who will arrive in London this evening, will be likely to invoke his authority and reassemble Parliament in view of the threatening aspect of the situation.

The suggestion meets with all-round approval in leading circles, where it is considered that public discussion would alleviate the crisis.

NOON COMMUNIQUE.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 4.—The Government, in its noon communique on the strike situation, reported continued improvement in the transport situation, the statement reads.

Plans are actively in preparation to meet the situation caused by the refusal of the strike leaders to accept arbitration. Railroad services are still growing. Freight trains are increasing in number. The food situation is unchanged. Stocks are well distributed ,and are more plentiful than on the first day of the strike.

SUICIDE OF MRS. ATHERTON

Bohemia had hardly recovered from the shock of Billie Carleton's untimely death, when the West End was suddenly horrified to hear of a tragedy hardly less terrible—the suicide of another outstanding beauty, Mrs. Atherton.

Say what one will, there cannot be the slightest doubt that to scores of women beauty in the long run is nothing more or less than a curse. Just as in the far-off days it was a curse to Cleopatra, or fifteen hundred years afterwards to Mary Queen of Scots, so it has been through all the stages of human history.

From a Scottish Village.

Near the village of Davidson's Mains, Midlothian, stands a schoolhouse which for a number of years visitors came from far and near to have a peep at, it being the place where another famous beauty received her early education—Evelyn Thaw. A beautiful child she was, attracting universal attention, even when only ten or twelve; but how many of those who smiled approvingly on her budding loveliness could have guessed at the appalling tragedy that was soon to cloud the very dawn of her womanhood—a tragedy embracing the murder of the American millionaire, Stanford White, the sensational trial and sentence of Harry Thaw, and the wrecking of a life, which a few years previous was brimful of nought but the highest hope.

Take the case of one of those extraordinary beauties, the Gunnings. So exquisitively beautiful were these fair sisters, it will be remembered, that when they walked out in the London parks, they were provided with an armed escort to keep the crowds from inconveniencing them. Yet in spite of the worldly advantages their beauty procured for them—for one the heart of a duke, for the other that of an earl—tragic in the extreme were the last days of one of these wonderful women.

When in the course of years her beauty began to fade, she took to artificial means to improve her appearance, and in the end so poisoned her system that her life was despaired of. The woman who was all sunshine and happiness when the world was at her feet, could no longer bear up when the adverse winds of circumstances bowled round her castle walls.

The Friend of Nelson.

"Now that I can no longer be beautiful, let me die," was one of her last utterances; not surely a very exalted or inspiring declaration to come from the lips of one fast approaching death.

Though she has been in her grave nigh on a hundred years now, people have not ceased to rave of Lady Hamilton, the friend of Nelson, the enchantress of the painter Romnes, the woman who, from poverty and obscurity, rose to such fame and power as to count in her train some of the most distinguished men in Europe.

"ENGLAND IS ON THE VERGE OF COLLAPSE"

Conditions in England, says an American journal, are going from bad to worse and any sanity which the nation possessed before the war seems to have disappeared. A wave of degeneracy is sweeping over the country and all classes seem to be affected. No longer, apparently, is the phlegmatic nature of the British people able to cope with their new social disease which is making rich and poor alike. Men and women are flinging their honor and virtue to the winds and crime is rampant throughout the nation. A similar condition preceded the fall of the Roman Empire and a similar fate seems in store for England, unless the people can return to the ways of decency and clean living.

Lloyd George's gloomy speech, recently, gives an insight into the terror which is now in the hearts of thoughtful Englishmen, they see in the future nothing to reassure them, though millions of square miles have been added to the British Empire and indemnities equal to a kingdom's ransom have been pledged it by Germany. The cancer of social unrest has grown into a malignant disorder, which threatens the very existence of England and the complete break-up of her far-flung empire.

The labouring classes of England have now the upper hand, but elements among them are so hindering the work of reconstruction by their excuses that chaos is the result. The nobility and the moneyed class have lost their poise and are indulging in orgies of waste and extravagance, which bodes ill for the future.

And yet, in spite of the alarming situation at home, Great Britain is engaged in several wars in various parts of the world, spending the funds which she now needs so badly in destroying the nationality of other peoples. It is safe to say that England is now reaping the harvest of her sins against humanity and the present crisis which faces her is an indication of the punishment which Providence in its own sweet time metes out to nations as well as individuals which disregard the laws of God and man in their dealings with the world at large. — Charleston American.

AN AMAZING VERDICT.

On August 7, 1857, James Spollen was tried at Dublin for the murder of Mr. Little, a railway cashier at the Great Western Railway Station, Broadstone, Ireland, on November 13, 1856, when between four and five hundred pounds in money was carried off. The prisoner was employed at the station, and had access to the different apartments. The precautions taken by the murderer baffled for long the most searching inquiries of the police. It was established by evidence—partly of his own children—that he was close to the cashier's room on the night in question; that he was seen to carry away from it some round thing wrapped in a bag; that he secreted this in the top of a chimney in the grease-house; that the stolen money was found there, wrapped in a piece of calico taken from one of his children's bonnets; and that a razor, which was the prisoner's property, was discovered by the police, with which the wounds might have been inflicted. Evidence of a secondary nature was also adduced to show that Mrs. Spollen knew of her husband's guilt, but was not permitted to hold intercourse with anyone prior to her death, which took place about a week before his apprehension. Spollen's own declaration accounting for his movements that night agreed neither with each other nor with the evidence. After a trial extending over six days, the jury—to the amazement of many in court—brought in a verdict of "Not guilty!" Spollen afterwards came before the public as a lecturer on the mysterious murder, but public indignation against him was so strong that he was compelled to withdraw from the platform.

RED TRIMMED EAGLE IS GERMANY'S NEW EMBLEM.

BERLIN, Oct. 4.—Germany has a new escutcheon, says a correspondent of the Associated Press, from which the Hoenzollern arms have been eliminated. It consists of a black one-headed eagle on a golden yellow field.

The new eagle, which has shed its erstwhile imperial crown and collar, is not a rampant bird, and would look sedate enough in its sitting posture but for the colour of its beak, tongue and talons, which are red.

THE SCRIVEN MEMORIAL.

Editor, Examiner:

Sir,—The first Scriven memorial stone to perpetuate his memory in the Sackville district will be unveiled at Kidd's Corners on Sunday, October 5th, 1919, at 2 p.m. (daylight saving time). Prior to the unveiling ceremony a service is arranged at Bewdley Church, to be conducted by the Rev. C. S. Applegath, the Rev. D. S. K. Byrne, Christian Workers' Congregational Church, Montreal, and Dr. McLaughlin, Toronto University, and other distinguished clergymen. The Peterborough and Cobourg Salvation Army Temple Bands are supplying the music. The Port Hope choirs are sending representatives to sing. The ministerial representatives of the associations of Toronto, Port Hope, Millbrook, Peterborough, Cobourg and of the surrounding districts are cordially invited to attend. A special appeal will be made to the gathering for subscriptions to complete a memorial for the tomb of the late Joseph Scriven (the author of "What a friend we have in Jesus"), who died August 10th, 1886. Would all friends of Mr. Scriven and lovers of his popular hymn come prepared?

Bargains in Advertising

Judging by the volume of advertising at present being carried by Canadian daily newspapers, the highest on record, advertisers generally seem to recognize that newspaper space is obtainable at real bargain rates.

For such proves to be the case. Newspaper advertising rates, never too high, have not kept pace with rising costs. The cost of everything entering into the production and maintenance of a newspaper has in recent years increased from 50 to 100 per cent. So has the cost of nearly everything else, including the price of most papers to their readers. One has to pay a dollar for things which cost fifty to sixty cents three or four years ago.

Yet newspaper advertising space which cost fifty or sixty cents three or four years ago can be bought for seventy-five or eighty cents to-day, in some cases less. In fact, we do not know of a single newspaper worth advertising in at all in which space is not worth, by present-day standards, thirty to fifty per cent. more than the publishers are getting for it.

The Montreal Daily Star recently issued a circular quoting the minimum rates charged by representative dailies comparable in circulation and value to advertisers, showing that the average minimum rate charged by representative dailies in American cities was fifty per cent. higher than the rate asked by the Star. This is representative of Canadian dailies generally.

Ten years ago one-seventh of a cent a line per thousand of circulation was generally regarded as a fair rate for a newspaper of fifty to one hundred thousand circulation. Taking the depreciation in the value of the dollar into account, one-fourth to one-fifth of a cent per thousand of circulation should be regarded as a fair rate for space in a good daily newspaper to-day—somewhat higher for the smaller city dailies. Yet but few of our Canadian dailies are on this basis to-day.

Advertising is, therefore, a better buy than ever, for those who know how to use it effectively.—Marketing.

A Presentation To Auburn Employee

On Friday afternoon all the fellow workers of the Picking Room Dept of Auburn Mills gathered together and made a most handsome presentation of a mahogany clock to Mr. Arthur Lonsberry. The address was as follows and was read by Mr. William McDougal.

We having learned of your approaching marriage, feel that we cannot let the occasion pass without in someway conveying to you our andngitfew efeelig Te aaDHR many good wishes. During the short time you have been associated with us we have always found you a true friend and a cheerful companion and we unite in conveying to you our very best wishes on this happy occasion. As a brief token of our many good wishes which we hold for you we ask you to accept this clock and as it ticks off the hours and the hours roll into days and the days into years, we sincerely trust that each one of them will be one of happiness for both you and your bride.

Signed on behalf of the foreman and fellow workmen of the Auburn Mills.

Bell-shaped overskirts are the very latest.

Inch-wide metal belts are being shown.

Wool serge and heavy linen are combined.

White felt hats are worn for yachting.

Leather buttons are very chic on tweed suits.

Corsets show a tendency towards a higher bust.

Georgette blouses are embroidered with chenille.

Broad-brimmed picture hats are laden with flowers.

There seems to be fringe in every edge of everything.

A great many sports skirts for the fall are box pleated.

Favored by one of October's sunny days the Millbrook Central Exhibition, held yesterday, surpassed all previous records from a standpoint of exhibits and attendance. The Fair long since named "The Battle Ground of Winners," is justly called so as the situation prevailing is that Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville and Orono fair dates are all previous to Millbrook and are all situated to the south; Peterboro, Lindsay, Lakefield and Keene are all to the north and are also held previous to the Millbrook fair resulting in a battle royal when the winners from the north and south meet on common ground to fight for the championship.

Interesting Decision.

One interesting event in the heavy horse ring was the best championship Clydesdale on the ground and in this class the judge reversed the Peterboro decision, awarding the first prize to Harry Earle and second to Harry Bryans. In the roadster class Stanley Belwett of Peterboro won first, Thos. Cowan of Orono second, and Norman Henry third.

The races, which were hotly contested were a big attraction and three speeding in the ring events were put on.

The Exhibits.

In the cattle class a record, surpassing all previous, was made, and rivalled the days twelve years ago, when the Redmond Brothers beat the world record in short horns. This year the showing of Holsteins and Durhams was particularly good. Unusual interest was displayed by the spectators in the splendid poultry exhibit which included some perfect specimens of birds. The dairy and ladies' work too exhibited surpassed records of previous years.

A novel feature of the fair and one which aroused considerable interest was the presence of a Curtis plane in which the aviator, accompanied by Mr. Ernie Parker of Peterboro, made some sensational flights. Several residents of Millbrook took the opportunity to make a flight and reported entire satisfaction in what they experienced.

Evening Concert.

In the evening a splendid concert, put on by the Williams All Star Company, proved so great an attraction that the Town Hall seating capacity proved inadequate.

Officials Pleased.

Mr. J. W. Hamilton and Captain J. N. McGill, like the rest of the officials, are still smiling in remembrance of the splendid success of the air.

Exhibitions of men's and boys' clothes by Oak Hall and Graftons attracted a large number of interested men and boys, who were delighted with the choice stock displayed by both firms. The exhibits were in charge of the managers of each firm and competent assistants.

Those Present.

Among those present from a distance to fair were Mr. J. J. Preston, Bethany; Sam S. Staples, Ida, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mattrass, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lowes and son, Ernest, of Emily; Mr. Sam Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lamb and daughter, Jessie, Mr. Chas. Ivory, "the Egg King of Central Ontario," Omemee Conn.; and Mrs. S. B. Carew and Mr. H. Howden, of Emily; Mr. D. Graham, Omemee; Mr. J. Morton, Emily; Mr. and Mrs. C. Graham, Peterboro; Mrs. (Dr.) Deyell, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Munro, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McKim, Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Jordan, Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wilson, Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson, Hope; Mrs. Geo. McCartney and son, Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson of Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. McIndoo, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson of Fairmount; Mr. Sam Dickson of Smith; Mrs. R. Ruth, Mt. Pleasant; Miss Purser, Cobourg.

WHERE HE FOUND THEM

"And where have you been, my pet?"

Thus said little Willie"s mother to little Willie on his return home after an absence of several hours.

"Playing postman,"replied the family hope.

"Playing postman,' replied Willie's mother. "And how does one play postman sweet?"

"Why, I just left a letter at each house in the road," explained the prodigy,. "real letters, too."

Real letters darling?" inquired mamma, smiling. "But where did you get the real letters from?"

Weak, Nervous Children Quickly Gain Strength Under Following Plan

Nervousness, just like weakness, is a family predisposition. We inherit tendencies to disease just as we inherit physical resemblances. The strain of study, social duties, work at home—these all tend to make nervous troubles among children. No wonder that St. Vitus Dance, Epilepsy and constant headaches have become alarmingly common. Pale, nervous, listless young people are met everywhere.

It is nothing short of criminal for parents to neglect signs of weakness in their children. By ignoring the slightest symptom of nervous or mental strain, you may condemn your child to life-long invalidism. If any member of your family complains of headaches, fear of going into dark places, give them that wonderful tonic, "Ferrozone." Strength of body and mind, hardy nerves, ability to study with comfort, all the attributes of health quickly follow the use of Ferrozone. It establishes strength, color, endurance, vim—does this by filling the whole system with nourishment and tissue-forming materials.

It's because we know the enormous good that Ferrozone will do, because we are sure every child and even grown folks, will be permanently benefited, that we urge you to give it a trial. All dealers sell Ferrozone in 50c boxes, six for $2.50, or direct by mail from The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

A Home Recipe for Wrinkled, Saggy Skin

The famous saxolite lotion recommended by beauty specialists for removing wrinkles and for reducing distended pores, can easily be made at home. Ask your druggist for saxolite in powdered form, one ounce, and a half pint of witch hazel. Dissolve the powder in the witch hazel, and bathe the face, neck, and hands in the solution. Results are remarkable and instantaneous. The skin tightens, and this naturally reduces the wrinkles, as well as creases or folds about the neck, cheeks or hands. The tissue beneath the skin also becomes firmer and more solid.

One feels much refreshed and exhilarated after using this truly wonderful preparation. Many women look five or ten years younger after using this only a short time.

Popovers require an exceedingly hot oven.

WHITE SOX WILL LIKELY PUT CICOTTE IN BOX TO-DAY

LOOK FOR ANOTHER WIN ON THE HOME LOT—ATTENDANCE RECORDS HIT HIGH WATER MARK

(Special to The Examiner.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 4.—Reassured by a 3 to 0 victory over Cincinnati Reds in the third game of the world's series, the Chicago White Sox to-day declared that they were ready to back up Cicotte, their one-time battered ace, with the fighting spirit that brought them the pennant in the American League, and even up the series 2 to 2.

The Reds, stung by the first shut-out of the series, after two wins on their home field, did not believe they again would encounter such marvellous pitching as shown by Kerr, the midget pitcher of the White Sox, and asserted their expectations of having no hard time with the "shine" and knuckle ball Cicotte would serve up if he should be Manager Gleason's choice, or any of the other Sox twirlers.

Having familiarised themselves with the breezes, shadows, and sun spots of Comiskey Park, Manager Mogan's winners of the National League race were confident of a better showing to-day. Saturday always has been a good baseball day in Chicago, and the crowds that began forming about the park before midnight last night indicated that the thirty-five thousand capacity of the enclosure would be taxed to-day.

Showers and cooler weather for to-day was the weather prediction that would bring a change from the three days of unexcelled world's series weather, already past the eighty-nine thousand mark on the total attendance and the $286,400 stage in gross receipts.

The series gives evidence of producing record figures in both instances, experts say.

Betting that opened with the White Sox favourites at 7 and 8 to 5, veered to even money as the Reds smothered the American Leaguers in the first game.

Chicago—J. Collins rf, Ed. Collins 2nd, Weaver 3rd, Jackson lf, Felsch cf, Gandil 1st, Riesberg ss, Schalk c, Cicotte p.

DEARER WOMEN CLOTHES.

London.—"Women's clothing is already dear," said John Lawrie, managing director of Whiteley's, "and dearer coal will make it still dearer. Many manufacturers may have to close down as the public will have less money to spend. The country is too much intent on holidays and enjoyment and too little on work, and cannot be happy or prosperous until it settles down to hard work again."

A GOOD OFFERING AT GRAND TO-NIGHT

"HIS BRIDAL NIGHT" IS A MIRTH PRODUCING COMEDY WITH LOTS OF MUSIC

One of the most attractive offerings of the current theatrical season at the Grand to-day will be the delightful musical farce, "His Bridal Night," from the pen of Margaret Mayo. Miss Mayo has contributed to the American stage some of the greatest laughing successes of recent years. "His Bridal Night" is said to be even funnier than her well-known "Twin Beds." As the title suggests, there was plenty of opportunity for risque lines and situations, yet Miss Mayo has skilfully avoided overstepping the bounds of good taste and propriety, and assurance is given that there is nothing offensive in the action of the piece.

When first produced in New York at the Republic Theatre, where it ran for one season, "His Bridal Night" made a distinct hit as a straight farce. For big measure this season, Frederick V. Bowers, the well-known song writer, has supplied a catchy musical score. The comedy is most amusing, and there is a sustained and interesting plot throughout. It presents a case of mistaken identity. Two sisters, twins, who look so much alike that the bridegroom cannot tell the one he married from the newly acquired sister-in-law, a quarrel, a honeymoon begun with the wrong girl, and the interference of Julie, a well-meaning aunt, who undertakes to bring the pair happily together, encountering considerable trouble in so doing, forms the basis of the story in "His Bridal Night."

GUY BROS. MINSTRELS COMING TO THE GRAND

COMPANY ONE OF THE BEST EVER TURNED OUT ON THE ROAD

No doubt the people of Peterborough will be on hand on Friday morning to see the celebrated Guy Brothers' Minstrels. This company is too well known to refer to what kind of a show they have, as everybody knows that Guy Brothers carry nothing but the best. This company is announced by the press and public as the best minstrel organisation that Mr. George R. Guy has ever carried. They carry a special brand new first part setting, with a high-class orchestra, ten vaudeville acts. There will be two hours and a half of mirth and merriment, with the people going home from this show well pleased and waiting for Buy Brothers' Minstrels to return again next season.

Dangerous to Neglect Troubles in the Chest, Throat, or Nose at This Season.

Rough, wheezy breathing means danger ahead. Every day you defer treatment makes it harder to cure.

Don't delay. Bronchial and lung troubles are all too frequent. Start to-day with "Catarrhozone," breathe in its pure balsamic vapour. Let its healing fumes do for you what stomach medicine never can. Nothing so certain as a Catarrhozone Inhaler to strengthen a weak throat, to rid you of Bronchitis, to drive out catarrh, coughs, and colds. Use Catarrozone to prevent, to cure your winter ills. Physicians endorse it, hospitals use it. Thousands swear by it. Two months' treatment, large size, $1.00; smaller sizes 25 cents and 50 cents, all dealers, or The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

Corn Griddlecakes.

Under various names this recipe has been cherished by a good many old-fashioned cooks; but it deserves to be much better known. Mix two cupfuls of white corn meal, one cupful of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, and two full teaspoonfuls of baking powder. Add two eggs, well beaten together and mixed with one pint of milk. Beat the batter vigorously and add two tablespoonfuls of melted lard and another pint of milk. The batter will be thin. The cakes must be cooked on a hot, well-greased griddle and must be turned carefully.

PAULINE FREDERICK SCORES AS THE HEROINE OF WESTERN DRAMA

NEW GOLDWYN PICTURE, "THE PEACE OF ROARING RIVER," PRESENTS EMOTIONAL ARTISTE IN SURPRISING ROLE—COMING TO THE GRAND THEATRE TUESDAY AND WEDNESDAY.

Pauline Frederick's latest Goldwyn picture, "The Peace of Roaring River," presents the star in a role where no feminine aids to beauty add to the sympathy which her tribulations arouse. The exquisite gowns which Miss Frederick wears with such perfection of grace that they seem part of her, are absent. The beautiful, stately carriage of the woman who knows only the finest and softest sides of life, nowhere intrude to soften the realities of "The Peace of Roaring River."

Only her superb ability as an actress carries her through one of the most difficult roles she has ever essayed. That she acquits herself most admirably is evident to anyone who sees her at the Grand Theatre, where her new Goldwyn production is to be shown on Tuesday and Wednesday.

"The Peace of Roaring River" reveals Miss Frederick as a struggling pawn in the clutches of an indifferent world. Dilemma after dilemma is presented to her for solution. A finely bred girl, with her health impaired and no prospect of employment, she rapidly declines to a state of physical exhaustion, from which any possible way out is the road of hope. But though she is alone in the world, she has a staunch friend in her landlady, who believes implicitly in the good agency of the "Matrimonial News." Through her unusual and effective means of aiding her boarder, the girl finally finds herself out west, where the air is freer, but where loose tongues nevertheless know how to wag to the tune of scandal. Here in the country where she believes a new life is about to begin for her, she becomes involved in the schemes of a vicious woman, who has tricked her into coming out west.

However Pauline Frederick faces the situation with the courage and the power of one of the world's heroines; for, although she does not understand how she came to be the unwary victim of a jilted woman's vicious plot she retains her dignity and her womanly individuality in the face of the suspicious questioning of the man, who, she thuoght, had asker her to come west to make his acquaintance.

According to the story of George Van Schaik, the Eastern girl is lured to the west to meet a man who does not know of her existence. Out there, she is shown to his cabin in the mountains near the town of Roaring River. When he returns, and finds a strange woman, he believes himself to be the victim of blackmail. In the ensuing struggle he is shot, but through her pity for his plight, discovers the true story of a girl's victimization by the postmistress of the town.

Those who have seen Pauline Frederick in "The Woman on the Index," "One Week of Life," and "The Fear Woman," will be surprised at the unusual turn of events in "The Peace of Roaring River."

Excellent work is done by a cast which includes Thomas Holding as Miss Frederick's leading man, Lydia Yeamans Titus as the marrying landlady, and Corinne Barker as the jealous postmistress.

Lydia Yeamans Titus has quickly won a name for herself as one of the cleverest character comediennes on the screen, and bids fair to equal the unforgetable reputation which was bequeathed to her by her mother. Corinne Barker, who has played in several recent Goldwyn productions reveals new histrionic gifts in a role of villainous proportions.

TOM MIX LEAPS ON HORSEBACK FROM BALCONY TO NEARBY ROOF

Of all the daredevil stunts which have been presented to the eye through the medium of the motion picture none approaches in daring the one which Tom Mix, the famous cowboy, star, performed recently in the making of a picture. Incidentally, the intrepid rider almost lost his life doing it.

The play required him to ride his horse up two flights of stairs to the balcony of a building, and then to leap the horse over the railing to the roof of a nearby building. Mix, famous for nerve, made the flight, and he and the horse crashed through the roof to the floor below. The pair turned a complete somersault in the air and the horse landed on its knees, but was uninjured. Mix remained on its back and pulled Tony to his feet.

This feat, which occurs in the new William Fox photoplay, "Hell Roarin' Reform", is admitted by Mix to be the most hazardous he ever has undertaken, and those familiar with his pictures will agree that the ex-Texas Ranger and soldier has taken some long chances in his work.

"Hell Roarin' Reform" will be shown at the Empire Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

ADMIRERS WRITE TO WALLACE REID

Is Seen to Good Advantage in "The Source at the Allen To-day.

During the filming of "The Source," Wallace Reid's latest starring vehicle which will be shown at Allen Theatre to-day for the last time, Mr. Reid received many letters of commendation from admirers on the West Coast. One of these, which is typical of the others, follows:

"Last evening I saw you play in 'Rimrock Jones,' and as we were coming out of the theatre, an old gentleman commenced talking about you and said: 'He certainly is a splendid young man, but he will fight at the drop of a hat. I admire him for it, though.' Everyone likes your pictures and the houses are always crowded when you appear."

These film fans and others who like to see Wallace in strenuous roles will be delighted by his splendid work in "The Source." He has three fights in that, and gives a good account of himself in all of them.

GOOD-BYE TO MARY PICKFORD

After nine more pictures Mary Pickford, the Canadian moving picture actress, says she is going to take her sunshine and curls into retirement. If the report of her newest price per picture—$350,000—may be assumed to be authentic, Miss Pickford, or "Little Mary," as she is known by millions, will take $2,800,000 into more or less retirement with her, not counting those dollars which already have been salted.

Yet the Pickfordian sunshine and the Pickfordian curls have contributed so much to [illegible] life that Canadians in general and young Canada in particular would gladly bequeath to "Little Mary" all the dollars in the land, something that under present conditions would take her still more years to get.

The latest move of Miss Pickford is a pictorial amalgamation with Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin and D. W. Griffith. The "Big Four" is to produce and distribute under their own auspices, having become tired of splitting their profits with erstwhile glove salesmen and corset makers.

Speaking of the plans of her daughter, the other day, Mrs. Charlotte Pickford said:

"It will take months to complete the pictures contracted for on the part of Mary, and then she is going to settle down to enjoy life, as I have entreated her for a long time to do.

Once upon a time there was another lady who said she was going to retire. Her name was Mme. Patti.

"REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM"

IS DELIGHTFUL PHOTOPLAY FOR MARY PICKFORD.

Notable Picturization of Kate Wiggin's Famous Story Received With Public Acclaim Everywhere—To be at the Allen on Monday

Mary Pickford's presentation of "The Poor Little Rich Girl" will live long in the hearts of American patrons. However, even greater than "The Poor Little Rich Girl," is Rebecca who has become a favorite national character, in fact, a national type established not only in this, but it other countries as well. Replete with native wit of the rural districts and the wholesome charm of untrammeled American girlhood, this story offers Mary Pickford a character [illegible] it is generally felt, will prove the crowning achievement of her wonderful career.

One of the best sellers of the age, the book by Kate Douglas Wiggin, is undoubtedly the most popular work of this well-known writer. On the stage "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm" immediately took hold of the hearts of the great play-going public and effected another triumph for the spoken drama. With Mary Pickford in the title role of its screen presentation, offering the wide scope of the motion picture, however, this subject will meet with even greater favor than ever before.

Adapted to the screen by Francis Marion, one of the very foremost writers connecter with the cinema, and staged under the capable direction of Marshall Neilan, the youthful producer whose sensational accomplishments in the fil, drama have created countryside attention, Mary Pickford's new offering, offers a rare treat to her vast army of admirers. Arrangements for the showing of this photoplay here have been completed by Manager Rosenthal of the Allen Theatre, who is planning to take care of the great attendance that is assured its presentation.

THE "PHILADELPHIA LAWYER'S" ORIGIN

The phase "Philadelphia lawyer" is supposed to pay tribute to the singular pertinacious astuteness of attorneys who hail from the Quaker City. But the origin of the phrase is known to few.

John Peter Zenger was a German-born publisher in New York, who started in business in that city about 1700. His Weekly Journal which he began to put out in 1733 attacked the colonial Governor and was opposed by the authorities. It was decreed in council that certain of Zenger's offending publications should be burned by the common hangman, and that he should be put in prison on a charge of libel.

The issue of the freedom of the press was at stake, Zenger's friends scoured the colonies for the ablest advocate obtainable. Th finally chose Andrew Hamilton of Philadelphia, who with his son built Independence Hall. Hamilton was speaker of the Assembly of Pennsylvania in 1729, and held many other public offices. He rode over from Philadelphia on horseback, delivered speeches of fiery eloquence and close reasoning that held the jury spellbound and overwhelmingly carried the day for the poor printer. The populace who surrounded the building where the trial took place were all for Hamilton from the start, and the verdict of the jury reflected the public sentiment. Hamilton was cheered to the echo, and sumptuously banqueted; and when he departed, the ships in the North River fired a salute.

The prestige Hamilton thus acquired for the Philadelphia bar has attached to it ever since.

TORIES HUNGER FOR PATRONAGE

TOM FOSTER, OF TORONTO, TELLS HOUSE OF MURMURINGS.

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—The cat is out of the bag. Ontario Tories are dead against the abolition of patronage. Tom Foster, member for East York, gave the whole thing away in an unguarded moment to-night, just before the Commons approved the principle of a bill to reclassify the Civil Service. He said he had heard murmurings among his colleagues from Tory Toronto and Ontario over the action of the Government with respect to Civil Service reform, and there was no use denying that the bill was "very unpopular"—in fact, if there could be a private vote on it the measure would be defeated by an overwhelming majority.

Can't Get Corporal's Guard.

Mr. Foster is not an expert in the gentle art of camouflage, and he bluntly told the House why the bill was unpopular. He said that under the old system of party patronage, thousands of people in Tory Toronto would respond to a notice calling a political meeting. "Now you can't get a corporal's guard," he confessed sadly, and he gave the remarkable reason that there is "nothing for them to look forward to now except to get out and work hard at election time."

It recalled the Rogers banquet at the King Edward Hotel in Toronto, when the Hon. Robert urged a return to party politics and an enthusiastic heeler yelled: "Back to the cream!"

If It Was Secret.

Mr. Foster was honest enough to say that as the Government had introduced the measure some members would be slow to express their real views regarding it, but if they could deal with it secretly there would be nothing left of the reclassification scheme but the outside covers.

Other Conservatives who condemned the bill were Dr. J. W. Edwards of Frontenac, who has fought abolition of patronage from the drop of the hat; Mr. H. C. Hocken of Toronto; Mr. J. H. Burnham of Peterborough; Hon. T. W. Crothers of West Elgin (notwithstanding that he was a member of the Government that proposed it in the first place), Dr. Tyrer McGibbon of Muskoka and others.

Mr. W. F. Maclean was in favour of the bill, and vowed he was glad to be rid of patronage.

PRESIDENT OF THE U. F. O. IS BEING SUED FOR $10,000.

TORONTO, Oct. 3.—Major J. I. Hortt, M.P.P. for East Simcoe, has issued a writ against R. H. Halbert, president of the U. F. O., claiming $10,000.00 damages. He alleges that the defendant on 14th August, at a farmers' meeting at Barrie "recklessly, falsely, and maliciously" charged Hartt with having said at a meeting in North Bay, that "farmers remind me of a lot of hogs feeding at a trough, and, after they are full still squealing for more." He asks for an injunction to restrain Halbert from repeating the statement.

THE OLDEST CITY SETTLED BY NOAH

Nikbichevan, reputed to be the oldest town in the world, which tradition tells was settled by Noah, is located at the foot of Mt. Ararat, in a remote section of Transcaucasia, on the high road between Tabriz and Teheran, and now has a population of from 8,000 to 10,000 people, chiefly Tartars and Armenians. Ptolemy refers to it as Naxuana, and various historians have referred to it as the oldest town in the world. It has been rebuilt again and again and is now full of half obliterated evidences of former prosperity.

The tradition that the town was settled by Noah goes back as far as Armenian and Persian tradition can be traced. There is a great mound of earth in the centre of the town which pilgrims still visit as Noah's grave, and the spot where he offered sacrifices to God after coming safely out of the Ark. The present houses of the town are mostly quarried from ancient ruins, and there are many remains of ancient Armenian and Persian palaces. On the palace of the Prince of Azerbaijan there remains a gateway with a Persian inscription flanked by two brick towers, and a little distance from the gateway is the Tower of the Khans, richly decorated, and dating from the twelfth century. There are also the ruins of a large mosque.

The Expenditure of $610,000,000

How the last Victory Loan was spent

BEFORE buying Victory Bonds again you may want to know how Canada used the money you loaned her last year.

Canada borrowed the money to carry on the war and to provide credits for Great Britain and our Allies.

CONSIDERABLY more than one-half of the Victory Loan 1918 was spent on our soldiers. This included $312,900,000, for paying them, feeding them, bringing them home, separation allowances to their dependents, maintenance of medical services and vocational training schools.

For Demobilization

$59,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1918 was paid on account of authorized Soldiers' gratuities.

$9,000,000 was spent at Halifax for relief and reconstruction after the disaster.

\+ \+ \+ \+ \+ \+

For Trade Extension

Other disbursements were not, strictly speaking, expenditures, but National Re-investments.

To Great Britain for example:

$173,500,000 was loaned for the purchase of our wheat and cereals.

$9,000,000 for our fish.

$30,000,000 for other Foodstuffs

$2,900,000 for Canadian built ships.

$5,500,000 to pay other British obligations in Canada.

Making in all, $220,900,000 advanced to Great Britain.

To our Allies, we loaned $8,200,000 for the purchase of Canadian foodstuffs, raw material and manufactured products.

The Re-investments will be paid back to Canada in due time, with interest.

These credits were absolutely necessary to secure the orders for Canada because cash purchases were impossible.

They have had the effect of tremendously helping agricultural and industrial workers to tide over the depression that would have followed the Armistice, had we not made these credit loans.

As far as money is concerned, 1919 has been, and is still—just as much a war year as 1918. Our main expenditures for war cannot be completed until well on into 1920. Thus another Victory Loan is necessary—Get ready to buy.

Bovril contains the goodness of the beef.

THE vital elements that give beef its special place and value as a food are concentrated and stored in Bovril.

Just as the equivalent light of 32 candles is concentrated in one electric lamp, so the vital elements of beef—of many pounds of beef—are concentrated in a single bottle of Bovril.

But Bovril is not merely a precious food in itself; it possesses the peculiar power of enabling you to extract more nourishment from other foods. This gives Bovril its wonderful body-building power, proved by independent experiment to be from 10 to 20 times the amount taken. Bovril, therefore, in the true sense of the word, is a Great Food Saver.

Bovril stands alone

GIRL CADDIES SUPREME AT DIXIE; ENGLAND TO STANDARDIZE FLOATER

Prince of Wales Gives Caddies Momento---Canadian Golfers Do Not Want "Standardized"--Golf Courses Throughout Canada to be Improved.

Ralph H. Reville.

The Prince of Wales when he played over the Royal Montreal course at Dixie was very much interested in the fact that the oldest golf club in America employs girl caddies almost altogether. This innovation was inaugurated during the war and so successful was it that the girls have become a fixture, and the majority of the members have no desire to return to the "freckle-faced imps" who previously reigned supreme on the links. The club professional always caddies for His Royal Highness on the courses he visits, and he caddies to some purpose, as he is invariably given a pretty stick pin with the Prince of Wales feather and a letter "E" ornamenting it. Needless to say, the pros. receiving these Royal gifts value them most highly and will always keep them as heirlooms. The Prince is becoming a regular "golf fan" and when he has more time to devote to the game will undoubtedly become a very good player indeed. He has excellent style and only requires practice to develop a number of good shots he has in his bag.

Mississauga, Toronto, is another golf club that is going to greatly improve its course next season Donald Ross, the Scottish-American architect, has drawn up very complete plans for the betterment of the course, and the directors are going to adopt them it toto. Elmhurst, Winnipeg, has also decided to adopt Ross' plans, which when completed, will give this Winnipeg club a course equal to any in the east—one in every way worthy of the Canadian championship in 1921. Winnipeg wants the premier event then and ought to have it.

Mrs. Hurd, (Miss Dorothy Campbell), former Canadian, British and United States champion, after an absence of some years, is once again on her native heath, and whilst in Scotland this autumn will play in several competitions. It will be interesting to note how she will "measure up" with the younger school which has sprung up since her ten years or so residence in Canada and the States. Mrs. Hurd is still a very fine player but it is doubtful if she will repeat her many successes of years gone by. It is rather a remarkable fact, but true nevertheless, that the fair sex do not commence to keep up their game as years creep on like new players. A woman over 35 years of age has never won a high class championship whilst many men have.

"Golfing," London, England, makes this startling announcement in the last issue:

"We learn on the best authority that it is the intention of the Rules of Golf Committee to introduce a rule standardizing the floater ball. All balls which will not float in the water will be verboten, but it is intended, in order to enable the golf trade to unload their stocks of the heavier balls, that six months' notice of the change will be given, dating from September, before it is actually enforced."

It is to be sincerely hoped that the Rules of Golf Committee will not be so ill-advised as to adopt such a radical departure without first consulting the powers that be in this and other golfing countries. In Canada the rules and regulations of the game as laid down by St. Andrew's are faithfully followed, but it is a very grave question whether any such change as that method in connection with the standardizing of the ball would be acceptable here. The Rules of Golf Committee wants to "hasten slowly," very slowly, before making any such rash decision. It would certainly be retrograde legislation.

As pointed out by "Golfing" three of the chief objections to the rubber cored ball are that it gives such a good response to even a half hit shot, and so tends to even up the poor players with the good ones, that it makes recovery from hazards too easy, so that the bad shot no longer receives the punishment it deserves, and that its resiliency makes it more difficult to control on a hard green, and so introduces a considerable element of luck in approaching and putting. All these objections apply most strongly to the floater ball, and much less strongly to the small heavy ball which it is proposed to abandon. One thing is sure, if the Rules of Golf Committee of St. Andrews does attempt to standardize the "floater" its ruling will not be observed in Canada or the States. It will commit "golfing suicide" so far as its influence here is concerned.

Playing regular championship golf last week, over the fine course of the Edmonton Golf and Country Club, J. Munro Hunter, recognized as one of the strongest players in the West, won for the third time the amateur championship of Alberta, defeating his club mate, H. M. Stratton, 6 and 5. Both Hunter and Stratton learned their game in Edinburgh and are very finished players. It is hoped another year they may be seen in the Canadian championships. From all accounts they would be likely men for the International team. The St. Andrew's Golf Club, Calgary, won the team match with the Calgary Golf and Country team runners up. A. E. Cruttenden, of Calgary, won the open championship. There was a record attendance and the cards showed exceptionally good golf, the eighties being beaten by all the leaders in the various events.

KNIGHTHOOD ON ROAST OF BEEF

WHERE SIRLOIN STEAK DERIVED ITS NAME.

It was at Houghton Towers, the oldest mansion in England, that James I., at the end of August 1617, touched a loin of beef and bestowed upon it a knighthood. From that day onwards that part of the animal has been know as "Sir Loin." Houghton Towers, in the old days, was a scene of great feasting, and the most notable incident in its history was the visit paid to it by James I., the Stuart king. For three days the mansion was the scene of great feasting and entertaining. Sir Richard Houghton who was then the owner, playing the role of host in a lavish way. The king, on his way to the South from Scotland, was making royal progress through Lancashire, and everywhere he was most royally entertained, but nowhere so splendidly as at Houghton Towers. It was a lumbering State coach in which King James had made a weary journey, and on arriving at the bottom of Houghton Hill, the ascent was found too steep for the carriage, so the King and his courtiers descended and mounted on horseback. As Sir Richard Houghton had accompanied the King from Preston his son Gilbert received the monarch at the bottom of the great avenue, kneeling and kissing his hand. The whole length of the avenue was covered with purple velvet and over this the King rode to the Tower, escorted by Sir Richard and his son, and followed by his retinue of earls, the Bishop of hester, many baronets and knights, and over a hundred Lancashire gentlemen. In front of the Tower the tenantry of the Houghtons and those of neighboring families were assembled, and enthusiastic cheers greeted the appearance of the Sovereign, riding at the head of an imposing cavalcade. On the third day of the Royal visit, being Sunday, the King and Court with all the large company, assembled in the hall to hear a sermon from the Bishop of Chester, and in the afternoon the Lancashire custom of rush-bearing was presented to the King in the middle of the courtyard. The following day at noon His Majesty entered the gilded coach and started for Lathom.

BORROW MONEY FOR THE BRIDGE

MEMBERS PROPOSED FOR THE BUILDING COMMITTEE FOR THE HOUSING SCHEME.

At the regular meeting of the Finance Committee, held last evening, Alderman A. A. McIntyre moved that a by-law be passed to authorize the temporary borrowing from the Bank of Toronto of sufficient money to pay for the Hunter Street Bridge until the debentures are sold. Alderman Morrison seconded the motion and it carried. The Inspector of Public Charities, A. W. Dunlop, of Toronto, reported a number of local persons who were admitted to the insane asylum and whose keep was chargeable to the city.

Mr. James Finnie and Mr. Frank H. Dobbin who have been proposed as members of the Building Committee for the Housing Scheme were present at a short discussion of the project, but nothing definite was decided upon.

Superintendent of Nursing School Says Internal Bathing Gives Best Results in Constipation.

Dr. R. M. Smythe, President and Superintendent, Dominion School of Nursing, Toronto, writes: "I have much in pleasure in sending you a letter recommending the J.B.L. Cascade I shall also be pleased to do so personally or by phone. From personal experience also from my various patients who are using the J. B. L. Cascade I have no hesitation in recommending it to anyone with constipation or any trouble arising therefrom. Its benefits in such cases are felt at once, in my own case as will as others that have come directly under my notice. It has certainly been the means of bringing about many wonderful cures of constipation and various other troubles. I have much pleasure in recommending the Cascade."

If you are troubled with headaches biliousness, bad breath, rheumatism, sallow complexion, or any trouble arising from imperfect elimination, we would urge you to try Internal Bathing by means of the J.B.L. Cascade. This wonderful health-giving appliance is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co.

IN THE BRITISH HOUSE OF COMMONS

Now and again the dryness of Parliamentary debate is enlivened by repartee and rollicking retort, for which as Mr. Spencer Leigh Hughes once remarked, "we have cause to be deeply grateful." As a matter of fact, it takes little to make the House laugh. A nervous member sitting on his hat, a bludner in Parliamentary deportment, or an innovation in the way of dress is sufficient to get members gurgling with merriment.

The House, too, is never slow to seize upon an unintentional personal touch in a speech, a fact which Mr. Reginald McKenna may vouch for. Two weeks after his marriage to that charming and most successful political hostess, Miss Pamela Jekyll, in 1908, he was "on the floor," arguing in favor of the Government's Old Age Pension scheme.

"It is relatively cheaper for two persons living together than one," he declared.

"You ought to know, anyway," cried the quick-witted Will Crooks from the Labor benches.

A blush and a smile illuminated Mr. McKenna's countenance.

"Well, I hope it will be cheaper," he remarked, quietly, and members broke into renewed guffaws, as perchance they thought of their own sad disillusionment.

The House of Commons, however, is never so amused as when a member is betrayed, in his enthusiasm, into a mixed metaphor. Mr. Balfour, some time ago, spoke of "an empty theatre of unsympathetic auditors," while Lord Curzon remarked that "though not out of the wood, we have a good ship." Sir William Hart Dyke has told of how Mr. Lowther "had caught a big fish in his net, and went to the top of the tree for it," while a financial Minister assured the Commons that "the steps of the Government should go hand in hand with the interests of the manufacture." And it was in the Lords that the Government was warned that "the constitutional rights of the people were being trampled upon by the mailed hand of authority."

To Mr. Winston Churchill we owe the wittiest summing-up of a Parliamentary candidate: "He is asked to stand, he wants to sit, and he is expected to lie." Mr. Churchill is also credited with the conundrum: "What is the difference between a candidate and an M.P.?" To which he supplied the answer, "One stands for a place and the other sits for it."

Mr. Lloyd George never seems at a loss for a reply to the interrupter, however rude and personal the latter may be, and the manner in which he dealt with a troublesome one at a Manchester meeting provides a good illustration of his quickness of retort. While in the middle of his speech someone called out "Rot." Quick as a flash came the retort, "The gentleman in the gallery expresses what is in his own mind." The voice was not heard again.

It calls to the mind of the writer the crushing retort of Gladstone, at one of his meetings in the last Midlothian campaign. Gladstone was altogether intolerant of the heckler, and at this particular meeting he was questioned by Sir—then Mr.—John Usher of Norton, who had once been Gladstone's chairman of committee, on the subject of the Irish proposals, which sundered so many political friendships. To one or two inquiries a curt reply was given.

"Am I to understand—" Mr. Usher was beginning. "Understand!" The old statesman leaped to his feet. "I am responsible for the understanding that the Almighty put in this skull of mine," tapping his forehead. "I am not responsible," pointing his finger at the questioner, "for the understanding that He as put in that skull of yours." Mr. Usher sank speechless into his seat.

WHO KNOWS OFFICER WHO RECEVIED IT?

The following notice has been published in district orders issued at Wolseley Barracks, London, and will be republished in orders of all Western Ontario units: "An inquiry has been received in regard to a sum of money in gold, stated to have been buried on La Folie Farm, on the top of Vimy Ridge, by the owner of the property. This money is stated to have been subsequently found by Canadian soldiers, while digging in a gun, and to have been handed over by them to their superior officer. Anyone possessing any information in regard to this matter should forward such information to militia headquarters, Ottawa, quoting the following reference: "H. Q., 93-B-184."

Many Similar Tales

This notice has been sent to every military district in Canada, the military authorities at Ottawa hoping by publicity to trace the missing gold. Many Western Ontario soldiers have, during their experience on the firing line, heard tales of fortunes buried by residents of France and Belgium on their farms, prior to evacuating them before the approaching Hun in the early days of the war. In fact, a few district returned soldiers have been located, who, while serving at the front, discovered small sums of money cached by peasants who fled in haste before the invading hosts in 1914. However, to date, no Canadian soldier has been traced who found the above-mentioned gold.

A London soldier states that during the spring of 1918 a French farmer and wife were allowed to enter the British lines by special permit, in an effort to recover their savings in money, which were buried on their farm, quite close to the front line. This cash, amounting to 10,000 francs, or approximately $2,000, was recovered by the original owners at that time. Many local veterans recollect the story regarding the above treasure, but the identity of the Canadian officer who is alleged to have received the booty remains a mystery.

A local scribe, while serving at Vlamertinghe, in Belgium, with the first Canadian division, in company with companions, in March, 1916, uncovered, in the ruins of the village, an old safe, which, when blown open with the aid of a bomb, was found to contain many papers and a few gold coins. These latter were hastily gathered up by the safecrackers and cashed at the nearest estaminet. The local veteran has in his possession, a check drawn on the Bank of Ypres, and written on parchment, which he treasures as a souvenir of the occasion.

However, the missing fortune referred to above, has yet to be restored to its rightful owner, and should this occur one of the most interesting and odd stories of the great war will have its concluding chapter written.

SHERMAN GARBUTT WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Yesterday while operating a corn cutter on his farm, situated on the Young's Point Road, Mr. Sherman Garbutt, son of Mr. H. C. Garbutt, former County Councillor, was struck on the head by a bolt which flew off the machine. He was rendered unconscious, and up until a late hour last evening had not regained consciousness. Lakefield doctors are attending him.

WILLIAMS

NEW SCALE PIANO

YOU would be very much interested if you could see the wood being scientifically prepared for the Williams New Scale Piano. Every inch of it goes through a special process which removes all sap and sugar. When this wood is being cut up, there is a great deal of waste, because only absolutely flawless pieces can measure up to the standard that we have maintained during many years for Williams Pianos. The woodwork on this famous Canadian piano—not only the case, but on all the unseen parts also—will never shrink, warp or decay. The Williams is built to last a lifetime.

Write us for illustrated literature and ask any Williams dealer to show you this beautiful instrument.

FRIENDS THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Conquered Dyspepsia and Restored His Health.

MR. ROBERT NEWTON.

Little Ems d'Or, C. B.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Dyspepsia and Constipation for years. I had pain after eating, belching gas, constant headaches, and did not sleep well at night. I lost so much weight — going from 185 pounds to 142 pounds—that I became alarmed and saw several doctors who, however, did me no good. Finally, a friend told me to try 'Fruit-a-tives'.

In a week, there was improvement. The constipation was corrected; and soon I was free of pain, headaches and that miserable feeling that accompanies Dyspepsia. I continued to take this splendid fruit medicine and now I am well, strong and vigorous". ROBERT NEWTON.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

NECESSARY EVILS.

"Husbands are a necessary evil—they're pretty convenient around the house sometimes."

"There is one woman who never worries about her husband. She knows perfectly well where he is and that he is out of the mischief.. He is dead."

"Men are what women marry. They drink, smoke, vote, and swear, but never go to church. They are more logical than women and more zoological."

"Both men and women sprang from monkeys, but the women sprang farther than the men."

"Benjamin Franklin was right when he said: While lovers differ, husbands are all alike."

These are a few of the "knocks" directed at husbands by members of the Philadelphia Mothers' Club at their annual luncheon recently. While husbands seemed to be the general football, the women, nevertheless, were generous enough to throw the head of the house a compliment or two.

ARE BLOOD AND THUNDER STORIES REALLY HARMFUL?

Critic Says They Are Better Than no Reading at All.

"I believe my son's unlawful escapades are a spontaneous physchological phenomenon caused by reading cheap and spurious literature, such as 'Deadwood Dick, 'Sexton Blake,' and penny dreadfuls," Thus pleaded a father in the courts recently for his errant child, and how many fathers are there who would not endorse his statement? The harm effected by the penny "blood" is supposed to be on a par with that caused by the "movies," which feature kindred subjects.

Only Paper Covers are "Trashy."

On enquiring of the fond parent the type of literature he would ban as mischevious, it will be found that in the majority of cases only paper covers are "trashy;" books in boards pass without comment, which is indeed a sorry compliment to many of our present-day authors. The aim of the writer of the school story, detective yarn and the exciting adventure is identical, whether he is published in a six shilling edition de luxe, or in a paper cover; he attempts to evolve a plot which will grip from the first sentence of the first page to the last sentence on the final page, to stimulate the imagination by exciting episodes vividly depicted in telling language so that the reader is lost to his surroundings and acts alternately the part of a villain or hero, his mind responding to the hopes and fears they undergo. To say that "Sexton Blake" produced a greater effect on the youthful reader than "Sherlock Holmes" is to say that the creater of Sexton Blake is a better artist than Conan Doyle.

"Blood" Books Precede the Classics.

The evolution of the reader's mind follows that of the artists, and faculties which later respond to the fine feelings, which appreciate the sublime in Milton or Shakespeare, Shelley or Keats, at first demand the incidents of the "Sexton Blake" and "Sherlock Holmes" type of literature. To deny the intellect the mental food particular to one stage retards, if not postpones indefinitely, future progress. The mind follows a definite and fore-known course of development—of which one stage is that of blood-and-thunder literature. As sure as penny dreadfuls follow books for the bairns, so surely will they precede the entrance to English literature. Where Sexton Blake and Buffalo Bill play their parts under different names, the way is not long to Henty, Dumas, Ainsworth, Stevenson, Scott, Poe, Kipling, Dickens, etc. Who dares to say that there is to be found more blood and thunder, crime and murder, than in Kipling, Scott or Dickens? Or more horror than in Poe? To attempt for no more than an attempt will it ever prove, to prohibit the reading of "bloods" by the children merely adds zest to the orint.

Trash Better Than Nothing.

And, in conclusion, it is better to read "trash" than not to read at all. In the words of an American contemporary: "It may smack more culture to read books of a certain class and to have them on the shelf of the library. Only one thing about them is sure—on the shelf they are likely to remain." Give the young books that they can understand. They want books with plenty of action in them. When they have acquired the habit of reading, they will take readily to the books which we class as literature.

MARRIAGE LAWS IN OLD NORWAY

Must Appear Before a Doctor Before Marriage.

The new Norwegian marriage law came into force on January 1, 1919. It may not represent the unadulterated eugenic ideal, but it is so great a step towards it as to be almost revolutionary. It contains eighty-one sections, but the following are some of the salient points. A man under 20 and a woman under 18 may not marry without the consent of the authorities. Birth and baptism certificates must be produced before the bans are published. Under certain conditions one or both of the contracting parties may be required to show that they have not been insane. Both must declare in writing that they are not suffering from epilepsy, leprosy, syphillis, or other general diseases in an infectious form. In the other alternative the subject of any of these diseases must prove that the other party to the marriage contract is cognisant of the fact, and that both parties have been instructed by a doctor as to the dangers of the disease in question. The doctor concerned is not to be tied by professional secrecy and is bound to interfere if he knows that any one of these diseases is being concealed by either side. A written declaration must also be given by the candidates for marriage as to previous marriages and to children born to them out of wedlock. The marriage may be nullified if it is subsequently proved that insanity or any of the above diseases have been concealed, or if an incurable morbid condition, incompatible with married life, exists. Dissolution of the marriage may also be claimed if false declarations have been made or obstacles concealed. Again, if the woman has become pregnant by another man, or if the man has rendered another woman pregnant and this has not been revealed, dissolution of the marriage may be claimed, whether the child of this irregular union be born before or after marriage; such a claim must be made within six months of the facts becoming known to the claimant. No woman may marry again till ten months after the termination of her previous marriage if she is pregnant at this period. Many other clauses are defined as valid for the dissolution of marriage, and it is evident that henceforth in Norway it will often be difficult to marry in haste, and that the facilities for escaping from a hasty, ill-judged marriage will prove to be numerous and varied.—British Medical Journal.

NELSON DAY CAMPAIGN

for $500,000 October 21-22-23

"Canadians Must Sail The Seas"

WHY Canada MUST have Canadian Seamen

CANADA is face to face to-day with a great need—mercantile ships! More than a quarter of the world's shipping was destroyed in the War. We are handicapped in our foreign trade because there are no ships to buy or rent. Hence the Government's shipbuilding programme.

But there remains the more complex problem of manning our ships when built. Seamen cannot be turned out to order. They must be trained. If we are not to be at the mercy of foreign-born seamen, we must have our own Canadian boys ready for this service. This is absolutely imperative, and lies right at the very root of Canada's After-the-War development.

Aims of the NAVY LEAGUE OF CANADA

To emphasize Canada's opportunities and responsibilities on the sea.

To raise funds for the relief of our merchant seamen, injured in the war, and for dependents of those who were killed.

To maintain sailors' homes in our ports.

To train boys and young men for our merchant ships by the organization of Boys' Naval Brigades.

BEGIN WITH THE BOYS

The problem is purely a personal one—something you and I must assist in solving. Unless we make it possible to train Canadian boys for the sea, we cannot hope to man Canadian ships with Canadian seamen and so supply the missing link between the producing possibilities of the Dominion and the eager world markets.

To conduct the Boys' Naval Brigades and its other work, the Navy League of Canada requires $500,000. Throw yourself wholeheartedly into this campaign to make it a thorough-going success, for the sake of our boys, for the sake of the whole Dominion—yes, and in your own personal interest. Help by giving liberally.

PIGEONS OF LONDON.

The pigeons of London are one of the sights to which the attention of visitors is always drawn. St. Paul's churchyard is a great place of gathering, and here the birds flock down for the more than a mid-day meal spread for their benefit, now that rations are less vigorously controlled, says an exchange. They feed out of the hands of their benefactors, perch on their shoulders, flap and glitter in the sunshine as they fly up and down. Pigeons seem to belong to certain places. Admiralty Arch is another favourite resort, but all over the city the birds have their colonies, and crowds of faithful friends. In Venice and in Florence the pigeons are as much a part of the picture as the greatest buildings, the finishing touch as it were, with which nobody can dispense.—Buffalo Commercial.

WHAT BOOZE HAS DONE FOR MONTREAL

(BY MRS. JAMES KENDRY)

Sir,—I wonder what the people who are advocating the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act think of the picture the "Montreal Herald" in its Saturday edition gives of Montreal at the present time. It reads like parts of Dante's "Inferno," and should be sufficient to arouse the indignation of every patriotic Canadian. Think of it! Montreal, the city of which Canada has reason to be so proud, because of its past history and sterling character of the men who have built its walls of commerce and citizenship. Canada's Montreal, taken possession of by an army of American boozers, until it has become, in the words of the "Herald," "The capital of boozers, the one wet spot between the Arctic Circle and the Mexican Border."

If the Citizens' Liberty League would pause long enough in its campaign of selfishness to consider how prohibition in the United States, reaching from Cape Cod to the Rio Grande, and from Puget Sound to Florida, places Canada, its members would surely hesitate in their endeavour to throw down the barrier of the Ontario Temperance Act, thereby exposing over a thousand miles of border in Ontario alone to the greed and cruelty of a defeated liquor traffic in the neighbouring Republic. Do we want Canada to become the grog shop of the United States? Surely even the Citizens' Liberty League does not wish this; but if the barriers of legislation are swept away, what then? Let each voter ask himself this question, "Where do we go from here?" I will tell you how one American citizen answered this question for we Canadians. It was on the steamer "Hurenic," on Sept. 4th, as we were returning from Duluth to Sarnia. A party of Americans got on the boat at Sault Ste Marie on the return trip to Detroit. A lady of the party, who was not very discreet, told me that they had been cruising for a week along the shore of the lake at the Soo. She said they had run into every little cove and bay on a magnificent yacht provided for them by a Canadian gentleman, who had also placed a high-powered touring car at their disposal, in which they had gone miles along the shore. She then turned to me abruptly and said, "Do you know how you Canadians can pay your war debts in a very short time?" Not having more wisdom than Sir Henry Drayton, I meekly replied that I did not know. "I'll tell you how," she replied. "Just defeat prohibition in Canada and we Americans will come over and start business in your border towns." I understand then the meaning of the magnificent yacht and the high-powered touring car, furnished by a Canadian gentleman. God save the mark! I might have learned more but I saw red too quickly and fairly shouted at her, "Never, never, pay our war debts by making Canada the grog shop for your liquor." In reply she rudely said, "Prohibition is going to be defeated any way; your soldiers are going to defeat it." Again I threw down the challenge to all the liquor interests of the United States and reply, "Our soldiers defeat prohibition! Never, never. As they stood at Ypres and defied the Hun hordes, so now once again I believe they will stand before the hordes of American liquor interests with their greed and gold, and with uplifted ballot, cry "They shall not pass."

MICHAEL BARHI FOUND GUILTY ON MURDER CHARGE

Thompson stated he warned Bahri twice. His Lordship decided to exclude the jury and hear the statement and decide whether it could be used in the evidence. Mr. P. N. Gordon, for the prisoner, strongly objected to the Chief's statement being used in the evidence because he thought the foreigners, being used to subjection to officers in their own country would be scared by that fact in telling the Chief everything. His Lordship, however, decided to put the Chief's statement in the evidence.

Chief Thompson's Statement.

"I had a conversation Sunday afternoon, the day the murder took place, with the prisoner," said Chief Thompson. "The prisoner was properly warned that anything he said may be used in evidence against him. This was repeated. I asked him if he could give names of the other men in the camp. He said he couldn't. That he had met them in a pool room run in Toronto by a man named John who had given him $5 to pay his railroad fare. The men the prisoner said, had worked at the quarry and that on the train the men told how, when they got to the camp, they would get the money. He further related how they walked from the train at Havelock to the quarry. The prisoner was the first one to the camp door, but he was the last to go up the stairway and when three or four steps from the top heard a shot. I asked him if he knew who fired the shot but he said he did not. Later, Detective Cookman came to me and said that Bakri wanted to tell where he had put the money. He told me that he had put $80 between the cracks of the seat at Indian River and that one of the other men had inserted $50 in the same place. We then took Bahri to Indian River by automobile. At Indian River Mr. Riseborough handed me the money ($100.00. We returned to Peterboro and on our return we brought Konek out. Their Bahri told us how the money was divided among them on the road from Havelock. He did not seem to know the names of the rest of the men."

Mr. Gordon then began a cross-examination of Chief Thompson:

"Do you remember Bahri telling you that they had supper and were drinking after they got off the train at Havelock?"

The Chief remembered something of it.

"Do you remember Bahri telling you that Konek was the first man to go up the stairs?"

"Yes, I do."

His impression was that they were going there for the purpose of getting work?"

"Yes."

Detective Meagher

Detective Meagher was called to the witness box and the question of whether statement could be allowed was brought up by the defence and the jury were ordered to retire.

"This is a pretty mess you have got into," said Meagher to the prisoner that day.

"Yes, I suppose they will put all the blame on me," replied the prisoner.

The rest of Detective Meagher's evidence was the same as the Chief's with addition that when they were in the bunk house a belt was thrown to him, and he took the money out. On the way back to Havelock the money was divided and Bahri received $80.

Charles Moiassoff, who slept in the bunk next to the murdered Yannoff, and who was the principal witness in Konek's trial, told his story of the hold up and the murder of Yanoff in answer to questions put by Mr. Rigney. A cross-examination by Mr. Gordon revealed no further details.

High County Constable Archibald Moore, in his evidence, stated that the prisoner admitted that they had a meal in Havelock before proceeding to the bunk-house and that they had two drinks at the time.

This concluded the case, both for the Crown and the defence. Mr. Gordon, for the defence, called no witnesses during the trial relying entirely on the evidence which he elicited from the Crown's witnesses.

Address to Jury.

Mr. Rigney then began his address to the jury. He pointed out as a significant fact that although Bahri knew by the time that the train reached Peterboro that they were going to rob the men near Havelock, he stayed on with them, when he could have got off here.

"It is impossible to reduce this charge to manslaughter. Yannoff had no time to say even 'Have mercy upon me,' because the other occupants of the bunk-house were not awakened by an altercation but by a pistol shot, and surely if there had been a quarrel the rest of the men in that small room would have been awakened. Philip Yannoff was killed in cold blood. The robbers had in their possession three $100 bills and that is just what the occupants of the bunk house, had stolen that night. That's queer isn't it. We have his own statement that he went with the crowd, as given by Chief Thompson. It is unnecessary to go into the gruesome details.

"I leave this in your hands, and I expect you to discharge your obligations without any personal feelings, but only according to the evidence."

Mr. C. M. Gordon.

Michael Bahri was told to take the men down to get work. He formerly worked at the quarry and it is said that he was sober and industrious. Bahri was a stranger to the group. He was given liquor and when his senses were dulled they told him they came for the purpose of robbery. That drink which has ruined more people, ruined more women and children and nations—that drink, I say, made this poor boy unable to decide between right and wrong. If such is the case he is not guilty of murder but of manslaughter. Murder is the taking of human life in cold blood. Manslaughter is the wrong taking of life but not with the intention of killing and that is what I say is the distinction in this case and the other. He was the last man up the stairs and the shot was fired before he reached the room. He did not participate in this crime and when a man has taken intoxicating liquors he was incapable of knowing what he was doing. If his mind was dull and he was incapable of knowing what he was doing, it is your duty then to find if he is guilty of murder or of manslaughter. It is proven that Bahri was not in that room when the shot was fired. Plied with liquor he was simply clay in the potter's hands and he comes before you charged with the murder of this man, Yanoff. The testimony shows that Konoy, the man with the bad eye, dominated the whole situation. There is no testimony one way or another that Bahri ever had a revolver or a flashlight or knew that there was one until, in his intoxicated condition, the scheme was unfolded to him. There is no doubt that he was there. But what can you expect of a boy of 19 plied with liquor. It dulled his mind, stupified his faculties, so that he was incapable of knowing what he was doing. And manslaughter is a terrible thing. It is imbedded in his mind to his dying day."

His Lordship's Address.

As in the previous trial, His Lordship distinguished to the jury the difference between murder and manslaughter. He gave a resume of the evidence and in conclusion asked the jury if they thought that Bahri was under the influence of liquor when he knew that he was the last one up the bunk-house stairs.

The jury retired as the city clock was striking six o'clock and the court adjourned until 7.30 p.m.

A Stubborn Cough Loosens Right Up

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its healing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, hard tight soreness eases, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's rest and enjoy it. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, hoarseness, croupy throat tickle, bronchial asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Pinex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

TYPISTS IN JAPAN.

To master our typewriting machine is comparatively easy; but in Japan the operator has to use a machine with 3,000 characters. The invention is that of a Japanese engineer who studied for several years in United States universities. The type slugs rest in a gridlike frame, over which the printing handle and the type selecting and grip-like bar move freely in every direction.

Commercial schools were established last year in Japanese cities for the purpose of teaching how to operate the typewriters. Women are expected to follow the profession, much the same as in this country.

THE ANNUAL HARVEST THANKSGIVING SERVICE AT ALL SAINTS' CHURCH

REV. DR. W. T. HALLMAN OF TORONTO PREACHED AN INTERESTING SERMON.

At the annual Harvest Thanksgiving service held last evening in All Saint's church, Rev. W. T. Hallman M. A., of Toronto, preached an eloquent sermon bringing the message of the need to cultivate a spirit of thankfulness which will overcome the spirit of apprehension which is at present settling upon the world. His text was Psalm 147, verse 1: "Oh, Praise the Lord; For it is a good thing to give praise unto our God.

"By the very gifts surrounding us," the speaker said, referring to the offerings of grain and fruit with which the church was decorated, we are reminded, "that we have to thank the Maker for all the bountiful blessings with which He has crowned the world. Yet," he continued, "while tonight we stand in the midst of a land teeming with God's goodness we feel a spirit of apprehension mingled with the spirit of thankfulness because we look forward with fear to what the future may bring. It is not surprising that apprehension fills our souls as there was never an age filled with restlessness covering so wide an area. It is an age when apparently every man is looking for self. As we look back to history we find, however, we are not the only people who have been faced with distress but that at the close of the Napoleonic wars there was just such an upheaval.

There is a danger that the spirit of apprehension may make us lose our faith in God, which, if we do, proves us to be men of little vision and small soul.

Mental Effect.

The Doctor pointed out the mental effect of thankfulness which when felt makes man at his best. To outgranted, the church, the priceless gift he said seems to require trials and a certain amount of clouds in life. Through the trials of the past five years when sorrow has come to practically every home many have found Easter to have brought a more precious hope of immortality.

The speaker concluded by reminding the congregation of the many things for which we have to thank God and which are often taken for grated, the Church, the priceless girt of Jesus Christ, the salvation promised through Jesus, and the promise of forgiveness of sins. He besought all to realize the priceless gifts man enjoys to grow up in the spirit of thankfulness through which we come into perfect communion with Christ.

In the Sanctuary

The service was conducted by the Rector of the church, Rev. R. B. Grobb, while the other Anglican clergy of [illegible], Rev. Walker White and Rev. J. Price were in the Sanctuary.

A special offering was made toward defraying the Church debt.

To Travelling Salesmen

WHEN showing goods, the traveller's cuffs as well as his goods are brought right before the prospective customer's eyes. A soiled cuff doesn't create a favorable impression. And it draws the attention away from the article to the soiled cuff.

The alert, particular traveller, therefore, has to take a big bunch of shirts on his trips and change often—unless he carries W. G. & R. Shirts with Double Wear Cuffs with him when he needs just half the usual quantity.

Everyone knows that the cuffs—the most exposed portion of a shirt—get soiled first. And it doesn't take long for a dirty train or dusty road to soil them.

But when one side of his Double Wear Cuffs gets soiled the traveller just turns the cuffs, which fold easily and lie perfectly flat either way they're turned. He thus wears his shirt twice as long.

If he is away for a period of two weeks to a month or longer every inch in his grip or personal trunk is valuable. W. G. & R. Shirts with Double Wear Cuffs save space for him, cut laundry bills for shirts in half, and wear longer.

NOW IS THE TIME of the year when it is necessary to start fires in the furnace and range, the same to be kept up for the next six months, day and night, whether you are on hand to look after them or not. It is important to see that everything is kept in good condition to avoid accidents which may occur, and also more important to see that your fire insurance is in force and in a good company. Do not delay to get your policy made out and in your possession. You never know when or where a fire is going to break out. Be prepared for it at all times even if it never happens. The cost of maintaining a good policy is very small if you let us write it. But your protection will be perfect, and your loss, should one occur, promptly settled. FASHIONS FOR THE AUTUMN

(By Margaret Rohe).

NEW YORK.—Fashion's censorship has been removed from hips! Once more the fashionable glass of the hour will reflect the hour-glass figure. Not exactly the full hour-glass of prechemise frock days but at least a half-hour glass. Curves both concave and convex where they should be according to Nature will once again be according to Fashion also.

To look as nearly like a pencil as possible will no longer be the acme of feminine heart's desire.

We have been cut on the straight and narrow so long that it is going to be some job to get back into our softly feminine mid-Victorian curves again but it is always much easier to let out than to take in provided the material is there.

Freedom of Sees.

Now that arms are allowed at large untramelled by restricting sleeves and short skirts have emancipated our under-trimmings it seems only fair and just that our long stayed hips should be given the freedom of the sees.

As forerunners of the hips return the side ruffles, panniers, puffs and draperies on the new fall skirts are but a few of the infallible signs to show which way the new fall figure tends to curve.

Increased fullness in the skirts as well makes for a fuller silhouette and increased brevity proves the long and short of it is that Paris is winner in the little game of skirts, that has been waged all season between the Yankee and the Gallic modistes.

Naturally hip curves means also bust curves and a regular indented waist again and the tight fitted bodice is a fitting complement of the puffed and panniered skirt for the re-entrance of this long outlawed outline.

Change in Corsets.

Such a radical change in figures means, of course, a radical change in corsets. Those weird high busted, short-hipped and wasp waisted affairs of a quarter of a century ago have, we hope, gone the way of the Dodo bird, still we must needs now pull in our laces a bit snugger about our equators, and though the corsets will still show long hips, the absence of bones will give the necessary freedom. The low bust line will also hold its own, for that pouter pigeon effect of the high-busted corset is not down among the rules and regulations for the new fall figure.

Really, the only striking changes in the corset models, therefore will be a bit more curve in at the waist and a scarcity of bone that bind about the hips.

New Period Frocks.

The curving new panniered period frocks with their buoyant side puffs and snug little bodices are really much more becoming to the average plump female figure than the long straight line effects whose devoted slaves we have been for so many seasons past. The straight chemise frock was really artistically successful only on those svelte young creatures of flat-chested boyish lines, and how rare indeed is such a one among our bon-bon ice cream soda devouring luxury loving limousine lassies of 1919.

Farewell, ye outgoing straight lines; welcome, ye incoming curves! the double-chinned, amply hipped sisterhood greet you, and now once more that poetic little phrase "get on to her curves" will have some meaning.

THE GREAT RAILWAY STRIKE HAS BEEN ENDED

Situation Uncertain

LABOUR IS TRYING TO BAG THE SOLDIERS VOTE IN HAMILTON —ATMOSPHERE IS CLEARING.

ROLLO ACCEPTS

(Special to The Examiner.)

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 6.—Though the activities of the various political parties during the past week have somewhat cleared the rather complicated election situation which existed before, some haziness still remains regarding East Hamilton Riding and arrangements of the Liberals.

The probabilities are that the Grits will have candidates out in both the East and West-end Ridings before the end of the week, but they are keeping very mum on the matter.

There is talk of a convention being held in the course of a few days to nominate standardbearers. As far as West Hamilton is concerned, signs point to a walk-over for Walter Rollo, the Labour candidate. His campaigners say it will make little difference whether the Liberals enter the fight or not. At present J. A. McFarlane, the Conservative nominee, is Rollo's only opposition.

In the East-End constituency, however, the situation is more unsettled. There are two soldiers' candidates, Lieut. S. L. Landers and Capt. M. L. Fitzgerald, who is being supported by the Grand Army of Canada. Controller George Halcrow, Labour's nominee, and the entry of a Liberal candidate seems probable. The rumour is that efforts are being made to have Captain Fitzgerald drop out of the race and leave a clear field for Lieut. Landers.

Whether this will materialise or not is difficult to state. Should this eventuate, it is almost safe to say that Landers will top the poll, as besides being an old Labour man, he will in all probability receive the bulk of the soldiers' vote. All candidates have expressed a desire for a clean campaign, though Labour is trying to bag the soldiers' votes in both Ridings by supporting the gratuity agitation.

HAMILTON, Oct. 6.—W. R. Rollo, the Labour candidate for election in West Hamilton, received notification from Ottawa this morning that he had been appointed a member of the Dominion Council of Health, composed of seven private citizens and the Federal and Provincial Health Officers. He wired his acceptance.

ALL THREE MUST HANG.
For Murder of Farmer Payette Two Years Ago.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6, —J. B. Lemay, alias Patrick Delorme; Romeo Lacoste and Murdoch Allen were sentenced by Mr. Justice Desy Friday night in the Court of King's Bench to hang on January 23 for the murder of Alcide Payette, a St. Sulpice farmer, on October 17, 1917.

The gang raided the farmhouse for money, and when the farmer refused to tell them where it was hidden they shot him. Lacoste and Allen were arrested shortly after and blamed the shooting on Lemay, who had escaped. The former were charged with horse stealing, and after trial and conviction were sentenced to the penitentiary. Lemay, who was arrested in June, 1919, threw the blame on Lacoste and Allen.

LIQUOR MEN HOLD OUT LITTLE HOPE

BIG FIELD DAY IN OTTAWA IN THE INTERESTS OF PROHIBITION— LIQUOR MEN DOWNCAST.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 6.— In no uncertain or vague style the pulpits of Ottawa churches made it clear Sunday they are prepared for a death struggle with the liquor forces. Most of the pulpits were occupied by speakers of the Ontario Referendum committee, some coming from Toronto for the day.

A sledge hammer blow for the temperance cause was also delivered by Rev. Dr. A. Polling, of Boston, in addressing the United Society of Christian Endeavours in session here.

Liquor men in Ottawa are downcast over the outlook. One hotel proprietor, whose bar once catered to the biggest business in Ottawa, said that he felt the liquor interests would be beaten. He had contributed $250 to their campaign, but regarded the situation as almost hopeless.

COLLEGIATE GIRLS DRESSED ALIKE

AN INNOVATION TRIED OUT FOR THE FIRST TIME IN PETERBORO.

An innovation, suggested by the Inspector of High Schools, was put into practice this morning when the girls at the Collegiate Institute came to school dressed alike in almost every particular. Every girl wore a white middy with blue collar, black cuffs and tie and blue serge skirt and gymnasium bloomers will be worn on days that calisthenics are held. The practice has been carried out in other schools in the province and has met with the approbation of almost everybody, as it does away with too sumptuous a garb, which was unconsciously contrasted with the dresses of other students.

PRESIDENT WILSON IS LITTLE BETTER

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The condition of President Wilson this morning was little changed, according to unofficial information from the White House. There were no indications that the slight improvement previously reported had not been maintained, but the extreme conservatism in the tone of statements of Dr. Garry T. Grayson, the President's physician, led to the belief that the improvement was not great.

FIGHT IN NORTH AND SOUTH BRANT

ELECTORS IN NORTH BRANT WILL HAVE CHOICE OF FOUR CANDIDATES.

(Special to Examiner.)

BRANTFORD, Oct. 6. — The United Farmers of South Brant will vote Grit or Tory as they like—there will be no affiliation with the Independent Labor Party. Their support was offered the Independent Labor Party in this riding provided that L. Maycock, a union moulder, was nominated. If Mayor McBride was nominated, however, this was refused. Their reason for this action was not given out by them but Mayor McBride declares that the reason can be found in civic history.

During the great fuel shortage of 1917 when there were hundreds of homes in the city without coal, when farmers were getting high prices for fuel on the civic market, Mayor McBride as local fuel controller forbade any farmer being given a permit to secure coal unless he first proved he had no wood on his farm to burn.

This caused a great uproar at the time and the farmers protested very strongly but the mayor held firm.

Later when potatoes reached $5.50 and $6 a bag the mayor imported potatoes from Eastern and Western Canada and placed them in local homes at $3.85 a bag, and during the past week he threatened to do the same again. Potatoes here took a big drop following this announcement, and the U. F. O. statement followed.

Mayor McBride further answers the U.F.O. by declaring that not all farmers are of their opinion, as all are not profiteers, but if the farmers want a fight, he had never yet run away from one, and there were five thousand workmen in the suburbs of Brantford who vote in North Brant, where the U.F.O. have a candidate.

It is definitely settled now that both Brants will have a real fight. In South Brant Morgan Harris and Mayor McBride, Liberal and Independent Labor Party condidate respectively, withdrew their conditional acceptance and are in the fight to a finish.

W. S. Brewster is the Conservative nominee and the third candidate.

In North Brant the electors have the choice of four: U. O. Kendrick, a farmer, Liberal; H. C. Nixon, farmer, U.F.O.; T. M. Patterson, Unionist Independent, and Franklin Smode, the Hearst candidate. All four are definitely determined to run.

GERMANY ALREADY USING CANADA AS A DUMPING GROUND

Situation Calls For Prompt Action, Says Sir John Willison.

TORONTO, Oct. 6.—The fact that Germany's trade in Canada has already recommenced, the probability of its growth, and an analysis of the financial significance of this, in view of the currency changes, are emphasized in a statement issued by the Canadian Reconstruction Association, headed by Sir John Willison.

"This unprecedented situation," says the statement, "is actually a menace to Canadian industry, and demands immediate study and perhaps prompt action. The advisability of placing some restraint on imports of German products, either directly or through other countries, perhaps in packages and bearing trademarks deliberately deceptive as to the origin of such goods, might well be considered."

BROKEN AGAIN

You need not be concerned when you break your glasses and have not the prescription with you. Just bring us the pieces and we can duplicate the broken lens while you wait. Did you know that the new shell rims prevent at least fifty per cent. of breakages? You can have them put on your own lenses in either color at one dollar per pair. Consult W. H. BOTH SIDES CLAIM A VICTORY— RELIEF AND SATISFACTION EXPRESSED OVER THE SETTLEMENT OF THE STUPENDOUS ISSUE—TRAINS IN OPERATION TO-DAY.

PRESS COMMENT

LONDON, Oct. 5. — The railway strike is over. The settlement came more quickly than was expected, even in those well-posted circles where there was the fullest confidence last night that the common-sense view taken by the public would compel an arrangement.

The Terms.

LONDON, Oct. 6.— The official terms of the railway strike settlement as announced last evening are:

"First—Work shall be resumed immediately.

"Second—Negotiations will be resumed on the understanding that they shall be completed before the end of the year.

"Third—Wages will be stabilized at the present level until September 30, 1920; and at any time after August 1 they may be reviewed in the light of circumstances then existing.

"Fourth—No adult railwayman in Great Britain shall receive less than 51 shillings per week while the cost of living is 110 per cent. above the pre-war level.

"Fifth—The railway union agree that their men will work harmoniously with the men who returned to work or who remained at work during the strike. Nor shall there be any victimization of strikers.

Express Satisfaction.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 6.—Newspapers express relief and satisfaction over the settlement of the railroad strike. The majority of papers maintain neither side is entitled to claim a victory, but the "Post" says the strike was a disastrous failure and the menace of the Triple Alliance is destroyed, while the "Graphic" says the government yielded too much. The Labor "Herald" claims a great victory, saying the attempt of the government and capitalists to smash trade unionism and establish low wages has been defeated and the Geddes brothers routed.

Saved Their Faces.

By Ed. L. Keen.
(United Press.)

Formation of the Citizens' Guard, which was instituted by Lloyd George, is proceeding despite the strike settlement. Volunteers contigued to enroll to-day. It is said the Guard will be maintained for use in future strikes.

On many of the railway lines trains were in operation early to-day. In some quarters fear was expressed that agitators might cause further trouble, but there was no evidence of it in London, where the night shifts generally reported for work last night.

With both sides claiming victory, the average Briton was concerned chiefly with the simple fact that a settlement had been reached. Regardless of partisan claims of victory, Britain recognizes generally that both sides conceded some points and granted some compromises. Both retained enough to "save their faces," and both were plainly conscious of the terrible possibilities involved in a failure to settle the issue.

EMBARGO LIFTED.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—The embargo against the sailing of Shipping Board vessels to Great Britain was partially lifted to-day by the Shipping Board, as a result of the ending of the railroad strike there.

DON'T FORGET "MICKEY" COMING AT THE THANKSGIVING DAY GRAND

King At Niagara

TOOK IN SIGHTS

(United Press.)

NIAGARA FALLS, N.Y., Oct. 6.—The train bearing the King and Queen of Belgium, Prince Leopold, and their suite, arrived at Echola Station punctually at 9.30 this morning, and was escorted from a mile outside the city by an aeroplane piloted by an American aviator.

On disembraking, the King was greeted with cheers from hundreds who crowded the small station. The party were received by acting Mayor Gillett, Councilmen George Raynor, Fred Mason, President of the Chamber of Commerce, State Reservation Commissioner, Judge Clearwater, Syracuse, Ainsley Wilcox, of Buffalo, and Robert H. Gittens, Niagara Falls, A. J. Porter, Niagara Falls, an ex-Commissioner.

The Reception Committee was in charge of R. H. Gittens.

This is the Royal party Play Day, and the King, who visited the Falls as a boy, insisted on showing the Queen and the Prince the sights that have lived in his memory. This resulted in the official programme being changed in many respects to suit the wishes of His Royal Highness. The Queen was greatly delighted with the beauties of Niagara.

The party, in motors, visited the well-known points of interest on Luna and Goat Islands, where the Queen took numerous snapshots. On Goat Island the King insisted on a visit to the Cave of the Winds, and some dozen or more of the party saw the Falls from below and behind.

An amazing incident occurred while His Royal Highness was changing to oilskins. A dressing-room attendant was assisting the King into slippers and oilskins, returned to find him ready to start on the trip. "All right, King!" he nonchalantly remarked as he held the locker room door open for the Monarch of the Belgians.

The Royal party returned from the Cave of the Winds slightly before time, highly delighted with the unique trip. From there the party visited Goat Island, and the Three Sisters. The Queen took several snapshots of the youthful PrinceLeopold standing on the extreme edge of one of the islands, with the Canadian Falls as a background.

Reception Committee.

The Royal party were met in the centre of the International Bridge by the Hon. N. W. Rowell, acting Secretary of State for External Affairs, Sir Joseph Hope, Under-Secretary of the Department of State for External Affairs; Mrs. N. W. Rowell, Major-General Elmsley, O.C. M. D. No. 2, Brig.-General Hill and Brig.-General C. R. Mitchell.

The Royal party included King Albert, who was dressed in the khaki uniform of the Belgian Army; Queen Elizabeth, and Prince Leopold, attired as a Belgian officer; Lieut.-General Baron Jacques, Commander of the Third Division of the Belgian Army; Countess Chislaine du Caraman-Chimay, Count D'Pultnamont; J. M. Nye, of the U. S. Secretary-General's Department; Lieut.-Colonel P. Noff, Lt. Baron Goffinet, Rear-Admiral T. Long, U. S. Navy; Major-General J. M. Wright, Col. Chas. Herman Patterson, Major W. W. Hoffman, G. C. Corneill Tarten, of the U. S. State Department, Brand Whitlock and his wife, Baron D'Cartier, Belgian Consul, D.W.S.

After the reception on the International Bridge, the party motored to the home of the chairman of the Victoria Park Commission, Dr. H. Y. Grant, where a splendid view of the Falls was obtained.

The party was arranged as folows: First car—H. R. H. the King, Hon. N. W. Rowell, and Dr. Grant. Second car—H. M. the Queen, Mrs. Brand Whitlock, and Mrs. N. W. Rowell. Third car—The Belgian Ambassador, Sir Joseph Hope, Major-General Elmsley, and Countess Chimay. Fourth car—Prince Leopold and Brig.-General Hill. Fifth car—General Baron Jacques, Major-General Wright, and Brig.-General Mitchell.

For the visit to the Islands, at the suggestion of the King the party took the Maid of the Mist trip before proceeding to the Canadian side.

ELLER AND WILLIAMS IN GREAT DUEL TO-DAY

ELLER STRUCK OUT THE SIDE IN THE SECOND AND THIRD INNINGS FANNING FANDIL, RISBERG, SCHALK, WILLIAMS, LEIBOLD AND EDDIE COLLINS IN A ROW—WILLIAMS ALSO PITCHING GREAT BALL.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—With the rays of the sun becoming stronger each minute the fifth game of the world's championship baseball series gave every promise of being played in weather only a little short of what experts agree upon as ideal for baseball.

The playing field was rapidly drying out from the drenching it experienced yesterday, although it is hardly probable that the base lines from the plate to first and third bases will be quite as fast as they were on Friday and Saturday.

Tarpaulins were placed over the field Saturday night and were not removed until this morning.

CHICAGO, Oct. 6.—The probable batting order for to-day's game:

First Innings.

Cincinnati.—Rath started the game by drawing a pass off Williams. Daubert laid down a sacrifice, Schalk throwing him out at first. Rath easily made second on the play. Groh sent a high fly to Felsh and Rath held second. Rousch out, Gandil to Williams. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Chicago.—Liebold walked. E. Collins out, Kopf to Daubert. Liebold made second. Weaver singled, the ball hitting Eller's hands, but proving too hot to handle. Liebold dashed to third and arrived safely. Jackson popped up a high one to Groh. Felsch sent a high fly to Duncan. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Innings.

Cincinnati.—Duncan fanned. Schalk back up and made an easy put out on Kopf's high foul. Neale fanned. Williams had his underhand ball working fine, keeping his shoots around the players' knees. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Chicago. — Gandil took breezy swings at the ball, but only connected with the atmosphere. Risberg also fanned, going out on a called strike. Schalk fanned. Eller had perfect control of his fast ball and retired the side by striking out Gandil, Risberg and Schalk. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Third Innings.

Cincinnati—Gandil took Rariden's grounder in back of first and beat him to the bag. Eller sent one straight into the air that Weaver came over to the plate for and captured. Rath popped an easy foul to Gandil. Williams also seemed to be working in mid-season form. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Chicago.—Williams struck out, the last strike being called on him. Liebold also fanned. E. Collins struck out. Eller duplicated his feat of the second innings by striking out all three batters in the third innings. He was pitching remarkable ball. This is a record in world series games for the pitcher to retire the batsmen in two successive innings by striking them out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Another record was made in the second innings when the catchers on both sides made all the put outs.

Fourth Innings.

Cincinnati.— Daubert hoisted an easy one to Felsch. Groh also hoisted to Felsch. Rousch reached first safely when his drive went through Risberg. The latter was charged with an error. Rousch stole second. Schalk allowed the ball to get away from him and was charged with a passed ball. Duncan ended the innings by popping an easy fly to Jackson. No runs, no hits, one error.

Chicago.—Weaver tapped to Eller and the later tossed to Daubert for the put out. Jackson went out the same way, Eller taking his slow grounder and throwing to Daubert. Felsch struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Innings.

Cincinnati.—Kopf singled to centre over E. Collins' head. Neale forced Kopf at second, Risberg to E. Collins, but arrived safely at first. Neale was out stealing, Schalk making a beautiful throw to Risberg. Rariden flied to Felsch. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Chicago. — Rath took Gandil's grounder and threw to Daubert, putting him out. Risberg sent a fast grass cutter to Groh, who threw him out at first. Schalk walloped one that went to Duncan, but it was fielded so fast that it was held to a single. Williams ended the innings by striking out, Eller's eighth strike out victim. No runs, one hit, no errors.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"HIS BRIDAL NIGHT."

"His Bridal Night," Margaret Mayo's amusing comedy, with incidental music by Frederick V. Bowers, attracted a capacity audience to the Grand on Saturday night and proved a very laughable production that kept the audience in a hilarious mood from start to finish. Based on the old theme of mistaken identity, made more logical in this case because it dealt with the adventures of twin sisters. "His Bridal Night" was full of laughable complications and mix-ups. The comedy was excellently acted, the Crisp Sisters doing admirable work as the twins, while Charles Bennett and Robert Knight were equally effective in the principal male roles. Frank Cullen contributed a very successful comedy hit as Algernon, the butler. The song numbers were all enjoyable, and Mr. Bennett's topical number, "Wait Till You Get Them Up in the Air Boys," was repeatedly encored, while "And That Ain't All" was almost equally successful.

COAL ENOUGH FOR ALL CONSUMERS IF DEMAND IS STEADY

"If the people will not try to buy in six months all the coal that is mined in twelve there will be no crisis in the market this season", said Mr. Robert Hicks, who has just returned from a trip to Buffalo and other centres of the coal district. "If we have a mild winter," he continued "the coal situation will become much easier than we have experienced in recent years, and even with cold weather everything promises to be satisfactory.

During the next three months there will doubtless be as usual the heaviest demand, but if consumers will be content with supplies for their present requirements there will be no difficulties and every home will be supplied."

Mr. Hicks emphasized the point that the trade is assuring steady deliveries during the winter months, and there will be no necessity of buying within the next month or two all the coal needed for the entire winter. If the people would keep that point in mind, " he said, "and rely on the flow of coal in the normal stream of pre-war volume the price would not be forced up by the competition of dealers to secure extraordinary shipments to meet abnormal buying If the public persists in piling up their orders the buyers here and elsewhere will have to go into the independent market where the price is above that of the regular trade, as was shown by the city's experience during the war winters. A steady demand will be met with steady supplies, but an attempt to buy the quantity needed for the winter before the very cold weather comes will only rebound upon the consumers. In other words the market will be affected by an unnecessary pressure to the detriment of the purchasers.

RECEPTION FOR PREMIER HEARST

Sir William Hearst was met at the noon C. P. R. by a deputation of Messrs. E. A. Peck, T. E. Bradburn, W. R. Morris, R. J. Soden, James Lynch, F. H. Dawson and Dr. M. A. Morrison, who accompanied him, after a drive about the city to the lift lock, to the Empress Hotel, where he had luncheon with several members of the Conservative party in the city, and civic officials, namely Mayor Duncan, Messrs. F. H. Dobin, W. R. Morris, T. E. Bradburn, R. Denne, T. Barrie, E. A. Peck, Dr. W. A. Morrison, R. J. Soden, F. H. Dawson, S. T. Medd, T. Barrie, Alderman Edgar, J. J. Turner, W. H. Moore and W. G. Clydesdale, general secretary of the Conservative Association of Toronto.

Met the Ladies.

Later in the afternoon Sir William met a large representation of the ladies in the drawing room at the Empress.

THE OLD GARDENER SAYS:

After you have stored your apples and vegetables in the cellar leave the door or window open at night and close it in the day time. In this way you can keep the temperature down even though there may be some rather warm days. Although many people will pile their apples outside for several days after picking them, it is much better to put them directly into the cellar if the latter can be kept cool. Be sure that all your fruit and vegetables have been picked carefully, for decay will soon set in if there is a single bruised spot. If you handle your squashes as though they were paving blocks you will have to go without pies next January.

Two Splendid Things

One is plenty of open-air exercise.

If you can't get all of that you should, it's all the more important that you should have the other tried-and-true remedy for a torpid liver and bowels that don't act freely and naturally.

Take one pill every night; more only when you're sure it's necessary.

KINMOUNT HOPES FOR A RAILWAY TO PETERBORO

HYDRO-ELECTRIC ENGINEERS WILL SURVEY PROPOSED ROUTE OF AN ELECTRIC LINE THROUGH NORTHERN TOWNSHIPS—DISTANCE 35 MILES APPROXIMATELY—RESIDENTS PLEASED WITH SIR ADAM BECK'S INTEREST IN THEIR PETITION

WOULD OPEN THE COUNTRY

The villagers of Kinmount and the farmers of Galway and adjoining townships are awaiting with eager interest tinged with anxiety the visit next week of Hydro-Electric engineers upon whose decision and report will depend the projection of the proposed electric railway to Peterborough. Reeve John Clarke and the members of Galway Council supported by Kinmount's business men and other leading citizens hope to convince the Hydro representatives that an electrified line through West Peterborough is practicable, that it will be profitable, and incidentally that it will bring many social and other tangible benefits to the people of a district that has been too long neglected.

The engineers are expected in Peterborough next week probably on Wednesday or Thursday. They will be joined here by a small party, including Ald. Edgar, chairman of the city's Railway Committee and Mr. G. N. Gordon, whose representations to the Hydro-Electric Commission this year have been largely instrumental in reviving the movement for this line, advancing it to the stage in which the Commission undertakes seriously to consider its potentialities and problems.

Hopes Deferred.

This is not the first time the northern communities of this county have been animated by reports that their railway needs and possibilties were to be investigated. Often their hopes rose and fell with cheering rumours and long silences. Sometimes it was unofficially and thus inconclusively stated that the cross country road was unfeasible. Again, promises of one kind or another simply flattened out, and community aspirations were dulled by repeated disappointments. However, the accumulated apathy has been lifted, by the magic of Sir Adam Beck's name, and with the coming of the Hydro Commission's engineers many of the residents are showing a decidedly keen interest in the investigations of the local situation and the examination of the country upon which the report will be based. Maps of the townships have been carefully scanned, and routes of the proposed railway have been revised with the purpose of presenting the strongest case possible to the engineers, who of course will make their own surveys.

Residents Gratified.

Next week's visit is particularly gratifying to Kinmount men for the reason that their claims will at last receive official attention. In a recent interview with some of the citizens whom he met Mr. Gordon pointed out that the engineers will be mainly guided by the freight and passenger traffic the country offers to make the investment profitable and also construction problems and an approximate cost of the railway over the most desirable route. Realizing these conditions, the residents are confident that Sir Adam Beck will look favourably upon the request, the fulfillment of which it is believed would bring new life to the western half of the county in its northern and central districts.

At the County's End.

Kinmount lies at the extreme northwest corner of the county. A half mile or more to the north is Haliburton, and immediately adjoining on the west is Victoria County. In fact it has been a question before the courts over the maintenance of the Burnt river bridge whether Kinmount was in Peterborough or Victoria county. It is the leading village in Galway township. The Grand Trunk railway from Lindsay to Haliburton passes through it, and two and one-half miles to the north the old Irondale-Bancroft line, now owned by the Dominion government, forms a junction with the G.T.R. One of the grievances of Kinmount merchants is that they have to pay two freight charges in shipping to nearby points. For example, Irondale is twelve miles to the east, but it costs fifteen cents a hundred pounds to ship general freight from Kinmount to Irondale. The G. T.R. takes seven cents and the government road eight.

Seek Peterborough Markets.

Looking to the south and southeast, diagonally across the county, and especially toward this city there is no railway. The farmers are deprived of easy and direct communication with their county town and a market for their produce to which they have long looked in vain. In their present isolation they have to sell their goods to Lindsay or Bobcaygeon, and their hearts are set on Peterborough. In passing it may be said that Messrs. Hopkins, Mark and Company are advocating the proposed road. They are general merchants doing an extensive business in all their departments. Mr. Ralph Byrne, a member of the company, told the Examiner that he was heartily in favour of the idea, evidently implying that he did not fear a decrease in business.

From Minden South.

Minden, Haliburton's village, is only twelve miles north of Kinmount and is cut off from the outside world except by stage connection. It has been suggested that if the railway is built it should be extended to Minden. There is what appears to be a natural route through a series of valleys. Part of the line would be over the G. T.R., and as an amplification of this idea it is considered advisable that the new line instead of leading directly to Kinmount should start from Furnace Falls on the C.N.R. This plan would avoid hills east of Kinmount and would also use a line already completed providing arrangements could be made with the Government and the G.T.R. company.

A Route Roughly Sketched.

Coming south the Kinmount-Peterborough Electric Railway would cut across Galway township above Swamp Lake and rounding Wolf Lake on the east. It would probably follow straight south through Cavendish and Harvey townships, crossing at Hall's bridge into Smith township, touching at Young's Point and ending at Lakefield, where the G. T. R. could be used. Such is the proposal in the rough as to a tentative route. Whether it will meet with the approval of the Hydro engineers or not is the decisive question, and while they are considering costs and profits it might be permissable to recommend that they give some thought to the brightening influence this road would have upon the lives of the residents, the conveyance to Peterborough's markets of the back country's timber, grain, eggs, dairy produce and perhaps the minerals that may be locked up in the ridge of rock that extends far across into Hastings county, where the mineral wealth is undergoing a new reckoning and valuation.

Good Agricultural Country.

It should not be forgotten that the farmers around Kinmount, John Clark's constituents so to speak, have barns as big as those you envy perhaps, in Otonabee or Smith or Ennismore. The people are just as intelligent, their homes, viewed from the road will compare favourably with the best nearer the city. These are Peterborough county people and they deserve all the support that this whole community can render them in their appeal for the essential means of communicating with this city. They do not expect that a railway will be built that would have to be subsidized, that would be unprofitable, but they are sure that it could be made profitable.

A Barren Barrier.

There is a sort of no man's land in Galway reaching across the township somewhere between Union Creek and Silver Lake. It is a rocky formation, but the farmers declare that it has mineral deposits that should be worked. But with this one doubtful exception they recommend the railway project, and it is understood are prepared to provide a right of way if it is required. In parts of Galway and especially in Cavendish there are timber limits, the lumber from which would be a boon to Peterborough. Indeed when some of the enthusiasts in that county turn their imaginations loose they contemplate furniture factories consuming Cavendish lumber hauled by the Kinmount-Peterborough railway. The fly in this honey, or rather the baleful spirit that wakens dreams, is said to be in this case several lumber companies, which are believed to be quite content that the townships shall remain as in the old days when electric lines were unheard of and lumber kings "obtained" large tracts of valuable timber from which they hewed fortunes with the assistance of long toiling shantymen.

It is unnecessary to mention the profits that would accrue to Harvey and Smith townships, or the traffic that would be developed to Young's Point, of the imponderable benefits that railways bring to a community. The proposed line must be judged upon its practicability, of which the northern residents are thoroughly, but inexpertly satisfied.

Have Power Handy.

They are doubly certain that more than enough electricity needed for this project can be secured from Furnace Falls, the Three Brother Falls, High Falls and other undeveloped water powers close at hand. It is sincerely to be hoped that the Hydro engineers will examine Peterborough northern townships in a sanguine, optimisic spirit, that they may be touched by the warmth of the residents' desires, that they may be inclined to visualize the railway as a social influence and that they may be impressed with the fact that Peterborough county beyond Smith township should be thus assisted, even as a "reconstruction" measure, if the resources and productivity of the townships warrant it to the extent of the farmers' estimation.

DEWS OF EVE

No More Gentle Than "Cascarets" for the Liver, Bowels

It is just as needless as it is dangerous to take violent or nasty cathartics. Nature provides no shock-absorbers for your liver and bowel against calomel, harsh pills, sickening oil and salts. Cascarets give quick relief without injury from Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Gases and Sick Headache. Cascarets work while you sleep, removing the toxins poisons and sour, indigestible waste without griping or inconvenience. Cascarets regulate by strengthening the bowel muscles. They cost so little too.

An Absolute Untruth
By the Referendum Committee Confusing and Misleading the Public

THE Citizens' Liberty League has discovered what appears to be a deliberate attempt to confuse and mislead the people of Ontario on the forthcoming Referendum.

Flamingly colored and sensational circulars have been sent broadcast over the Province in which it is claimed that—in the words of the advertising as shown in the copy here reproduced—"To vote 'Yes' in one column and 'No' in the others makes your ballot worthless."

That statement by the Referendum Committee is an absolute untruth. And either the Referendum Committee knew it to be untrue when they wrote it, and used it to mislead the public—or, they must confess a childlike ignorance of the whole issue that would be laughable if it were not serious to all the people—who rightly accept the printed word as true and form their opinion accordingly.

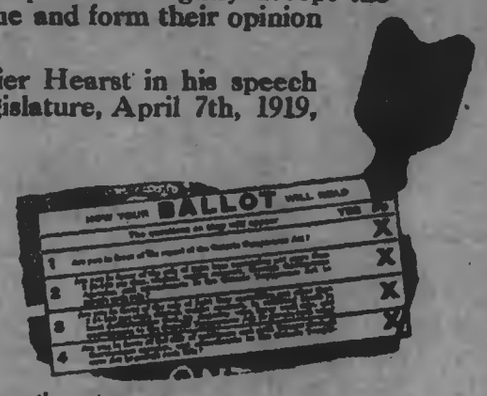
"To submit the one question set forth in the present Act (The Ontario Temperance Act) would settle nothing—would not, in my opinion, be in the best interests of temperance—because after a vote on that question we would know little more about what the real sentiment of the people is on the subject than we do to-day.



We would simply have to take another vote. . . . .
"Honourable gentlemen will note every question is separate.
". . . . . each question stands by itself.
"On each question the voter must make a deliberate decision and vote accordingly. The full force of public opinion will therefore be recorded for and against each question."

The Citizens' Liberty League conscientiously believes that the only true solution of Ontario's vexed temperance problem is the repeal of The Ontario Temperance Act and the enaction of new legislation that will permit the general sale of light non-intoxicating beer and light wine, and the sale of pure spirituous liquors through Government stores under restrictions which the Government may deem it wise to adopt.

But the Citizens' Liberty League will not stoop to misrepresentation—and it is not going to allow the Referendum Committee to do so unchallenged.

The temperance problem is one of the most vital issues ever faced by the people of this Province. It will never be solved by distortion, misrepresentation and villification, but only through a fair, just and honest presentation and the weighing of the facts.

The Citizens' Liberty League calls upon the Referendum Committee to deal squarely and honestly with the Electorate.

Vote "Yes" to all Four Questions

Mark your ballot with an X. Any other marking will spoil it. Remember also—Every voter must vote on every question or his ballot will be spoiled.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

MONDAY, OCTOBER 6TH, 1919.

ENLIGHTEN THE PEOPLE.

The remarks of Mr. Peter McArthur, president of the Independent Labour Party, at the convention the other night, relative to the failure of Canadian Members of Parliament to appear before their constituents several times a year and give an account of their stewardship, will be echoed by many people. It is a good old British custom that could very profitably be adopted on this side of the Atlantic. As Mr. McArthur points out, the electors in Canada hear nothing from their representatives on public matters except at election times. When the campaign is over there is no further inclination to discuss public issues with their constituents. A pubic address after each session of the Federal Government and the Legislature, by the representative of each riding, would give the electors a better grasp of what is going on in government circles, and also a better opportunity to judge of the qualities of the members. The present neglect of the constituencies, except at election times, is a handicap to the education of the people along political lines. The newspapers do their best to make up for the apathy of the members of Parliament, but the latter could be of great service if they grasped their opportunities.

MR. BURNHAM'S POSITION.

The net result of the caucus of the Union Government at Ottawa, the other day seems to have been a decision on the part of the members to hang on to the reins of office as long as possible. The new platform of the party was outlined but consideration of it was postponed until another session. In the meantime the administration will "carry on." The official statement of the caucus handed out to the press afterwards failed to mention the name of Mr. J. H. Burnham. He may or may not have been there, but at least there was no intimation in the official communique that he had resigned. There are many people who think he should. There are those who say that he was elected to support te Union Government, and that if he cannot do so any longer he should get out. He himself takes the position that the time has come to end the Union and that he cannot consistently remain a member of the Unionist Party. Accordingly he announced with a flourish of trumpets that he was moving over to the cross benches. Many of those who share his opinion of the government declare, however that Mr.Burnham should have followed the example of Mr. Nickle of Kingston and retired from the House altogether. His protest in that event would have carried some weight.

THE LOCAL CAMPAIGN.

The announcement of the nomination of Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., as Liberal candidate in West Peterboro, has been, as was expected, hailed with satisfaction not only by the Liberals of the riding but by many of those who have been supporters of the government. On this occasion, as in the election of 1914, Mr. Gillespie is sure of the support of many Conservatives who recognize his sterling worth and ability. The dissatisfaction that exists among many of its former adherents with the Hearst Government would in any case have cost the administration a large number of votes, and the selection by the Liberal convention of a candidate of the calibre of Mr. Gillespie, will increase the defection from the government camp. The convention tonight to select a Hearst standard-bearer has not been preceded by much enthusiasm. The ward meetings to select delegates, were sparsely attended and there has been none of the "swing of victory" in the preliminaries. The Premier's visit to Peterboro is expected to stir up some enthusiasm among the government supporters, but if Sir William has not been able to inspire his Ihert Cabinet during the years he has been at the head of affairs, he is not likely to succeed in resuscitating the battered government organization in West Peterborough in the course of a few hours' visit.

AN EXPLANATION NEEDED.

Sir William Hearst at his meeting to-night in the opera house would help a lot of perplexed people if he would devote a few minutes to a discussion of his seasons for declaring that an affirmative answer to the first question on the referendum would mean a return to the old license system. Some voters do not seem to know that the Premier has so declared; others who have read his statements say that no matter what opinion the Premier may have on the subject a majority voting "yes" on the first question would not justify any government in restoring the open bar and shop. Sir William, perhaps, can make the matter clearer to many people than it is at present.

His own interpretation of the first question has been emphatic enough, and is easy to grasp, but some of the electors have an idea that the Act might be differently interpretated and that an affirmative vote on question one would not necessarily mean the bars back again, but would only justify the government in repealing the Ontario Temperance Act, and in bringing down a new measure embodying some of the methods mentioned in the other questions. This is the claim of the Liberty League and there is danger of their statements causing confusion unless the matter is made celar to the voters. The Premier could remove much of the existing doubt by a few words on the subject to-night.

THE HARDEST LABOUR NUT.

The great strike of the employees of the United States Steel Company's mills brings to the front the feature of the labour problem that seems to give the least hope of satisfactory solution —the question of the open or closed shop. Other questions there are on which the conflict is keen and not likely to be quickly ended. The eight-hour day, with the forty-four hour week, is still being fought over. In all probability, while there will be no formal settlement of the question, practically recognition will be given to the fact that in some industries what is sought has already been granted, and that in some other industries, such as farming, fishing and lumbering the same rule cannot be applied. Minimum wage is still to be fought for; the acceptance of the principle in the case of women's work, and perhaps in some cases of men's work also, will go far towards disarming criticism. Collective bargaining is much to the fore, and is being strenuously opposed by many employers; but in a modified form it is likely to become an accepted part of the industrial programme. In all these matters there is some hope of the establishing of working agreements. But the question of the open or closed shop is much more difficult, as the present strike clearly shows. The United States Steel Company has been, as capitalists go, a not ungenerous employer. As a rule it pays liberal wages, rewards merit, and makes its people as comfortable as possible. On such a basis it should be able to maintain good relations with its workmen, and in the main it has done so. But Mr. Gary, the president of the company, has always insisted on his right to the fullest freedom in the selection of his workmen. He offers no objection to the formation of trade unions. He recognizes that such organizations are a part of the social order and that, within certain limits, they are beneficial to all concerned. But when these limits are exceeded Mr. Gary and his workmen separate.

In his address at the annual congress of the Dominion Trade and Labour Council, which met a few days ago at Hamilton, Ont., the president, Mr. Tom Moore, used the following words: "Any attempt to compel free men to work under conditions known to be unfair to themselves creates resentment and is doomed to failure."

It does not seem to have occurred to Mr. Moore that the very thing that he so warmly condemns is being done by himself and his associates. There are in Canadian factories as well as in the mills of the United States Steel Company, men who do not desire to join the trade unions, men who for one reason or another prefer to work in their own quiet way without participating in the activities of the unions. The mill owners, both in Canada and the States, desire to permit these men to work, wish to make no distinction between them and the member of the union. Mr Moore in Canada and Mr. Fitzpatrick in the Pittsburg region say these men shall be compelled to join the union,—"to work under conditions known to be unfair to themselves" and that if they will not do so they shall be deprived of work, deprived of the opportunity to earn a living. It is because the United States Steel Company will not submit to this ruling of organised labour that the great strike has occurred. Labour's insistence on the doctrine of the closed shop is the weakest feature of its programme. Yet labour practically says that this power to "compel free men to work under conditions known to be unfair to themselves" is necessary to the existence of trades unionism.—Journal of Commerce.

NEW FOUND PORTRAIT OF ROBERT BURNS

It is like a new planet, "to some watcher of the skies," for a new and unknown portrait of a man like Burns to swim into our ken. Such a thrill as came to Keat's lone watcher may be felt by many at seeing the portrait by William Anderson that "The Illustrated London News" reproduces for us. An article accompanying it written by the present owner, Mr. W. M. Gray, tells how the picture came into his possession last year in Dundee. It has not, indeed, been "absolutely unknown," but has, thinks Mr. Gray, suffered eclipse by the more famous portrait of Alexander Nasmyth in the Edinburgh National Gallery. The picture, while not of the highest artistic merit, satisfies, in the write's view, Scott's famous description of the poet, and has a likeness which Scott himself found lacking in the Nasmyth portrait. Mr. Gray further contends that the Anderson portrait likely served Archibald Skirving for his famous drawing of Burns. The portrait is a half-length, measuring twenty-five by thirty inches, and was painted from life. Anderson was born in 1797 and died in 1837. Mr. Gray writes:

"It is not claimed that the portrait has great merit, but it has a certain realism that seems to bring us nearer to the man, who, as Carlyle says, 'on his arrival at his inn, whether it was noon, night, or two o'clock in the morning, master, mistress, and servants were up and about, all eager to do him service, or even to get a look at him.' In Sir Walter's Scott's description of the poet there are characteristics which are reproduced in the Anderson portrait. Sir Walter Scott says of Burns: 'His person was strong and robust, not clownish—a sort of dignified plainness and simplicity; his features are represented in Mr. Naamyth's picture, but to me it conveys the idea that they are diminished, as if seen in perspective. I think his countenance was more massive than it looks in any of the portraits, I would have taken the poet, had I not known what he was, for a sagacious country farmer of the old Scotch school— i.e., none of your modern agriculturists who keep labourers for their drudgery, but the douce gudeman who held his own plow. The eye alone, I think, indicated the poetical character and temperament. It was large, and on a dark cast which glowed (I say literally glowed) when he spoke with feeling or interest. I never saw such another eye in a human head, though I have seen the most distinguished men of my time.'

"The latest portrait of Burns represents the poet as Scott saw him — Burns the farmer; not only the farmer, but the douce gudeman who held his own plow.' It clearly portrays the "potentia" of Robert Burns, the why and the wherefore he was able to exercise such a wonderful power and influence over his fellows; and it will be readily recognised that the emotions and passions of the poet sprang necessarily from definite causes which are clearly indicated in this portrait, beside which the Nasmyth portrait is without power and does not represent the poet as he is known in his life and works."

A new conception of Burns is given in the Anderson portrait, we are asked to believe:

"He looks more the poet with greater intellectual capacity and there is a feature in the portrait that seems absent from the others— the joy of living, which was constant and abiding in Burns. We know that he could turn the tragic into the comic, the pathetic into the humorous, and, like all minds of the highest order, what were to the people among whom he sojourned life and death interests often merely amused him; and, even if his worldly cares did press heavily upon him in the hard lot in which his life was cast, the tenor of his life and works prove that Burns in his heart was never really miserable. We can not judge the poet by any ordinary standards, as he was like an instrument upon which universal nature played, but we can well believe that his constant and abiding love of nature and his fellowmen dominated his life. Great care has been taken to preserve the matured condition of the portrait; the old varnish has been kept intact, and only the surface smut removed."

"The Illustrated London, News" knows of "no published record of this Burns portrait," and seems to accept its authenticity on Mr. Gray's authority."—"The Literary Digest."

SOFT GINGERBREAD

Dissolve 3-4 teaspoon of soda in 1 tablespoon of milk or warm water, add to 1 cup each of sour cream and molasses and stir well, then add 1 cup of brown sugar, 2 beaten eggs and 1 cup of flour mixed and sifted with 1 teaspoonful of ginger, 1 teaspoon of cloves, 1-4 teaspoon of salt and 1 1-2 teaspoons of baking powder. Stir in enough more flour to make a soft dough, beat until very smooth and bake in a moderate oven.

CHAP[illegible]LXXXVI.

The clock [illegible]k the half hour before I left [illegible]e. I d[illegible]not care to wait [illegible]tation at [illegible] hour. Someon[illegible]t see me wonder why Neil was not with I hated to have anyone pity me cause of his shortcomings.

Twelve o'clock came, and the train had not come in. I had waited some distance back of the crowd, hoping by doing so to be unobserved. Then I heard a murmur of horror, and pressed forward.

"An accident!" I heard a man say. "The train ran into a freight."

"What is it please?" I asked the man who had spoken, "I have a relative coming on the train. Is anything serious the matter?"

"They don't know yet Miss, but if you wait here I will find out." The kindly man moved away, and I again stood a little apart from the crowd.

"It is quite bad Miss," his voice startled me. I had not expected him back so soon. "Some of the people are badly hurt."

"Do you know if they are bringing them here?"

"Yes—it is the nearest place where they can get attention. The right kind of attention."

"How long before they can be expected?" I asked, my heart contracting as I thought that perhaps gentle, kind Mrs. Carter, whom I had always known might be among the injured or killed.

"No one knows ma'am." If there is anything I can do for you—I am afraid my sister is on the train, although I am not sure. I shall wait and see however, so don't be afraid to ask me anything."

I didn't know what to do. If only I knew where Neil was. It was terrible to wait here indefinitely alone. I thought of Mr. Frederick, if only he were with me. I went into the booth and called his hotel.

"No, Mr. Frederick doesn't answer." I left no message, and returned to my place of waiting.

"Is there any further news?" I asked the man who so kindly had offered to do what he could for me.

"No, Miss. I am afraid it will be a long wait. You see they had to send a wrecking train first. You better go inside and sit down. I will come and call you if there is any news."

I thanked him, but remained where I was. To sit quiet would be impossible and also intolerable. It was now one o'clock. I had left no word for Neil, supposing I should be back directly. I called the house. It was some time before Ada answered. She had been asleep she explained.

"No, Mr. Forbes has not come in."

"If he does tell him to come at once to the station. The train upon which his aunt was to come has met with an accident. She may be injured. And Ada, you better sit up. We may need you."

I waited until two o'clock. If y[ou] know what it means to wait [at] railroad station until two o'clo[ck] the morning, wait for someone may have been injured—perha[ps] ed, you will realize somethin[g] distress. I really co[uld] rem[ember] tive no longer. I called Bla[nche] ton's house.

'May I speak to Mrs. [Orton]' asked.

"This is Mrs. Orton. What is it?"

Suddenly it came to me that I would let her know who I was. I had not intended to say who was talking unless Neil came to the telephone. But I would show her that I knew of his visits.

"Is Mr. Forbes there? I should like to speak to him. The train upon which his aunt was to arrive has met with an accident." I waited an appreciable time before she answered:

"No, Mr. Forbes is not here." There was something in her voice, the hesitating manner in which she spoke which made me ask:

"How long ago did he leave?"

"About thirty minutes."

"Thank you, he is probably on his way to the station by this time." I hung up the receiver trembling. I had received the information I wanted.

I returned to my place with the rest of the watchers just as Neil dashed up.

"I just got home. Babs hurried right up here. Have they heard anything?"

"No—I knew you only just got home. Blanche Orton told me you had left only half an hour ago."

"The devil she did—what business had you calling her? I won't have you meddling with me, and my business, and the sooner you understand it the better!" He stalked over to one of the officials leaving me standing alone, the man who so kindly had helped me eyeing me with obvious pity. He had heard what Neil had said.

HOW AIRPLANE WAS WRECKED NEAR BEAVERTON

The Beaverton Express contains the following particulars concerning the wreck of the airplane at Beaverton referred to in Friday's Post:

"A couple of aviators with an aeroplane came badly to grief Friday afternoon, when their machine was wrecked and themselves granted a miraculous escape from death. The machine belonged to the Bishop-Barker Co., the aviators being engaged in taking aerial photographs of the town. They circled over the town for some time then landed on the Agricultural Society's grounds. In retaking the air the propeller became entangled in the branches of an elm tree which rendered the machine unmanageable and it finally plunged into a group jof tall cedars on the north side of the river where it was suspended and badly wrecked by impact. One of the men was thrown out an was found in a dazed condition a the foot of the tree, his foot remaining strapped in the machine released. [illegible] could be filled with anec- [illegible] out the Derby and Derby [illegible]

Derby of 1867 was perhaps [illegible] the most sensational and ro- [illegible] on record. It was won by Mr. Chaplin's Hermit, a horse reported to be lame. The race was actually run in a snowstorm, and the winner started at the long odds of 66 to 1. The plunging Marquis of Hastings lost a fabulous sum in bets over this race, and was ruined.

The piquancy of the situation was increased by the fact that, some years previously, Mr. Chaplin and the Marquis of Hastings has been rivals in love, the marquis carrying off the lady.

The Derby was one of the greatest gambling Derbies ever known, a wellknown Duke losing in a single bet £180,000. Hermit's progeny won nearly £350,000 in stakes. Mr. Chaplin, who purchased him as a yearling for the modest sum of one thousand guineas, presented his skeleton when he died in 1890 to the Royal Veterinary College.

Two Derby winners have died at sea Blue Gown, the hero of '66, was sold to a wealthy American for £4,000, and died on the voyage across the herring pond. As the horse was not insured, the Yankee lost heavily over the transaction. A similar fate was that of Kingcraft. By a strange fluke he won the Derby in 1870, but in nineteen succeeding races did not once get past the post first. He was sold for £530 in 1884, and also succumbed to the stormy seas on his voyage to the States.

Amato was another famous Derby winner. His year was 1838. Belonging to Sir G. Heathcote, the squire of Epsom, he only ran upon one occasion —that on which he won the Derby.

He is buried in the beautiful grounds of the Durdans, Lord Rosebery's charming country seat.

The grave is surrounded by iron palings, and the stone slab gives full particulars as to the horse's age, and so on. It is beautifully situated within a few hundred yards of the Derby winning post, an here surrounded by beautiful trees, daffodils an magnolias in full bloom, the classic hero's bones rest peacefully.

In front of the inn is a well. From time immemorial someone—no one has yet discovered who—has chalked a tip for the Derby on the cover of the well. Racegoers are notoriously superstitious and ready to follow the slightest tips.

A few years ago a one-time wealthy man was on the verge of ruin through his unfortunate gambling propensities. He had about £500 left, and made up his mind, so the story runs, to risk his all upon whatever horse the well "gave" for the Derby. This decision proved particularly fortunate.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY TAG DAY

(By G. W. POWELL)

Our annual Tag Day will be held on the 11th of October this year and we thought the people who were generous enough to furnish us with funds, might like to know what we are doing.

In the first place we are glad the Public have confidence enough in us not to want us to reveal a great deal of the sadness of the unfortunates with whom we have to deal; but there is a bright side always to every cloud, and our work has not been without some measure of reward. Our work has caused us to deal with a great many adults as well as children, and we believe that a great many homes have been benefitted and unfortunate people been encouraged by our visits without the necessity of a removal of the children from the home.

We have tried to interest ourselves in the life work of every child under our care and have no little job, when you realize that we have 145 of them. We see to their placements in good homes and after 14 years of age to their contracts for wages, and are keeping in trust for children a very considerable sum of money which will be repaid to them later on with accrued interest.

We could give a number of cases where our placements have been of great benefit to the children, but one or two will give some idea of our work.

Two girls were taken over by us for protection while the father was away to the war. They were placed out in splendid homes, where they are contented and happy. After the father came home, the mother who had been a sufferer for a long time, and could not care for the children, died. The father was so pleased with our treatment of the girls that he has decided that they will be left for some time yet, where they are going to school and doing well.

Another little girl who is over school age and drawing wages, is so satisfied with her new home that she says she does not want to come back to Peterboro for two or three years, when the people will not know her, and she will make out that she does not want to know them.

A visit to the Shelter at any time would reveal the work that is being done there. Our Superintendent, Mrs. Read, says little, but does a great deal—go and see her.

We may be facing a very severe winter so we are in hope the public will be very generous this year when our Tag Day comes on October 11th 1919.

SCRIVEN MEMORIAL UNVEILED YESTERDAY

INTERESTING CEREMONY TOOK PLACE AT BEWDLEY IN PRESENCE OF LARGE GATHERING.

Nearly a thousand people were present at the unveiling of the Scriven Memorial at Kidd's Corners yesterday afternoon, and a large number of Peterborough people attended to do honour to the memory of one who wrote one of the best known of hymns "What a Friend we have in Jesus." Although the memorial is not on the grave of the late Joseph Scriven, but four miles away, it is in a place where it can hardly be missed by travellers going to either Port Hope or Toronto. The memorial is in the shape of a small obelisk standing on a heavy three-foot base on the top of a hill only a quarter of a mile from Bewdley. It is beautifully finished and on it is inscribed the date of Mr. Scriven's birth and death and three verses of his creation, "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

In the morning a short service was held in Bewdley's little church, conducted by Rev. D. S. K. Byrne, of the Christian Workers' Congregational church, Montreal, who took his text from the ninth chapter of Exodus.

At the unveiling, at two o'clock in the afternoon, Adjutant Wallace Buntin, of this city, had the honour to represent the Salvation Army in place of Brigadier Frank Morris, Field Secretary of the Salvation Army, who was unable to be present. The local Salvation Army band was also present, and with the Cobourg Salvation Army band, under Captain Alderman, supplied sacred music preceding and during the unveiling. Dr. McLaughlin, of Toronto University, was chairman for the afternoon, and he paid a beautiful tribute to the exemplary life of Mr. Scriven, who contributed such a beautiful hymn to church music.

Rev. D. S. K. Byrne, who erected the memorial, also spoke, as also did Mrs. Byrne. Mr. Byrne originally lived at Bewdley, and now has a pastorate in Montreal.

Rev. C. S. Applegath also gave an address.

A SIMPLE METHOD TO REMEDY RHEUMATISM

AGE DOES NOT INTERFERE IF TREATMENT IS PROPERLY FOLLOWED

Many persons contend that there is no sure remedy for Rheumatism, Sciatica, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Neuritis, or their kindred diseases, but don't be biased: draw your own conclusions from the proof submitted.

Over two years ago, William Nesbitt, of 113 John St., Toronto, Ontario, was attacked by Rheumatism. Mr. Nesbitt was 53 years of age at the time and he feared the worst. After trying many remedies and prescriptions without obtaining relief he took a friend's advice and used Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules. Result—to-day Mr. Nesbitt says, "He hasn't lost a day's work since nor feels Rheumatism any more."

Mr. Nesbitt gives the entire credit for his recovery to T.R.C.'S. Profit by his experience. Try them.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templeton, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.65.

ROY STUDIO ART

Lovers of art will be delighted with an inspection of the special samples of portraiture just now on view in the show cases in the ground hall of the Roy Studio. Admirers will find much to excite their pleasurable tastes in viewing these recent specimens, several of which have attracted unusual attention this past week. Those who have not ceased to manifest interest in modern high class photoplay will be rewarded by studying the accuracy to life of the pictures, the charming effects in posing, the softness and delicacy of touch, and the finish which so much enhances their merit and value. The artist work on some of the colored samples is equally worthy of commendation.

Tobacco Habit Dangerous

MONCTON, N.B., Oct. 6.—W. F. O'Connor held a session of the Board of Commerce here on Saturday, and later went to Nova Scotia. He inquired into a complaint against the increase of the milk price to fifteen cents a quart. O'Connor stated that this price was higher than anywhere he had visited.

In Africa and India the flesh of the elephant is a favorite dish for the natives; but many Europeans declare it is like soft leather mixed with glue. All agree, however, that baked elephant's foot is a dish for a king.

Crocodiles are sold in the butcher's shops of Senaar in French West Africa, just as the butchers here sell beef and mutton; and in the towns and villages of Siam you may see the carcasses hanging up for sale like those of sheep and other animals in our meat markets.

We do not look upon caterpillars as something to eat. In the West Indies, however, and throughout Central America, the caterpillar of the so-called cabbage palm tree is served up as ong of the most inviting morsels obtainable.

In the Southern States of Brazil, the inhabitants scoop the eggs of the white ants out of their oven-shaped nests, and after having washed and pounded them use them as a paste to spread on bread. The white ants, like the wasps, are dried, in iron pots, being frequently stirred just as if they were coffee beans, and in this parched state the natives consider them a most delicious food. Travellers who have tasted them declare they have the same flavor as sweet almonds.

Locusts have been eaten since the very earliest times, and still are eaten. In Persia, Arabia, Syria, Egypt, North Africa, Palestine, Abyssinia, and throughout the southern regions they are used as food.

In the markets of Africa and Mesopotamia salted locusts and dishfuisof fried ones are still offered for sale just as in the days of "The Arabian Nights." In Paris and Morocco, the common folk gather them up, dry, and salt them for use, and look upon them much as we do wheat and barley and oats.

DRIVE FROM WITLEY CAMP TO PORTS IN LORRIES.

LONDON, Oct. 6. — The railway strike has delayed but has not prevented the repatriation of Canadian troops. Soldiers have been conveyed from Witley Camp to the ports of embarkation in lorries. In this way repatriation has been hindered to an extent of only fifty per cent. The strike, however, will accentuate the congestion of civilian passenger services. As the Canadians are not permitted to return via United States ports without viseing of passports by the American Consul, which is granted only under very special circumstances, the average delay in sailing from the time of application to steamship companies is now from two to three months.

LESS MEAT IF BACK AND KIDNEYS HURT

Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers you.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish, clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys are not acting right, or bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good drug store and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal action; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, causing bladder weakness.

Jad Salts cost but little and is harmless; cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to prevent and relieve urinary or-bladder disorders and serious kidney disease.

BE SUSPICIOUS OF TENDER GUMS

Be suspicious of any tenderness or bleeding of the gums. This is usually the first stage of Pyorrhea—an insidious disease of the gums that destroys the teeth and undermines bodily health.

Gradually the gums become spongy. They inflame, then shrink, thus exposing the unenamaled tooth-base to the ravages of decay. Tiny openings in the gums form gateways for disease germs to enter the system. Medical science has traced many ills to these infecting germs in the gums weakened by Pyorrhea.

They are now known to be a frequent cause of indigestion, anaemia, rheumatism and other serious conditions.

So watch carefully for that first tenderness or bleeding of the gums. Try Forhan's immediately. It positively prevents Pyorrhea (Riggs' Disease) if used in time and used consistently.

Forhan's (For the Gums) cleans teeth scientifically as well. Brush your teeth with it. It keeps the teeth white and clean.

If gum-shrinkage has already set in start using Forhan's and consult a dentist immediately for special treatment.

WHEN WILL THE WORLD END?

Forecasts [illegible] Haven't Come True

Religious [illegible]atics are again busy prophesying the end of the world, arguing that the four years of war-horror is but a prelude to oblivion for everyone.

Meanwhile, however, the man in the street is not worrying. Perhaps he re[illegible] the many occasions when [illegible] have tried to make his fl[illegible] with similar logies.

Now[illegible], however, people have taken them serio[illegible] The appearance of comets has often been thought to foretell the speedy dissolution of this world. If the tail of a comet touched the earth we should all go up in smoke is the fantastic rumour which has been revived at intervals during recent years.

The story of the comet spread great alarm, however, throughout Europe in 1832, and many persons refrained from undertaking or concluding any business during that year in consequence solely of their apprehension that the terrible comet would dash us and our world to atoms.

October 13th has been a favourite day for prophesying the end of the world. This has its origin in the prophecy of the famous mathematical divine, Dr. Whiston, who, in 1736, said the world would be destroyed in that year on October 13th.

Crowds of people assembled in the big open spaces of London on that date to see the "beginning of the end," but nothi[illegible] happened, and Whiston became the laughing stock of the Metropolis.

TWO FIREBUGS WERE ARRESTED IN BRANTFORD

BRANTFORD, Oct. 4.—The police have made arrests in connection with the recent fire alarm scares. George Atkins, a former member of the fire department, was charged here with arson. Robert Morrow was charged with sending letters threatening to burn a building contrary to the criminal code.

The charges were preferred after consultation with Acting Crown Attorney M. McEwen, who agreed to bail. The defendants were let out on bail of $1,000 and remanded until Monday. They were arrested Tuesday night on a minor charge and were remanded yesterday in the police court.

U-BOAT IN TRAWL NET.

London—The steam trawler Boyhat has returned to Lowestoft with part of a German U-boat, on which a machine gun is mounted, as part of her catch. The wreckage has the appearance of having been separated from the rest of the hull by fire. It was caught in the trawl net of the Boyhat.

Finest Thing Ever For Chronic Catarrh!

Gets Away From the Medicine Habit, Cures By Novel Method

With the many remedies you have tried you surely know that no liquid medicine can cure your throat or nose. Even a gargle only bathes the entrance of the throat—it can't really get inside, nor can it reach the inflamed bronchial tubes.

With Catarrhozone, it's so different from medicine-taking — you simply breathe its healing vapor, inhale its balsamic fumes, which carry cure and relief to the minutest air cells in the lungs, nose, throat, and bronchial tubes.

In this scientific way the soreness and inflammation is rapidly allayed, relaxed cords are toned up, the entire mucous membrane invigorated. Every trace of catarrh disappears, the disagreeable dropping of mucus in the throat, hawking, spitting, and stopped-up nostrils — all these sure signs of catarrh and bronchitis are permanently cured by Catarrhozone. Large outfit lasts two months, costs $1.00; small size [illegible] cents, trial size 25 cents, at de[illegible] everywhere.

RE-PAINT[illegible] NICHOLLS HOSPITAL

The interior of the Nicholls' Hospital is undergoing a special treatment of painting and re-decorating. Most of the rooms, halls, corridors and floors are being refreshened and renewed with new coats of paint and wall coloring in appropriate blending. The work has been proceeding for over a month and will require another month or more before complete. Mr. Alexander Heron of Rubidge street, has charge of this work, which has had the approval of the Board and the superintendent.

MR. J. H. BURNHAM ON PATRONAGE

(From Hansard)

Mr. J. H. Burnham (Peterborough West): Mr. Speaker, I believe it is a rule of order that when a member expresses an opinion decidedly against a measure under consideration, he shall not be put upon the committee appointed to consider that measure. All those members, if I am right, who are expressing a hostile opinion to this bill are therefore excluded from the committee, and the consequence is that the committee, being composed of men who have expressed a favourable opinion, will necessarily bring in a favourable report.

Putting the Outside Service under the Civil Service Commission means a vast expense to the country. A few illustrations will show what I mean. A member told me this afternoon of the case of a postmistress, located 150 miles north of Kingston, in the back woods, and receiving $80.00 a year, who resigned. It was necessary for the post office inspector to go to that locality and make inquiries. Had he been permitted to do so, he could have inquired of the member for the constituency and had the whole question decided for next to nothing. But he went to the locality and back to Kingston; then he went to the locality again and back again to Kingston. Three or four times he had to make that journey, with the result that the expense ran up to hundreds of dollars. In my own constituency a postmastership in the back country is a trifling affair, but a very great co[illegible]ce to tourists and others who v[illegible]t district in the summer time—[illegible]me the subject of inquiry in the same way. The inspector kept racing back and forth, whereas if he had inquired of me he could have de[illegible] with the whole situation in a few minutes.

If the member is not fit to make a suggestion about a matter of this kind, why, put the member out. The principle of a member representing his constituency and being asked various things in connection with it for the benefit of that constituency is perfectly sound. That there are some members who are unfit to give an opinion, may be possible. Well then, bring in a Bill to prohibit those members from having anything to say about such matters—or leave it to the people, who may be trusted to rectify the matter in very short order.

Mr. Lemieux: The member is responsible to the people.

Mr. Burnham: The member is responsible to the people; the people have elected him on that understanding; and for the central authorities in Ottawa or anywhere else to go sneaking round and making inquiries from all sorts of irresponsible persons in the constituency is disgusting; it is insulting, and it cannot work. It cannot last and it won't last; no such principle as that can possibly continue in existence very long. No self-respecting member, no man who has any respect for himself at all, would put up with it. I quite understand why it is that there is such seething discontent in the House; members are beginning to realise what they did when they put the mark of the beast upon themselves.

To exclude women from this commission is an absurdity. Women comprise at least half of the electorate of the country; women are in the Civil Service. It naturally follows that they should have representation on the commission. The soldiers and labour may be left to take care of themselves; they are well able to do it, and they certainly will do it. But I make a plea for the poor member that he be represented on the commission. The poor outcast—do let him, Mr. Speaker, be represented on the commission, because if he is not fit to be consulted in such a trifling matter as this, why should he presume to give an opinion upon the business of the country? It is an absurdity. We are here—what? A gathering of men declared morally unfit to do the business of the country—not only to do the business of the country, but to do the most trifling things connected with the various constituencies that we represent. Certainly this is a matter that ought to be looked into and the principle recognised that the people of this country, including members of Parliament, are respectable people unless they are shown to be otherwise.

DE LAVAL PLANT GUTTED BY FIRE

SUPPLIES HAVE BEEN FORWARDED FROM PETERBORO PLANT

The local office of the DeLaval Co. received word on Saturday that their branch office and warehouse on St. Peter's Street, Montreal, was completely destroyed by a fire of unknown origin which broke out early on Saturday morning and gutted the entire building.

The loss cannot yet be estimated but will likely be considerable. It is thought, however, that the insurance will cover most of it.

The machinery and stock in the warehouse, and the office records and equipment were all destroyed. Nevertheless an attempt will be made to carry on business as usual and the local office shipped several boxes of forms, etc., on Saturday.

Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, the General Manager of the company, left for Montreal on the 11.52 C.P.R. train.

MONTREAL, Oct. 6.—Rev. Herbert R. Stevenson was arraigned before Judge Cusson upon a charge of abduction of two sons of Rev. Maurice Day Baldwin on March 3 last. Bail was fixed at $500 and enquete for October 10. The charge specifies that he did take away, entice and detain the two minor children of Mr. Baldwin.

TO BRING BACK BODIES OF SOLDIERS BURIED IN EUROPE.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Bodies of all American soldiers interred in Germany, Belgium, Italy, Great Britain, Luxembourg and Northern Russia will be returned to the United States as soon as necessary transportation can be arranged.

Secretary Baker announced he had issued instructions for the Purchase, Storage and Traffic Division of the General Staff to take charge of the matter and to hasten it as much as possible.

This action, Mr. Baker said, did not indicate any change in the department's attitude toward the return of the soldier-dead in France. Secretary Baker said it was hoped that the great majority of American parents would decide to let them remain there, but that the wishes of the relatives desiring the bodies returned would be carried out.

I promised because I was afraid Susannah would kill herself. It was better to wed her than to see her commit suicide."

Thompson was committed for trial.

MRS. DOWNS COULD HARDLY GET ABOUT THE HOUSE—ENJOYS WORK NOW

"Before taking Tanlac I was so weak that I could hardly get about the house, but I thoroughly enjoy my work now," said Mrs. Mary Downs, of 1 Currie street, Toronto, Ont.

"Some time ago," she continued, "I had to undergo an operation and it looked like I would never get over the shock. I lost my appetite and actually would go for days without eating a thing. I was so weak the least exertion would soon exhaust me, I could hardly get any sleep at night and would often be subject to fearful nightmares that would shake my nerves so I would tremble like a leaf on waking up.

"I was just in this awful fix when I started on Tanlac, and it wasn't long before I felt it was bracing me up and making me eat. Now my appetite has returned and I relish every bite, my nerves are much stronger and I rest well at night and never have those terrible nightmares any more. I am able to do all my housework now without half trying and never feel tired and worn out like I did before."

You Need Never Be "Caught Without" Milk

YOU can keep a supply of Carnation Milk on your pantry shelf for months—against any unexpected need.

It stays sweet, fresh, rich—just as pure and wholesome as when it was first put in the can. It is sealed safe and sterilized. Even when the can is opened Carnation Milk "keeps" for several days. Yet it is entirely free from artificial sweetening or preservatives.

This milk is the only milk supply your home needs—you can use Carnation Milk in every way you have ever used milk.

Delicious as cream for tea, coffee, fruit or cereals. For the children's drink dilute it with water—it is evaporated, double the richness of ordinary milk. For cooking you can add even more than the same quantity of water. For baby, Carnation is the ideal, safe milk—use as your doctor prescribes.

Let Carnation Milk solve your milk problem. To-day. Buy it when you buy your groceries—your grocer is the Carnation Milkman. Directions on every can.

"The Story of Carnation Milk" is an interesting booklet we have prepared. It contains 100 tested recipes. Write us at Aylmer, Ont., and we'll gladly mail you a copy—FREE.

SARNIA'S MAYOR REJECTS IVENS

Will Not Allow Winnipeg Strike Leader Use of City Hall

SARNIA, Oct. 6.—Mayor Nesbit announced that after thoroughly going into the case of Rev. W. Ivens of Winnipeg strike prominence, he had decided following an interview with a deputation of the Sarnia Great War Veterans' Association that he would not allow the Winnipeg preacher to speak Wednesday night next in the Sarnia City Hall. Recently, the Mayor had stated that he could not see it in his power to stop Ivens's proposed meeting here. He announced that his decision on the matter was final and that Ivens could not have the use of the City Hall for speaking purposes. Coupled with the Mayor's statement, a number of other hall owners announced that the doors of their halls were locked to Rev. William Ivens.

TABLET UNVEILED IN MEMORY OF FALLEN HEROES OF THE CHURCH—INSPIRING ADDRESSES—SPECIAL MUSIC FOR THE OCCASION.

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church was filled to the doors last evening by those who gathered to pay tribute to the men of the church who have served in the Great War.

The Great War Veterans paraded to the church in a body, led by their band, as did also the St. Andrew's Troop of Boy Scouts.

The service was in charge of the pastor, Rev. (Captain) James Rollins, who stated that we all had learned to appreciate the comradeship of the Army, and we held in very great reverence the men who had sacrificed their lives in defence of liberty and right. He was very glad to have the Veterans and the Boy Scouts present. He thought that it would be an inspiration to the boys to see the men who had survived. He was looking forward to the returned men making a strong, sane contribution toward reconstruction, and was sure that the co-operation of the soldier and civilian would bring great good to all of us.

Unveiling of the Tablet.

A bronze tablet, containing the names of the following members of the church, was then unveiled by Mrs. George Laing and Mrs. W. G. Read:

Lieut. Stewart Laing, Pte. Norman Clark, Pte. Gordon Carter, Pte. William S. Gibson, Pte. James C. Gibson, Pte. James G. Hurry, Pte. Vernal Meharry, Pte. John Miller, Pte. H. Nicholls, Sig. Max Patterson, Pte. D. George Read, Pte. A. W. Tamblin.

Mr. W. S. Campbell.

Mr. W. S. Campbell then gave the address. He stated that the church had many young men who enlisted for active service and responded to the dictates of honour and attachment to their native land. The Sunday School teachers present could recall many such. St. Andrew's desired to record her high regard for her noble heroes, and hoped that this tablet would perpetuate their memory. It was hard to find words to express the debt of gratitude which the nation owed such young men. The memorial committee had endeavoured to perpetuate the memory of the church's fallen heroes. They had died that we might have a just peace, and he prayed God that we might now have such a peace.

Capt. T. F. Best.

Mr. Campbell was followed by Capt. T. F. Best, who, on behalf of himself and the Y.M.C.A. which he represented, expressed his gratitude for the privilege of taking part in a service such as this. It was a great honour, and one which the organization he represented could share with him. If he were to choose a text, he would take either the quotation "Lest we forget" from Kipling's Recessional, or the Bible verse, "Not by might, not by power, but by spirit, saith the Lord."

An Inspiration.

There were many things about the War, said Capt. Best, which most of us would rather forget. But there were some things which we could not forget. They would be an inspiration to us. If we should forget them we would be missing one of the great lessons of the War. He had found a tendency throughout the country to forget the War. But we should not forget the spirit of sacrifice, the spirit of the Cross, which was the spirit of the men, such as those whose memory we were commemorating.

The Work of the British Navy.

Another was the British Navy. It had been his privilege to see the First Contingent, 32,000 strong, leaving their native land to take part in the War across the seas. The sight was an inspiration. The fleet of transports that carried them had been called "The Great Canadian Armada." But we must not forget that they were convoyed by British warships. The Canadian transports were always convoyed by British vessels, and not a man was lost going over.

An Australian officer had told him that the same was true of the Australian forces. A year ago the United States was sending troops overseas at the rate of 250,000 a month until two million had been carried across. Their casualties were only 400.

"We have to take off our hats to the British Navy," the speaker continued. "They were on the job day and night through all sorts of weather, in the face of all sorts of perils. Under God we owe our victory to a large and marked degree to the British Navy."

Merchant Marine

Capt. Best went on to discuss the men of the Merchant Marine, who had taken their ships through the German submarine zone into Britain carrying the needed supplies which helped her "carry on". Their ships were often torpedoed and the men drowned like rats in a trap but if a man escaped the first thing he did when he reached shore was to register with another vessel.

"The Contemptibles"

Capt. Best went on to say that he was willing to stand and pass on the honours to the men who fought to the last and won such magnificient victories but we would always have a tender feeling for the men at the first, who though outnumbered held the line. They said with their lips and their lives, "They shall not pass". Without their noble and heroic sacrifices we would not be rejoicing in our victories.

The German Army.

When the war began the only army in Europe which was prepared was that of the Central Powers. It was the greatest army the world had ever seen. Of course, little Belgium and Serbia had no chance against it. The Belgians laid down their lives by the thousands till their army was decimated and their morale broken. They were not a fighting force to be reckoned with seriously in the first place, but by delaying the Germans at Liege they placed the world under an everlasting obligation to them. The French and British were forced back steadily to the Marne but no further. The little British army was outclassed in numbers, artillery, aircraft, equipment but not in fighting quality. ial. After Mons the British army from a military standpoint did not have any chance of winning. No military man can explain why we didn't lose the war then.

"Nevertheless," Capt. Best went on to say, "we drove them back from the Marne till they had to 'dig in' How do you account for it? I do not hesitate to say that God helped us at the Battle of the Marne."

Continuing Capt. Best said that it was the turning point of the war. From then on the enemy's chances of winning became fainter and fainter until at last they faded away entirely. When Lord Roberts read the cable announcing the victory he said "The hand of the Lord is in this." Lord Kitchener replied, "Someone must have been praying". These two men established a precedent which we would be safe in following. Man's extremity became God's opportunity at the Marne. We rejoice to-day because of it.

Looking After the Returned Man

Capt. Best then told of the remarks of a South African Veteran when told what Canada would do for the returned men after the war. "I've been in wars before." This man had seen too much of the enthusiasm for the soldiers in war time but the opposite feeling in peace time. We must not let our responsibility to the returned soldier end with welcomes. We must see him provided with employment at home and see that he is assimilated into our national life.

In closing Capt. Best stated that 60,000 wooden crosses over in Flanders made 60,000 appeals to us. We must carry on their work and sustain those high and holy principles for which they gave their lives. He concluded by quoting Col. John McRae's poem, "In Flanders' Fields."

Rev. Major J. C. Davidson then pronounced the benediction and the "Last Post", was sounded by Mr. Allan Sharpe.

The music and the rendition of it by the choir led by Mr. John Crane and soloist Miss Helen McLaren was in keeping with the occasion.

DR. E. A. HAMMOND AGAIN PRESIDENT

In the report of the annual meeting of the Peterborough Lawn Bowlers' Association, held on Thursday night, the names of two of the officers elected were put in reversed places. The correct list is:

Honorary President—Thos. Brightman.

President—Dr. E. A. Hammond.

Vice-President—W. J. Oke.

Sec.-Treasurer—E. Walton.

Greens Committee—J. C. Read and W. J. Oke.

The cup presented by J. A. McKone for the handicap singles was won by Mr. W. J. Oke.

WOMAN SO ILL COULD NOT WALK

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her to Health.

Perth Amboy, N.J. — "For three years I suffered with a severe female trouble, was nervous, had backache and a pain in my side most of the time. I had dizzy spells and was often so faint I could not walk across the floor. The doctor said I would have to have an operation. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in my newspaper, and tried it. Now I am better, feel strong, have no pains, backache or dizzy spells. Every one tells me how well I look, and I tell them to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound — that is what makes me feel well and look well. I recommended it to my sister and she is using it now. You can use this letter if you wish, for it is certainly a grand remedy for a woman's ills." — Mrs. MARTHA STANISLAWSKI, 534 Penn St., Perth Amboy, N.J.

For forty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard for such ailments.

WOULD FAVOUR THE APPOINTMENT OF MRS. W. R. MORRIS

THE VACANCY ON THE SCHOOL BOARD MAY BE FILLED BY THE NEXT CANDIDATE IN LINE.

Referring to his resignation from the Board of Education Mr. G. Gordon said this morning that in his own opinion Mrs. W. R. Morris, being the next in line, should receive the appointment, particularly on account of the fact that there is no woman on the Board at present. "I have no right to make a suggestion to the Board," he said, 'but in my opinion my successor should be Mrs. Morris." Should Mrs. Morris accept the appointment she would have one year and two months in which to fill Mr. Gordon's place.

CAR WRECKED IN LINDSAY

LINDSAY, Oct. 6.—This morning about four o'clock a McLaughlin car, driven by Mr. Clifford Naylor, son of Mr. John Naylor, of Ops township, and containing six passengers, crashed into a stone train on the G.T.R. at Victoria avenue crossing. The auto is almost a complete wreck, while two of the passengers, Stanley Naylor and Miss Laura Sullivan, sustained injuries.

Why Every Canadian Will Buy Victory Bonds

And Canada will continue to hold high her head.

Our obligations to the heroic dead, to the crippled and disabled soldiers, and to the men who were so fortunate as to return, will all be met.

That is Canada's duty.

To fulfill it, every Canadian will do his part.

Canadians will keep the machinery of prosperity humming, the factory chimneys smoking, the sea and lake ports bustling with activity, and the surplus products of farm and factory going forth to Great Britain and other lands.

But to accomplish all this more National Working Capital is needed.

The money is here, but it is in the hands of individuals rather than in the hands of the nation. It is in the savings banks, loan companies and generally scattered throughout Canada. For instance, our deposits in banks and post offices have increased in five years from one billion ($1,086,013,704) to a billion and three-quarters ($1,740,462,509), an increase of nearly two-thirds of a billion ($654,448,80[illegible]

The people will loan their individual savings to the nation to be used as National Working Capital in maintaining our commercial prosperity.

Every man and woman from every walk of life is interested in maintaining this prosperity. The[illegible] every man and woman from every walk of life is personally interested in making the Victory Loan 1919 an overwhelming success.

It will serve to keep Canada in its present place, far up in the van-guard of World Progress.

Victory Loan 1919

"Every Dollar Spent in Canada."

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

THRILLS FOLLOW THRILLS IN THRILLING GOLDWYN "THRILLER"

It has been said that the public likes melodramatic subjects best; but after all it is the well handled production, whatever may be its type, that appeals most and tends to better satisfy the show-appetite of the theatre-going people.

When you see Pauline Frederick, the inexpressive Goldwyn star in "The Peace of Roaring River", which opens at the Grand theatre on Tuesday for two days you will at once understand this statement; for the photoplay has in it a number of melodramatic incidents, but they are so well founded, and the film- life so natural, that one can not but at once appreciate the situations.

One instance is where Miss Frederick, as the young woman who goes west to wed a miner with whom she has corresponded, flings herself down a steep embankment through dense underbrush, in order to flag a train so she can get a doctor to treat the man she shot in self-defense over a sad misunderstanding.

A Regular "Melodrama"

Of course she has been seen by the engineer, but the speed of the train is so terrific that it looks for an instant as if she would be instantly killed. The huge monster approaches brakes grinding and shooting fire. There was no "double" used, as Miss Frederick is seen all the time in the foreground, and when the cowcatcher touches her limp body the engine comes to a dead stop.

Director Victor L. Schertzinger who made this Goldwyn production says he was a fit patient for a sanitarium after the scene had been finished, as Miss Frederick would not allow anyone to substitute. Her admirable nerve demonstrated itself in this new photoplay to the satisfaction of the most exacting screen fans.

GUY BROTHERS HERE FRIDAY

GRAND CONCERT ORCHESTRA WILL ACCOMPANY THE CAST.

The Guy Brothers Minstrels will appear at the Grand on Friday evening with an entirely new company. This is the 44th year for this wonderful organization to be on the road. The company this season is by far the best Minstrel Company Mr. Geo. R. Guy has ever organized. They carry a brand new first part setting with a grand concert orchestra.

The vaudeville surpasses anything previously seen here before, the Baum Brothers in their musical act being well worth the price of admission alone. Kelda, the contortionist, outshines any act of its kind in the vaudeville line to-day. The Agawara Quartette, secured direct from playing the big time vaudeville houses, will also be with the company. They were secured at a high salary and no doubt are the best harmony four Mr. George R. Guy has ever had. No doubt the theatrical going public will all turn out on Friday to see the famous Guy Brothers Minstrels.

MICKEY WILL BE AT GRAND NEXT WEEK

THEATRE GOERS WHO HAVE SEEN MICKEY SAY IT IS A WONDER.

"Mickey" is the title of the biggest sensation of the seventh world. Wherever it has been presented it has created an interest unprecedented in the history of film productions. "Mickey" is a little mountain girl, whose adventures, pictorially presented, make a photo drama that breathes the very sunshine of life. It is a remarkable production in many ways, and not the least of these is the rare dramatic ability displayed by Mabel Normand. She brings tears to the eyes at one moment, and has her audience roaring with laughter at the next. In addition, she performs stunts that would put in the background many of the stars who have won fame through their ability to inject thrills into a film production. There is a racing scene said to have anything of a similar character beaten a furlong, while the fight between the hero and the villain is one of the most realistic battles yet screened. In the contest, Mickey is seen hanging from the roof of a house, while the combatants in their violent struggle wreck the building. It is a scene that never fails to arouse the enthusiasm of the spectators, and is one of many adventures of this great picture that brings forth rounds of applause.

"Mickey" is a picture that you will want to see over and over again. You will want to tell your friends about it, but don't attempt to describe it to them, for it can't be done. Just advise them to see it and they will agree with you that it is the greatest photo-drama that has ever been presented at the Grand.

Commencing Thanksgiving Day "Mickey" will be seen twice daily at the Grand, where a brief season of feature picture plays has been inaugurated at a special scale of prices. Every afternoon 25c. admits to any part of the house, while at the evening performances the prices will be 25c., 50c and 75c.

"REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM" SHOWN AT ALLEN THEATRE TO-DAY

MARY PICKFORD'S SUCCESSFUL PHOTOPLAY DOUBTLESS WILL FILL PLAYHOUSE

"Little Mary" with her effervescent youth, her genuine comedy and her wonderful knowledge of dramatic technique, is the ideal person to immortalize the little girl of the New England village, who though dominated by two crabbed old aunts, does not permit it to crush her spirits.

As a little girl of a New England village, she goes to live with two old maiden aunts. How she fights with the Smellie children, sells soap to get a lamp for Mrs. Simpson, gives a circus in a barn from which she is routed by the aunts and how she meets Adam Ladd and how after graduating from school they are again brought together is all brought out in typical Pickford style.

As the nationally known Rebecca, Mary will add greatly to her vast popularity as the darling of the cinema in a human subject that plays upon the heart of every child and every person that remembers childhood days, making it a photoplay that is enjoyed by men, women and children alike.

Staged under the direction of Marshall Neilan, the capable director whose presentation of "The Bottle Imp," and other notable successes, disclosed exceptional talents, Mary Pickford's newest picture offers in addition to its other merits, one of the screen's most artistic achievements. Frances Marion, one of the foremost scenario writers in the industry, adapted the subject for motion picture presentation. In the cast are such popular players as Eugene O'Brien, Helen Jerome Eddy, Charles Ogle, Marjorie Daw, Mayme Kelso, Jane Wolff, Josephine Crowell, Jack MacDonald, Violet Wilkey, Frank Turner, Kate Toncray and Emma Gerdes.

She Cried "Liar" When Everybody Else Believed

Kent, of the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, had confessed a murder. Everyone believed him, Then exquisite Marette appeared. Speaking with him for the first time, she called him a splendid liar. She doubted what everyone else believed. Strange complications follow one another quickly in "The Valley of Silent Men." It is a corking yarn---even better than "The River's End."

No Parent DARE Overlook This

The children of one family out of every four are suffering from malnutrition. Poverty has nothing to do with it. Your child may be among them; you may be contributing to one of the worst menaces facing this country. The causes are slight, the consequences almost beyond repair. Yon owe it to yourself, to your children, to your country, to read "Is Your Child Hungry?" by Louise Stevens Bryant. In this article, she explains the apparently trivial causes of underfeeding and the simple provisions by which it may be eliminated.

Are Second Marriages Happy?

Does a widow make a desirable wife? Does a man provide more plentifully for his second wife? Why is a man's temperment so different when it comes to a second spouse? These and many other questions are answered and discussed with a delightful undercurrent of humor by Dorothy Dix.

A Dress That Saves Money

Read the "Secrets of Remodelling Economically." It shows, among other things, a garment which may be worn on different occasions with simple accessories. The other articles in this profusely illustrated department give the opinions of Worth, Paquin, Georgette, Jenny, Doucet and others, on the window silhoutte, the pannier, evening wraps, millinery.

OBITUARY

ADELAIDE LEAHY.

While walking down town on Saturday evening at 7.30 with her brother Bert, Adelaide Leahy, of Douro, was suddenly seized with a weak spell and taken to the Empress Hotel, from where, after Dr. Wood had been called she was removed to St. Joseph's hospital where she died Sunday evening at 7.30. Deceased who was about 25 years of age, had been in apparently perfect health up to the time of her sudden illness on Saturday evening.

The surviving brothers are Frank, John, William, Bert, Leo and Martin, all at home. Two sisters, Elizabeth and Genevieve, residing in the city, also survive.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday morning from the residence of her brother in Douro to St. Joseph's church and cemetery.

HARRY KARNEY.

Mr. Harry Karney, son of Mr. Karney, proprietor of the Lakeview Hotel, Young's Point, died there yesterday morning after a brief illness.

Besides his parents he leaves to mourn his loss two sisters, Lottie at home and the other residing in Montreal.

The funeral will take place tomorrow from his father's residence to the Young's Point Roman Catholic church and cemetery.

MRS. FLORA D. KITELY.

The many friends of Mrs. William Madill, 554 Aylmer Street, will sympathise with her in her bereavement in the death, at Nicholls Hospital, after a lingering illness, of her sister, Mrs. Flora D. Kitely.

Mrs. Kitely, who lived the greater part of her life in Toronto, had been a resident of Peterborough for the last two years. She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Walker of Chicago, and Mrs. Madill and Miss Hill of Peterborough.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from 554 Aylmer Street, to Little Lake Cemetery.

TO BE DEPORTED

WERE ARRESTED IN BUFFALO ON A CHARGE OF VAGRANCY- MONEY, CLOTHES AND JEWELLERY PROMISED.

BUFFALO, N.Y., Oct. 6.—Judge George L. Hager, on Saturday morning, here in the City Court, turned over to the immigration authorities Thelma Jackson, 18 years old, and Rose Parker, 17, both of Peterborough, Ont., who were charged with vagrancy.

The girls were arrested here on Thursday night at Erie Street and the Terrace by Patrolman McNeff and Loughery.

The girls told the Judge that they left their home in Peterborough about three weeks ago, and went to Niagara Falls, Ont., where they obtained employment in the Clifton House as maids. There they met a well-dressed young man, who promised them that if they would come to Buffalo he would provide them with plenty of money, good clothes ,and jewellery.

One of the girls gave the fellow $30.00, and he left them with the understanding that they meet him at Erie Street and the Terraco here on Thursday night. They had been standing at the corner for several hours, when late that night the policeman questioned them and learned their story.

Judge Hager committed them to jail, and the Court requested that the Immigration Department deport them to Canada.

LOCAL INDUSTRY IS FLOURISHING

OFFICERS ELECTED TO THE BOARD OF THE BON MARCHE COMPANY.

With an ever increasing business that promises to outgrow its present quarters the Bon Marche Company located in the Knights of Pythias' Hall, Simcoe street has booked so many orders since it opened only two weeks ago that they will not guarantee immediate delivery of goods and Mr. J. We have heard a great deal in the past year about woman's mission and woman's sphere, until between two contending forces we have begun to wonder whether woman really has any right to exist on earth at all. And yet each day is proving all these assertions, grotesque and otherwise, but mere misnomers, while woman continues to perform much the same mission that has fallen to her lot since the world began; doing it better in some cases than in others, more appreciated sometimes than others, but doing her mission and developing with the race and with the world into new opportunities, higher duties and greater privileges. It is an old teaching, but one that we need constantly to call to mind, that the one who does that duty which is nearest at hand is the one who accomplishes the most for the world. It is as true of classes as it is of individuals.

Young people starting out in life should not be afraid to go into debt, provided the debt is incurred for a legitimate purpose and is backed by a firm determination to make good. Oftentimes young men and women struggle along, trying to accumulate a little money here and there, when, if they had more faith in their own powers to "put it across," they could borrow enough money to start out on a venture, which, bolstered up with hard work, will soon yeild enough not only to pay back the debt, but also to furnish the means for another venture. And in addition to this, an honest debt renders a young man or woman more efficient and encourages thrift.

The mother who allows the blues and sulks to overshadow the home, wo allows herself to be moody and discontented, fails in a chief duty and places a handicap on her husband and children in the race of life.

To spoil a breakfast—grumble all the time you are eating.

We have read somewhere that the cost of stopping a railroad train had been closely figured out, and that it was much greater than the expense of running a train several miles. We do not know which is the harder to stop, a train or a habit, but are inclined to think the latter. We have never tried stopping a train. If trains are as hard to stop as some habits, few would ever be started. No one would dare ride on them. Boys, never start a thing you are not sure to stop. Never start a habit you think you may want to stop. It saves a great deal of trouble not to start it.

We are persuaded in our own minds that the cause of a great many disasters and ruined homes is owing to lack of concord between husband and wife in the management of family concerns. We could mention a score of women whose husbands have failed in business, or died insolvent, who did not have any idea of the state of his financial affairs until the cruel blow came which turned them out to wrestle with poverty for the remainder of their life's day. Then oftener than otherwise, the world would say "It was her extravagance that ruined him." Such an astute judge of things is the world,

While we carefully guard whatever is womanly in our daughters, let them be trained to more of fibre and firmness. Educate them to self-denial if pecuniary circumstances demand it, and not to self-indulgence. Accustom them to be of service in the household, to regard economy as praiseworthy and even heroic, and to add to their other accomplishments a practical knowledge of work and the possession of some lucrative position or industry by which they can support themselves. Such girls, when positionless, will carry to their husbands dowries in themselves.

Keep your children off the streets. In a town the size of Peterborough, with our large lawns and safe backyards, there is no excuse for children playing on the streets, where danger is ever present.

LOCAL MARKET

Contrary to the fears of the householders, potatoes will be much more plentiful and likewise much cheaper this year than was at first expected. On account of the continued mild weather there has been practically a new growth of potatoes, the only drawback to them being the fact that they are more or less like the new potatoes of the Spring. Due to the situation the price has fallen considerably already and continue to drop.

WHITE SOX WIN IN THE TENTH INNINGS TO-DAY

CINCINNATI TOOK EARLY LEAD, SCORING TWO RUNS IN THE THIRD AND FOURTH, BUT WHITE SOX CAME BACK IN THE SIXTH, DRIVING RUETHER OUT OF THE BOX—FREEST HITTING GAME OF THE SERIES CAPTURED BY CHICAGO.

REDLAND FIELD, Cincinnati, Oct. 7.—Perfect baseball weather, with the sun shining brilliantly, and a cloudless sky, greeted the fans that journeyed to the park two hours before the beginning of the sixth game of the world series of 1919 between the Reds and White Sox here to-day. At noon the pavillions were almost filled to capacity, but the bleacherites seemed slow in arriving, and while the grand stand stands were half filled, the left field bleachers were empty. However the crowd appeared in a gay mood and each selection played by the band met with much applause.

Kerr and Schalk were announced as the Chicago battery, while Ruether was Manager Moran's selection, with Rariden doing the receiving. The line-up:

First Innings.

Chicago.—J. Collins opened hostilities by popping a high fly in back of second base that Rath captured. E. Collins up. Rousch came in fast and got E. Collins' low fly. Weaver singled through Kopf into centre field. The Cincinnati shortstop could not quite get it. Jackson sent an easy pop-up to Groh. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Rath hoisted to Risberg on the third pitched ball. It was an easy out. Daubert bounded the first ball pitched to Kerr, who tossed him out at first. Groh doubled to right centre. It was a liner that landed between Felsch and J. Collins and was fielded quickly by the latter. Rousch hoisted to Risberg, but Groh was caught by over-running third, Risberg to Weaver. Rousch's hit was overlooked by the second each. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Second Innings.

Chicago.—Felsch sent a long fly out to the bleachers, but Neale got under and captured it. Gandil put a three Leaguer out towardse right, but it fell a few inches out. Kopf took Gandil's bounce and tossed to Daubert for a put out. Risberg hoisted a high fly to Neale. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Duncan was safe when Risberg fumbled his easy grounder. Kopf walked. Neale forced Duncan at third, Kerr to Weaver. Neale attempted to sacrifice but Kerr made a quick throw to third. Rariden forced Neale, E. Collins to Risberg, Kopf taking third. Risberg claimed that Neale interfered with him, but the claim was not allowed. Ruether bounded one to Kerr, who threw to first for the put out. No runs, no hits, one error.

Third Innings.

Chicago.—Ruether failed to get the ball over the plate and walked Schalk. Kerr sacrificed, Groh to Rath. Schalk going to second. It was a well laid bunt. J. Collins sent a high fly to Rousch in short left centre. E. Collins up. Duncan made a great running catch and captured Ed. Collins' liner in left centre. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Duncan was cheered to the echo as he walked to bench. The outfield played in for Rath. Rath proved easy, E. Collins taking his grounder and tossing it to Gandil. Daubert singled to right. It was a clean drive right over E. Collins' head. Groh struck out. The third strike was called on him. Rousch up. Daubert stole second. He slipped off the bag after reaching it but scrambled back before E. Collins could tag him. Rousch was hit by one of Kerr's fast ones, but he trotted to first unassisted. Duncan doubled to right centre, bringing in Daubert and Rousch. It was a mighty wallop. Felsch ran away back and caught Kopf's long fly. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

Fourth Innings.

Chicago.—Duncain took Weaver's line drive that went almost to the left field crowd. Rariden went back almost to the grand stand and got Jackson's high foul. Felsch singled through the pitcher's box, the ball rolling to centre. Gandil up. Kopf threw out Gandil, stopping in time to get his fielder after starting for second to touch the bag as Felsch went down. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Neale tripled to right centre. There was an argument that Neale did not touch one of the bases, but the umpires did not allow the claim. Rariden sent an easy bounder that E. Collins grabbed and tossed out at first, Neale holding third. Ruether doubled. Neale scored on the play, which went over the third base line, the ball hitting the left field pavilion. Rath drove an easy one to Risberg, but the latter permitted Ruether to go to third and then, in his attempt to put him out, threw badly and Ruether scored. Rath took second and then stole third. Daubert hoisted to Jackson and Rath was caught at the plate for a double play, Shalk getting the put out. It was a great throw of Jackson's. Two runs, two hits, one error.

Fifth Innings.

Chicago.—Risberg walked. Schalk also received a base on balls. Ruether appeared to be getting unsteady. Kerr singled, advancing both runners a base. Riseberg overran third, but Groh failed to put Kopf's throw on him. J. Collins flied to Rousch and the latter's throw was so fast that Risberg, who had started for home, turned back and held third. E. Collins flied to Rousch and Risberg scored. Schalk failed to go to third on the play and Kerr ran down to second. Groh, seeing the predicament, ran over and touched Kerr off, Rousch getting an assist on the play. One run, one hit, no errors. It was the first Chicago score in 27 innings.

Cincinnati.—Groh sent a high fly to Felsch. J. Collins, after making a good run for it, captured Rousch's fly. Felsch went back and misjudged Duncan's fly, getting his hands on it, but dropping it, Duncan reaching third. Riseberg threw out Kopf. No runs, one hit, one error.

Sixth Innings.

Chicago.—Weaver popped up a Texas Leaguer that went for a double when Kopf and Duncan played an Alphonse-Gaston act, Jackson singled into center Weaver crossed the plate. Felsch doubled to the center field crowd Jackson scoring. This was enough for Ruether and Ring relieved him on the pitching mound, Gandil up, Ring was very slow and deliberate. Gandil hoisted to Daubert who got the ball in back of first base. Felsch holding second. Risberg up. Kopf took Risberg's grounder and threw to Daubert, putting him out. Felsch taking third. Schalk singled between short and third, scoring Felsch, and tieing the score Kerr up, Schalk stole second. Groh grabbed Kerr's grounder and retired to side by throwing him out. At this point Neale made a great stop and a beautiful throw.

Three runs, four hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Neale singled through the pitchers box; the ball bounded a little too high for Kerr. J. Collins took Rariden's drive, Neale holding first. Ring struck out. Neale was out stealing, Schalk to Risberg.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Seventh Innings.

Chicago.—Liebold batted for J. Collins and will play right field for Chicago. Liebold up, Kopf came over fast and took Liebold's grounder throwing him out at first. Eddie Collins hoisted a high one that Rousch got under and caught. Weaver batted left handed and Rath took his grounder and threw him out at first.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Rath hoisted one into short left field for a single. Jackson made a gallant attempt and turned somersault trying to get it but barely missed. Daubert attempted to sacrifice the first ball, but it rolled foul. He laid the next one down nicely for a sacrifice, Kerr to Gandil, Rath went to second. Groh, after fouling off several, succeeded in working Kerr for a pass. Rousch forced Groh at second, Risberg to E. Collins, who completed a double play by throwing to Gandil and getting Rousch.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Innings.

Chicago.—Jackson up. The outfielders played deep for Jackson. Jackson walked. Felsch sent a fly to Neale, Jackson holding first. Ring also walked Gandil and appeared very unsteady. Jackson on second. Rousch came in fast and got Risberg's line drive and then ran to second and tossed the ball to Rath, getting Jackson for a double play. It was a wonderful catch and looked safe, so much so that Jackson had rounded third. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Gandil ran almost to the right field stand and took Duncan's foul. Kopf changed his bat and lined out to Kerr. Kerr apparently hurt his hand in catching Kopf's liner, but resumed pitching and Neale singled to left on his first pitched ball. Rariden singled, the ball bouncing out of Kerr's hands, Neale going to second. Risberg grabbed Ring's grass cutter, and tossing to E. Collins, forced Rariden for the third out. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Ninth Innings.

Chicago.—Schalk struck out, a final strike being called on him. Kerr drove to Ring, who tossed to Daubert, getting him. Liebold walked. Ring was having trouble finding the plate, Liebold stole second, beating the throw easily after getting a big lead. E. Collins lifted a high fly to Rousch.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Rath up. Weaver threw Rath out at first. Daubert singled to centre, it was a clean line drive, Groh up. Risberg took Groh's grounder and tossing to E. Collins forced Daubert at second; Groh was safe at first. Rousch up. Groh was out stealing, Schalk to E. Collins. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Tenth Innings.

Chicago.—Weaver opened the tenth with a double to left that Duncan could not quite reach. Jackson's first sacrifice attempt went foul. Jackson singled, Weaver going to third. Jackson laid down a bunt and beat it out. Felsch struck but, taking a swing at the final one. Gandil singled into centre, scoring Weaver and putting Jackson on second. Risberg lined to Kopf, who threw to Rath at second, doubling Jackson. One run, three hits, no errors.

Cincinnati. — Rousch up. Collins threw out Rousch at first. Duncan out on a foul to Schalk behind the plate. Kopf up. E. Collins threw out Kopf at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Final.

EAST CITY CHILD FATALLY INJURED

WHEELS OF BIG FURNITURE VAN RAN OVER SON OF MR. EDWARD O'BRIEN.

Edward O'Brien, the 4-year and 4 months old son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Brien, was fatally injured yesterday afternoon at 4.30 o'clock, and died at 10 o'clock in the evening. The little lad had been playing about his father's home, 28 Cricket Place, East City, when Mr. Archie Barbeau's big furniture van passed the house. He immediately ran out on the road, and catching on to the side, rode for some distance, when he fell to the ground and the back wheels of the van ran over his little body, crushing his stomach and intestines horribly. He was carried to the house and later to St. Joseph's Hospital under the care of Dr. J. V. Gallivan, where, although retaining consciousness to the last, he died at 10 o'clock. His father and mother and three other children, namely, John, Helen and Francis, survive. The funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon to St. Peter's cemetery.

Well Attended

The conference was well attended and a spirit of unanimity prevailed among the representatives. The questions of moment in missionary work were discussed and many new points brought out. One point touched on by a good many was how to secure new members as only a comparatively small proportion of the ladies of the Methodist Church were members of the W.M.S. The idea of the personal canvas was received as a remedy and it was recommended that no woman in any congregation should be given the chance to say that she had never been asked to join the W.M.S.

The Forward Movement was discussed and it was remarked that the women of Canada who had accomplished so much in Red Cross work could surely do as much for missions. One point which was discussed at length was the difficulty in securing junior superintendents. It seems to be a task not popular in most churches, in some cases mission bands are nearly ceasing to exist. One speaker put the matter up to the conference that the indifferent attitude of the mothers was a stumbling block in the way of the Superintendents. When a mother wished to secure a music teacher for her child she made a careful choice but it did not matter in too many cases who was in charge of the child at mission band.

It was shown that this work is of such a strenuous character that a lady who undertakes it should be excused from too much other work.

National Campaign.

Reference was made to the National Campaign by several speakers and the duty of the faithful women was shown clearly and plainly, that not only should they exercise their newly gained power to vote but they should make it their business to draw out other women who might be too careless or indifferent to avail themselves of this great opportunity.

Officers Elected

The reports from the different branches of mission work were most

MIDNIGHT FIRE ALARM.

The fire department was called at 12.24 this morning to the office of the Canada Life where defective heating apparatus had forced smoke back in the building giving the building the appearance of being on fire. No damage was done.

MR. G. A. GILLESPIE'S COMMITTEE ROOMS HAVE BEEN OPENED

AN INVITATION TO ALL WORKERS TO BE PRESENT TO-NIGHT.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, Liberal candidate has secured the offices formerly occupied by Mr. D. O'Connell on Hunter street and has already opened out his Committee Rooms. A hearty invitation is extended to all friends and supporters of Mr. Gillespie and of the principles he stands for to attend the organization meeting to-night.

OBJECTED TO CITY'S BILL FOR REPAIRING BOUNDARY ROAD

REEVE M'INTOSH OF MONAGHAN INTERVIEWED CITY COUNCIL LAST NIGHT—OTHER ITEMS FROM MEETING.

"We have been trying for years to bring about a better understanding between Peterborough and North Monaghan but it seems that some person or other won't let us," said Reeve McIntosh to the Council last night, in protesting the city's account of the township's share of road work on the boundary. The total was over $900 and most of the grading was done in 1918. The Board of Works will reconsider the division of the cost, and the Monaghan Council will be represented at the meeting. Councillors Wilson and Forster were present last night with the Warden.

Fire Prevention Day.

October 9th is the Fire Prevention League's propaganda day for the arousing of the people of Ontario to a realization of the huge fire loss in Canada which, it is said, could be prevented by ordinary precautions. The Council carried on through the schools was sufficient.

H. Humphrey, superintendent of the C.P.R., asked the Council to sell the company the site for a turn-table which they were preparing to build at the foot of Water street near the C.P.R. bridge. Ald. Hamilton moved, seconded by Ald. Crow, that no action be taken, and that the company be given a lease as originally agreed upon.

Cost of Dickson Property.

City Solicitor Widdifield reported that the Dickson Company lots in East City, which the city recently bought, cost $18,840.78. The price was $18,695.00 without the subtraction of taxes. Mr. Frank Barber stated that the gravel and earth the city is drawing from this property to the bridge was a "windfall" and would result in a considerable saving.

Ald. Hamilton and Ald. Crowe moved that the Property committee be authorized to revise the plumbing by-law and recommend changes.

Ald. Morrison's communication from Fire Chief Grange regarding the winter clothing needed for the firemen was referred to the Fire, Water and Light committee with power to act.

Ald. Turner moved, seconded by Ald. Edgar, that the salary of the late Fireman Pammett be paid to his widow to the end of September.

Will Promote Railway.

The Railway committee was instructed to take up the question of promoting an electric railway from Peterborough to Bowmanville. The Hydro-Electric Commission propose to electrify a line from Toronto to Bowmanville and also intend to survey the territory from Peterborough to Kinmount for the purpose of investigating the possibilities of a radial railway through this county.

YEAR AGO TO-DAY

Oct. 7.—Enemy fell back all along the western front.

Hut fund total exceeds $6000 for the city.

Six cases of Spanish "flu" have developed in the city.

Council proposes amendments to the Assessment Act.

Premier Hearst Fires Opening Gun in An Effort to Save Riding

IT TOOK THE PREMIER NEARLY TWO HOURS TO PROCLAIM THE VIRTUES OF THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT.

THE SPEAKERS

Ontario's present Prime Minister was given a cordial reception at the mass meeting held in the Grand Opera House last evening. The chief of the Conservative clan of this Province gave an exhaustive speech on the measures which he contended were reforms which his Government had put on the statute books. He spoke of the alleged sins of the Opposition and spoke for a few minutes on the benefits given to the farmer by his Government. He spoke of the war record of the Province as one reason why the Conservatives should be returned to power and casually mentioned that the Opposition had cast politics aside and shoulder to shoulder helped the Governemnt in increasing the war resources of the Empire. He spoke on Labor reforms and forecasted the creation of a Ministry of Labor. He praised the work of some of his henchmen whom he said had done marvellous work. This included a reference to Dr. Cody, the present Minister of Education, whom Sir William, through a slip of the tongue designated as the Minister of Militia, his plans for consolidated schools and better teachers, better pay and better means of transportation to and from school. He told of millions spent here and millions spent there, and how the Province, although saddled with a debt of $75,000,000 had securities which could more than meet this. He mentioned that the Province owned $22,000,000 in buildings, but forgot to mention the palace of the Lieutenant-Governor overlooking the Don brickyards. He essayed a number of verbal blows at Mr. Hartley Dewart, leader of the Opposition.

He denied a wide-spread belief that the reforms which the Hearst Government has put into effect had been forced upon them by the Opposition.

"If they do all these things in Opposition when they couldn't do it in power, surely they are more powerful in Opposition, then let's keep them there."

Mentioning the Hydro-Electric he said that it was one of the greatest boons this Province had ever had, and that they had been advanced $30,000,000.

He told his listeners that the prosperity of Ontario was evident and that it behooved us in the future to see that the resources of the Province were thoroughly developed.

He sketched the record of his Government during the past five years and defied his opponents to point

WILL NOT RUN IN EAST OTTAWA

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Controller Napoleon Champagne will not be an Independent Conservative candidate in East Ottawa in the coming Provincial elections. While Mr. Champagne was reluctant this morning to make any announcement, it is pretty well understood that he has definitely decided to stay out of the running. Ill health is given as the reason.

One difficulty with a candidate in East Ottawa is that the Hearst programme in the mater of the enforcement of prohibition for Ontario is not supposed to be as popular in that section of the city as it is west of the canal.

ITALY SIGNS THE TREATY

(By J. W. T. Mason, Written for the United Press.)

NEW YORK, N.Y., Oct. 7.—Ratification of the Peace Treaty by the King of Italy will formally put the treaty into effect without participation of the United States, as soon as the final formalities have been taken by Great Britain and France, the two other ratificating powers.

The King of England has yet to affix his signature to the treaty, which has already been passed.

After-war conditions, and the telephone. No. 6

New Buildings Are Necessary!

Although building material and labor were never more expensive, we must erect in the near future new exchange buildings or important extensions at Toronto, Montreal, Ottawa, Quebec, Shawinigan, Joliette, London, Chatham, Woodstock, Welland, Pembroke, Oakville, Bowmanville, Renfrew, Trenton, Brampton.

New exchange buildings mean additional underground conduit, underground and aerial cable, switchboards, wiring—and all this in addition to the task of catching up on maintenance and repairs accumulated as a result of the five-year shortage of labor and material.

Our programme for 1919, involving an outlay of seven millions, we hope to complete, while all the time doing our utmost to keep our service up to the best pre-war standard.

We ask the co-operation of all telephone users. To make sure of the number by consulting the directory before calling; to speak distinctly, directly into the mouthpiece; and to answer promptly when the bell rings—these practices are an immense aid in the effort for better service.

The Bell Telephone Company of Canada

NOW IS THE TIME of the year when it is necessary to start fires in the furnace and range, the same to be kept up for the next six months, day and night, whether you are on hand to look after them or not. It is important to see that everything is kept in good condition to avoid accidents which may occur, and also more important to see that your fire insurance is in force and in a good company. Do not delay to get your policy made out and in your possession. You never know when or where a fire is going to break out. Be prepared for it at all times even if it never happens. The cost of maintaining a good policy is very small if you let us write it. But your protection will be perfect, and your loss, should one occur, promptly settled. The leading British, American and Canadian companies represented. Call or phone. Your order will receive immediate attention.

The Plumbing Inspector.

Mr. Peter Thompson's salary as Plumbing Inspector was increased from $80 to $60 a month beginning October 1, on a motion by Ald. Hamilton, seconded by Ald. Crowe. They stated that Mr. Thompson had told them that he had not been as strict with the plumbers as he might have been, because he felt that the city would not support him in any disciplinary or compulsory action he might initiate.

Mayor Duncan, Ald. Edgar and other members remarked Mr. Thompson had no cause for any assumption or opinion of that kind. For years, they said, the Council had urged Mr. Thompson to demand the smoke test on all work and apply the plumbing by-laws to the fullest extent. If it were necessary to take action against any plumber the Council would stand behind Mr. Thompson.

Ald. Hamilton and Ald. Crowe had assured him of the Council's position, and they reported that Mr. Thompson had evidently been impressed by their intimations.

Must Nail up Doors.

A by-law was passed prohibiting bakers to have front or seat doors on their delivery waggons. This statute was enacted upon the recommendations of the Board of Health.

$60 For Park Tools.

On motion of Ald. Edgar, seconded by Ald. McIntyre, it was decided to pay the Horticultural Society $60 for the tools used in the care of the parks.

Cost of Sewers.

Bethune street from Simcoe street to a point south of Simcoe—$531.20 of which $243.36 is paid by the Corporation and $287.84 by land.

McDonnel street from present end of the sewer to Cambridge street.—$1,617.00, of which $434.70 is paid by the Corporation and $1,182.30 is charged to property.

Statements of Roll.

The tax collector's report for September was:

To total amount on roll	$480,904.24

Sept. deposits	$1,928.68

CLEANLINESS IS HEALTH

By the use of Gillett's Lye, house cleaning is made a pleasure instead of a drudgery. It softens the water and cleans thoroughly whether the dirt is visible or invisible. Destroys all bacteria and infectious germs, removes obstructions from drain pipes, closets, sinks, etc. Refrigerators are made delightfully fresh and clean by using one teaspoonful of Gillett's Lye dissolved in two gallons of water.

LOCATE MAUNA LOA FLOW

Lava Comes From 8,500 Feet Above Puokeokeo—Is Checked.

HILO, T. H.—The source of the lava flow from the volcano Maura Loa, which began to erupt last Saturday, was located to-day 8,500 feet above Puokeokeo, an offshoot on the Mountain Mauna Kea, which has an elevation of 13,825 feet. The lava flow, 800 feet high and the same breadth, is slightly checked and makes a sobbinglike noise that can be heard for miles.

The lava, so far has built a cape a quarter of a mile southward. Observers estimated the flow first traveled to the ocean at the rate of twenty to thirty miles an hour. The lava, which pours like water from the crater, drops 6,000 feet on its twenty-mile flow to the sea.

It is no longer considered lazy to sit down to prepare vegetables.

COUNCIL DECLINED TO ALTER LEASE FOR CURB GAS PUMPS

BOY SCOUTS HAD BALANCE OF FIFTEEN CENTS AFTER TRIP TO TORONTO—PLUMBING INSPECTOR'S FAITH IN COUNCIL IS DOUBLY INSPIRED.

VICTORY LOAN COMMENDED

A. C. Young and J. H. Morton were granted permission by the Council last night to instal a gasoline tank at the curb on Driscoll Terrace, Ashburnham in front of the storehouse formerly occupied by the Collins grocery. They are opening a garage and machine shop.

Ald. Gainey moved that they be accorded the privilege that has been given to other garages and that they be notified of the restriction under which they may be required to remove the "gas" tanks within six months after the signing of peace.

Ald. Turner recommended the abrogation of the regulation that requires the garage proprietors to take the tanks off the street. He argued that they were found at the curbs of villages and cities alike throughout Canada and the United States. They are a facility to the public everywhere.

Mayor Duncan agreed that they were necessary, but that it was unfair to a merchant next door to some garages to have the street in front of his place of business blocked for hours by automobiles waiting to get gasoline.

Ald. Turner remarked that the city's rule seemed arbitrary but the Council was not inclined to lose its control of the curb pumps.

Mayor Duncan and Ald. Taylor were authorized to secure a right of way immediately north of Riverside Park, for the easterly approach to

"There's a Reason"

A BLOOD-FOOD DISCOVERED THAT ENTIRELY OVERCOMES ANAEMIC WEAKNESS

CAREFULLY INVESTIGATED REPORTS ESTABLISH TRULY WONDERFUL RESULTS.

Heretofore is has often been a hopeless task for a thin-blooded person to gain either strength or weight. Neither food or medicine in many instances had beneficial effect.

What is practically a perfect blood-food, containing such elements as Iron, has at last been produced, and when taken after meals will put new life and vigour into people that have despaired of ever being strong again.

This wonderful blood-food supplies nourishment, vim, energy — sends a stream of vigorous, strength-making blood to every nook and corner of the body, makes every muscle and fibre sing with new-found life and health.

That gnawing tiredness leaves you —Ferrozone drives it away. Sleepless nights are turned into periods of rest, and you pick up fast. Day by day your appetite improves — this means more food is transformed in nutriment that will build and energize weak organs. The inclination to worry passes away because Ferrozone imparts nerve—tone and bodily strength that prevents depression.

Think it over—Ferrozone is a wonderful tonic, in fact, it is more than a tonic, because it establishes health that lasts. Thousands use it and thereby cleanse and restore the entire system to a perfect condition. You'll feel the uplifting power of Ferrozone in a week—it's bound to help you if you only give it the chance. Sold by all dealers, 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50. Be sure of the name Ferrozone. Forwarded by mail to any address if price is remitted to The Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 7TH, 1919.

THE HEARST CANDIDATE.

As was generally expected, Mr. R. J. Soden received the nomination at the Liberal-Conservative Convention last night and will carry the Hearst banner in the coming election. Mr. Soden had no opposition; his name was the only one to come before the Convention. As a matter of fact, nobody else relished the prospects of a defeat on the 20th of October and so Mr. Soden, who has already experienced the sensation of a losing campaign, was alone in the ambition in his desire to lead a forlorn hope.

The Hearst candidate, personally, has much to commend him. He is a well known and esteemed citizen; a man whose reputation stands high in the community and against whom nothing can be said. He shares these qualities with his two opponents, Mr. Gillespie and Mr. Tooms. West Peterboro is indeed to be congratulated that the present campaign has brought into the contest candidates of the calibre of the three men who have been nominated. Their presence in the field ensures a clean and gentlemanly campaign, fought out on the issues of the day and with personalities discarded.

THE REFERENDUM.

The visit of Sir William Hearst, if it did not do much to improve the election prospects of the Government, did at least serve a useful purpose, inasmuch as the audience who heard the Premier were given an explanation of the Referendum Ballot that cleared up some of the perplexing angles of the question that have mystified many of the voters. Sir William made it clear that an affirmative vote on the first question would result in the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act and a revival of the old license system, with the open bar and the open shop. The other questions would not be considered at all in that event, for as the Premier pointed out, they are amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act and if the Act were to be repealed by a majority vote on the first question the amendments, of course, could not be made. The Citizen's Liberty League, in advising the electors to vote "Yes" on the first question, because, as the League claims "that is a guarantee that your answers to Questions 2, 3 and 4 will be considered" directly contradicts Sir William's interpretation. The latter's explanation last night removes all doubt, however, and the Liberty League's attempt to delude the electors in voting for something nobody wants seems unlikely to succeed.

ABOUT SERGT. FLYNN.

A local contemporary repeats the innuendo that first appeared in a Toronto paper, to the effect that Sergt. Flynn, head of one section of the Veteran's is an ignorant and unlettered man," declares the Review. Our neighbors must have failed to read the article in question, which did not say that Sergt. Flynn was ignorant and unlettered, but which showed on the contrary that the head of the United Veterans' League, was an accountant with a knowledge of figures and book-keeping. The paragraph read as follows:

"Were Staff-Sergeant Flynn, the President of the Soldiers' Gratuity League, an ignorant and unlettered man, unable to understand the meaning of figures, his reiteration before the Commons Committee of the statement that between five and six hundred million dollars would be sufficient to pay $1,000 of a gratuity to all soldiers who served in Canada only, $1,500 to all who served in England, and $2,000 to all who served in France or on any other battlefront, might be set down as an honest, if mistaken opinion.

"But Staff-Sergeant Flynn is an accountant who could discover in fifteen minutes from official sources that the figures he presents to his comrades and the country are entirely erroneous."

How the Review construes the sentences quoted as an attack [illegible] literacy of Sergt. Flynn, is a [illegible]. The article shows a diametrically opposite view of the head of the United Veterans than the one our neighbors has endeavored to credit to us.

THE RECALL SYSTEM.

The recall system which both the United Farmers on Ontario and the Independent Labor Party has adopted as part of their political programme, will not commend itself to many of the electors outside of the members of the two organizations. The nominees of both the U. F. O. and the Labor Party are required to deposit their signed resignation with their respective organizations to be used in case their actions in the House, if elected, do not happen to meet with the approval of the party under whose auspices they are candidates. Such a method smacks too strongly of class legislation to commend itself to the public. Some freak measure that might meet the aproval of the executive of the Labor party, but the passing of which would be resented by other electors would require the Labor member of the Legislature to vote blindly on behalf of the Legislaiton whether he favored it or not, or whether he considered it helpful or detrimental to the Province at large, or else resign. No riding wants to be represented by a member who is at the beck and call of the officials of any particular class. The farmers, for instance, would be the first to condemn a member who voted for a six-hour day. Yet a candidate of the Independent Labor party, if a measure embodying the principle of a six-hour day were to be introduced would undoubtedly be called upon by the executive of the party to support the measure. The only other course for him would be to resign. Similarly how would the Labor men appreciate a U.F.O. man being required by the farmers to vote against a piece of Labor legislation? In this case, too, the member has but two choices, vote as the U. F. O. dictates or get out. And yet they talk of the farmers and Labor men being able to find common ground.

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING.

There was as little enthusiasm at last night's Hearst rally in the Opera House as exists in Chicago to-day over the performance of the White Sox. The head of the Government was given an attentive hearing by a fairly large audience but there were few outbursts of hearty applause — even when Sir William paused as a perceptible cue for the faithful to show their appreciation. The Premier covered little new ground in his address—he dwelt, as he himself admitted, "at wearisome length," upon the record of the Government—reading much of his speech. Following good business principles, his best goods were placed in the window and much of the stock appeared shopworn. Of the weaklings of his Cabinet, Sir William wisely said nothing. There was a fulsome tribute to Dr. Cody but nothing at all about the Attorney-General. The Provincial Treasurer was lauded as a financial genuis but Hon. Howard Ferguson's name was not even mentioned in despatches. He was willing to have his government judged upon its record, he declared, ignoring the fact that a government is after all judged not by what it has done but by the things it has left undone. Long as the Premier's address was, it would have been prolonged to almost interminable length if he had attempted to discuss what the Government had not done. The Hydro issue was referred to briefly, with a promise that it would be taken up later in the evening, but the Premier never got back to it again, so the audience did not get a chance to hear the Hearst version of the decision of Sir Adam Beck to appeal to the electors practically as an independent. On the temperance issue Sir William spoke at some length but introduced no new angle; his explanation of the referendum ballot being probably the most interesting feature of this portion of his address.

It was not a speech to arouse much enthusiasm or set anyone cheering. It was prosy at times, and never electrifying.

AN ACCIDENT DELAYS THE TRAIN UPON WEICH MRS. CARTER ARRIVES

CHAPTER LXXXV

Tears filled my eyes. I was tired, anxious for Mrs. Carter, and had waited so long that my nerves were all "on edge" as mother used to say. The thought that the man who had so kindly tried to assist me had heard Neil's unkind speech added to my pain. But of all he had said I was hurt the most because he resented my calling Blanche Orton's home to ask for him. I had thought it make it look better if she knew I was aware he was often with her upon business. . he had resented it. Was it busine after all, or had he been spending the evening alone with her, and remaining until two o'clock.

I brushed the tears away as I saw him returning.

"You better go home, Bab. I will stay and wait for Aunt. It may be another hour before they get in." Already he had forgotten his impatient words, and they had hurt me so.

"No, I will stay with you."

"Very well, but I can't stand here. Let's walk up and down, or go inside."

"I should prefer to walk."

We paced back and forth almost in silence for a while. Occasionally one or the other of us would mention his aunt and hope she was neither killed or injured. Then I could keep still no longer, so asked:

"Did you have a successful day, Neil?"

"No—not so very, Why?"

"I just wondered—that was all. Was Mr. Frederick at Mrs. Orton's to-night?"

"No! I tried to get him to go but he refused; acted like a fool. Said he didn't want to be mixed up with Tearle."—

"Oh Neil, was he there?"

"Of course he was! and Connor too. Thompson also came in for a little while. I told Frederick he was to be there—he likes Thompson, but he wouldn't come, at least he didn't!" in a tone of annoyance.

"Were there others there?"

"What are you driving at? Yes, there were others. Now let's drop the subject. Frederick might have done me a lot of good by just appearing on the scene for a few minutes. Don't talk about it. I am disgusted with him—a regular mollycoddle he is getting to be."

"Well something ails him. There comes a train now—perhaps it is the one." And he hurried me along until once more I was standing near the man who had tried to be helpful, and who had overheard Neil's disagreeable tone and words.

In spite of my anxiety over Mrs. Carter I could not help wondering who the "others" were whom Neil admitted made up the evening's party at Blanche Orton's. Neither could I avoid speculating as to the reason Mr. Frederick had not gone. Could it have been because of me?

I was rather startled at the thought, but it persisted. Could it have been that he hated to have me know he visited her; or that he thought by refusing to go, letting Neil see he disapproved, that he might help Neil and—so, me? He always had been helpful, had tried of late to restrain Neil. At that thought I forgot Blanche Orton for a moment, forgot Frederick, and was thinking of Neil, my husband, the man I loved and had trusted. That was it. I had trusted, but did not trust him now? Was he being the straightforward man of business I had always thought him; and which I longed for him to be?

"There they come!" a voice in the waiting crowd drew me from my thoughts. A repressed sigh of anxious anticipation went up, audible, fear inspiring. I clung to Neil.

"Oh, I hope she isn't—hurt!" I gasped.

"We will soon know," Neil answered as the gate opened and slowly the people filed through, horror still upon their faces. "There she is now! Thank God!" and shaking himself loose from my clinging hands he reached her, brought her to me. Then without giving us a chance to speak, and scarcely hearing the sobbing of someone in the crowd he bundled us into a taxi and we were on the way home.

"I am so thankful you weren't hurt," I said to Mrs. Carter.

"Yes, dear, but please don't talk about it, not to-night. It is all too fresh in my mind—too horrible.

My maid had a nice hot supper for us, and we talked of father and mother, and other home folks while we ate. And even when Neil and I were alone we did not again that night mention the accident.

To-morrow— Neil Requests Bab to Say Nothing of His Affairs to his Aunt.

Intolerance or Compromise?

A Challenge to Common Sense!

DON'T let anyone tell you that the issue on October 20th is "The Beer or the Boy"—"Is Alcohol a Poison or Not?"—"Economy or Extravagance"—any such an abstraction.

The plain situation is—three sections of the people of this Province are absolutely dissatisfied with the Ontario Temperance Act and want new legislation that will permit the sale of light beer and wine generally, and the sale of pure, spirituous liquors only through Government agencies.

These three sections of the population are ninety per cent. of organized labor, by actual vote; a large number of returned soldier organizations, by actual vote; thousands of the rank and file of the electorate who have joined the Citizens' Liberty League.

The plain issue then is—Are you going to vote for the safe, sane, fair compromise that these men and women want; or, are you going to insist on the retention of the unsatisfactory Ontario Temperance Act—insist on the retention of legislation that is breeding and will continue to breed dissatisfaction and discontent among our workers, returned men and a large section of the citizens generally?

Which are You for—Compromise and Harmony, or Intolerance and Widespread Resentment?

Study the ballot and analyze the situation conscientiously. This is one of the most vital concerns you have just now — a settlement of Ontario's vexed temperance problem that will be in the best interests of all the people.

Vote "YES" to all Four Questions

Mark your ballot with an X. Any other marking will spoil it. Remember, also—every voter must vote on every question or his ballot will be spoiled.

HOME SAFETY

EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY SHOULD BE ABLE TO ANSWER THESE QUESTIONS

1. Do you use matches?
2. Are floors under stoves protected with tile, stone, brick, concrete or metal, so as to prevent them taking fire from the heat?
3. Are walls, ceilings and partitions similarly protected in all places where they would be exposed to high temperatures in the event of overheating of stoves or furnaces?
4. Are ashes deposited in METAL receptacles and removed from the building weekly?
5. Is there any unenclosed space under the house where inflammable trash may accumulate?
6. Are chimneys built on the ground or on brackets? Are they in good repair? Have flues been cleaned for winter?
7. Are stovepipes passing through partitions properly protected? Do stove-pipes pass through attics, closets, or unused rooms where they may come in contact with anything combustible?
8. Is the use of gasoline forbidden inside the house?
9. Have you many fire extinguishers? Do all members of the family understand their operation?
10. Do you know where the nearest fire alarm box is? The telephone number of the Fire Department?

Fire Prevention Day in Peterboro on Thursday of this week

Ironing Hint.

When ironing collars place a small round tin, such as a cake tin, in the oven, and as the collars are ironed, put them in te tin. The door of the oven must be left open, so that the temperature is not too great. The warmth of oven will stiffen the collars, and when taken out they will keep in the round shape formed by the tin. The collars must not be left in the oven for more than two or three minutes.

any wrong-doing or impropriety or misconduct on the part of the administration during that period.

Worked With Liberals.

On the other hand during the war they had worked shoulder to shoulder with the Liberals to help win the war.

Nowhere throughout the Dominion could a better record of war work be found than that of Ontario.

But the Government did not rest its claims to support on war work alone. He asked them to believe in the future because of what the Government had done in the past.

"We will try to continue and carry on the same Government that we have already given you."

The Provincial Treasury.

The Provincial Treasury was the envy to all Governments. He referred at length to the accomplishment of the Government along these lines. In four years the revenue of the Province had increased by eight million dollars. A great deal of that was due to the Successions Duties Act, which he contended hurt no one.

The Government was expending a million and a quarter more for agriculture than ever before.

Charities and hospitals were being helped to the extent of $530,000 more than they received before.

The appropriation for education in 1919 was in round figures $4,000,000, or $3,000,000 more than in 1904.

Over $50,000,000 had been advanced to the Hydro. He defied anyone to say that that had not been good finance. It had made Ontario's industrial position secure. The Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway was another tremendous asset of the Government. Altogether against the $[illegible],000 of debt which their opponents were worried about they had $93,000,000 of assets.

From the war tax they had received $8,000,000 in all. The whole of that, plus $2,000,000 more, had been spent for war purposes.

They had established the Orpington Military Hospital. It had established the Maple Leaf Club in London. It had provided the soldiers with Christmas gifts and so on, ad infinitum. The sole policy of the Government had been to stand by the soldiers in every possible way.

The Province had increased to a tremendous extent. If there had been a bad year it was due to the weather and not to the Government.

On the subject of Labor legislation he pointed to the Workmen's Compensation Act as one of the best pieces of legislation on the statute books.

Once again he mentioned mothers' pensions. The bill, he said was already to bring before the legisuature. A minimum wage for women and children was also part of the Government programme.

He promised thoroughly sympathetic action towards any recommendations which came about as a result of a recent National Industrial Conference, particularly with regard to the unification of Labor laws.

Temperance Act.

In conclusion he referred to the O. T. A. as a good bill. He admitted he had lost many party followers through the O. T. A. He had nothing to appologize for this Act, although it had brought the only cloud across the Government's political sky. "You had no mandate to act as you did, say some people," said the Premier 'But we had a united mandate from the people for the winning of the war." And he believed the O. T. A. had been a factor in doing that.

Safety of Country.

Speaking of mandates, the Premier said a Government had the right to pass any and every kind of legislation for the safety of the country.

J. J. Preston Present.

Mr. J. J. Preston, the Conservative standard bearer for East Durham was present but took no part in the meeting.

Mr. R. J. Soden.

Mr. R. J. Soden who had just been nominated at the Conservative Convention in the Great War Veterans' Hall, spoke principally on the O.T.A., and stated that he stood for four "No's", and that was the way he was going to place his mark on the referendum ballot.

"I'm just as much in favor of efficiency now as in times of war, and if we are going to compete in the markets with Germany we must be as efficient as possible."

He touched on the Labor legislation that had been passed, and now in comtemplation and finally he promised faithfully that he would follow in the footsteps of the Hearst Government.

The meeting was opened by Mr. C. E. Moore, President of the West Peterboro Liberal-Conservative Association, who expressed his pleasure at seeing so many ladies present and apologized for the delay in opening the meeting. He then introduced the first speaker, Dr. M. A. Morrison.

Dr. M. A. Morrison.

In opening, Dr. M. A. Morrison stated that he and Mr. T. E. Bradburnburn had been asked to speak merely to fill in time until the delegates from the convention at the G.W.V.A. Hall should arrive. Turning back to the last provincial campaign in 1914, Dr. Morrison described how the Conservatives with Sir. James Whitney at their head, had swept the province only to have their leader die shortly after. Mr. Hearst, then a member of the Cabinet, had been called upon by the Lieutenant-Governor to head the Government and had led the province through a strenuous four years. Of the many acts which he had put upon the statute books none had been of such benefit as the Ontario Temperance Act.

Continuing, Dr. Morrison told of the deputation which had waited upon Sir. William Hearst on March 8, 1916, to ask for a dry Ontario. He had never heard a more straightforward answer to a deputation than the Premier made upon that occasion. He told the deputation that a prohibitive measure would be enacted.

Three Year Trial.

Prohibition had had a three year trial and the speaker believed that we were all agreed that it was a good measure. After its enactment the production of munitions had increased 25 per cent. This fact alone was significant. Sir William had stated, however, that it was war measure, and that after the war the people would be given a chance to repeal it if they so desired by a referendum vote. This pledge was now about to be kept. But Dr. Morrison was sure that the Act would not be repealed. (Applause.)

He then went on to say that every sensible man and woman should realize that the Ontario Temperance Act had been a moral uplift to the Province and we should nominate a representative who would stand on the Hearst platform and support it to that end. If the Act should be kept in force and a new Government elected, which would be lax in its enforcement of, the Act, it would be a curse to the country. He would prefer the return of the saloons to that. There had been some bootlegging going on in the Province, but if the Act were kept in force this would soon be stopped.

Dr. Morrison believed that Sir William Hearst had given us many able men. He went on to mention Dr. Cody, the taking of whom from his sacred calling to become Minister of Education, had been a benefit to the children of the Province ,Mr. George Henry, who, as head of the Department of Agriculture, would do justice to the farmers, and Brigadier-General Ross, who had done so much in the way of sanitation for the soldiers. The speaker also commented upon the likelihood of there being a rerepsentative of Labour in the Cabinet in the near future. He believed that labor should be represented.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn.

Dr. Morrison was followed by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, ex-M. P. P., who stated that he was out to support the nominee of the convention as long as he stood behind Sir William. He believed that Sir William had given us the best Governmnet we have ever had in Ontario and was following along the same lines as Sir James Whitney.

"And as far as temperance is concerned," Mr. Bradburn continued, "you'll get what you want. You don't need to be alarmed,"—(Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Bradburn went on to say that he had nothing against Mr. Gillespie personally, but he thought that he was on the wrong side of the vote. He concluded by stating that whoever the nominee of the convention at the other hall was, he would have his support.

See These Beautiful Charmeuse Satins At $3.50 Per Yard

CHARMEUSE will have its biggest season this fall and winter. Fashion critics of the big style centres are featuring it for formal and informal wear. The fashion shows of New York are displaying street models in the rich dark tones, while in the light or evening tints are numerous creations in all Charmeuse gowns; others combined with Georgette crepes, laces, etc. Many months ago when prices were fairly normal, a large contract was placed with a Swiss manufacturer for a 36 inch Charmeuse of excellent quality. These have been opened up and the quality and richness of finish have exceeded our expectations. This is a low price for Charmeuse, especially in this high quality, and we advise all who have under consideration a pretty dress, either for street or evening wear, to inspect this new shipment before the assortment is broken. Here is a range of colors: Taupe, Nigger Brown, Castor, Victory Blue, Navy Blue and Black; 36 inches wide. Special per yard $3.50

Art in Making Glasses

There is as much art in making glasses becoming as in making a gown along the correct lines.

Lenses too large or too small for one's facial contour are ugly, while the correct lens properly ground is never unbecoming.

There is a mounting to harmonize with your features no matter what they may be, and we will make it our business to supply that mounting if you come to us for glasses.

MRS. R. VANDERBILT'S SUIT FOR DIVORCE

SUIT IS BASED ON GROUNDS OF WILFUL DESERTION—SEEKS ALIMONY.

(United Press.)

NEWPORT, R.I., Oct. 7. — Mrs. Reginald C. Vanderbilt's suit for divorce, on the ground of wilful desertion, was scheduled to open here to-day. Besires a separation, the plaintiff also is asking for "suitable alimony." Mrs. Vanderbilt and her daughter, Kathleen, whose custody she seeks, were in the city to-day, but will not appear in court, it was stated.

SAGE AND SULPHER DARKENS GRAY HAIR

It's Grandmother's Recipe to Restore Colour, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural colour and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked, or grey. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is mussy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients, at a small cost.

Don't stay grey! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the grey hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, and attractive.

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—The first direct shipment of gold from the German government in payment for foodstuffs and other supplies, amounting to $5,125,000, was deposited in the Federal Reserve Bank here to-day. It arrived late yesterday from Antwerp on the U.S. destroyer "Laub."

THE PRINCE WILL VISIT ST. CATHARINES

Special to the Examiner.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 7. — Announcement is made by Mayor Elson that the Prince of Wales will visit this city about Oct. 20th, spending one day, and perhaps two, here. In the original plans St. Catharines was not included, but by cutting out Toronto from a second visit, it probably opened the way for His Royal Highness to come here instead of merely stopping his train for a few minutes.

MR. R. J. SODEN TO ENTER THE CONTEST

MR. SODEN FOUND NO RIVALS FOR THE POSITION FOR WHICH HE WAS CHOSEN SOME DAYS AGO.

At possibly one of the shortest political conventions ever held in the city, last evening in the Great War Veterans' Hall, Mr. R. J. Soden was nominated by the chosen few to contest the election. He will have as his opponent Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., representing the Liberal party, and Mr. Thomas Tooms, who carries the standard of the Independent Labour party. Mr. Soden's nomination was moved by Mr. E. A. Peck, ex-M.P.P., and seconded by Mr. Harry Webber. The presiding officer was Mr. Charles McClelland. There being no dissenting voices or rival nominees, Mr. Soden's nomination was made unanimous.

In accepting the nomination Mr. Soden announced that his nomination was unexpected and he had hoped Mr. E. A. Peck would accept the honor. He amused the delegates present by saying for three days he was the happiest man in Peterborough because for those three days he had reason to believe that Mr. Peck would accept the nomination. Now that he had been thrust into the contest he proposed to fight for the principles represented by the Conservative party and endorsed prohibition. The eyes of his auditors filled with tears as Mr. Soden told them how members of the executive had wept when they met in solemn caucus and heard how one-time followers of Premier Hearst had deserted him because of his determination if necessary to sacrifice his power on the rocks of prohibition. With this the curtain was lowered and the audience was dismissed with an injunction to meet at the Grand Opera House and hear what the Ontario leader had to say.

IF BREATH COMES HARD IF NOSE IS PLUGGED YOU HAVE CATARRH

Perhaps you haven't heard of the new remedy—it's so pleasant to use—fills the nose, throat, and lungs with a healing balsamic vapour like the air of the pine woods. It's really a wonderful remedy—utilises that marvellous antiseptic only found in the Blue Gum tree of Australia.

The name of this grand specific is Catarrhozone, and you can't find its equal on earth for coughs, colds, catarrh, or throat trouble. You see it's no longer necessary to drug the stomach—that spoils digestion—just simply inhale the balsamic essences of Catarrhozone, which are so rich in healing that they drive out every trace of Catarrh in no time.

For speakers and singers and persons troubled with an irritable throat, bronchitis, asthma, catarrh, or la grippe, Catarrhozone is of inestimable valhe.

The inhaler can be carried in your pocket and may be used at any time or in any place.

Large size, guaranteed, and sufficient for two months' use, costs $1.00; smaller size, 50c; sample size, 25c. Sold by all storekeepers and druggists.

To Renew Complexion Without Cosmetics

If the excessive user of cosmetics only knew the impression her artificiality really makes upon others, she would quickly seek means of gaining a natural complexion. Let her acquire the mercolized wax habit, discarding make-ups entirely, and she will soon have the kind of complexion that women envy and men admire. It's so easy to get an ounce of mercolized wax at any drug store, use nightly like cold cream and wash it off mornings. And the results are so remarkable. Gradually the lifeless cuticle peels off, in almost invisible flaky particles. In a week or so there's a brand new complexion, clear, velvety, soft, of girlish color and texture.

The treatment is so simple, harmless, and so marvelously effective, the wonder is that every woman whose skin is withered, discolored, rough, freckled or pimpled, has not already adopted it.

TOM MIX MIXES GUN PLAY AND RELIGION

IN "HELL ROARIN' REFORM," NEW FOX FILM.

In "Hell Roarin' Reform," a William Fox production, Tom Mix, the famous cowboy star, mixes gun play and religion with a vim that is wonderful to behold. the popular star was seen in this his latest feature at the Empire Theatre yesterday and will continue there for 2 days more.

Western plays, once the most alluring form of screen drama, have returned to their former popularity after a brief hiatus suffered through war plays, etc. and this may truly be said to be one of the best that even has been seen here Mix, who in real life has been just what he portrays on the screen—a cowboy and tamer of bad men—does everything that the most ardent devotee of Bert Harte stories could wish to see. He fight off a gang of stage robbers by firing three guns at once, rides.. helterskelter down a mountainside, works free from a noose which his foes had hoped would hang him, and, to cap the climax leaps on horseback from one building to the roof of another, and he and the horse break through the roof.

Hell Roarin' Reform" tells the story of a cowboy who "subs" for a preacher who had been chased out of town by bandits. With the aid of his sturdy horse and his trusty six-shooters, he pumps religion and regeneration into a town ruled by outlaws. Incidentally, he wins a beautiful girl.

The play is full of live-wire action and hearty laughs.

THE KISS BURGLAR FROM BROADWAY TO THE GRAND

A musical play production of complete metropolitan calibre as regards book, music, cast, chorus and scenic production is promised in the smacking musical comedy success: "The Kiss Burglar," coming direct from a successful six months' engagement at the George M. Cohen Theatre, new York City. Glen MacDonough whose fame as a librettist needs no description, is the author of the book and lyrics, and Raymond Hubbell, whose songs have won wide celebrity, composed the music. The score is said to be one of his most delightful products full of lyric, charm and of piquant effects for which his music has always been noted. There are at least a dozen delightful numbers all of which Julian Mitchell has provided incidental dances. Mr. Mitchell's success in directing such specialities has been more marked this season than ever. In "The Kiss Burglar" he is said to have surpassed all his previous efforts. He has hac talented soloists to work with and also a chorus of high degree. "The Peacock Alley" chorus, which is one of the distinguished features of this excellent musical offering will become famous over night, it is predicted, on account of its beauty and grace. It takes its name from one of the principle scenes in the play "The Peacock Alley," or main promenade in one of New York's fashionable hotels. Wonderful gowns, as well as scenery and effects of the handsomest description will lend charm to the romantic musical story of American and Europe. This will, without doubt, prove the season's largest and best musical offering, which carries an enormous company. The play is scheduled for the Grand on Saturday, matinee and night. Seat sale for the entire engagement opens Thursday, 10 a.m. at the box office.

MISS FREDERICK PORTRAYS TERROR IN UNUSUAL PLAY

Exotic Goldwyn Star in "The Peace of Roaring River," Spends Anxious Night.

Oh! Help! A mouse—ooh ooh!

Is there a woman in the world who has not screamed these words, gathered her skirts about her ankles, and trembled with fear? It is possible there are a few, but to those who know this inevitable fear of a mere mouse, will be given a chance to sympathize with a fellow mortal on Tuesday and Wednesday, when Pauline Frederick, the popular Goldwyn star comes to the Grand theatre in her new picture "The Peace of Roaring River."

Imagine a woman having spent the night alone in a strange cabin far off on a mountain, where the darkness seems visible, and where thousands of living, moving, screeching things surround the lonely hut.

No wonder then, that Miss Frederick, as this woman in trouble, screams out in fright as she is aroused from a snooze on the table when a mouse starts nibbling at her hand.

In this photoplay, are shown a number of really thrilling events in the life of this woman. She is an ordinary young girl, trying to get ahead in the world. Through the petty meddling of a country postmistress, a young miner is supposed to write to her proposing marriage. The whole affair turns out highly satisfactory after a lot of interesting by-play, which will delight lovers of good pictures.

BAUM BROTHER WITH GUY BROS.

The Guy Brothers Minstrels will appear at the Grand with an entirely new company. This is the forty-fourth year for this wonderful organization to be on the road.

The company this season is by far the best Minstrel Company Mr. George R. Guy has ever organized. They carry a brand new first part setting with a grand concert orchestra.

The vaudeville surpasses anything previously seen here before. The Baum Brothers in their musical act being well worth the price of admission alone. Kelda, the Contortionist, outshines any act of its kind in the vaudeville line to-day. The Agawarn quartette secured direct from playing the big time vaudeville houses will also be with this company, they were secured at a high salary and no doubt are the best harmony four Mr. George R. Guy has ever had. No doubt the theatrical going public shall all turn out on Friday evening to see the famous Guy Brothers Minstrels.

TRAINED SQUIRREL AS MOVIE STAR

One of the many charming features in "Mickey" to be shown at the Grand Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, matinee daily, is a pet squirrel who will go straight to the hearts of all the children. And "children" serves a good alibi for Ma and Pa, for most of these things that are "for children" are like the toy railroad which little Johnny gets for Christmas and never gets a chance to play with because his father has it all day.

The squirrel does a comedy scene with a pet bulldog that is delightfully natural. Mickey's bull terrier makes one dive for the squirrel and Brer Squirrel stands not on the order of his going. He beats it for dear life. Mickey wears boy's clothes during the first part of the play and the squirrel sprints up her trouser leg.

The hero tries to save the lady from the squirming squirrel, and his gallant efforts look very peculiar to Mickey's foster father, who hastens up bent on murder and sudden death. And then he sees the squirrel and joins the rescue party.

And by the way, Mickey ought to get the Iron Cross for her courage. Pshaw - Any girl might lead an army like Jeanne D'Arc, or jus' leave children in burning houses, or jump off cliffs or any little thing like that. But to let a rat or a squirel run up your clothes—'O'oooo! If there were a call for volunteers to save the country by letting rats run up dresses, the only answer would be a yell falling away in the distance.

"THE UNPARDONABLE SIN" IS SEASON'S BIG EVENT

Picture Version of Major Rupert Hughes' Story Has Created Tremendous Furore.

Surpassing in importance any previous moving picture event in the history of the Allens will be the engagement of "The Unpardonable Sin," Harry Garson's extraordinary epic photoplay, starring Blanche Sweet, under the personal direction of Marshall Neilan, at the Allen Theatre, beginning Wednesday, October 15th for two days only.

"The Unpardonable Sin" is one of the most pretentious screen plays that has ever been attempted, and has been completed after months of painstaking effort and the expenditure of more real money than has been enlisted in the aid of any photoplay produced within the past five years.

When the moving picture devotees see "The Unpardonable Sin," they will be particularly interested in the work of the star, for the reason that in Blanche Sweet it brings back to the screen a favorite who had thoroughly establishing herself before retiring for along and much needed rest. Miss Sweet won her spurs in some of the biggest and best pictures ever produced by David Wark Griffith, who has since given to the public such big things as "The Birth of a Nation," "Intolerance," and "Hearts of the World."

FAT STOCK SHOW FOR PETERBORO

THIS CITY'S CLAIMS PRESENTED TO PREMIER HEARST.

President Roland Denne and Mr. R. H. Turner took advantage of Premier Hearst's visit to the city yesterday to lay before him the claim of the Exhibition Board that a fat stock show should be established in this city and conducted by the Board after the manner of the Guelph Fat Stock Show.

There is nothing of the kind between Toronto and Ottawa, and now that Peterborough has undertaken the erection of some of the buildings necessary for such a show in addition to every other facility for its proper and satisfactory carrying on. It is hoped that the Premier was sufficiently impressed with Peterborough's claims to recommend to the government that a grant be made for the purpose of completing the necessary string of buildings required.

MARY PICKFORD HAS MOST DELIGHTFUL PICTURE IN "REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM"

Charming Star Appears as Country Girl Who Meets With Many Interesting Adventures and Finds Love at Last. Showing To-day at the Allen For Last Time.

"I love to do great things," exclaimed Mary Pickford, 'America's Sweetheart," as she sat in the shade of a tree during a pause in the filming of her scenes in "Rebbecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which is shown to-day for the last time at the Allen Theatre, "and I feel that in being Rebecca, I am doing something great, for I have always loved this clever story and was delighted when I was able to start the photodramatic version.

"I consider 'Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm,' as great as 'The Little American' because it makes an undying record of the wonderful story by Kate Douglas Wiggin and Charlotte Thompson. I have enjoyed every minute of this production because I run around in short dresses and act the little kid I always wanted to be. I have been on the stage and screen so long that I have never had much time for playing.

"The days we gave the circus in the barn, the whole studio stopped work and came over to play with us. It was all I could do to keep Douglas Fairbanks, Julian Eltinge, Wallace Reid and some of the others from getting in and playing like the rest of the children. I didn't know I was such a horseback rider until I dashed around the ring.

"I have seen horses when I was a little girl, just like the home of the aunts I visit in the picture. Everything covered up to keep out the dust and dirt and everything scrupulously clean, and I have always wanted to go around and muss things up, and this I did in 'Rebecca'—Not because it was in the story, but simply because I felt that my opportunity had come when I could get even for the times I had to wipe my feet on the door mat and be careful not to leave finger prints on the chairs."

This charming story pleased everyone who attended the presentation last night, and a record crowd is expected this evening to see little Mary for the first time in years in this city.

CITY'S SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT WILL BE LOCATED IN OTONABEE

COUNCIL RESPONDS TO THE MUNICIPAL BOARD'S COMMAND FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION—SITE WILL BE BOUGHT AT ONCE AND PLANS PREPARED.

PUMPING STATION NECESSAR

Spurred by the peremptory order of the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board the Council decided last night to proceed at once with negotiations for the purchase of a site for the sewage disposal plant, from Mr. A. Wilson of Otonabee. City Engineer Parsons explained that the only place for the plant was on the south or Otonabee side of the river. In that location any type of disposal plant could be easily operated, whereas, if it were placed on the Monaghan side only one system could be adopted. Besides, the city would avoid damage suits by crossing the river, and there would be the added advantage of carrying off the effluent by gravity instead of pumping it.

Mr. Parsons believed that a block of 17½ acres on the Wilson property would be sufficiently extensive for the city's requirements, but he suggested that a price be also obtained upon thirty-five acres that are available.

From last night's discussion it was practically decided that a pumping-station be erected at the corner of Lock and King George Streets, and that an iron pressure main will carry the sewage from that corner to the river and thence along the shore to a point opposite the Wilson property, where the pipes will cross the river to the disposal tanks.

Expropriate If Necessary.

If the city's negotiations with Mr. Wilson fail, it is proposed to launch at once some expropriation proceedings which the Municipal Board advised in its injunction. In the meantime, City Engineer Parsons has only until December 1st, to prepare the plans for the plant but the Council is still undecided upon the details of the disposal system that will be chosen for Peterboro. This fact is shown by the following clause in the Board of Works report that was passed last night: "That, whereas the activated sludge process of sewage disposal, which the Chairman and the City Engineer saw in Milwaukee, does not appear well adapted to the requirements of Peterboro, Mr. Parsons try to get in touch with cities of 40,000 to 50,000 population with similar conditions to ours that have sewage disposal plants and visit some of them and enquire into the success of their systems of disposal."

An Imperative Duty.

Both the City Engineer and City Solicitor Widdifield interpreted the Board's order as a sharp command to the city to undertake this project without delay. A site must be arranged for and the plans prepared within the allotted time of scarcely more than six weeks. The City Engineer said he was satisfied that the pipe line laid along the shore of the river would be a comparatively inexpensive link between the pumping station and the disposal plant. A pumping station was unavoidable in any case. The motion to resume negotiations with Mr. Wilson was proposed by Alderman McIntyre and seconded by Alderman Edgar.

Zam-Buk
SAVES DOCTORS' BILLS
ECZEMA ENDED
Madame A. Larivere of Fall River, Mass., suffered with eczema for three years, and had treatment from several doctors, all of whom gave up the case. "Finally," she says, "I went to a specialist, which cost me another $30, but I was no better.
"A friend advised me to try Zam-Buk, which I did, and for which I have ever since been thankful. I very soon felt some relief, and perseverance with Zam-Buk completely rid me of the disease."
SEVERE CUT HEALED
Mr. C. Oakley of Saskatoon, who sustained a terrible cut on his leg, says: "Had I known of Zam-Buk when the accident occurred, I could have saved myself a $40 doctor's bill! A doctor sewed up the cut and attended me for five weeks, but the wound did not heal, and he advised me to go into a hospital.
"I objected, however, and used Zam-Buk instead, and in five weeks' time was back at work."
SAVED OPERATION
"Father developed a painful sore on his face," writes Miss N. Lewis of Silver Lake, Oregon. "Numerous remedies and treatment from several doctors failed to heal it, and the doctor advised an operation. Someone advised him to first try Zam-Buk. A few applications brought relief, and continued use of Zam-Buk entirely healed the sore, saving father from an operation."

EX-SOLDIER HELD ON GRAVE CHARGE

Military Pensions Board Takes Action Against Scurrilous Letter-Writer.

HAMILTON, Oct. 6.—Charged with sending an indecent and scurrilous letter to the board of pensions commissioners at Ottawa, Frederick M. Bryant, 19 Wentworth Street north, was arrested here by Inspector Park of the military police, and Detective Crocker.

The arrest marks the beginning of a campaign to round up ex-soldiers who have been sending communications of this sort to Ottawa, the pensions board having been pestered beyond endurance by letters of this kind. It is stated that similar cases throughout the Dominion will be prosecuted in the same manner.

Bryant is charged under the criminal code with a breach of the postal act, and also with defamatory libel, it being alleged that he persisted in sending letters of an indecent and immoral character in regard to his own case. According to the military police, he was in the army, but never left Canada.

THE LORD'S PRAYER VS. LICENSE.

The following is a copy of a leaflet printed during a Scott Act campaign. It is still timely:

Think of praying—

Hallowed be Thy name—then voting to legalize the liquor traffic by tax or license, which causes God's name to be continually blasphemed.

Thy Kingdom come—then voting that Satan's kingdom (the saloon) may continue if they only pay the price which politicians have fixed upon.

Thy will be done—and then voting that it shall not be done.

Give us this day our daily bread—and then voting to tax or license that which takes away the bread from starving mothers and helpless children.

Lead us not into temptation—and then voting that the State or nation may become a partner in drawing young men into temptation if the saloon will agree to pay a high tax or license.

Someone has truthfully said:

He who prays and means nothing,
He who swears and means nothing,
Are about the same.

If you pray for prohibition, vote prohibition.

A woman's idea of good luck is to find in the pile a pair of socks that doesn't need darning.

BUILD CANADIAN PLOT IN RUSS NAVAL CEMETERY

Those who served with the C.E.F. (Siberia) will doubtless be interested to know that before the entire force was evacuated the work on the Canadian plot in the Russian Naval Cemeteary, near Vladivostok, had been almost completed.

This very important undertaking was most satisfactorily carried out by stone-masons supplied from the Czecho-Slovak troops, under the direction of Canadian Force Headuarters. The plot is now a thing of great beauty and something of which Canada may indeed be proud.

The Central Memorial Cross, designed by S.-Sgt. J. W. Oliver, 16th Field Company, C. E., was unveiled by Major-General J. H. Elmsley, C. B., C.M.G., D.S.O., on Sunday, June 1, in the presence of a large inter-allied gathering.

A quantity of very beautiful photographs of this ceremony have lately been received from Vladivostok. Copies of these—in postcard size of 5 x 7—may be had on application to Rev. H. McCausland, 34 Earl Street, Toronto, Ont., who acted as Senior Chaplain with the force.

Simple Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plain, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

OUR DEPARTED FRIENDS

Those old paint buckets under the house or in the closet. You used them while painting up last spring—They are about, right now to start a fire.

The special edition of a magazine or paper lying behind the kitchen cabinet— You never went back to read it the second time.

The shavings and the scraps the carpenters left when they remodelled the house. They are stuck around in piles in the basement and around the yard—Unsightly and dangerous.

The box and excelsior in which the furniture was packed. It's up inthe attic and you are going to use it some time—Said that last year.

Those buckets you mixed the whitewash in last spring. They are around on the north side of the house. Thought it was best to leave them there where the sun would never reach them

The hat boxes and tissue paper which came around last Easter's hat and clothes. They are up in the attic with those from Easter before last. They are doing no good — might do harm. Beter clean up and get rid of them.

Take a look around your premises. Get those fire breeders out of your house and out of your yard. They belong to the dump heap, but will never get there until you start something. Start them now—That's your job.

LABOURITES MAY RUN FOURTH CANDIDATE

Some Elements in West Welland Disapprove of Farmers' Man.

BRIDGEBURG, Ont., Oct. 6.—Some interesting statements are being brought out in the election mix-up at present existing in the western riding of Welland county. Through the fact that E. W. McIntyre, the U.F.O. candidate, who hadthe support of the Labor element, was forced to step down, because it was proved that he is an American citizen, M. E. Barrick has been named by the Labor-U.F.O., with a possible Labor candidate in the field also.

Some elements of the Labor party threaten to name Capt. Speck of Thorold on the Labor ticket.

In East Welland, Charles F. Swayze, the Independent Labor candidate, is treading hard on the heels of Dr. Geo. J. Musgrove, the sitting member, and Conservative candidate, holding meetings nightly. He is basing his fight largely on the soldiers' land question, declaring that on some of the land grants given the soldiers it is necessary to use a shovel to clear off the snow eight months of the year.

The Liberal candidate, C. F. Munro, has not as yet begun serious campaigning, but Dr. Musgrove, the government candidate, is holding a series of meetings. He is defending the Hearst government's connection with the Ontario Temperance Act, on the ground that it was a war-time Act, just as necessary as the heatless, wheatless measures.

BITRO-PHOSPHATE IS GOOD FOR THIN NERVOUS PEOPLE

A French scientist has discovered an organic phosphate which should be a very effective remedy for weak nerves, sleeplessness, thinness and lack of strength, energy, and vigour.

Its substance is described by specialists as identical in composition with certain vital elements naturally found in brain and nerve cells and one which when taken into the human system is quickly converted into healthy, living tissue.

This phosphate is already widely known among druggists in this country as Bitro-Phosphate, and some physicians claim that through its use strength, energy, vigour, and nerve force are frequently increased in two weeks' time.

Dr. Frederick Kolle, Editor of New York Physicians' "Who's Who," says it should be prescribed by every doctor and used in every hospital in the United States. As there are a great variety of so-called phosphates, those who wish to test the substance should be sure to get the genuine Bitro-Phosphate.

MAYOR GRAY TELLS OPPONENTS HE WILL "FIGHT LIKE HELL"

Winnipeg's Chief Executive to Carry Campaign Into Enemy's Territory.

WINNIPEG, Oct. 6.—Mayor Gray has formally announced his intention to seek re-election for another year on November 20 next, and opened his campaign at the C.P.R. shops, when three thousand workers were at lunch.

A certain percentage of the men did not wish to hear what he had to say.

"All right, then, I am quite satisfied," he said. "I want to tell you first of my intention to run again, so that you can organize your strongest against me. I'll fight you like hell."

The mayor intends to carry the fight into the enemy's territory, he declares. "I will go to places where I have been invited by returned soldiers, and be glad to attack the reds on their own battlegrounds," he asserted.

Many of the labor men are opposed to Mayor Gray because of his attitude during the big strike.

LET PIGS HAVE THE RUN OF CLEARED GRAIN FIELDS

A self-feeder for swine that has been available every Fall for many centuries, but of late seems to have been over-looked to some extent, is the grain stubbles that are intended for plowing in preparation for next year's crop. Up-to-date practice includes the disking of such stubble fields immediately after harvest with a view to conserving moisture and starting a growth of weeds so that the amount of foul seed in the soil may be reduced. In consideration of the high cost of threshed grain it might be well worth while to allow the farm pigs the run of these fields after harvest for a few weeks at least before putting on the disk or plow. In the meanwhile the plow need not be idle, as with the tractor it is possible to keep the furrows turning in the sod fields even though the land is a little on the dry side, and so calculated to worry the average team of horses.

ONLY TABLETS MARKED "BAYER" ARE ASPIRIN

Not Aspirin at All without the "Bayer Cross"

For Colds, Pain, Headache, Neuralgia, Toothache, Earache, and for Rheumatism, Lumbago, Sciatica, Neuritis, take Aspirin marked with the name "Bayer" or you are not taking Aspirin at all.

Accept only "Bayer Tablets of Aspirin" in an unbroken "Bayer" package which contains complete directions. Then you are getting real Aspirin—the genuine Aspirin prescribed by physicians for over nineteen years. Now made in Canada.

Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross"

GIFTS TO PRESIDENT OF NO GREAT VALUE

Secretary Tumulty Denies Reports That Presents Received in Europe Represented $1,000,000.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 6.—Gifts received by President Wilson, while in Europe, were of a "very insignificant value," Secretary Tumulty said, in announcing that he had prepared and would submit to-day an answer to the resolution of Representative Rodenberg, Republican, Illinois, asking as to reports that the gifts were valued at a million dollars.

Mr. Tumulty said the President received no gifts which would have required an Act of Congress for him to accept and that in every case where it was made known that he was to receive a present he consulted Secretary Lansing and the Attorney-General as to whether he could legally accept.

The most valuable present, Mr. Tumulty said, was a gold casket which contained a certificate of citizenship fro mthe city of London. King George gave him a book.

BOY SCOUTS OF THE CITY HELD ANNUAL MEETING LAST EVENING

MR. H. G. HAMMOND, PROVINCIAL COMMISSIONER, WAS PRESENT AND INSPECTED THE SCOUTS.

YEARS OF PROGRESS

At the annual meeting of the Boy Scouts of Peterborough, held last evening in the Collegiate Institute, at which any lack of numbers, due to the many other important meetings in the city, was made up by the enthusiasm shown by the boys, the annual report of the Scouts' activities was read by Scoutmaster W. D. Tyrer, and a most interesting talk given by Mr. H. G. Hammond, Provincial Commissioner, who came down from Toronto by special request to attend the meeting.

Enthusiastic Welcome.

Mr. Hammond was given an enthusiastic welcome to the city by the St. Andrew's Sam's Own No. 1 and Sam's Own No. 2, All Saints' and St. Luke's Troops, who lined up at the C.P.R. Station, in charge of Scoutmaster Tyrer. He was then escorted to the Empress by the Scouts, headed by St. Andrew's bugle band, and later arrived at the Collegiate Campus where he inspected the boys, and after shaking hands with each of the 194 Scouts present, spoke in laudatory terms of the exhibition of splendid drilling they displayed during the inspection.

Inspiring Address.

After the inspection Mr. Hammond came to the platform of the Collegiate Institute Hall, and was introduced by Mr. C. E. Jamieson, who, in the unavoidable absence of Mr. Miles Hamilton, occupied the chair.

Mr. Hammond, after expressing his pleasure at being in the city with the Scouts, asked them to convey his thanks to Mr. E. J. Whitesides for his splendid and well-rewarded efforts in connection with the Scout movement. He referred to the splendid part the Boy Scouts had played in the Great War, filling in in any gap they were needed, and said that although the local Scouts had not had the opportunities those overseas had enjoyed in taking part in the nation's work, they did their part in Canada nobly. He also referred to the part the boys may take in the Forward Movement. Show, he continued, by your daily life that you believe in God and belong to a church and play the game of life fair, realizing always that you belong to the biggest organization of to-day.

Presented Badges.

At the interval following Mr. Hammond's speech, Scoutmaster Tyrer called Mrs. Jamieson to the platform, and after speaking of her splendid service in connection with the Scouts, asked Mr. Hammond to present her with the Thanks Badge, which it is the privilege of the Scouts to present to any one who has done any good work for the Boy Scouts. Mr. J. I. Allen, who Mr. Tyrer also stated had wohked with unceasing interest for the Boy Scouts, was also presented by Mr. Hammond with the Thanks Badge.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P.

Mr. Gillespie, who was next called upon, spoke in glowing terms of the work of Mr. E. J. Whitesides and of the work of the Boy Scouts. The ideals, he said, taught to the boys prepare them for the duties of life as men. He wished the Scouts every success in the coming year.

Rev. James Rollins.

In a short address, in which he offered his assistance to the Boy Scouts at any time they might call upon him, eRv. James Rollins spoke of the great movement of the Scouts which touched each boy's life at a great and impdrtant time.

Mr. J. W. Fraser told the boys that they should be thankful that they did not live thirty or forty years ago, and reminded them to always be thankful to the men who trained them, thankful to the men who helped to perfect the organization, and thankful to their parents.

Scoutmaster Thornton, who was called upon last to speak, was given an overwhelming reception by the boys, and spoke briefly of the work the Boy Scouts are doing in the city.

Votes of Thanks.

Hearty votes of thanks were moved to Mr. Hammond, Scoutmaster Tyrer, Mr. J. I. Allen, Scoutmasters Whitesides and Blake for their services to the Scouts.

Postponed Election.

The election of officers was postponed until October 27th, when, it is hoped, a more representative audience might be on hand.

Secretary's Report.

The Secretary of the Local Council, Mr. E. J. Whitesides' report, read by Mr. Tyrer, on account of the fact that illness prevented Mr. Whitesides attending the meeting, showed 14 meetings held during the year. That during the year the Local Council had been of great assistance in handling supplies for the troop, a task which, it is hoped, they will not be called upon to perform next year.

Increased Numbers.

One year ago Peterborough had 36 Scouts, one troop, the Sam's Own No. 1. To-day she has 6 troops, with a total of 194 members, 45 of whom are 2nd class. Five have received war service badges and 2 proficiency badges. Five warrants have been issued, in addition to which one is to arrive shortly.

It is regretted that the Scouts have lost some Scoutmasters, the last one being Scoutmaster Blake, who is ill in Kingston Military Hospital, and it is hoped he may return to office shortly. Other Masters have worked well and faithfully. The report concluded by Mr. Whitesides' earnest hope he might recover soon to take up the work of the Scouts where he left off.

METHODIST W.M.S. AT LAKEFIELD

encouraging and with the spread of the Forward Movement it is expected and hoped that the coming year will go on with greater results and increased workers.

The capable superintendent and her trusty aide the Secretary Treasurer were re-elected. So the officers stand as last year.

Superintendent—Mrs. J. K. Moore.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. E. J. Wagar.

Miss Horni, native of New Brunswick, who laboured for twelve years in the mission field of Japan and five years in British Columbia, was a splendid speaker and made an earnest plea for missions, both home and foreign, and for volunteers for the mission field. The work is so enormous and the workers so few, the results are most gratifying, but if more could go out and help to carry the gospel message it would give such an impetus to the work that it would soon be accomplished. Self sacrifice is needed but in obeying the command of Christ we must forget self and go forward to all lands telling the gospel story to all people. Miss Horni mentioned the old saying, "For east is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet," and gave an example of one single case among many that disprove this saying. A Japanese girl, born in Vancouver, of Japanese parents, attended the Canadian Public school, the High school and the University and is now teaching in the prairie of Western Canada, a school of Canadian children. This young woman is a Christian and is doing splendid work. Another case she mentioned was of a boy who came from Japan to Canada at the age of 14. He worked as a house boy and earned his education, and three years ago he returned to Vancouver a graduate physician and now has a splendid practice and has bought a home in the best section of the city. He, too, is an earnest Christian.

Rev. S. T. Dixon made the quiet hour very helpful to all present and he made special mention of the national campaign for which all the evangelical church are making a united fight. He suggested the matto of the early Methodists as a motto for the present time, "All at it and always at it."

The financial results of the conference were very gratifying, as $40 was realized and when the small expenses are paid the W.M.S. will be something over $30 the richer.

The well known hospitality of the Lakefield ladies was much appreciated by the visitors and delegates.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBORO:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Owing to the uncompromising attitude of the Provincial Government in the past towards the claims of the Producers, Agricultural and Industrial Workers alike, it was decided at the above named convention to put up an Independent Candidate for the Provincial House. At that convention I had the honour of being nominated by ballot as candidate. The conditions under which we are living, the exploitation of the Producer and Consumer by the monopolies of industry, into the hands of a ring of Capitalists, who practically control the Government to the detriment of Democracy, should appeal to you that an Independent Candidate, not under any pledge to either of the old parties, is absolutely essential for the transaction of business to the best interests of the people, and clean government. Your candidate is nominated upon the plank of a Referendum and Recall, so that if his conduct when elected is not satisfactory to the Electors, his resignation can be called for, which, it is hoped, will keep your candidate up to the platform on which he is elected. Also at certain periods of each year, your candidate will visit the electors of the constituency to give an account of his stewardship, and from time to time receive the will of the people.

Owing to the short notice of the election date, the candidate will find it difficult to meet all the electors. If you will read the local press account of my nomination you will see that my ability to fill the seat is not questioned by my opponents. That should speak for itself. I therefore ask you to seriously consider my appeal for your vote. As this is the time of Reconstruction, when initiative and progressive action is needed to carry on the work that was commenced on the Battlefields of Europe, "The War of Democracy," "Shall we break faith?"

Ladies, you have a vote; it is for you to help to decide. So mark your ballot for TOOMS, THE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE, who stands for the will of the people.

Election Date, October 20th.

I am, Ladies and Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant,
THOS. TOOMS,
Secretary I. L. P.; President Building Trades Council, Member Trades and Labor Council, etc. etc.,
Peterboro.

ARE MOVING TO HAVELOCK.

On Saturday evening last a number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Braund, Bond street, to say farewell to Mrs. W. A. McMaster, who is leaving town in the near future. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all, a dainty lunch being served by the hostess, assisted by two or three of the ladies.

Mr. McMaster has disposed of his business here and located in Havelock where they intend moving within the next week.—Lindsay Post.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

Mr. John Bothwell of Toronto, formerly manager of the Metropolitan Life Assurance in this city, with his wife and daughter are in the city visiting Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Davidson of Antrim street.

Mr. Jack Harstone and Miss Harstone went to Toronto to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Reid left to-day to spend a week in Toronto.

Miss Annie, Paul, Montreal, arrived in the city to-day to attend the Robertson-Lockhart wedding. She will be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hill.

Mrs. W. H. Denham left to-day to reside in Toronto.

Dr. B. J. Tait of Hamilton, formerly of Peterboro, was in the city yesterday on his way to Jack's Lake on a fishing trip.

Misses Fern Johnston and Edith Jubb, Mr. Burce Sloan and Mr. Bert McClure, of the King George Hotel, spent Sunday at Garden Hill. Miss Johnston sang at the Garden Hill Methodist Church Anniversary.

Mr. Plowman, Organizer of the W. O. W., is registered at the King King George Hotel.

Miss Oyga Hawes, of 920 Carlow avenue, Toronto, is the guest of friends in town until after Thanksgiving.

Miss Edna Westfall, of Waterloo, is spending a few days with the Misses McIlmoyle, Brock street.

Rev. J. A. McKenzie of Knox church, and Mrs. McKenzie were agreeably surprised on Friday evening when their home at 398 King street, was invaded by the members of the Volunteer and A.S.K. Bible classes, numbering about fifty-five. The young people gathered at the church and went over to the manse in a body. The evening was very pleasantly spent in games, music and stories and light refreshments were served.

Dr. J. E. Middleton says of Dr. George Adams:

"To hear Dr. Adams is an intellectual feast from which one has something to bring home. He uses his fine sense of humour to attract and interest those who ordinarily think a lecture dry, and it is hoped that he will have a capacity house when he lectures on "With Harry Lander in the Trenches," in Murray street church.

Voice Of The People

To the Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—I was very much pleased with the letter Mr. Gordon wrote in the Examiner last evening, with regard to the vacant seat on the school board made possible by his recent resignation.

The majority of the people especially the "women" were very much disappointed when Mrs. W. R. Morris was not returned at the January elections; as she, as Mr. Gordon has stated comes next in line for the seat. We think she should get it. A woman should stand equally in these days with a man—and certainly an intelligent woman like Mrs. Morris. We hope she will now get her rights. —Yours truly, Fair-Play.

Does the Glare Hurt Your Eyes

As a rule few eyes can endure a continuous glare, and eye strain may be caused by an excess of light in the same way as when there is a refractive error.

Dr. Fowler has a special Lens for patrons whose eyes are subjected to intense or glaring light. They are a slightly coloured Lens, so little as to be unnoticeable, yet affording the eyes adequate protection from extreme artificial light or the glaring sun rays.

SIR THOMAS LIPTON HAS AGAIN ISSUED A CHALLENGE TO THE UNITED STATES

SHAMROCK IV NAMED AS THE CHALLENGER—THE RACE WILL NOT BE ARRANGED FOR UNT'L NEXT YEAR.

United Press:

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Sir Thomas Lipton, in behalf of the Royal Ulster Yacht Club, has again challenged the New York Yacht Club to defend the America Cup, it is officially announced. The challenge is expected to be accepted and a race arranged or next year.

The Irish sportsman named the Shamrock IV. as the challenger. She left for this country under her own sailing in July, 1914, but was forced to put into Bermuda when war was declared. Later she was brought to New York, diamantled, and placed in the dry dock in the Erie Basin. The defender is expected to be Resolute, which won nine out of twelve races from the Vanitie for the honour of meeting the Shamrock IV.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKETS

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 7.—Prices were again higher at the stock market opening to-day. U. S. Steel opened at 107 3-8, unchanged; Studebaker at 119 1-2, up 3-4. Amer. Loco. at 116; U. R. Stores at 113; Bethlehem B at 106 1-8, up 1; U. S. Rubber at 125 8-8, up 7-8; and General Motors at 208, up 3.

Trading was heavy during the first half-hour, with Motors, Oils, and Equipments strongest.

After an early high of 240, Mexican Petroleum sold off over 35 points. Pan-American sold at 123 3-4, and then reacted to 121. Kelly Springfield made a new record high around noon at 152.

The Germans Plan to Occupy Baltic Region and Restore Russia

THE RUSSIAN FRONT

(United Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Field Marshal Von Der Goltz and his German forces in the Baltic States, have joined the Russian northwestern army to fight the Bolsheviki, the 'Daily Telegraph' said to-day, quoting reports from Copenhagen.

The Riga correspondent of the 'Evening News' says he has seen plans and reports prepared by German officers providing for the occupation of the whole Baltic region. According to these plans, it is proposed to gain control of Lettland and Esthonia and effect the restoration of old Russia by Christmas, when an attempt will be made to form a German-Russian alliance against the Entente.

The 'Evening News' despatch says that Von Der Goltz's plans to advance on Riga are confirmed by an appeal from General Yudenitch, anti-Bolshevik leader, asking General Bormonte to hasten to Narva, 91 miles southwest of Petrograd. Bormonte is closely associated with Von Der Goltz and the other route to Narva is by way of Riga.

The correspondent interviewed the Lettish premier, Ulmanis, who denied that a single German was fighting the Bolsheviki in Courtland. On the contrary he said Von Der Goltz was doing his utmost to prevent the formation of a Lettish army, with the intention of leaving the country helpless to defend herself from future annexation.

City Captured.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Capture of the city of Voronezh, 275 miles south-east of Moscow, by anti-Bolshevik forces of General Denikine is admitted in a Russian Soviet wireless message from Moscow received to-day. General Denikine's cavalry is advancing on Ukman, 35 miles north of Voronezh. A message from General Denikine's headquarters received October 5 reported the capture of 15,000 Bolsheviki during operations around Voronezh," but did not definitely announce the capture of that city. Voronezh is on a line about 125 miles east of Orel toward which latter important centre in old Russia, General Denikine's troops were recently reported rapidly advancing. The late advices from Denikine forces indicate that they are moving ahead against Moscow on a front at least 200 miles in width, and probably considerably greater.

REFUSED TO ENDORSE WOMAN CANDIDATE

(Special to the Examiner)

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—The point blank refusal of the Central W.C.T.U. to endorse the candidature of Mrs. J. C. Sears in Ottawa West, for the Provincial House, is due, it is claimed to the fact that the Central Union feels the organization should consecrate itself solely to the task of bringing out the voters in connection with the prohibition referendum. However, while this is the reason given by the union, there seems to be some misunderstanding among the Unions membership. All are in favour of a woman candidate, but many are of the opinion it would hurt the temperance cause to bring one out this year.

JOSEPH KELLY ALLOWED TO GO

COMPLETE RESTITUTION HAS BEEN MADE.

This morning in the County Court, Judge's Criminal Court, Michael Joseph Kelly, who had pleaded guilty, by his Counsel, Mr. J. A. O'Brien, on three charges of forgery was allowed to go on suspended sentence. His Honour Judge Huycke took into account the man's family circumstances and the fact that complete restitution had been made and that Kelly, through his Counsel, Mr. O'Brien, promised faithfully to walk the straight and narrow path hereafter.

SAYS MRS. W. R. MORRIS WAS QUALIFIED TO SIT ON THE BOARD

MR. G. N. GORDON SAYS HE EXPECTS TO BE A CANDIDATE AGAIN.

When Mr. G. N. Gordon was asked this morning at the Court House, where the murder trials are still progressing, what he thought of the Board of Education's appointment of Mr. Vincent Eastwood as his successor, he said that Mr. Eastwood had given splendid service to the Board of Education, but he was under the impression that Mr. Eastwood did not desire to be a member because last year when he was urged to stand Mr. Eastwood declined.

Mr. Gordon said it was not a very chivalrous act of the Board in going past Mrs. Morris, who made a splendid run last year, and was just as well qualified to sit on the Board as half the members who are now on it. Mr. Gordon went on to say that this Board was likely to do queer things because John Hayes offered to take the Graham & Hayes contract at $800.00 less than Richard Sheehy & Sons, but notwithstanding that the Board of Education awarded to Richard Sheehy & Sons the contract for the new school and wasted $800.00 of the people's money.

Mr. Gordon said he expected to be a candidate next January, when he intended to expose some of the operations of this Board and the waste of the people's money that had been taking place.

Continuing, Mr. Gordon said that the Review's insinuation that he had resigned in a huff led him to observe that nobody from the Review ever resigned from public office until they were kicked out, and after they were kicked out they hustled wildly about with petitions to save their hides.

ZALUSKI'S SERVICE AS A SOLDIER CARRIED NO INFLUENCE IN COURT

BRONZE BUTTON OF C.E.F. MEN CONSPICUOUS IN THE LAPEL OF YOUNG RUSSIAN'S COAT AS HE STOOD IN WITNESS BOX.

ONE LAW FOR ALL, SAYS JUDGE

Of the five Russians who are on trial before Chief Justice Mulock for the murder of Philip Yannoff, three have been found guilty by separate juries. Tom Kosek was first arraigned and the jury made a recommendation of mercy to the Court.

A second jury brought in an identical verdict against Michael Bahri, and at noon to-day Sam Zaluski was found guilty by third jury who also submitted a recommendation for mercy.

While the jury was deliberating upon the evidence against Zaluski Alexander Martinuque was brought up from the cells and placed in the prisoner's dock. He was formally and separately charged with the murder of Yannoff and the following jury was empanelled: Thomas Petrie, Bert Tully, Chas. E. Wiley, Thomas J. Stenton, Wm. H. Tucker, Robt. J. Tully, Darius Hall, Joseph Preston, John F. Leeson, John E. Boland, Wm. Waugh and A. M. Cowling.

Mr. Rigney assisting Crown Attorney Hattan, briefly reviewed the main points of the evidence to be submitted, and the Crown's case was begun with the testimony of Dr. Thompson of Havelock and Mr. Steven Bradley, who was in charge of the Ontario Rock Company's quarry where the crime was committed in the early morning of June 22nd.

Zaluski a Soldier.

Sam Zaluski wears the prized button of an ex-service soldier of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. He has a bright intelligent appearance that lacks the pronounced foreign cast of features that indicate Alexander Matinuque's Slavic origin.

In his address to the jury Chief Justice Mulock touched upon Zaluski's service as a volunteer.

"It has been said," His Lordship remarked, "that this man was a volunteer, that he was a soldier. That is to his credit. Soldiers are civilians and must take the consequence. You must not let the fact that he was a soldier influence you. We are grateful to our soldiers but when they come back they take upon themselves all the responsibilities of citizenship. The criminal law applies to us all, to you and to me and to all of us within the confines of Canada. There is just one law for us all."

ALLIES HAVE WARNED ITALY

PRESENT SITUATION AT FIUME IS REGARDED AS ILLEGAL.

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Oct. 8.—Much excitement in political circles and extended comment in the press has been caused by the reported receipt of warnings from Great Britain and the United States to Italy with regard to the situation at Fiume.

It is declared that the British warning stated in effect that if "the present illegal situation" at Fiume should continue Italy would "run the risk of being put out of the Alliance and the Peace Conference," and that it was received a few days ago a similar warning from the United States.

SERIOUS REBELLION AGAINST BOLSHEVIK.

(United Press.)

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 8. — Despatches received ere from Helsingfors say wireless advices have been received in Courtland, telling of a serious rebellion against the Bolsheviki, started in Moscow by the Social Revolutionaries.

Lenine is reported to have ordered the imprisonment of Trotsky, but Lenine himself was arrested instead.

LENINE IS GETTING BETTER.

(United Press.)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8. — President Wilson was much improved this morning, according to information from unofficial sources at the White House. His appetite was better, and he was anxious to get out of bed, it was learned.

THE WEATHER

The early riser this morning saw the first ice of the season, and also a heavy white frost. The thermometer was at 25 degrees. The first time freezing point was reached last fall was Sept. 30th, and there were heavy frosts on a number of occasions before this date. The ground was first frozen hard on Nov. 23rd (10 days later than usual.) The first zero came on the morning of Dec. 6th and the first sleighing on December 5th. This lasted but for a few days. The winter's sleighing began on Dec. 24th.—W. P.

Sam Zaluski, Third of the Five Prisoners Accused of Murder of Phillip Yanoff, Found Guilty

JURY BROUGHT IN THEIR VERDICT SHORTLY AFTER TWELVE O'CLOCK NOON TO-DAY—WERE OUT HALF AN HOUR—SUMMARY OF THE ADDRESSES TO THE JURY.

TRIAL IS PROCEEDING

Guilty, with a recommendation of mercy, was the verdict of the jury in the trial of Sam Zaluski, the third of the five prisoners who are charged with the murder of Phillip Yanoff. It was identical with the finding of the two men who have preceded him. At the request of the counsel for the defence, Chief Justice Mulock deferred sentence until the close of the Assize. The jury was out half an hour, returning at 12.15 this afternoon.

With the terrible accusation of murder weighing on his mind Samuel Zaluski fainted in the prisoner's box last evening at 8.30. His Lordship was asking Zaluski if he understood sufficient English to challenge the evidence of Detective Cookman, who stated the prisoner made a partial confession to him. He fainted entirely without warning and fell into the seat in the box. Constable Harold Lawrence and Turnkey Robert Roy helped Zaluski outside where the fresh air revived him. He muttered something unintelligible about having been overseas and it is thought that his nerves got the better of him when His Lordship addressed him after evidence against him had been received.

Tom Serbonoff and Moitzsoiff, two Macedonians, who were asleep in the bunk house near Havelock when Yannoff was killed were called last night and repeated their version of the shooting on the 22 of June last and the events which took place until the robbers left. Detective George Cookman stated after Chief Thompson had sworn that prisoner had been duly warned, that Zaluski, the prisoner had confessed to him at the police station the day succeeding the murder, that he owned one of the white revolvers which was found hidden in the waiting room at [illegible] that he bought the revolver from a returned soldier in Toronto and bullets of the right calibre.

Strategy Used

Mr. John Riseborough at Indian River was called and told of strategy employed to capture the five men who come down the C.P.R. track. He also repeated his evidence concerning the finding of the revolvers and bullets in the station room and the bringing of the prisoners to Peterboro.

Mr. Robert Ray, turnkey, at the jail was called and stated that Zaluski wore the shoes when brought to the jail. The defence brought out that the prisoner was allowed only a half hour's exercise each day. A witness in the previous trial who had followed the rubber heel imprints on the Norwood road stated that the rubber heels when inspected at Indian River appeared to be scarce.

MOTHER ATTEMPTS TO POISON HER CHILDREN

WATCHES EFFECT

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 8.—Giving as a reason for her act that her two golden-haired little girls, Shirley, aged eight, and Edna, six, "worried" her, because she felt too tired to attend to their wants at bedtime, Mrs. Hazel Leukart, aged 29, who, with her husband, lives on a small place between the village of Royal Oak and Pontiac, poisoned them both. In capsules she forced each to swallow a slow, insidious poison that paralyzes its victims and steals with slow march upon the heart, which it finally stills. Those so doomed so die feel no pain, but a great lassitude. They retain consciousness to the end.

Shirley, the elder, is expected to die within a few hours. Edna has but three or four days to live, declare the doctors.

Slow, Lingering Death.

Mrs. Leukart was arrested yesterday and taken to Detroit after she had made a full confession to the assistant prosecuting attorney of Oakland county. She told the prosecutor she had had the poison in her house for a long time, and was aware that it would bring slow, lingering death to those who took it.

"On the morning of September 28 it came to me like a flash from hell that the best way for the children was to put them where they could not bother me any more," said the woman in her confession.

"Then I went to the medicine cabinet and took the poison and gave it to Shirley and Edna. They vomited it up the first time, but I put four of the pellets in capsules so they could not taste them, and then gave them some milk to wash them down with. All that night I watched them and prayed that they would die. I felt happy. But in the morning I realized what I had done, but there was no help then. I told a neighbor what I had done, and then the doctor came."

From Sept[illegible] 20 until yesterday, when the continued illness of the two children and their refusal to yield to the ordinary course of treatment caused the attending physician to become suspicious, the little victims each day became weaker.

Deluded Physician.

Sharp cross-questioning established the fact that the mother was aware of the nature of the trouble. She had, at first, declared both girls had eaten green pears and it was for this they had been treated by the physician.

The neighbor to whom Mrs. Leukart told her story corroborates it in every detail to-day.

Roy E. Leukart, the husband and father, is a factory employee. He told the Sheriff that his wife had never exhibited any indication of insanity; that she had always been a good, affectionate mother to the little ones, and that the day before she administered the death doses there had been a little argument because he opposed her going back to the stage. She had been at one time a vaudeville actress. So far not the slightest motive, other than the weak reason given by Mrs. Leukart, has been found for the unusual crime.

Dominating All Else

They cost less to operate than any metal pulleys of equal size.

The same amount of power delivered annually for $8.00 less for each pulley is the average money value of the saving.

Surely, therefore, when cutting overhead expenses without impairing efficiency, is so necessary, it is worth your while investigating to see whether you could use Dodge Wood-Split Pulleys to advantage.

SIR WM. HEARST HAD BUSY DAY

ADDRESSED MEETINGS IN BOWMANVILLE AND COBOURG YESTERDAY —THE HYDRO ELECTRIC.

(Special to The Examiner.)

COBOURG, Oct. 8.— Sir William Hearst spent a strenuous day yesterday fighting the battle of the government. He first spoke at Bowmanville in the riding of West Durham, where J. H. Devitt seeks a fifth term of office and is opposed by W. J. Bragg, Liberal. Both are farmers and temperance advocates. His second stop was at Cobourg in the Liberal riding of West Northumberland, where Sam Clark is being opposed by Lieut.-Col. F. G. Boggs, the government nominee. Here again both candidates support the temperance cause.

Meetings were sparsely attended and the majority of the audience were ladies. Both at Bowmanville and Cobourg the Premier took his hearers through the work carried out by the government. He dwelt at length on the question of the Hydro which, he said, under his regime had been brought to be the greatest public owned utility in the world. It had prevented an absolute industrial calamity the year before last during the fuel crisis. To-day there are 2,500 farmers in Ontario who are using Hydro power. The great Queenston, Chippewa and Nipigon schemes were already well in hand and over $80,000,000 had been spent by his government for Hydro purposes and he believed it would require another $12,000,000 this year.

DRUG EVIL IN ARGENTINA.

Buenos Aires Opens Fight on Use of Narcotics.

The city government of Buenos Aires, Argentina, has begun a determined fight to wipe out the drug evil by the enactment of stringent laws governing the sale of narcotics. This step was taken after an investigation by the authorities had disclosed that not only was the narcotic habit strong among the poor, but that it was spreading throughout virtually every class in the city.

Until the passage of the laws druggists were permitted to sell cocaine, morphine and opium to any purchaser. The new laws forbid the sale of these drugs except in filling prescriptions prepared by registered physicians. The city also has established dispensaries for the treatment of drug addicts.

CLIMAX COMING IN NEGOTIATIONS FOR THE GRAND TRUNK

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—It is generally felt here that a climax is coming in the long-drawn-out negotiations between the Government and the Grand Trunk Railway. The enabling legislation which is now scheduled for this session will, it is said, be of a definite rather than merely a general character, and will define terms within which the Government and the company can.

If there is an important deal on the subject, as is almost inevitable, it may have political as well as business signaificence.

The present opposition on a number of occasions has shown itself cool towards Government ownership. If it takes a similar stand now, in reference to the acquisition of the Grand Trunk Railway, the Government will take advantage of the fact in the pending by-election.

On the other hand, the Opposition will try to strengthen its hands by a close scrutiny of any proposed agreement, and a safeguarding of the public interests in connection with it.

CUT FOREIGN GARRISONS

Brest and Paris to be U. S. Only Army Posts After Oct. 10.

WASHINGTON—Brest and Paris will be the only sectors in which active American garrisons will be maintained after October 10, the War Department announced to-day. Small detachments of Railway and Signal Corps troops will be busy for some time in outlying districts and a contingent of about fifty-five officers and men will remain in England attending to liquidation matters.

Commissioned personnel serving with the American troops in Germany will be limited to 400 men hereafter, the shortage of officers causing this reduction.

TWO AMENDMENTS TO LIQUOR LEGISLATION

MEASURES WILL COME UP BEFORE THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT NEXT WEEK.

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Two important amendments to existing Federal Prohibition measures will be up for the consideration of Parliament this week. One is an amendment to the Canada Temperance or Scott Act, and the other the Doherty Act.

The effect of the amendment to the first Act is to provide that if any Province, by plebiscite of the Dominion electors of the Province, should vote for the absolute prohibition of the manufacture or importation of intoxicating liquor, that Province shall be brought under the provisions of the Scott Act, and a Federal proclamation shall be issued prohibiting manufacture within the borders of the Province, and importation in the Province.

In effect, it contemphates applying the principles of the Scott Act as regards the manufacture and importation to Provinces which vote against the manufacture and importation.

The Doherty Act, as it at present stands, prohibits the importation of liquor into a Province for purposes which are declared illegal in that Province.

A further amendment is provided, making it possible, on fiat from the Attorney-General, to try a man in the Province against which any violation of the Doherty Act has been perpetrated, even though that man lives in another Province. For instance, should liquor be shipped from Montreal to Toronto in violation of the Act, then the shipper could be brought to Toronto for trial.

STEEL STRIKE PETERING OUT

(United Press.)

PITTSBURG, Pa. Oct. 7.—The steel workers' strike, now in its third week, appeared to be wearing itself out in the Pittsburg district.

Every mill of importance here today claimed additional man power and production gains.

Several mills, closed since the strike was called on 22nd September, resumed operations under handicaps.

WAR VETERANS' CASE BEFORE THE HOUSE

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—The question of allowing Col. A. T. Hunter, the Toronto Originals' Club, to give evidence, came before the House of Committee on Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment yesterday a.m. Several members expressed the opinion that his appearance was not necessary, and no action was taken.

Returned mechanics asked for an opportunity to present their views. Col. R. C. Cooper said he desired to submit representations on their behalf, and a reply was sent to that effect.

Alf. E. Zoalley, of the Salvation Army Hostel, Toronto, wrote suggesting that a Government loan system of two thousand dollars for five years, where necessary, as the best method of re-establishment. Repayments would be monthly, extending over a period of five years.

A petition was received from the Vocational students in Montreal, addressed to the Dominion Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment Commission, asking for increased pay and allowances on account of the high cost of living.

A telegram of protest was received through Mr. Rowell from Dr. E. E. King, of Toronto, to the effect that medical students had not received consideration by the committee. When the matter came up previously it was felt that Sir Robert Falconer could speak for them when he stated the case for the Universities as a whole yesterday, but these students had not communicated with Sir Robert.

A representative will appear on Wednesday.

George W. Waistell, of the Great War Veterans' Association, was recalled for examination on that organisation's re-establishment plan.

No Promises.

TORONTO, Oct. 7.—"We were made no promises," said Sir Robert Falconer yesterday morning, after his return from Ottawa, where he had submitted plans for the re-establishment of the student soldiers before the committee now dealing with the veterans' demands.

Sir Robert said he had been well received, and although he spent two and a half hours outlining the students' needs, and in return being questioned by the committee, still he thought that the matter would not be lightly considered.

"The great difficulty which the Government is now facing is in meeting the many demands which are being made. This was their plea," said Sir Robert.

ANTICIPATE A RETURN OF RACING

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINDSOR, Oct. 7. — Sportsmen here anticipate a return of racing, with one, probably two, and a remote chance of all three tracks—the Windsor Driving Park, Kenilworth, and Devonshire Tracks—in operation next spring as the result of the sitting of Dr. J. G. Rutherford, Royal Commissioner, whose hearing was brought to an abrupt conclusion on Monday, when W. E. Raney, counsel for the Social Service Council of Canada, failed to summon any witnesses to give evidence against the sport and its Maple Floating Island.

Three tablespoons sugar, 1-2 teaspoon vanilla, 2 cups milk, 1-2 teaspoon maple flavoring, 4 eggs, pinch salt. Scald the milk in a double boiler. Mix the egg yolks with the sugar and salt, and beat until light; add the scalded milk to them; return to the boiler and cook, stirring all the time until the mixture coats the spoon and is smooth and creamy. Strain into a cold dish and flavor when cold.

Garnish the custard with a meringue made with the whites of the eggs beaten stiff, adding to them four teaspoons of sugar. Flavor with vanilla

To the Voter

TO establish that the 2.51% beer to be voted on—the "Beer of the Ballot"—is not intoxicating, The Ontario Brewers' Association deposited $5,000 with the Canada Permanent Trust Company on September 16th.

¶ On September 19th, The Ontario Brewers' Association formally challenged the Referendum Committee through the Press to deposit an equal amount with the same Trust Company to support their contention that this beer is intoxicating.

¶ That challenge has never been accepted—clear admittance by the Referendum Committee they do not consider that they have a case. It is too late now to make the tests and render a decision before the day of voting—October 20th—but the failure of the Referendum Committee to answer our challenge will not be overlooked by the man or woman who votes on facts and evidence, and not on sentiment or false statements.

¶ We again assert that 2.51% beer—"The Beer of the Ballot"—is not intoxicating. Tests have only recently been made which prove this conclusively—we will mail a copy of the test to anyone sufficently interested to write for it.

¶ Moreover, while the "Beer of the Ballot" has an alcoholic strength of but 2.51%, official tests made by the laboratory of the Inland Revenue Department—published in Bulletin 196—showed that the beers on general sale before The Ontario Temperance Act and Prohibition were enacted, had an alcoholic content ranging as high as 7.33% by weight measure—practically three times as strong as the beer to be voted on October 20th. Even such American beers as were sold in Canada and always spoken of as "very light, non-intoxicating beers," were over fifty per cent. stronger than the "Beer of the Ballot."

¶ The "Beer of the Ballot" is a mildly stimulating, healthful and refreshing beverage, brewed from a high grade of malt and hops—containing only sufficient alcohol to make it digestible and nourishing.

"Nuxated Iron Put Added Power Behind My Punch"

Says Jack Dempsey—Tiger Of The Ring

Heavyweight Champion of the World Tells A Secret of the Training Which Helped Get Him Into Such Superb Condition That He Was Able to Whip the Mighty Jess Willard and Prove Himself

THE SUPERMAN OF THE AGE

Jack Kearns, Manager for Dempsey, Jimmy De'Forest, Chief Trainer, and Others Give Opinions—How Nuxated Iron Helps Strengthen the Nerves, Restore Wasted Tissue and Build RED BLOOD, STRENGTH and ENDURANCE.

Since his overwhelming victory at Toledo when he wrested the World's Championship title from the Colossus-like Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, the modern David and Miracle Man of the Prize Ring—Jack Kearns, his manager, and Jimmy De Forest, his chief trainer, have been besieged with inquiries as to the methods employed in rounding him into such superb condition. That Jack Dempsey gives Nuxated Iron as a part of the training which produced such marvelous physical development as to make him a veritable human dynamo, should prove conclusively the paramount value he attached to this master strength and blood builder and he explains below why he now recommends it to others.

Just as when a man's life is at stake, physicians seek only the tried and proven treatment, so when the World's Championship hung in the balance, Dempsey's trainers did not stop to experiment with metallic iron preparations—Nux and Iron—or other products of questionable value, but they insisted upon having only genuine Nuxated Iron which they knew could be absolutely relied upon to help build red blood, power and stamina.

In connection with this feature of his training regarding which Dempsey himself makes a statement below, Jimmy De Forest, the Champion's Chief Trainer, is quoted as saying: "For seven weeks previous to July 4th I was in sole charge of the training and preparing of Jack Dempsey for his fight with Jess Willard. During the training period Dempsey was regularly given by me Nuxated Iron and I believe it contributed to his success."

The importance that the Champion himself places upon the part Nuxated Iron played in winning for him the highest laurels known in the athletic world is clearly shown in the following statement made by Jack Dempsey at his training quarters in Toledo, the scene of the battle, when he said: "After commencing the use of Nuxated Iron during my training for the big fight with Jess Willard, I soon noticed that I could stand harder strains with less fatigue than before, and I realized that I had found a tonic and blood builder which played an important part in getting me into fine condition. Formerly I had relied solely upon strength-building foods and outdoor exercise to keep my blood rich in red corpuscles, but with the World's Championship at stake, I felt that I should have anything undone that might help me to win. I was advised of the great value of Nuxated Iron for building up the blood, strengthening the nerves and enabling me to get the best out of my body, and I am firmly convinced that its use has helped to wonderfully increase my stamina and endurance. Nuxated Iron put added power behind my punch and helped me to accomplish what I did at Toledo. From the results in my own case, where the possession of super endurance is necessary, I feel that I am in a position to strongly recommend Nuxated Iron to every man and woman who wants to enjoy greater strength, energy and power."

In connection with the foregoing statement made by Jack Dempsey, Dr. James Francis Sullivan, formerly physician of Bellevue Hospital (Outdoor Dept.), New York, and the Westchester County Hospital, said: "In my opinion whoever made the suggestion that Nuxated Iron should play a part in getting Dempsey into condition is to be commended for his foresight. No iron without plenty of rich, red blood allied with health-giving and strength-building iron could withstand the terrific onslaughts of a giant like Willard. It should be to every thinking person that if a man as physically fit as Dempsey should consider it advisable to take Nuxated Iron, how much more important it is for the average man or woman to see that there is no lack of iron in the blood. To help make strong, lean, red-blooded Americans there is nothing in my experience which I have found so valuable as organic iron—Nuxated Iron.

Manager Jack Kearns who closely watched from day to day the progress of Dempsey's training in which Nuxated Iron played a part and who predicted Dempsey's victory over Willard.

Jimmy De'Forest, the Champion's Chief Trainer, tells here why he believes the use of Nuxated Iron by Dempsey contributed to his success.

Nuxated Iron, which has been used by Jack Dempsey and which is prescribed and recommended above by physicians is not a secret remedy but one which is well known to druggists everywhere. Unlike the older inorganic iron products which often injure the teeth, make them black and cause stomach disorders, Nuxated Iron is easily assimilated and does not injure the teeth nor cause stomach disorders. If you are not entirely satisfied after using it for a few weeks return the empty package to the druggist from whom you purchased it and he will refund your money. It is dispensed by all good druggists.

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 8, 1919.

THE MAIN POINT.

No voter should lose sight of the all-important facts that a "Yes" vote on the first question of the Referendum means a vote for the wide-open bar and shop just as they were prior to 1916 and that if the majority of the voters answer "Yes" to the first question, the other three questions on the Referendum ballot will not be considered at all.

THE REFERENDUM.

It has been suggested by a reader that The Examiner should from now until polling day, devote a section of the paper daily to a discussion of the different points in connection with the referendum ballot. In spite of the explanations that have been made, there are many people who are perplexed over certain phases of the problem. The Examiner would very willingly fall in line with the suggestion if it could be sure that it was not devoting time and space to discussing features of the referendum that are perfectly understood by the people. To avoid doing this, The Examiner believes it would be a better policy to invite those of its readers who are in doubt as to any feature of the referendum to send their question in to this paper and answers will be published in the order that the questions are received. It is believed that this will be a better service than to publish general articles on the subject. If you are in doubt as to any point send in your question to the "Referendum Editor" of The Examiner.

EXPORTS AND PRICES.

When it was announced recently in Montreal that a heavy shipment of cheese had gone overseas, a soap-box orator declaimed on the street-corner aginst a policy which made it possible to export foodstuffs while famine prices were exacted for the narrow supplies left in Canada.

The argument was specious, and wholly misleading. If the domestic demand were equal to the production, in cheese or in any other product of farm and dairy, then a criticism of export trade might be in order. But Canada produces an immense surplus of grain and other foodstuffs. If exportation were not permitted and encouraged, the marpermitted and encouraged, the markets would be glutted—for one reason! After that, production would be curtailed. Farmers would leave the country in droves, there would be no market for manufactured goods and the Dominion would be ruined.

Everyone who has compared staple prices in Canada with those in other parts of the world realizes that the High Cost of Living is a general, a universal problem. It is the natural result of a destructive conflict, the greatest and most terrible in history. Mr. Hoover said recently in New York that the world was slowly conquering the most serious famine which had occurred since the time of the Thirty Years' War. There is a demand for the goods we do not need, which must be satisfied, not only for the advantage of Europe but for the safety of our own position as a normal exporting nation.

From the proceeds of last year's Victory Loan over $200,000,000 was advanced to Great Britain for the purchase of the goods Canada could not consume. It was a measure of self-protection, since Canadian producers got cash for their grain and were enabled to continue their work for the benefit of themselves and the Dominion.

The extension of credits overseas must continue for this year, and a portion of the proceeds of the 1919 Victory Loan will be set aside for that purpose. It is a measure of insurance for the continuation of prosperity in Canada.

RESTAURANT PRICES.

Some time ago it was announced that the Board of Commerce intended to investigate the scale of prices in restaurants and it was stated that the police were to be used in making the inquiry. Since then, so far as Peterboro is concerned, nothing more has been heard of the matter, although patrons of the restaurants feel that there is ample justification for an investigation into food prices in the local restaurants. Expenses in conection with the operation of eating houses have, of course, naturally increased in unison with the general rise in the cost of every commodity, but there is a feeling that the increase in the prices to the patrons has been greater than the general increase has warranted. Ten cents for a small wedge of apple pie, for instance, seems an imposition on the public. In the days before the war, the restaurants used to serve a quarter of a pie for five cents, now they cut the delecacy into six portions and charge ten cents for each of them. A jump from 20 cents to 60 per pie. Other prices in the eating houses have advanced in proportion. The increases may be justified but the public is entitled to know whether or not there is reason for the huge jump in prices, and only an official investigation can determine the facts.

FIRE PREVENTION.

The members of the City Council seem to be more concerned with fire fighting than fire prevention. That is the only interpretation to be placed upon their refusal to give any civic leadership to the desire of Provincial and Dominion authorities to have Thursday of this week observed as Fire Prevention Day. The Council dismissed the subject with the remark that the instruction carried on in the schools would be sufficient. The importance of the occasion seems to have been completely missed by the City Fathers. Fire Prevention Day, if it means anything at all, should be marked by a clean-up of yards and premises, of the removal of rubbish and inflammable materials that are likely to cause fires, of the inspection of furnaces and pipes, in general by a realization on the part of every citizen of the fact that seventy-five per cent. of the fires which break out are preventable with ordinary care. The fire losses in Canada are enormous, far exceeding other countries, and we have no reason to think that in Peterboro the conditions are any more safe in this regard than in other parts of the country. The city Council spends thousands of dollars of the people's money each year in providing facilities for fighting fires; yet the same Council balked at spending a few minutes of time in discussing ways and means of co-operating with the Provincial authorities in a campaign to reduce the numbers of fires.

Andrew Carnegie

One of the world's richest men was the son of a poor Scotch weaver. He early learned the advantages of economy. At the age of 10 he saved a few shillings—enough to buy a box of oranges—which he quickly peddled at a profit of 100 per cent.

While yet a young man, he managed through thrift to accumulate $500, which he invested. His first dividend inspired the remarkable achievements of later years.

But the seed of his prosperity was sown when he began his first savings.

PEACE TAG DAY.

The annual tag day on behalf of the Children's Aid Society, the first since the coming of peace, will be held on Saturday, and a generous response to the appeal is urged. It is not necessary to enlarge upon the great work of the Children's Aid Society on behalf of neglected and dependent children. The record of the organization is before the people; they know how faithfully the Society has carried on its work since its inception in Peterboro. They know that it has taken care of scores of waifs and strays who would have been homeless or else living under deplorable conditions, had not the Children's Aid Society taken them under its motherly wing. All these things are so thoroughly recognized that it only seems necessary to point out that the tag day campaign is one of the chief resources of funds on behalf of the work of the organization during the coming year. There is no reason to hope that the responsibilities of the Society will be in any way lessened during the next twelve omnths. On the contrary with industrial conditions as they are the possibilities are that the Society may be called upon to extend its work. The need for generous giving is therefore greater than it has been in the past and the public should appreciate that fact and give accordingly. The tag day method of raising funds gives every citizen a chance to help—the opportunity should not be overlooked.

BLAMABLE INACTION.

In the course of his address here on Monday evening, Sir William Hearst claimed much credit because as he said, not a scandal could be charged against his administration. There are scandals and scandals as the Hamilton Herald efficiently points out in the following article:

"Members of the Hearst Government pride themselves upon the fact that the Government has administered the affairs of this Province without a scandal. That is to say, they claim credit for being honest men. Well, they are entitled to all the credit they can derive from the fact. But something more than ordinary honesty is required of men at the head of public affairs. Not merely men who don't do dishonest things are needed as administrators, but men who do things that in the public interest ought to be done.

"Members of the Hearst Government have some reason for confessing, in the familiar words of the prayer-book: 'We have left undone those things that we ought to have done.'

"If a specimen of administrative neglect or wilful refusal to act were needed, it could be supplied in the case of the inaction of the Government in the matter of the investigation demanded by the G.W.V.A. into conditions at the Hamilton asylum for the insane. It is several weeks since a provincial inspector heard evidence of certain abuses at this institution—evidence which the inspector admitted warranted a judicial investigation. But nothing has been done and a member of the Government (the provincial secretary) recently intimated that there was no intention of proceeding any further in the matter.

"There is such a thing as scandalous inaction as well as scandalous action. And members of the Hearst Government who boast of a record free from scandal should be warned that they may not be as free as they suppose from the odium of the former sort of scandal."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"There is not a single discordant element in the local Conservative patry," declares the Review. Why, what has become of J. H. Burnham?

A debate on the Ontario Temperance Act between Mr. Soden, the Hearst candidate in West Peterborough, and Mr. J. H. Burnham, would be an interesting feature of the campaign.

The U.F.O. are taking no part in the West Peterborough elections. The farmers know their interests will be safe in the hands of Mr. Gillespie.

A vote for Gillespie is a vote for progress and development; a vote for Soden is a vote for a new term for the seven sleepers.

"Mark your ballot for Tooms, the Independent candidate, who stands for the will of the people," declares the election address of the Labour candidate. But can a candidate be said to be independent or to stand for the will of the people when his resignation can be demanded at any time, not by the electors at large, but by the officials of the Independent Labour party?

Liberal prohibitionists are being asked to support Sir William Hearst because of his personal stand on temperance. But as the Globe points out, many of the present Liberal candidates fought for the abolition of the bar when the present premier was a member of a government that fought against that policy. Prohibition Liberals cannot consistently vote against these candidates simply because the Prime Minister has finally adopted their views.

FIRE PREVENTION!

EXTRACTS FROM Royal Proclamation

Whereas there is also every year in Canada a deplorable loss of human life as a result of fire;

And Whereas it is desirable for the well-being of the nation that a greater regard for the sanctity of human life be inculcated; that the material wealth of the nation be so far as possible conserved, and that every agency which tends to needlessly dissipate or destroy human life or property be vigorously opposed;

And Whereas it is desirable, in order that the attention of the public may be directed to the extent of the preventable loss of life and property from fire and the best means of controlling it, that one day of the year be set apart and properly designated for the dissemination of such information and the giving of such instruction on fire loss and fire prevention as may be practicable;

Now Know Ye, that We, by and with the advice of Our Privy Council of Canada, have thought fit to appoint, and do appoint, Thursday, the Ninth day of October in this present year, as "FIRE PREVENTION DAY," and We do recommend to all Our loving subjects that, on that day—

1. All dwellings and their surroundings be carefully inspected by their occupants and all conditions likely to cause or promote the spread of fires removed.
2. All public buildings, stores, and factories be inspected and cleared of rubbish.
3. Fire drills be held for the children in all schools and for employees in all large stores and factories.
4. Special instructions on the subject of fire prevention be given by the teacher and by Municipal officials in the schools, and that such appropriate literature as may be made available be distributed to the pupils.
5. All legislation and regulations enacted or issued by Dominion, Provincial, or Municipal authorities dealing with fire prevention be given publicity by the Municipal officials, and that by public meetings or otherwise as may to them seem most fit, they endeavour to impress upon the citizens the national importance of safeguarding life and property from loss by fire.

The Proclamation should be read in all Schools and at Public Gatherings

NEIL REQUESTS BAB TO SAY NOTHING OF HIS AFFAIRS TO HIS AUNT

CHAPTER LXXXVI.

The next day Aunt told us all about the accident. It had been a rear end collision and several had been badly injured; two or three killed outright.

"It was a terrible experience," she said, "One I hope will never be repeated, although it makes very little difference how we die, if only we are ready." She was a very good, and really religious woman.

"I thought that train never would come," I said.

"It would have been very lonely and tiresome for Neil had you not been with him. I know of nothing more wearying that waiting way into the night in a railroad station. Then, too, you were worrying about me," she had turned to Neil at her last sentence. I was about to say that I had been the one who waited alone, but caught myself just in time. Neil flushed when she said that it would have been tiring for him to wait all alone. I would not embarrass him by letting her know that he had arrived at the station only a few moments before she came.

I hoped great things from Mrs. Carter's visit. Neil was very fond of her, very proud to have her see how well he had done and anxious for her good opinion. Perhaps he would give up spending his evenings away from me. He might even give up going to Blanche Orton's if he thought she would know and disapprove. I would plan to do things for her entertainment, give little affairs from which Neil could not very well absent himself.

My social ambitions were again aroused. Perhaps Lorraine Morton and Mr. Frederick had not been quite so right as I had believed in saying that I couldn't do anything in a society way just at the present time. Aunt was very aristocratic, very fine appearing. She would be a great help if I should decide to persist in my plans. Yet even as these thoughts came I turned cold as other thoughts followed—that I might be snubbed, that Mrs. Powers might refuse to come to me, and all the other things which Lorraine had told me stood in the way of my success.

"You will remain at home more now that your aunt is here, won't you?" I said to Neil.

"I shall if it is possible. But I cannot neglect my business even for her. I shall tell her that she will have to excuse me when I am unable to come home. Other than that I prefer she should know nothing of my business, my affairs."

"You will not go to those business dinners at Mrs. Orton's though, will you? ?She would be horribly shocked that you would accept an invitation to a woman's house without me."

"I shall do what I think necessary for the success of the deals I am trying to put through. If she hears of anything which displeases her, I shall know you have told her."

"Neil—you aren't doing anything wrong, are you dear?"

"What rot! I must say Bab that you are getting to be rather a wet blanket. You used to be so pleased when I was successful, now you act all the time like a bear with a grouch. When I look around and see how differently we live from what we did when we were first married. I can't understand you. Most women would be delighted to have as much—most young women, I mean. Of course older people like Powers have more, but even they are in the minority."

"Sometimes I wonder if we weren't happier when we had less, Neil. You had more time for me then."

"I shall have all the time you will want after a few more years. You will be crying for me to go out and let you have a rest when that time comes."

"I should like to try it. But joking aside, Neil, it doesn't seem as if I could go on this way. I am so worried over—things."

"You mean that silly twaddle about my not going personally and testing the oil from every well; or testing the metal from every mine. It can't be done. I have to take a lot of things on faith, others will have to also—if they want to make money."

"But Neil that man Tearle, and Connor too, must have very bad reputations. I do wish you would not be with them. It is your association with men like them that makes men like Mr. Powers afraid to trust you—and your—deals." I had been about to say schemes.

"Damn Powers. I can get along without him or any of them."

To-morrow—Bab is Heartbroken Because Neil Has Been Drinking.

OMEMEE MEETING NOT ENCOURAGING

(U. F. O. Publicity Committee.)

Dr. Wood's so-called gigantic meeting at Omemee was a colossal failure. There was a large crowd and the Lindsay band was there, but the enthusiasm was very, very weak. Sir Sam Hughes called for cheers for Dr. Wood, the Conservative candidate, and not one-tenth of the crowd responded. When the people got out of the hall, three cheers for F. C. Sandy were called for, and the cheers could be heard a mile off. The speaker of the evening was to have been a Cabinet Minister, but, as usual, some Toronto lawyer was sent to take his place, and he succeeded in creating more antagonism for the Hearst Government and more votes for Mr. Sandy, than any meeting of the U. F. O. could possibly have done.

His whole argument was down on the farmer. They are becoming a dangerous element in this country. Sure thing. They are all right to work on the farm and raise wheat and pigs but it requires the brainy lawyers and other professional men to run our Legislature.

CANADIANS HAVE UNUSUAL CHANCE

In Normal Times Investors From Abroad Would Eagerly Mop Up Victory Bonds.

If it were not that the war had caused a scarcity of capital in countries beyond this continent, Canadian investors would likey not have an opportunity of investing in Victory Bonds at five and a half per cent.

Such a rate, in fact, a decidedly lower rate, on such sound security would ordinarily be very attractive to the moneyed man of Great Britain, for instance. Before the war two and a half billions of dollars, according to a reliable estimate, was invested by Great Britain in Canada. The bulk of the sum was placed in such prime issues as Dominion provincial and municipal bonds.

As world conditions return to a normal footing investors from abroad will turn again to Canada. It is not too much to expect that they will find in Victory Bonds a very attractive spot to place their money, and the value of these bonds should rise accordingly. Quotations on the bonds subscribed for in previous loans shows them selling for more than their cost, and this is an indication of what the future holds for the bonds of the coming loan.

British, American, French, Dutch, Belgian and other investors have always been eager to show their faith in Canada. Canadians can hardly be backward, particularly as the reward for the display of that faith is high.

"JIM"

JIM was a lineman before the war. It was difficult to find a uniform broad enough across the shoulders for him when he "joined up" in 1914.

Jim found army discipline hard at first, but picked up the "war business" very quickly. He was one of the first of the "trench raiders," a Canadian contribution to the art of warfare. Jim seemed to bear a charmed life. Time after time in the dead of night Jim jumped into a German trench, spreading fear and disaster, and returned safe and sound.

But one fell night his luck gave out. He stepped into a stream of machine gun bullets. When consciousness came to him again, far in the rear of our lines, he was horrified to find his right leg missing.

During the ensuing months Jim's progress was —Clearing Station,— Boulogne,— "Blighty" and Home—Canada!

The shock of the operation left Jim pretty weak for a time. He was content to sit idly in a chair in the sun. But this grew tiresome after a bit. When he began to think about getting back to work he realized that a lineman with an artificial leg was rather impractical. That was his trade. He had spent years at it. And now he was barred from following it.

At this critical juncture, the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment came forward and with knowledge and experience pointed the way out.

After long and earnest discussion, it was mutually decided that the nearest thing to his old trade was that of a telegrapher despatcher. If Jim couldn't any more string wires on the poles he could learn to send the messages over the wires that the other fellow put up. So under the direction of the D.S.C.R. telegraph instructor Jim studied and perfected himself as an operator. This accomplished, the D.S.C.R. quickly found him a position.

Jim is all right now. He's contented as only a man who works can be contented. He is earning more money than before. His enthusiasm is high for the D.S.C.R., which gave him the training whereby he is again an independent and prosperous citizen. After all, it was for Canada that Jim fought and suffered —and Canada is only too eager to repay Jim and every man impaired in body or health through service to his country.

• • • • • • •

The records of the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment contain endless details in the matter of re-training ex-soldiers—a disabled farm laborer is now a machinist; a carpenter who lost four fingers on his right hand is now a draughtsman at a good salary; a former plasterer is now a printer. So it goes—a long and interesting record of men deprived of limbs or impaired in health—equipped with training and knowledge, now following new and suitable trades.

This great nation-wide organization of the D.S.C.R. requires a considerable expenditure. To meet its expenses a part of the Victory Loan 1919 is to be used. But its maintenance, until every disabled ex-soldier is fitted with a vocation enabling him to earn for himself an adequate and independent living, is one of the most sacred obligations that Canada has to discharge. Support to the limit of your ability—the

VICTORY LOAN 1919

"Every Dollar Spent in Canada"

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.

CAUSE A FIRE AND GO TO JAIL.

In a recent issue of Saturday Night I called attention to the altogether too prevalent practice of garage employees smoking while they are filling gasoline tanks, and smoking about the garage at all times and under all circumstances, day and night. In the issue of August 30th we quoted the Revised Criminal Code in regard to causing fires. It reads in part: "Everyone is guilty of an indictable offence and liable to two years' imprisonment who by negligence causes any fire which occasions loss of life or loss of property."

From the reading of this amendment to the Criminal Code, it seems to me that any garage employee who, through his smoking and carelessness, sets fire to a garage is liable to two years' imprisonment, and any person entering a garage and smoking, or lighting matches and dropping them, is also liable to this same heavy penalty. Garage owners themselves are in a worse predicament, because the law goes further and says that a garage owner shall be deemed to have caused a fire through negligence if he has failed to obey the requirements of the law intended to prevent fires. It is just a question whether the garage owner will not be responsible for such negligence as smoking on the premises if it is carried on with his consent. At any rate, it behooves all parties working around garages to keep themselves free from the risk of spending a considerable proportion of two years in imprisonment on account of carelessly starting a fire on these premises.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

MR. VINCENT EASTWOOD WAS NAMED TO FILL VACANCY ON SCHOOL BOARD

WAS ELECTED BY BALLOT—MEMBERS INSIST ON A MALE TRUSTEE—REGULAR MEETING OF SCHOOL BOARD.

Last evening Mr. Vincent Eastwood was elected to fill the vacancy left on the Board of Education by the recent resignation of Mr. G. N. Gordon, at the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education. Upon the suggestion of Mr. J. Mendel Greene, seconded by Mr. A. A. Fowler, a ballot was taken which resulted in Mr. Eastwood's election. Mrs. W. R. Morris and Mr. Reid Munro were also named for the position.

Need Experienced Men.

Previous to the election, the Chairman, Mr. Roland Denne, in a short address, drew the Board's attention to the statement made by Sir William Hearst at his meeting this week, that the Technical Schools will doubtless pass the House at the next session, one third of the cost to come from the Ontario Government, one third from the Dominion Government and the other third from the city. With the crowded condition of the Collegiate Institute, for which provision must be made, the new school at present on hand and the Technical School to provide for, he asked that the Board consider the necessity of filling the vacancy with a man who has the time and would spend the time in furthering educational facilities in the city. Men, he said, were available who had left the Board and who had served in the office as members of the Board of Education, in a way in which they were to be congratulated in their dealing with other schools.

Advocated Mrs. Morris.

Mr. J. W. Worth strongly advocated the appointment of Mrs. W. R. Morris to fill the vacancy in consideration of her standing next in line in the last election. Next to those who were elected she had the confidence of the people, he reminded the Board. He argued that men who had never been on the Board previously had handled the biggest question ever attempted by the Board in the building of the new school, and had put it through successfully. If these new men had accomplished so much, any educated and first class citizen might be placed upon the Board, as a previous term is not a necessary qualification.

The Chairman stated, when the result of the election was announced, that if Mr. Eastwood will not accept the appointment another meeting will be called and another election held.

Dental Survey.

Mr. A. Mowat, Inspector of Public Schools, was authorized to make arrangements for a dental survey of the public schools. The survey, which will be purely educational, had been instituted by the department with Dr. Conroy, who has been appointed by the Province in charge. Dr. Conroy will co-operate with the local dentists for the work in the city.

P. C. I. Field Day.

The grant for the Field Day held annually by the Peterboro Collegiate Institute was raised last evening from $30 to $40, on motion of Mr. E. G. Patterson, seconded by Mr. J. A. McKone, upon Mr. Kenner's suggestion.

Commend Cadets.

Upon the reading of a highly congratulatory report from Colonel Gillespie on his inspection of the Collegiate Cadets, the Secretary was instructed to communicate with the boys, conveying the Board's appreciation for the splendid showing they made.

Donations of Pictures.

The Secretary was also instructed to acknowledge the gift of a steel engraving of the "play scene" from "Hamlet", which had recently been donated by Mrs. Denham, to be hung in the Collegiate Institute Hall, and a picture of "the Second Battle of Ypres" donated by Mrs. T. F. Mathews.

Contract Signed.

Mr. F. G. Patterson, Chairman of the Building Committee, reported that the contract for the building of the new school had been signed by Mr. R. Sheehy and forwarded to his sons in Paris, where it will probably be immediately signed.

Other Reports.

Reports from the School Nurse and the Truant Officer indicated an active time during September.

The Supervision Committee reported and recommended:

1st.—That Sewing Classes be commenced immediately in all the Public Schools, as recommended by the Inspector, and that the sum of $170.00 be expended on the purchase of materials required in connection therewith.

2nd.—That the Inspector's recommendation to have but one grade in Form 11 (Book 11) and cover the whole of the prescribed work in one year, be adopted.

3rd—That the request of the male teachers of the public school staff, for the privilege of holding a Field Day, be granted, and that the sum of $50.00 be granted them towards defraying the expenses in connection therewith.

4th.—That Dr. J. Malcolm McCulloch be appointed for the work of Medical Inspection in the Public Schools, for the term ending June 30th next and that he be paid for such services at the rate of $650.00 for the School Year.

RUSSIAN PREMIER WAS ARRESTED

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Advises to Helsingfors, Finland, report that Nikolai Lenine, Russian Bolshevik premier, has been placed under arrest in Moscow. Lenine ordered the arrest of Leon Trotzky, Soviet Minister of War, but failed to secure this, and instead was himself taken into custody.

If Constipated, Bilious or Headachy, take "Cascarets"

Sick headache, biliousness, coated tongue, or sour, gassy stomach—always trace this to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels.

Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels.

A Cascaret to-night will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep.

When hot grease has been soiled on wood dash cold water on to prevent the grease from soaking in.

CERTIFICATE GIVEN TO MRS. ANNIE EDGAR

Fallen Hero Honoured by Comrades and Commander.

Pittsburg Exchange: A memorial certificate in commemoration of the services of William E. Edgar has been received by Mrs. Annie Edgar of 808 Ann street, North Braddock. Edgar enlisted June 27, 1917, in Company D, 112th infantry, 28th Division, at the age of 21, and was killed October 8, 1918 in the Argonne forest.

The memorial certificate received by Mrs. Edgar is as follows:

"In memory of Private William E. Edgar, Co. D., 112th Infantry, who was killed in battle October 8, 1918. He bravely laid down his life for the cause of his country. His name will ever remain fresh in the hearts of his friends and comrades. The record of his honorable service will be preserved in the archieves of the American Expeditionary Forces." It is signed by John J. Pershing, commander in chief.

Try These SIMPLE TESTS

New York.—Doctor Cosman, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, says: Many men who smoke, chew or snuff tobacco habitually, and who are seemingly healthy, are suffering from progressive organic ailments. Thousands of them would never have been afflicted had it not been for the use of tobacco, and thousands would soon get well if they would only stop the use of tobacco. The chief habit-forming principle of tobacco is nicotine, a deadly poison, which when absorbed by the system slowly affects the nerves, membranes, tissues and vital organs of the body. The harmful effect of tobacco varies and depends on circumstances. One will be afflicted with general debility, others with catarrh of the throat, indigestion, constipation, extreme nervousness, sleeplessness, loss of memory, lack of will-power, mental confusion, etc. Others may suffer from heart disease, bronchial trouble, hardening of the arteries, tuberculosis, blindness, or even cancer or the common affliction known as tobacco heart. If you use tobacco in any form you can easily detect the harmful effects by making the following simple tests:—Read aloud one full page from a book. If in the course of reading your voice becomes rattled, hoarse and indistinct, and you must frequently clear your throat, the chances are that your throat is affected by catarrh, and it may be the beginning of more serious trouble. Next, in the morning before taking your usual smoke walk up three flights of stairs at a regular pace, then stop. If you find that you are out of breath, your heart beat is forced, trembling or irregular, you may be a victim of functional or organic heart trouble. If you feel that you must smoke, chew or snuff to quiet your nerves you are a slave to the tobacco habit, and are positively poisoning yourself with the deadly drug, nicotine. In either case you have just two alternatives—keep on with the self-poisoning process, irrespective of the dangers, and suffer the consequences, or give up the habit and escape the danger. You can now cease the craving and stop the habit in a very short time by using the following inexpensive formula: Go to any drug store and ask for Nicotol tablets, take one tablet after each meal, and in a comparatively short time you will have no desire for tobacco, the craving will have left you. With the nicotine poison out of your system your general health will quickly improve.

Note.—When asked about Nicotol tablets one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful remedy for the tobacco habit; away ahead of anything we have ever sold before. We are authorized by the manufacturers to refund the money to every dissatisfied customer, and we would not permit the use of our name unless the remedy possessed unusual merit." Nicotol tablets are sold in this city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all up-to-date druggists. (1)

MADE A NEW MAN OF HIM

A STATEMENT FROM A MAN WHO HAD INFLUENZA LAST FALL.

350 Yonge St., Sept. 30, 1919.

Sugar Products Co.,
443 Yonge Street, Toronto.

Sirs,—On Friday, Sept. 5th, I purchased a bottle of Bordo, and I am pleased to state in one week it has made a new man of me. Last fall I had influenza, and it left me in a run-down and nervous condition. I have tried several remedies without obtaining any good results, until I procured a bottle of Bordo, and since taking it I have a good appetite, have slept well and am back at work again. It gives me pleasure to recommend Bordo to the Canadian people, as I had practically lost confidence in medicines. But this preparation has certainly made a wonderful change in me. I find it not only beneficial but it is pleasant to take and helps digestion.—Yours truly, 2d-3-8 J. Wray.

HORSES CHEAPER.

London.—The value of horses in Western England and South Wales has slumped more than 20 per cent. The maximum price for heavier now is $300. The increasing use of popular priced automobiles from America is believed to be largely responsible for the depreciation in the value of the horse.

Notably Smart Are The Suits

Whether Elaborately Trimmed or Simplicity Itself

In the realm of Suits, Fashion has excelled herself as these models will illustrate. The length of Coat, uniqueness of collars, the judicious use of fur and in many cases the workings of silk embroidery give a piquancy that demands your acclamation Or if your taste be for something simple she has provided quiet models shorn of all coquettishness

EMPHASIZING THE STRAIGHT LINE SILHOUETTE is one of the many notable features of this charming number of Navy Blue Velour. The front is fastened with a series of fourteen black bone buttons that extend from throat to hem. The neck can be encased with a snug collar of opossum, when desired. The length of Coat is about three-quarters, and is slashed at the sides and handsomely embroidered with Silk. The hem is finished with a deep band of opossum. The sleeves are tailored and the cuffs are button-trimmed Lined throughout with Silver Grey Skinner's Satin. The Skirt is plain, and measures fifty inches around the bottom. Price $98.75

JUSTLY POPULAR IS MADURO BROWN—so we deem it wise to mention this Gabardine model, with its yoke back, from which fall three set-on pleats that are unrestricted from the waist line, and extend two inches below the hem. The belt is two inches wide, and is fastened with a single button in front. From the frontal yoke is a narrow pleat that finally curves gracefully, and results in a pocket. The collar is stole fashion, and buttons at the back. The sleeves are tailored and cuffs are finished with bone buttons to correspond with front. The lining is plain Brown Nipon. The two-piece Skirt has two cut-in pockets that are edged with perpendicular pleats. Price $75.00

THERE IS MORE TO BE SAID about the Coat than the Skirt—in fact, we could go on indefinitely about it. In brief, the material is Navy Blue Poplin, fashioned into a semi-tailored model. From the waist line the back is formed with a panel made of two pleats, with an inverted pleat down the centre, the top of which is finished with a Silk dart. From underneath the pocket flaps, that are edged with Black Military Braid, hang a loose box pleat. Connecting the front and back panels, as it were, are eight fine pin tucks, and each are capped with a black bone button. The collar is tailored in mannish fashion, and all seams are bound with Black Military Braid. Lined throughout with Light Blue Floral Poplin. The three-piece Skirt has two jutted pockets and a broad centre pleat at the back on the lower portion of which are five bone buttons. Price $69.00

Coats That Are Happy Combinations Of Style and Comfort

What more consideration could the style-makers show than to declare for the use of fur where it will best contribute to the warmth of the wearer or ordain that snug fitting collars be high in favor. In fact both style and comfort have received due consideration. The models on our second floor accurately portray the achievements of expert designers and manufacturers.

FALLING IN SWEEPING FULNESS so typical of the prevailing mode is this number of Prunella Velour. The sleeves are the set-in pattern and arranged with three rows of cord stitching around a large armhole. At either side is a wide panel, barred with ten rows of cord stitching, and each finished with a covered button. The front is belted in cross-over style. The cuffs are turned back and trimmed with three rows of cording, finished with three buttons. A large, fur fabric, Nutria collar buttons closely to the neck when desired. Half lined with floral Poplin. Price....$59.00

WITH ALL THE FULNESS OF A CAPE is this Coat with the Dolman sleeve. The material is Cathedral Green Velour. From the yoke back, pointing downward, are three cord tucks, and each finished with a button. The pockets are jutted and a string belt encircles the waist. The Kolinsky collar will contribute much comfort, and the wearer, on wintry days, will be conscious of the heavy Black Satinette lining. Price $55.00

THE MOTTLED EFFECT OF SILVERTONE VELOUR and the material itself has endeared itself to many women. The collar is Navy and the back is draped, giving a desirable fulness. The pockets are set-on, with imitation flaps trimmed with a solitary covered button. The collar is cross-over style, and the deep stitched down cuffs are button-trimmed. Price.... .... $49.00

Chicago Wins the Seventh Game 4-1

WHITE SOX AGAIN DEFEAT CINCINNATI, TIGHTENING UP THE SERIES—CICOTTE, AFTER LOSING HIS FIRST TWO STARTS, TAKES THE SCALP OF THE REDS IN HIS THIRD ATTEMPT

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 8.—Fighting with their backs to the wall, but hopeful despite their four defeats, the White Sox met the Reds to-day in the seventh game of the world series. Reds and the 32,000 fans who witnessed yesterday's ten innings battle felt confident that the contest would be a decisive one, and that before night the men of Moran would be proclaimed the baseball champions of the world. Manager Gleason of the White Sox decided to send Eddie Cicotte to the mound to face the Reds, while "Slim" Sallee was Manager Moran's pitching selection. The line-up for the game follows:

The weather was fair and cool.

First Innings.

Chicago.— J. Collins opened the game with a clean single through second base. E. Collins sacrificed, Sallee to Daubert, J. Collins going to second. It was a beautiful bunt. Weaver hoisted a long fly that Rousch got under, J. Collins holding second. Jackson singled to left, scoring J. Collins, but over-ran first and was caught between first and second. He got out of the trouble, however, when Daubert fumbled the ball on a toss from Kopf. Felsch bunted safely and Jackson took second. Gandil up. Felsch was forced when Gandil drove to Kopf, who tossed him out at second, Rath making the put out. Felsch is playing right field and J. Collins centre field for Chicago. Duncan and Kopf and Rath get an assist on Daubert's error. One run, three hits, one error.

Cincinnati.—Rath reached first safely when E. Collins allowed his grounder to go through him, Collins being charged with an error. Dalbert popped a high fly to E. Collins. Groh struck out. Rousch up. Collins grabbed Rousch's drive and tossed to Risberg, forcing Rath. No runs, no hits, one error.

Second Innings.

Chicago.—Kopf threw out Risberg at first. It was a fast grounder and well handled. Schalk flied to Neale, who took it after a long run toward centre field. Cicotte up. Groh took Cicotte's slow bounder and threw to Dalbert for the put out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Duncan smashed at the first pitched ball and hoisted a high fly to J. Collins in centre. Kopf drove a liner into left centre for a clean single. Neale fouled out to Weaver, the latter taking it near third base and holding Kopf at first. Kopf was out stealing, Schalk to Risberg. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Third Innings.

Chicago.—J. Collins singled through the box. It was a hard hit ball that bounced off Sallee's glove. E. Collins beat out a bounder that Kopf couldn't get over to in time, J. Collins going to second. Weaver attempted to sacrifice but fouled the ball. Kopf took Weaver's tap and stepped on second, forcing E. Collins. He claimed that Collins interfered with his throw to catch Weaver and Rigler allowed it, ordering Weaver out. Jackson singled to centre, scoring J. Collins. Felsch forced Jackson, Kopf to Rath. Kopf got the ball in deep short and the play at second was very close. One run, three hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.—Cicotte lost temporary control and walked Wingo, the first man up. Sallee flied to Felsch in right, the latter getting it on the foul line, Wingo holding first. Rath forced Wingo, Risberg to E. Collins. Daubert drove a hot one to Cicotte, who speared it with one hand and tossed him out at first. No runs, no hits no errors.

Fourth Innings.

Chicago.— Gandil flied to Neale, who came into short right field to get it. Daubert reached over the right foul line fence to the box seats and grabbed Risberg's foul. Schalk reached first on a hit that Groh made a great stop op, but could not get it over to first in time. Cicotte lifted a floater that Rousch took care of. No runs, one hit, no errors.

Cincinnati.— Groh bounced one to E. Collins and the White Sox second sacker took his time to throw for the put out. Rousch went out the same way, E. Collins to Gandil. Weaver threw out Duncan at first, getting the ball on a bound and getting it to Gandil ahead of the runner. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Fifth Innings.

Chicago.— J. Collins hit the first ball pitched and it resulted in a high fly that Neale took care of. E. Collins drove a clean single through second base into centre field. Weaver reached first when Groh fumbled his drive, E. Collins reaching second. Jackson up Rath booted Jackson's grounder and he was safe at first, filling the bases. Felsch singled to Rousch, scoring E. Collins and Weaver, Jackson holding second. This was enough for Sallee, and Fisher went in for Cincinnati. Fisher threw out Gandil at first. Jackson took third and Felsh went to second. Fisher slipped as he picked up the ball, but managed to get his man. Risberg fanned. Two runs, two hits, two errors.

Cincinnati.—Kopf up. The umpire examined the ball, but tossed it back to Cicotte. Kopf sent a high fly to Jackson, the latter getting it easily. Neale singled to left; it was a clean drive. Wingo walked, Neal going to second. Fisher was called from the plate by Manager Moran, and Ruether batted for him. Luque was warming up for the Reds. Ruether up. The crowd cheered madly. Ruether popped an easy foul to Weaver, Neale holding second and Wingo first. James began to warm up for Chicago. Rath was out. Weaver to Gandil. Rath broke his bat when he hit the ball.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Sixth Innings.

Chicago.—Luque now pitching for Cincinnati. Schalk hoisted a high one that Duncan took care of. Cicotte switched his batting position to the left side. He struck out. J. Collins hit one past Groh that went for a double. It was a hard hit, and Duncan fielded it in the extreme left field. E. Collins struck out, but Wingo dropped the ball and had to throw to Daubert to get him.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Up to this juncture Cicotte had pitched a masterly game, only two singles being made off his delivery.

Cincinnati.—Daubert struck out the third ball being called on him. Groh doubled to left, the ball clearing the fence in front of the bleachers and rolling under them. It was held to a two-baser by the ground rules. Cicotte grabbed Rousch's bounder and tossed him out at first, while Groh was going to third. Duncan put a clean single through the pitcher's box, Groh trotting home. E. Collins took Kopf's grass cutter, and tossed to Risberg, forcing Duncan at second for the third out.

One run, two hits, no errors.

Seventh Innings.

Chicago.—Weaver fouled off several, and then struck out, the third one being called on him. Rath grabbed Jackson's grounder and retired him easily at first. Felsch fanned, taking a good swing at the final one, but missing it.

No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati. — Neale struck out, Wingo walked. His third pass to first to-day. Luque fanned. Rath singled to centre. It was a clean hit that J. Collins fielded fast, and Wingo got no further than second. Daubert was out at first when E. Collins got his drive and tossed to Gandil. Collins momentarily fumbled the ball, and the play was close, but Nallin called Daubert out.

No runs, one hit, no errors.

Eighth Innings.

Chicago.—Kopf went away back into left, and took Gandil's lefter. Risberg lifted a high one that Rousch got under, but muffed. Risberg tried to make second, and was thrown out, Rousch to Rath. Kopf got Schalk's hard drive, and making a beautiful throw to first, nailed him.

No runs, no hits, one error.

Cincinnati.— Groh drove a liner out to left that Jackson camped under and captured. E. Collins got Rousch's bounce near second and threw to Gandil for the put out. Risberg got Duncan's roller and retired him at first. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Ninth Innings.

Chicago.—Cicotte fanned on three pitched balls. J. Collins' foul hit only a few inches outside the line in right field. Rousch came over into left centre and captured J. Collins' drive. E. Collins out, Rath to Daubert. No runs, no hits, no errors.

Cincinnati.— Kopf up. E. Collins took Kopf's high fly. Neale flied to Jackson. Wingo singled through E. Collins into right field. Magee batting for Luque. Magee singled into right, Wingo holding second. Rath up. Smith ran for Magee. Rath flied to Felsch. No runs, two hits, no errors.

Final Score.

Producing Goods at Lower Cost

The higher cost of materials and labor, and the keenness of competition, make it necessary for manufacturers to produce their products at the lowest possible cost.

This means that more quantity must be turned out without increasing the manufacturing over-head, otherwise profits are bound to suffer.

Efficiency of equipment must be made greater today than ever before. This is where the remarkable performance of demonstrates its superiority for every transmission purpose.

Dominion Friction Surface Belting

It helps to produce goods at lower cost by eliminating power waste, by its long life, by preventing idle employees and machines, by its low up-keep cost, by its elimination of most transmission troubles.

Let our engineers go over your plant and demonstrate to you that Dominion Friction Surface Belting will help produce your goods at lower cost.

This confers no obligation or cost, and every suggestion is subject to your approval.

COBB MAY SUCCEED HUGHEY AS MANAGER OF THE TIGERS

TY'S FRIENDS SAY HE WOULD MAKE AN IDEAL LEADER.

The dismal failure of the Detroit Tigers to win the American League pennant this season may result in a change of management. The Detroit players are blaming Huhley Jennings for the slump that has backed them down into fourth position. They insist that proper handling of the Tigers' pitchers by Jennings would have landed the team in the world's series instead of the White Sox, for which reason the members of the Detroits are extremely disgruntled.

If President Navin of the Tigers decides to let Jennings go the Detroit players declare that the new manager will be Tyrus Raymond Cobb. In fact, the players are anxious to have Cobb appointed head of the team. They say that the Georgia Peach frequently has made valuable suggestions to Jennings this year, but that the latter has turned them down.

Cobb's friends on the team also assert that Jennings has started several yarns to the effect that the celebrated Ty has been causing dissension and really is to blame for the Detroits' loss of prestige. They accuse Jennings of jealousy and a desire to get rid of the $20,000 center fielder. Cobbs' friends insist that he would prove successful as manager of the team, for the reason that he possesses the same winning qualities that have made Tris Speaker a capable leader of the Cleveland Indians.

To a man up a tree it looks as if President Navin soon will have to choose between Cobb and Jennings before the Tigers can be expected to make a winning fight for the pennant in 1920.

EXCELLENT ENGLISH IN BASEBALL BRIEF

NEW YORK, Oct. 6.—It is indeed an ill rain that wets nobody good, so the idle gang got hold of the brief filed by the attorneys for the Colonels in the case against Ban Johnson. Ban got the wetting. The gleaners got some excellent specimens of literature for the winter book.

Yo, Ho! and a bottle of rum! Get this one.

In reply to Mr. Baldwin, Johnson's attorney, who said that Ban "comprehended the whole planetary system of the eight clubs," one of the Colonelistic barristers uncorked the following:

"Mr. Baldwin's portrayal of his client was— and necessarily was — that of a sort of baseball behemoth, of whom it might well be said, in the words of Job:

"'Lo now, his strength is in his loins, and his force is in the muscles of his belly.

He moveth his tail like a cedar.

His bones are as tubes of brass.

His limbs are like bars of iron.

He is the chief of the ways of God.'"

That, we claim, is entitled to the brown iron boiler. In his quotingest moments, those days when he prided himself on his recitation of "Maud Muller," never dug down far enough to come up with one like that.

The gang'll say this case is well worth while.

There are any number of instances most of which have been outlined in these columns, where the blistering ointment was applied to Ban's activities, but the above is about the best that can be done in the way of quotations for the present.

Salad should always be cold and perfectly crisp.

CLAIMS THE DELAY IN TRAIN SERVICE RESPONSIBLE FOR DEATH OF LITTLE GIRL

ATTENTION OF THE GOVERNMENT CALLED TO AN INCIDENT IN CONNECTION WITH A BIG POLITICAL PICNIC HELD IN HASTINGS COUNTY IN AUGUST LAST.

Hybia, Ont., Oct. 6.—Was the death of six-year-old Hazel Thompson merely a tragedy of the backwoods that was unavoidable, or were there contributing circumstances which were avoidable?

Mr. Joseph Archambault, M.P. for Chambly-Versheres, has signified his intention of questioning the Government regarding an incident which occurred on the Canadian National Railway from Trenton north to Maynooth, Ont., formerly the Central Ontario Railway, on August 20, 1st, and of asking whether it is the intention of the Government to make an immediate inquiry regarding the facts.

It has been reported that on August 20, R. H. Thompson of Hybia, Ontario, a station on the C. N. R., 96 miles north of Trenton, with his six year old daughter, Hazel, who was attacked by appendicitis, boarded the train at Hybia, intending to take her to the Hospital for Sick Children at Toronto to undergo an operation. On that day there was a political convention addressed by Sir William Hearst, E. Guss Porter, Hon. T. W. McGarry and others at Marmora, another station on the same line of railway, and it had been directed that the train remain at Marmora from 3.05 p. m. when it arrived, until 6 p. m. in order to convenience those who were atetnding the convention. As a result Mr. Thompson arrived at Toronto 24 hours later than he would have had the ordinary schedule of te railway been observed. Te child died 22 hours after the operation.

On August 19, Dr. A. T. Embury, the nearest physician who lives at Bancrof, a town ten miles south of Hybia, and ten miles by rail and seven by buckboard from Mr. Thompson's home, visited the child, pronounced it a case of appendicitis and advised Mr. Thompson to take the child as soon as possible to a capable surgeon.

Expected Usual Train.

On Wednesday, August 20 Thompson drove the seven miles over the rocky roads of North Hastings to Hybia, expecting, according to the usual schedule to board the train at Hybia at 11.47 a.m., arrive at Trenton at 4.45 p.m., and arrive at Toronto at 9 p.m.

Hybia is a flag station, 96 miles north of Trenton. There is no agent, the station is merely for the convenience of the sparse population, and two or three houses form a village, if it may be called a village.

Thompson says that just before the train pulled out, the conductor informed him that the train would be held that day at Marmora, which is 65 miles south of Hybia, from 3.05 p.m. until 6 p.m., making it impossible to conect with train No. 5 going to Toronto from Trenton that night.

Thompson says that he had not heard of the change in the schedule, and that if he had been informed concerning it, he could have motored earlier that morning to Bancroft, 17 miles from his home, taken the 8.30 a.m. train from Bancroft west to Howland and the G. T. R. train from Howland to Toronto.

As the child was ill, Thompson felt it useless to return home, so went to Bancroft, where lived the doctor who had atended his daughter. Dr. Embury met them at the station, and they stayed at Bancroft until the next day. On August 21, father and child arrived at Toronto at 9 p.m., and the girl was operated upon immediately at the Hospital for Sick Children. At first the operation was thought to be very successful, but 22 hours later, between eight and nine o'clock on the evening of August 22, she died. Mr. Thompson's wife who had also been ill., died three weeks later, on September 13.

Didn't Know of Delay.

James Bartlett ,who lives within 100 feet of the station at Hybia, says that he did not know that the train was to be delayed until it arrived at 11.07 a.m. on Aug. 20th. He says that no notice was posted in the station, and that several passengers arrived, but on hearing that they could not reach Toronto that night they returned home.

H. J. Vandervoort, the conductor of the train, says that he suggested to Thompson that he take the child to the Belleville Hospital, as he would have reached Trenton at 8.30 that night, and could have boarded a train at Trenton at 9 p.m. for Belleville. Thompson preferred, however, not to go to Belleville. The conductor says that he heard some days before that the train was to be delayed at Marmora on the 20th, and received an official notice on the 19th. He could not say whether notices advertising the delay were posted or not.

Dr. A. T. Embury of Bancroft said that he had diagnosed the case as appendicitis on the 19th, but that the child had been ill for some time. He advised Thompson to go to a surgeon at once. Dr. Embury did not remember having seen an advertisement of the change in the schedule, and he only heard of it on the morning of the 20th. He made inquiries and found that the next train Thompson could get from Trenton to Toronto because of the delay, would be at 3.45 a.m., August 21, reaching Toronto at 7.35 a.m., which would necessitate travelling all night. He thought it better the child should remain at Bancroft under his care, so he went to the station with a motor. He said that the delay might have made the difference in the success of the operation.

Knew a Week Before.

H. B. Smith, the agent for the C. N. R. at Bancroft, is of the opinion that he received word of the delay about a week before August 20, but says that a notice of the change in schedule was only posted on the billboard at Bancroft on August 20th, the day of the convention at Marmora.

The C. N. R. at Toronto, said that on August 14, notices were sent to all agents, conductors, section foremen, postmasters, general storekeepers and liverymen in the neighborhood of the Trenton-Maynooth line of the C. N. R. Mr. Fairbairn said that such temporary changes in the time table were necessary in serving the people on that line of railway, that the people expected and demanded them, and that similar delays were made on all similar lines of railway in Canada. Similar delays had been made in the schedule of the railway for the Picton fair and for the Bancroft Fair on October 3. The delay on August 20 had not been advertised in the local newspapers because the delay had been decided upon on Thursday, August 14, and took place on Wednesday, August 20, and it would have been useless to advertise in weekly papers published on Tuesday or Wednesday, as they would not have reached their subscribers in time to inform them.

The mailing list of the C. N. R. at Toronto shows that on August 14 notices of the special services were sent to the following people, some of them living very short distances from Thompson's home at Monteagle Valley, Ontario: Postmaster, Monteagle Valley; A. Kernighan, president Conservative Association, Monteagle Valley; Bartlett Bros., merchants Monteagle Valley; and to the following at Hybia, Thompson's railway station; Postmaster, Hybia, Geo. Woodcock, Hybia; Walter Beecham, secretary-treasurer, school section, Hybia; Jos. Solmes, section foreman, Hybia; Chas. Jordan, Monteagle Valley. The post office is within one hundred yards of Thopmson's home.

In the opinion of Dr. Robertson of the Hospital for Sick Children, who performed the operation, the child had been ill for nine or ten days, and the delay caused by the change in the schedule of the railroad was not as fatal as the earlier delay in the first stages of the formation of the abscess in the appendix. He said that the patient had made a favorable recovery immediately after the operation.

Comes Before Government.

Joseph Archambault, M. P. for Chambley-Vercheres has written to Mr. R. H. Thompson, Monteagle Valley P. O., which is 7 miles from Hybia, under date of Sept. 30, informing him that he had heard of the unfortunate incident and adding

"I have called the attention of the Government to this extraordinary action and they have ruled my question out of order. I would therefore be greatly obliged if you could give me an exact story of the facts mentioned, the exact dates and details of what happened. In my opinion, this is a most damnable action on the part of the C. N. R. officials, if true, and as the representative of the people, I cannot let it pass wihout notice. Therefore, if the story is true, I intend, with your permission, to ask the adjournment of the House for the discussion of the matter. Hoping that you will not consider my action as indiscreet, but that I wish to bring this matter up in the public interest.

The summary of the facts is that an August 20 the C. N. R. as it had been in the habit of doing, changed its schedule to oblige the majority of its patrons. In its own interests, the C. N. R. advertised this change as widely as it thought necessary, but in such a sparsely settled country they apparently failed to reach at least one man living 7 miles from a station at which there was no agent. That man on that day urgently required the regular services of the train to take his child to where he could obtain the services of a surgeon. No one can say positively whether the delay affected the success of the operation or not.

Voice Of The People

AN AMUSING SOCIETY

To the Editor of the Examiner,—

Sir,—It is very entertaining to watch from day to day the campaign that is being conducted by the Liberty League. They do not wish the return of the bars; not they. They think that would be very wicked. Nevertheless, they advise us all to vote yes to the first question on the ballot, although we have the word of the Prime Minister, that the legal effect of this would be to revive the license law and bring back the bars. But, they say, vote for repeal and then take chances on what the government will do. In other words roll up a tremendous vote that on its very face would appear to indicate a revulsion of feeling regarding the O.T.A., and then trust to the politicans to do the rest. And we are expected to call this government by the people! Apparently night schools are badly needed to teach the first principles of Democracy. Then they tell us that our liberties are being so seriously curtailed that it is necessary to start a new organization to prevent us all from being made slaves. And when we look into this statement we find exactly what we always find when we crack a bad nut, that there is nothing in it.

Then they tell us emphatically that "the purpose of the League is to fight the prohibitionists," and at the same time they indignantly deny that the purpose of the League is to help the liquor traffic.

Then they put up an orator, who assures us that although he has been a Liberal drinker all his life, he now at the age of eighty enjoys vigorous health, and that his father, who was also a bird of the same plumage, was equally virile. This little yarn goes very nicely until the next day when his brother contradicts the whole story, and declares that the orator is only sixty. Then the Liberty Leaguer calmly admits that his stage name is Anasias, and he appears to be proud of it. The entertainment is kaleidoscopic, but it can hardly be termed high class. A man once put the following sign over the door of his little wood-working shop: "All kinds of twisting and turning done here". Possibly he would be kind enough to lend that sign to the Liberty League. It is very amusing to read long letters from Liberty Leaguers that fairly bristle with quotations from the Scriptures. Imagine anyone going to the Good Book to bolster up a bad cause! This reminds me of the old story of the two shipwrecked sailors who were cast adrift in a small boat. Their case being desperate it was suggested that one of them offer a prayer. But they both said they did not know how to pray or to sing a hymn. So finally one sailor said "Well mate we have simply got to do something religious, so I propose that we take up a collection." This is precisely the position of the Liberty League. To bolster up their cause they start in to quote Scripture by the yard. Their quotations may or may not, be germane to the question, but that is neither here nor there, for, like the sailor, they have, at least, "done something religious."

And what is the occasion of all of these performances? They are simply frantic efforts to bring on a repeal of an act that, although defective, has done such a vast amount of good, notably in improving living conditions for helpless women and poor little children, and in many other ways, that a great many men, formerly opposed to prohibition, including a number of very prominent Anglican clergymen, have publicly announced that, because of these good results, they are now supporters of the act. To quote the words of a deservedly obscure poet:

Why do they tell us the beer is so light,
When they know its so strong it would make us all tight,
And why do they shout for the cause of the free,
When all that they want is to go on the spree."

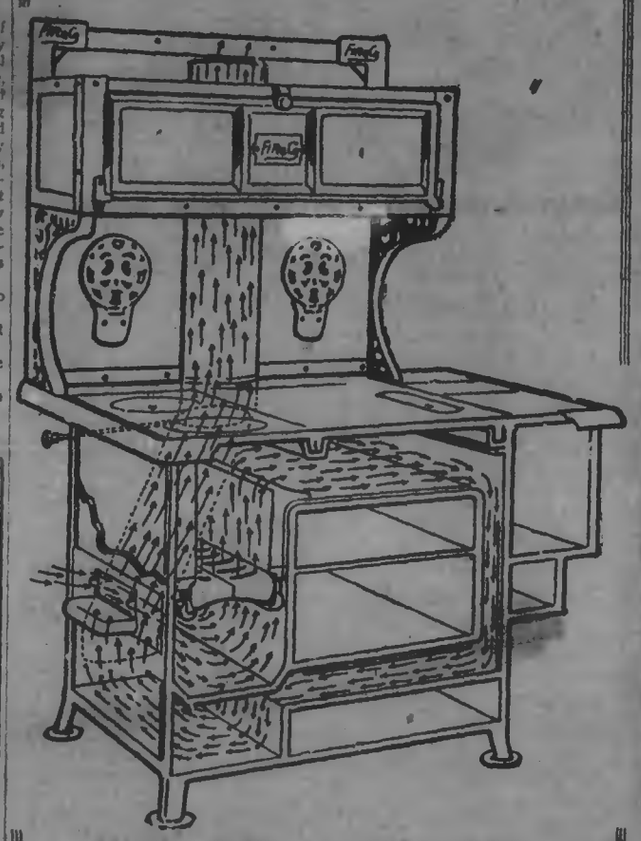
Economize In Fuel



THE FiReCo., RANGE

In the FiReCo Range the fire travel is LONGER than in any other range. The longer the flue, the less heat escapes up the chimney. The flues in the range being exceedingly large lessens the friction in the fire travel, and therefore assists the chimney in doing its work. The exceptionally large flue above the oven forms a SECOND COMBUSTION CHAMBER, and materially increases the efficiency of the fuel.

The burning of escaping gases in the second combustion chamber is a real source of ECONOMY, and at the same time enables one to use soft coal as a kitchen fuel. In this Range the BLACK SMOKE IS CONSUMED into ashes, and therefore not deposited as unburned carbon or soot, which clogs the flues and prevents the use of soft coal as a fuel in the ordinary kitchen range. Any variety of SOFT COAL is an IDEAL FUEL in the FiReCo Range.

The Dominion Government Test, made on 25th November, 1918, PROVES THIS ABSOLUTELY.

Saves Fuel

The FiReCo Range has been built and designed for the particular purpose of saving fuel. Thousands of people using this Range now tell us that ONE BUCKET of coal in a FiReCo Range or Heater will do your Cooking, Baking, or Heating more satisfactorily than TWO BUCKETS in any other Range or Heater.

MARY PICKFORD A SENSATION IN "REBECCA OF SUNNYBROOK FARM

To be Held over to-day owing to the Tremendous demand for seats.—Come early to the Allen.

The demand for seats to see Mary Pickford, the popular star has been so great that the management could not accommodate all those wishing to see this wonderful picture. By popular demand Mr. Rosenthal late last night wired and 'phoned Toronto cancelling the showing of this picture at another Allen Theatre, and is holding little Mary for one more day. Those who have not seen this splendid photoplay are advised to come early in order not to incur any dissappointment. Special arrangements have been provided to handle the crowd that is expected, as dozens of requests have been asked of the managment by people who wish to bring their children along and see the picture over again. The orchestra will provide delightful music in keeping with the theme.

It is unnecessary to again relate the story of this photoplay, as everyone is familiar with the book. But no book can adequately describe a circus such as dear little Mary presents to the audience. Only a picture directed by a master director, and played by a star of such stellar attainments as our own little Mary Pickford is, can properly present a picture such as is "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm." The first showing will be at 6:45 and again at 9:15. This is positively the last chance to see this picture in Peterborough. Don't miss it, worth seeing twice. WHAT ED. HARMON THINKS OF "MICKEY"

FAMOUS AUTHOR, H. C. WITWER WRITES ABOUT GREAT PRODUCTION "MICKEY."

At a private showing of the famous photoplay "Mickey," which will be shown at the Grand Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Mr. H. C. Witwer, the brilliant and witty author, made a remark that afterwards materialized in a letter as memorable as his famous "Baseball to Boches" stories.

"Joe ought to know about this," he said.

And the following week this characteristic letter was received:

A Atlantic Port—
By the name of New York

Dear Joe—

Well, Joe, I have just seen a movie which makes them other pictures look like osteopath views, or whatever they call them things you look at with a magnifyin' glass. This here is some picture, Joe, I'll tell the world, and the name of it is Mickey. Me and Jeanne went to see it on account of not bein' able to get seats for the Fifth Avenue Library, and maybe we ain't glad, Joe. I'll say we are, only Jeanne, she's afraid that feller will come and collect, and maybe she's right, Joe, because in this here burg you never could get nothin' for nothin" except we saw this for nothin.' Well, Joe, they is more action in this thing than they was at the battle of the Marne, and they ain't a dull minute from the time Mickey makes her first grin at the audience till she starts on her honeymoon and the like, with the handsome and good-lookin' young hero. Mabel Normandy is Mickey, and she is some dame, believe me! Joe, she can swim, ride, scrap, dance, and oh, boy, how she can love! Joe, if I wasn't in the war, I would rather be in the movies, especially one with Mabel Normandy in it. If the leadin man in Mickey gets any wages it is a outrage, because he does nothin' but make love to Mabel Normandy from start to finish, and if I could do that I would pay the people which made the picture.

Well, Joe, I can't tell you all about this movie, because then you would save the money, and not go when they play it where you are, but I will say that they is the greatest horse race, for instance, in it I ever seen. It is the same as the real thing, only better, and I bet the guy next to me fifty bucks on Mickey a place, Joe. Well, Joe, Mickey win it, pulled up, and this big stiff wouldn't pay off because he says it's only a movie, and he don't think the others was tryin'. Joe, if it hadn't been for Jeanne I would of bust him then and there but he was big and tough, anyways, Joe, and they is times when discretion is better than a punch in the nose. Joe, they is also a fight in this picture between the hero and the villain which would make the war look like a game of bean bag. Joe, these guys fight with everything but axes, and wrecks a house doin' it, whilst Mickey is hangin' by her nails from the roof. Well, Joe, I got so excited they was as many people lookin at me as at the picture, and Jeanne gets sore and says if I am so stuck on Mabel Normandy what did I get married for. Well, Joe, with that they was nothin' for me to do but shut up, and anyways, they was some guys in back of me invited me to do the same, because they claimed they come to see Mickey, and not to hear me.

Joe, the first time you get a furlow go and see this here picture because Mickey is the greatest thing that was ever throwed on a screen, and the rest of them is just plain movies.

Yours truly,
ED. HARMON

SEASON'S MUSICAL COMEDY SENSATION

Direct Form George M. Cohan Theatre, New York, Comes "The Kiss Burglar.

Those who have been seeking something new in musical comedy will find it in Coutt's and Tennis' smacking musical comedy success, "The Kiss Burglar," which comes fresh from its Broadway run of six solid months at the George M. Cohan Theatre, New York. It contains novelty in incident and action, and animated movement, pretty music, graceful dancing and charming acting. Glen MacDonough wrote the book and lyrics and no doubt has more successes to his credit than any other librettist of the day, which embrace "The Algerian," the novelty musical comedy in which Marie Tempest met with her biggest success. 'Babes in Toyland," "It Happened in Nordland," "The Midnight Sons," "Queen of the Movies," "Fades and Fancies," but in the work of his latest success, "The Kiss Burglar," he has surpassed himself. Raymond Hubbell composed the music and he knows what the American public likes. There are no melodic eccentricities such as we have found within the last two years in some of the foreign operettas, but attractive and beautiful airs, easily caught and remembered, and that will soon be picked up and carried everywhere. The engagement in Peterborough will be for one day only at the Grand Theatre, Saturday, matinee and evening, and will be looked upon with great interest, as a carefully selected cast has been selected, including the original complete production. Sale of seats starts Thursday at 10 a.m.

GUY BROTHERS.

The Guy Brothers Minstrels shall appear at the Grand, on Friday evening.

The curtain shall rise at 8.15 p.m. With the company the Guy Brothers carry this season we expect to see a capacity house facing this wonderful organization.

Don't fail to be there at 8.15 p.m., at the rise of the curtain an dsee this beautiful first part setting. This scene alone is well worth the price of admission. There are new songs, new jokes, grand concert orchestra; everything is up to date! Nothing will be duplicated this season. The show runs for two hours and a half with no waits. Something doing all the time and as in every town and city this company has appeared in this season the audience has gone home well satisfied.

HOW MOTION PICTURE STARS DEVELOP

There's a little chap in Harry Carson's "The Unpardonable Sin," who will bear watching. Some of these days his connection with "The Unpardonable Sin," how he "horned into" the cast, and the manner in which he acquitted himself will answer some person's question as to just how the real stars on the motion picture screen are developed.

The boy in question is Wesley Barry. He is one of California's younger "native sons," Los Angeles, Cal., where most of "The Unpardonable Sin" was made, has for a very considerable portion of its population people who are actively engaged in the production of motion pictures. Big studios by the score are located in the city or its suburbs, and many a debutante picks up her pin money by working as an "extra" when something out of the ordinary is being filmed. For this reason Wesley was only playing true to form when he tried his luck around the studios, but a real gold spoon was thrust into his mouth when Marshall Neilan, the well-known director, took him under his protecting wing. Wesley had had a lot of inside tips on "how to act" before the motion camera, although his real opportunity did not present itself until "The Unpardonable Sin" was put in work and one of the "fattest" roles in the piece entrusted to his care. Wesley plays the part of a nervy little American boy who has been "put right up against it" in Belgium during the time of the German invasion. He had been a member of his Boy Scout organization back in Kansas and had learned his lessons in self-reliance particularly well. Just how in company with a chance acquaintance from the Belgian branch of the same world-wide organization, he managed to alleviate misery and suffering by matching his wits against the more stolid ones of some adults with the wrong point of view, provided a number of the lighter scenes of the big photoplay production.

"The Unpardonable Sin" have built up a photoplay by the producers which will be enthusiastically welcomed by all classes of people. The love story unfolded between the two principal characters has both tenderness and excitement. There is spectacle galore in the big scenes which have been used. There is food for thought in the clever titles, with foot-notes from Nietzche, Europe's mad philosopher, which have been used.

Eugene Walter's Celebrated Play Provides Beautiful Star With Fine Role.

Will Appear at the Allen Theatre To-morrow

Appearing in one of the best roles of her screen career, Pauline Frederick, the beautiful Paramount star, will be seen in her new photoplay years "Paid in Full," at the Allen Theatre on Thursday, October 9, only. This ... adapted by Charles E. Whittaker and directed by Emile Chautard, is a powerful one and deals with the trials of a young woman who is the wife of a shiftless and improvident clerk. He steals a large sum of money from his employer, a chandler known as Captain Williams, and to avoid prosecution he sends his wife to his employer as his intermediary.

The old Captain seeks to ensnare the wife in his toils, but when a breezy westerner, who secretly loves the woman, threatens to kill him if he takes advantage of her helplessness, he gives up the game and sends her away with a letter exonerating her husband. SHOWS COMING TO THE GRAND THIS SEASON

LIST OF PRODUCTIONS FOR OCTOBER AND NOVEMBER

An incomplete list of productions at the Grand Theatre until the end of November shows eight of the best shows that Broadway has produced so far this year, the biggest of which is "Biff Bang, Bing," with eighty people and which has lately returned from Europe, where it played to the soldiers. It is known to the returned men as "The Dumb Bells," and is one of the greatest musical comedies travelling the road. Next Saturday sees "The Kiss Burglar," one of the greatest of the Klaw and Erlanger's shows out this season. Manager Dahn intends to have a straight run of shows this season every Thursday, Friday and Saturday and it is quite possible that Peterboro theatre-goers will be treated to "Chu, Chin, Chou," which could not book for this city last season. The list which follows is far from complete and it is likely that twice the number of productions mentioned will come here to the end of November. Only one on the list is a movie and that is "Mickey," which has brought the crowds wherever it was shown. "Little Red Riding Hood" is an English production by Stewart White, the same playwright who made "Cinderella" such a huge success:

October 10.—Guy Brothers Minstrels.
October 11.—"The Kiss Burglar."
October 13, 14, 15.—"Mickey."
October 16.—"Oh Boy."
October 18.—"My Soldier Girl."
October 24.—"Biff, Bang Bing."
November 8.—"Mutt and Jeff."
November 22.—Bringing Up Father."
November 29.—"Little Red Riding Hood."

UNABLE TO WORK FOR FIVE MONTHS

TORONTO MAN HAD GIVEN UP HOPE OF EVER GETTING WELL—TANLAC RESTORES HIM

"My wonderful improvement since taking Tanlac has astonished many persons who knew how sick I was before," said E. M. Easton, of 6 Cavall street, Toronto, Ont.

"I had suffered from stomach trouble for seven or eight years," he continued, "and couldn't get a thing to relieve me. My appetite failed, nothing agreed with me and gas would form on my stomach and bloat me up terribly. My heart would palpitate so I could hardly get my breath, and finally I got so bad off that I had to quit working. I fell off considerably in weight and felt that my case was hopeless.

"Since taking Tanlac I feel like a new man. I have gained eight pounds, my appetite is just fine and I eat three big meals every day and haven't a sign of indigestion. A few bottles of Tanlac have done us more good than anything else I have ever taken put together, and I never miss a day from my work now. I am glad to recommend Tanlac, for it certainly fixed me up all right."

Tanlac is sold in Peterborough by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Limited; in Havelock by A. C. Denike, in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., Ltd; in Fowlers Corners by W. A. Hunter; in Gelert by A. J. Scott; in Westwood by G. Pringle & Son.

REFERENDUM RESULT IS HARD TO JUDGE

THERE WILL LIKELY BE A LARGE NUMBER OF SPOILED BALLOTS.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 8.—There is quite a body of opinion here in favor of the sale of liquor under Government supervision and it is possible that the counting of the ballots after the taking of the Referendum on October 20 will show a majority answering "Yes" to question No. 4 on the ballot.

The "Drys" have been quite active in organizing and when the lists were being compiled submitted something like five hundred names had to be added to the polls in this riding. Comparatively few meetings have been held though Emerson Hunt of the Anti-Saloon League of Dakota spoke here and also Mrs. W. P. Becker, Toronto in the interests of Prohibition.

Whatever organization the "Wets" have is working quietly, though signs that it is at work are not wanting.

It is, of course, impossible to tell just how the vote will go, but there seems to be comparatively little chance that it will favor the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act. One man who has always been active in the liquor organization here in the past, said: "There will be so many 'No's' in answer to the first question that the 'Drys' themselves will wonder where they came from."

One thing that makes the situation hard to judge is the fact that the prospect is that there will be a great many spoiled ballots. Tests were made at a meeting of the Women Prohibitionists here last week, and very few of those tried marked their ballots correctly.

CONVENTION OPENS HERE TO-MORROW

TEACHERS WILL MEET IN THE PUBLIC LIBRARY.

The annual convention of the Teachers Institute for the City of Peterboro will be opened in the lecture hall of the Public Library on Thursday morning at 9.30 o'clock, and an unusually interesting programme will be presented. The public is cordially invited to attend all meetings.

The Programme.

On Thursday morning at the conclusion of the reading of the minutes of last meeting and the Treasurer's report, the appointment of the Nominating Committee will be held and the report of the delegates of the O. E. A. presented. Recent regulations and instructions will be outlined and the morning session concluded by the roll call and general business.

In the afternoon a lecture "The Nature Study Course" will be given by Mr. M. N. Clark, B. A., on "The Schools of To-morrow," by Miss M. O'Connell and Mr. A Mowat, B. A. on "Art in the Schools," by Miss G. McCabe, and a solo by Miss E. Eagleson. In the evening the feature of the programme, which will be given in the Collegiate Hall, will be an address "Richard Brinsley Sheridan: Dramatist, Wit and Statesman," by Dr. Rigby of Port Hope. The rest of the evening will be devoted to musical numbers, contributed by a Quartette, Messrs. Park, Steer, Downey and Kerr, and a solo by Mr. M. H. Park.

Friday Session.

On Friday morning, Mr. R. F. Downey will open the session in the Collegiate Assembly Hall by an address, and Mr. H. R. H. Kenner, B.A., will speak on "Social Unrest and the School." A Department Representative will speak on a current topic of the day. An instrumental duet will be given by Misses E. Morrow and C. Caldwell, and a solo by Miss L. Shearer. In the afternoon addresses will be given by F. M. Gould, B. A., J. E. R. Munro, and a Department Representative. A trio by Misses Armstrong, Pussee and McKay will also be given.

LAKEFIELD A.Y.P.A. OFFICERS ELECTED

ANNUAL MEETING WAS HELD ON MONDAY EVENING,

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 8.—The A.Y.P.A. of St. John's church held their annual election of officers on Monday evening in the Sunday school room. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Patron—Major (Rev.) H. A. Ben Oliel.
Patron—Rev. (Dr.) Walter Archbold.
President—Mrs. Trude Waldon.
1st. Vice. Pres.—Sergt. C. Stenner (Late of the original P.P.C.L.I.)
2nd. Vice Pres.—Miss Hilliard.
Secretary—Miss Graham.
Treasurer—Miss Hampton.
Executive Committee—Mrs. Marling, Miss Ogilvie, Mr. F. Moon, Mr. T. Leggott and Mr. A. Ball.

The treasurer read a statement of last year's work, which showed that last year the receipts amounted to $266.83 and the expenditure to $260.65. This was most gratifying and the society hope to go forward this year to even bigger things.

Miss Kathleen Blomfield, a former Lakefield resident, is the guest of Mrs. H. J. Stuart. Miss Blomfield has resided in Kelowna, B. C. for the past twelve years.

Mrs. George H. Reeve of Peterboro was in the village on Monday.

Mrs. G. Taylor of Warsaw attended the W. M. S. Conference on Monday.

Your Life is in Hands of Others Every Day

AS never before the need of modern traffic is for a clear head and steady hands. The man at the throttle, the steering wheel or the switch board must know what he is doing, must be ready on the instant for emergency, and must make no mistakes. Beer befuddles and unnerves.

IN this new world of machinery and power the "boozer" has no place. In the railway business the confirmed "boozer" can't be trusted with the lives of his fellows. The Railway Brotherhoods don't want him. Beer makes him unsteady.

On the streets and highroads the "joy rider with booze on board" is a menace to traffic, to his own life and to the lives of others. Beer makes motoring dangerous.

Flying-men learned the disastrous results of alcohol taken preparatory to encountering the enemy in mid-air. Alcohol was proved by casualties to shake the nerves and destroy control. Beer impairs judgment.

In business and industrial organizations, the drinking man is the "last man hired and first man fired." Beer makes men slow, stupid, and unreliable.

Beer and all other intoxicating beverages have no place in a world run by machinery. The safety of too many others is involved when an unsteady hand and a drink-befuddled brain is left in control of the steering wheel or the engine throttle.

Remember that the Beer of the ballot is intoxicating beer. Mark Your Ballot with an X after each question under the word "No." If you don't mark an X after each question your ballot is spoiled.

"No!"—Four Times—"No!"

AM I MY BROTHER'S KEEPER?

Have you not said of your neighbor's place that it was littered with filth and forgotten to look round and clean up you rown place?

Go at once, look over your home, and clean out all rubbish.

Go to your barn and other buildings, clean up and see that hereafter they are kept clean.

Haul away and burn all the old litter and watch the fire while you are doing it and see that it is out before you leave.

If your neighbor asks you what you are doing, tell him "cleaning up," and to go and do the same.

Tell him you are going to reduce insurance rates by reducing the fire hazard.

Tell him you are tired of helping to pay other people's loss, and that the insurance companies are not paying the losses, but that it comes out of the pockets of the insured.

Tell him you are going to help reduce the per capita fire loss, which is $4.00 in Canada as against 33 cents in Europe.

Tell him if the Old Country can get cheap insurance by keeping things clean, you are going to do your part, and ask him to do the same.

Get the men and women together in your community and have them organize for fire prevention.

Advise them to look after the chimneys and see that they are clean before putting up stoves.

See that ashes are not put in wooden boxes or barrels.

See that the merchants keep gasoline and coal oil in proper underground tanks.

See that straw or hay or other inflammable materials is not piled against buildings.

THE BULB SEASON

The season for preparing for bulb planting will soon be here. It is to be hoped that, with the war over, the promise of more and better bulbs will be realized. Much disappointment and difficulty has been experienced the past three years, owing to the shortage of bulb stock, as well as quality. The Peterboro Floral Company has already received an early small shipment, with more to follow. This firm have always done a large bulb business, but the war had created restrictions they were unable to overcome. They are exercising the greatest care this season in placing their orders with reliable growers, so that their customers will secure only first-class bulbs.

POLICE INVESTIGATION OPENED THIS MORNING

The Police Commission investigation re-opened this morning in the law library with His Honour Judge Huycke, Magistrate Dumble and Mayor Duncan presiding. Mr. Dan O'Connell for License Inspector Jos. Stewart, Mr. R. R. Hall, for Detective Newhall and Constable Wigg, and Mr. J. O'Brien for Mr. Rae Sullivan, were present. Mr. C. R. Widdifield, City Solicitor, who is conducting the investigation for the police investigation, was also on hand. Detective Newhall, Sergt. Blade and License Inspector Stewart listened attentively to the evidence.

Chief Thompson deemed the evidence of such importance that he came down from the murder trial, which was proceeding in the Court Room.

The case is proceeding.

THE SILK HAT HAD NARROW ESCAPE

STREET CAR COLLIDED WITH AN AUTOMOBILE DRIVEN BY MR. A. H. STRATTON.

While on his way to the Robertson-Lockhart wedding this afternoon at 12:30 Mr. Albert Stratton met with an accident which necessitated his finding other means of transportation than in his car. He attempted to cross the street at the corner of Park and Hunter when a Jackson Park street car hit his automobile broadsides smashing the wheel off the automobile, otherwise damaging the car, and knocking his silk hat off. The hat escaped.

The Best Cough Syrup is Home-made.

Here's an easy way to save $2, and yet have the best cough remedy you ever tried.

You're probably heard of this well-known plan of making cough syrup at home. But have you ever used it? When you do, you will understand why thousands of families, the world over, feel that they could hardly keep house without it. It's simple and cheap, but the way it takes hold of a cough will quickly earn it a permanent place in your home.

Into a 16-oz. bottle, pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth); then add plain granulated sugar syrup to fill up the bottle. Or, if desired, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup instead of sugar syrup. Either way, it tastes good, never spoils, and gives you 16 ounces of better cough remedy than you could buy ready-made for $2.50.

It is really wonderful how quickly this home-made remedy conquers a cough—usually in 24 hours or less. It seems to penetrate through every air passage, loosens a dry, hoarse or tight cough, lifts the phlegm, heals the membranes, and gives almost immediate relief. Splendid for throat tickle, hoarseness, croup, bronchitis and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, which has been used for generations for throat and chest ailments.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

A BIG INCREASE IN EMPLOYMENT.

Business Is Picking Up Throughout the Country, and Larger Volume of Help is Being Employed.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—The reports from employers have been received by the Dominion headquarters of the Canadian Employment Service, and, apart from unemployment due to strikes, show a substantial increase in the volume of employment.

During the week ending 30th September, 4,413 firms employed 36,305 persons, an increase of 3,745 over the week ending 13th September.

The greatest man gains were made by quarrymen and mining, with an increase of 984 over the preceding week. Metals, textiles, and construction also made large gains.

Lumbering decreased 66 per cent. and miscellaneous fell off 7 per cent.

ly worn at all whereas now they are considerably worn down.

Addressed the Jury.

Mr. T. J. Rigney began his address to the jury this morning and pointed out the partial confessions which Zaluski had made to the police after his arrest. He enlarged on the rubber heel imprints which led to the arrest of Zaluski with his companions at Indian River. He asked the jury why, if the prisoner was not there that he with the rest of the gang had hidden their revolvers and search lights in the station. The prisoner confessed to the police that he had a revolver but when searched no arms were found on him. He must therefore have owned one of the revolvers found in the waiting room. Zaluski also confessed to the police that when he was being taken to Peterboro in an automobile from Indian River that he took his portion of the stolen money from this inside pocket and threw it away unknown to the County Constables. Why was he getting rid of that money? Isn't that a significant fact If that were his money had he anything to fear. The irresistible conclusion is that this man is one of the five who visited that bunk-house and the murder is indefensible on any score whatever. It is rank. If you failed to bring in a verdict of guilty you would be remiss in your duty and according to the oath you have taken.

The Defense

The address to the jury by the counsel for the defence, Mr. W. B. Essery who after sifting out many extenuating strands from the evidence wound it into a strong rope which he presented to the jury in a most masterly style.

"You must be satisfied that the man on trial is responsible for that murder. Moitzsoiff who slept next to Yannoff does not implicate this man. He knew Konek by his eyes but he said that there was a man with a thin face (a description of the prisoner.) Four other men with white handkerchiefs and three others with revolvers were there. Can they say one of them was the prisoner? How does a slim face bring home an individuality to this man? If there was even a chance of a doubt it is this trial. They may have all looked thin to those scared Macedonians. Moitzoiff said a light was lit and turned up full and if so gentlemen of the jury that room was illuminated. The windows would have revealed the illumination to the outside. Gentlemen do you believe it?

The Rubber Heel

Mr. S. Bradley tells you that the rubber heel was distinct and six feet from the bunk house door but Mr. Bradley did not say it was the identical shoe and identical heel, it was one like it. Mr. Bradley believes to this day that there were five holes whereas there are six holes in the heel. That is a very significant thing. That shoe was worn when it came into this court room yet they say it was not worn when inspected at Indian River by the County Constables.

Mr. Essery pointed out that the rubber heel imprint is very common and that there are thousands likely in this very country. "This man must not be condemned by the imprint of this heel. Because five tracks are found in the Norwood Road is that proof that this man went that way? Does it not seem probable to you that two of these men came only to get work and do not forget that.

Knew Amount of Money.

Moitzsoiff and Serbonoff knew how much money was in Yannoff's belt. Also, not one of the fourteen witnesses would say that the articles on exhibit here was found on this prisoner at Indian River. You have nothing in identify to show that this prisoner was at the quarry. The evidence does not go beyond a strong suspicion but there is no proof that Zaluski was a participant in that shooting. If it hadn't been for Riseborough's little boy your County Constables wouldn't have the credit for finding this revolver and that searchlight at Indian River. There is nothing to show that Zaluski had any part in the murder except that he was at Indian River.

Detective Cookman's Statement

"I submit to you that Detective Cookman's statement is lacking in detail. The prisoner is able to converse in English to a certain extent but did this man understand what he was doing and saying when agitated by fear he made a statement. The greatest incentive to making a statement was present in that guard room at the Peterboro Jail. Cookman was overseas and the natural response from one to another of those who wear the returned button was given by the prisoner to his fellow veteran. Did this man say something that was so damning that it could not be explained?

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"AT THE GRAND."

Two dramatic features attracted a huge audience at the Grand Opera House last evening and the audience enjoyed one of the best programmes ever put on at the theatre. "In the Peace of Roaring River," Miss Pauline Frederick surpassed all previous records for her splendid acting, and the play itself was based upon a theme which gripped the audience from time of opening till the finish. It was a play centering about the answering of an "ad" in a matrimonial newspaper and held all manner of complications.

Ann Murdock made a splendid impression in "Passion," a play based upon the stories which have been running through McClure's magazine.

The only weak feature is the programme was the work of the orchestra which is short on instrumentation One clarinet appears to be a key lower than it ought to be and there is a decided lack of harmony. More frequent rehearsals and a closer attention to detail should produce much better results from the aggregation of musicians now in the employ of the Grand Opera House.

LOCKHART-ROBERTSON NUPTIALS

St. Paul's Presbyterian church filled to the doors with interested spectators, was the scene of a brilliant and particularly charming military wedding to-day at noon when Ruth MacDonald Robertson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Robertson, 397 Reid street was united in marriage to Lieut. Reginald Alexander Lockhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Lockhart, 36 Dale Avenue, Rosedale, Toronto.

The petite bride, who looked beautiful in her exquisite wedding gown of ivory brocaded satin, with a court train lined with American Beauty satin and Carrickmacross lace trimming, a wedding veil caught back with a silver bandeau, and carrying a bouquet of American Beauty roses, entered the church under the escort of her father to the tune of the wedding march played by Mr. John Crane. She was preceded by the wedding party, the ushers, Captain Douglas Huycks, Captain Hugh Sykes, M.C., Mr. Douglas Lockhart and Mr. Walter Perks. The bridesmaids, Miss Louise Lockhart, sister of the groom and Miss Esme Aylmer, the maid of honor, Miss Phyllis Robertson and the tiny flower girl, Barbara Birks, neice of the bride. Her train was carried by Master Robertson Birks, nephew of the bride and Master Wilmot Gordon, dressed alike in white man-o'-war sailor suits. Miss Phyllis Robertson, the maid of honor, was extremely lovely in a striking gown of pink taffeta and georgette crepe, a pink and gold hat with pink ostrich tip, gold slippers and stockings. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Louise Lockhart and Miss Esme Aylmer, the bridesmaids were charmingly gowned in pale blue taffeta and crepe de chine, black velvet tams with touches of gold, black shoes and stockings and carried pink roses. The little flower girl was very sweet in a white net frock over pale pink, and pink taffeta petalled hat with long pink streamers. The groom, like the best man, Lieut. James Lockhart, R.A.F., wore the uniform of the unit with which he served overseas.

Mrs. Robertson, the bride's mother, looked extremely handsome in a gown of black taffeta and ninon and a black hat with black ostrich tips. Mrs. Northedge Birks, the bride's sister, was strikingly attired in a beautiful gown of American beauty satin with black net and silver touches and a black hat. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robt. Pogue and during the signing of the register Miss Helen MacLaren, soloist of St. Andrew's Church, sang "Because" very sweetly.

A few of the two hundred and fifty guests with the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart, parents of the groom, Mrs. James Lockhart, his grandmother, Chief Justice and Mrs. Hedgins, aunt and uncle of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Peleg Howland of Toronto; Miss K. Howland, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Burritt, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cameron, Dr. and Mrs. D. Bruce MacDonald of St. Andrew's College, Toronto (the grooms Alma Mater); Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Robertson, Belleville; Mr. Fred and Miss Annie Paul of Montreal; Miss Jessie Watson of Hamilton; Captain Dalton Boyd, Toronto; Miss Boyd of Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Calder of Watertown; Miss Taylor, the bride's aunt of Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Davidson of Ottawa; Miss Elizabeth Fowlds of Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fowlds and Mr. Charles Fowlds of Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Taylor of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hodgson and Dr. and Mrs. John Eastwood of Toronto; Mrs. Eric MacDougall of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Strickland of Toronto, and from the city Judge and Mrs. Huycke, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall, Dr. and Mrs Eastwood, Dr. and Mrs. Young, Dr. and Mrs Frederick, Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Gallivan, Mr and Mrs. Aylmer, Mr. and Mrs Wm. Hill Miss Rosamond and Captain Wilfred Hawke, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stratton, Mrs. J. Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Killaly, Misses A. and R. Clementi, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Mr. and Mrs George Hatton, Miss Nora Hatton, Mr. and Vincent Eastwood, Mr. Robert Dobie the Misses Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Denne, Miss Georgie Stevenson, Lieuts. Romyn, and Walton Stevenson, Miss Clementi, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackerman, Mr and Mrs. J. W. MacDiarmid, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Lech, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. MacElderry, Miss Helen Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Crane, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Goodwill, Lieut. Kenneth Crane, Mr Roy Dixon, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, Miss Lenore Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Fordyce Strickland, Mrs. Gordon Grahame, Miss Marion Grieve, Miss Eleanor Collins, Miss Jean and Miss Dorothy Hill, Mr. and Mrs. C. R Widdifield, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hoyt, Miss Rita Cavanagh, Mrs. Parks, the Misses Dunsford, Dr. and Mrs. deCourcy King, Miss Florence Scott, Mr. Gordon Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Mathews, Miss Mary Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. Gilman, Miss Mulholland, Mrs. Wood, Lieut. Douglas Lawrie, Mr. Herbert Rush, Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Hall, Miss Seabourne, and Mr. R. Hamilton, Mr. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Lieut. Gordon Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Robertson, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cressman, Dr. and Mrs. Ed. Wood, and Mr. G. McLleland.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party left the beautifully and appropriately decorated church, which was gay with profusions of roses and flags, under an arch of swords formed by twelve officers, friends of the contracting party. The guard of honour was in charge of Lieut-Col. Charles Ackerman.

The guests then drove to the bride's home, where a reception was held.

BOWLING LEAGUE TO BE ORGANIZED

The many bowlers in the city will be interested to learn that five pin and ten pin leagues are to be organized at the Water street Bowling Alleys to commence on the 1st of November. Bowling has taken a firm hold in Peterboro and there are likely to be a number of new teams and new faces this season. The curlers find the exercise a help in getting in shape for their game, while lawn bowlers also are taking to the alley sport. The De Laval employees will have a ten pin league of their own this season.

GOD SAVE THE KING.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST RIDING OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—

Having again received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Convention of West Peterborough, as a candidate for Parliamentary honours at the ensuing Provincial Election, to be held on October 20th, I desire to solicit your hearty support in favour of my election.

WAR WORK

Having represented you for the past five years (war years), I can safely say that during that period, while every effort was being made to win the war—my record is known to you all; and on that record I ask you to judge me on the position I have taken on all measures affecting the war work.

TEMPERANCE QUESTION

When I was elected in 1914, I stated my views on the Temperance question during that campaign; I pledged myself to vote for Temperance legislation on all occasions brought forward by whatever party, and the record in the House will show that I carried out that pledge.

The Referendum vote is to be taken on the same date as the Provincial election, October 20th, and if I am again elected your representative, I promise to give my whole-hearted support to the Government elected to carry out the will of the people, as expressed by their votes on the Referendum ballot.

AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATION

During the years preceding 1914, every one agreed that the Department of Agriculture was asleep. The very first opportunity offered in the House, I introduced the question of a forward movement in Agriculture, and, along with other Liberal members of the House, have earnestly advocated a more strenuous progressive policy in Agriculture.

The shortage of production, the problem of farm help, and the numerous perplexing questions affecting the farmer, cannot be solved unless we seriously consider the cause and apply the remedy.

During the past few years of unrest in the country, due mainly to excessive living costs, I have advocated that demonstration farms be established in different counties, and increased attention be paid to the education to be received in our Agricultural College and Experimental Farms, and that the knowledge gained at the Agricultural College be put into practice on Demonstration Farms, where a profit and loss account could be kept, and the costs of producing 100 pounds of milk, or a pound of pork, or any of the many products of the farm, could be ascertained and established, such information being sadly lacking to-day. By such a system of education, the farm would be looked upon as a business manufacturing plant, that would attract the best brains to the development of the greatest asset in Canada to-day, the Farm. Our production is unlimited. The markets of the world are calling for food, and our own citizens living from hand to mouth at tremendous prices, wondering what the next six months have in store for them.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAYS

Our Highways need much repair. Auto and truck traffic is becoming daily increased, and we must develop a road policy which will make for hauling our produce to market as cheaply as possible. To this matter, I promise to give my best thought.

EDUCATION

Education, I am pleased to say, is in the hands of a new Minister, in whom we hope for great things. I believe in a separate education for the City and Rural districts. An Education in the Rural districts to educate the boy and girl the great lessons of Agriculture, making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, developing the average cow of Ontario to-day, which gives 5,000 lbs. of milk in a milking period to 10,000 lbs., producing a pound of pork or beef at a lower cost, and giving to the world the blessing which we most need: a reduction in the high cost of living.

THE LABOUR QUESTION

Regarding the important question of Labour, my own policy has been to treat labour as I would wish to be treated myself. I have had a good deal of experience with labour of various kinds and conditions, and have never had any trouble along that line, and do not expect to have any.

OUR RETURNED HEROES

To me, the welfare of the returned soldier and soldiers' wives, is one of the most essential duties of our country. Therefore, I promise that I will give my hearty support to every movement calculated to promote their very best interests. The soldiers who fought for me for five years deserve, and may expect to receive, my earnest consideration during the remaining years of my life.

THE WOMAN VOTE

I am delighted to know that women are to enjoy equal privileges with men in the use of the franchise at this election, and in the exercise of this privilege, I have the greatest faith in their good judgment and purifying influence. Their power with the ballot on October 20th, especially with the Prohibition and Labour problems, will, I feel certain, be of far-reaching effect. I will, therefore, consider the votes from the ladies counted in my favour at the approaching election, to be instruction to take high grounds on all matters calculated to elevate the morals of this community as well as of the whole Dominion.

CONCLUSION

These questions I have dealt with are, to my mind, the outstanding questions of the day. If I am elected again as your representative, I promise to give the best of my ability, my mature judgment on all questions affecting the interests of the West Riding of Peterborough, the Province of Ontario, the Dominion of Canada, and the British Empire, of which we, to-day, are so justly proud.

Thanking you, Ladies and Gentlemen, for your support in the past, and soliciting your support again on the 20th day of October. I remain,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. A. GILLESPIE.

HEAVY FROST LAST EVENING.

Frost, the advance guard of winter, did its work last night and laid low any unprotected shrubbery. Gardens and flower pots have a dismal aspect all over the city. Tomatoes on the vines were frozen, and only carrots and turnips, which can remain in the ground practically all winter, escaped the touch of the frost last night.

Mrs. Kendry and Mrs. Thomas will address both meetings.

CAUSE OF FIRE

In connection with the item in last night's paper relating to the fire at the corner of George and Hunter streets the cause was stated to be due to defective heating apparatus. In reality a new system of heating is being installed but is as yet incomplete. The smoke was caused by the drafts of the furnace not being properly adjusted.

SALARY OF TYPIST.

MR. HUYCKE'S NEW SONGS AT THE Y.M.C.A. MINSTRELS

One of the many features at the big Y.M.C.A. Minstrel Show this year will be the rendition of several of Mr. Asa Huycke's new original minstrel songs. These include: "My Lovin' Coal Black Minstrel Boy," "Toreador Rag," "Those Lovin' Lies," "She's Got it on Her Daughter Like a Tent," "Sweet Canadian Snow-Drop." Some of these songs will be published and sold at the show.

Among the clever end men are Geo. Wesley, Vern Morphet, Norm Laing, Jerry McClelland, Harold Huff, G. S. Rich, Geo. Logan and Morg. Cottingham.

The male chorus of forty voices will be assisted by a ladies' chorus of thirty-five voices. These, under the direction of Mr. Huycke, will possibly produce the best amateur minstrel show ever presented in Peterborough.

BOORISH ACT WAS WELL PUNISHED

Rush Lake Reeve Was Forced to Salute British Flag.

SWIFT CURRENT, Sask.—As an aftermath of the Prince of Wales' visit to this city a rather exciting episode transpired last night when P. M. Friesen, Reeve of the rural municipality of Rush Lake was taken in hand by a large gathering of returned soldiers and other citizens and compelled to salute the flag and sing "God Save the King."

Considerable sentiment was aroused against Friesen while the reception of the Prince was in progress. At the conclusion of the ceremonies here yesterday the band struck up the National Anthem when the royal visitor immediately came to attention and bared his head. All others on the reception platform followed suit with the exception of Friesen, who was emphatically reprimanded by Chief Inspector Parker of Scotland Yard, who is with the Prince's party.

The Rush Lake Reeve by reason of his official position, was invited to the reception platform, but his attitude when the National Anthem was being sung was regarded by the veterans as a deliberate disloyal act and he was later called to task for it by Sergt. Baxter of the R.N.W.M.P.

As Mr. Friesen's loyalty has been a matter of much debate on several previous occasions, Saturday's breach brought things to a head. No injuries were inflicted upon the Reeve, and he complied readily enough with the command of the crowd. To-day a deputation called in from the Mennonite settlement to the south to assure the people here that Mr. Friesen in no way represented the sentiment of the Mennonite people.

For ironing dainty baby clothes a set of toy irons is useful.

WEDDING BELLS

FONTAINE—DALTON.

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding at 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning, when Miss Susie Dalton became the bride of Mr. Leo Fontaine, both of this city. Rev. Father Guirey performed the ceremony, in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Miss Clara Fontaine was bridesmaid, while Mr. Leonard Leahy assisted the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Fontaine left on a motor trip for points east, and on their return they will reside in Peterborough.

OBITUARY

MRS. H. P. KOHN.

At Nicholls Hospital, after a long illness, Elsie Kohn, wife of Mr. H. P. Kohn, of Gravenhurst. She leaves to mourn her loss besides her sorrowing husband, four children, Fred of Verner, Milton and Harry of Gravenhurst, and Mrs. D. H. Anderson, of Peterborough. Interment will take place Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock to the Little Lake cemetery.

HARRY KEARNEY

Harry Kearney, a well known and extremely popular resident of Young's Point, died suddenly at the family residence on Sunday evening at 5 o'clock. He had been seriously ill some months ago suffering from Spanish influenza but had recovered sufficiently to resume his work at Sudbury, where he remained until last week when he returned to the Point. On Saturday although apparently in his usual health in the morning he became ill toward evening and died on Sunday. He is survived by his mother Mrs. J. E. Kearney of Young's Point, and two sisters Mrs. McAdams of Montreal and Miss Lottie at home.

The remains were laid at rest in the Young's Point Cemetery yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, many prominent citizens of Peterboro including ex-Mayor Duffus and Rev. C. J. Phelan being present.

MRS. WM. HATHERLY.

Elizabeth Jane Arthurs, beloved wife of Wm. H. Hatherly, Lot 4, Concession 10, North Monaghan, died last evening at the family residence at 4 o'clock. She had not been in good health for some time, but her illness did not become serious until shortly before her death, when she succumbed to heart failure.

Deceased, who was born in Harwood 58 years ago, had resided at the place of her death for the past six years. She leaves her husband, three brothers John of Peterborough and Frank and Thomas of Harwood; also one sister, Miss Maggie, residing in the city.

Service will be held at the family residence at 1.30 to-morrow, conducted by Rev. Mr. Craw, and interment will take place at Little Lake Cemetery.

Studebaker featured the list during the first half-hour, going to 124 up 5. American Woollen made a new high on the move at 136 1-2.

IN MEMORIAM

EDGAR—In loving memory of my dear brother, Pte. Earl Edgar, who was killed in action in Argonne Forest, Oct. 8, 1918.

You went in answer to duty's call,
Then on the battlefield did fall
Your death, to us, was a cruel blow—
That none but a grieving heart can know.

The Germans Plan to Occupy Baltic Region and Restore Russia

THE RUSSIAN FRONT

(United Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Field Marshal Von Der Goltz and his German forces in the Baltic States, have joined the Russian northwestern army to fight the Bolsheviki, the 'Daily Telegraph' said to-day, quoting reports from Copenhagen.

The Riga correspondent of the 'Evening News' says he has seen plans and reports prepared by German officers providing for the occupation of the whole Baltic region. According to these plans, it is proposed to gain control of Lettland and Esthonia and effect the restoration of old Russia by Christmas, when an attempt will be made to form a German-Russian alliance against the Entente.

The 'Evening News' despatch says that Von Der Goltz's plans to advance on Riga are confirmed by an appeal from General Yudenitch, anti-Bolshevik leader, asking General Bormonte to hasten to Narva, 81 miles southwest of Petrograd. Bormonte is closely associated with Von Der Goltz and the other route to Narva is by way of Riga.

The correspondent interviewed the Lettish premier, Ulmanis, who denied that a single German was fighting the Bolsheviki in Courtland. On the contrary he said Von Der Goltz was doing his utmost to prevent the formation of a Lettish army, with the intention of leaving the country helpless to defend herself from future annexation.

City Captured.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Capture of the city of Voronezh, 275 miles south-east of Moscow, by anti-Bolshevik forces of General Denikine is admitted in a Russian Soviet wireless message from Moscow received to-day. General Denikine's cavalry is advancing on Uhman, 85 miles north of Voronezh. A message from General Denikine's headquarters received October 7, reported the capture of 10,000 Bolsheviki "during operations around Voronezh," but did not definitely announce the capture of that city. Voronezh is on a line about 125 miles east of Orel toward which latter important centre in old Russia, General Denikine's troops were recently reported rapidly advancing. The late advices from Denikine forces indicate that they are moving ahead against Moscow on a front at least 200 miles in width, and probably considerably greater.

BROKEN AGAIN

You need not be concerned when you break your glasses and have not the prescription with you. Just bring us the pieces and we can duplicate the broken lens while you wait. Did you know that the new shell rims prevent at least fifty per cent. of breakages? You can have them put on your own lenses in either color at one dollar per pair. Consult W. H. Lacey, Optical Specialist, 410 George Street. Open Wednesday and Saturday evenings. dtf

THE WEATHER

The early riser this morning saw the first ice of the season, and also a heavy white frost. The thermometer was at 25 degrees. The first time freezing point was reached last fall was Sept. 30th, and there were heavy frosts on a number of occasions before this date. The ground was first frozen hard on Nov. 23rd (10 days later than usual.) The first zero came on the morning of Dec. 6th and the first sleighing on December 5th. This lasted but for a few days. The winter's sleighing began on Dec. 11th.—W. P.

REFUSED TO ENDORSE WOMAN CANDIDATE

(Special to the Examiner)

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—The point blank refusal of the Central W.C.T.U. to endorse the candidature of Mrs. J. C. Sears in Ottawa West, for the Provincial House, is due, it is claimed to the fact that the Central Union feels the organization should consecrate itself solely to the task of bringing out the voters in connection with the prohibition referendum. However, while this is the reason given by the union, there seems to be some misunderstanding among the Unions membership. All are in favour of a woman candidate, but many are of the opinion it would hurt the temperance cause to bring one out this year.

JOSEPH KELLY ALLOWED TO GO

COMPLETE RESTITUTION HAS BEEN MADE.

This morning in the County Court, Judge's Criminal Court, Michael Joseph Kelly, who had pleaded guilty, by his Counsel, Mr. J. A. O'Brien, on three charges of forgery was allowed to go on suspended sentence. His Honour Judge Huycke took into account the man's family circumstances and the fact that complete restitution had been made and that Kelly, through his Counsel, Mr. O'Brien, promised faithfully to walk the straight and narrow path hereafter.

TWO AMENDMENTS TO LIQUOR LEGISLATION

MEASURES WILL COME UP BEFORE THE CANADIAN PARLIAMENT NEXT WEEK

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 7.—Two important amendments to existing Federal Prohibition measures will be up for the consideration of Parliament this week. One is an amendment to the Canada Temperance or Scott Act, and the other the Doherty Act.

The effect of the amendment to the first Act is to provide that if any Province, by plebiscite of the Dominion electors of the Province, should vote for the absolute prohibition of the manufacture or importation of intoxicating liquor, that Province shall be brought under the provisions of the Scott Act, and a Federal proclamation shall be issued prohibiting manufacture within the borders of the Province, and importation in the Province.

In effect, it contemplates applying the principles of the Scott Act as regards the manufacture and importation to Provinces which vote against the manufacture and importation.

The Doherty Act, as it at present stands, prohibits the importation of liquor into a Province for purposes which are declared illegal in that Province.

A further amendment is provided, making it possible, on fiat from the Attorney-General, to try a man in the Province against which any violation of the Doherty Act has been perpetrated, even though that man lives in another Province. For instance, should liquor be shipped from Montreal to Toronto in violation of the Act, then the shipper could be brought to Toronto for trial.

CUT FOREIGN GARRISONS

Brest and Paris to be U. S. Only Army Posts After Oct. 10.

WASHINGTON—Brest and Paris will be the only sectors in which active American garrisons will be maintained after October 10, the War Department announced to-day. Small detachments of Railway and Signal Corps troops will be busy for some time in outlying districts and a contingent of about fifty-five officers and men will remain in England attending to liquidation matters.

Commissioned personnel serving with the American troops in Germany will be limited to 400 men hereafter, the shortage of officers causing this reduction.

Habit is stronger than either judgment or passion.

BRONZE BUTTON OF C.E.F. MEN CONSPICUOUS IN THE LAPEL OF YOUNG RUSSIAN'S COAT AS HE STOOD IN WITNESS BOX.

ONE LAW FOR ALL, SAYS JUDGE

Of the five Russians who are on trial before Chief Justice Mulock for the murder of Philip Yannoff, three have been found guilty by separate juries. Tom Konek was first arraigned and the jury made a recommendation of mercy to the Court.

A second jury brought in an identical verdict against Michael Babri, and at noon to-day Sam Zaluski was found guilty by third jury who also submitted a recommendation for mercy.

While the jury was deliberating upon the evidence against Zaluski Alexander Martinuque was brought up from the cell and placed in the prisoner's dock. He was formally and separately charged with the murder of Yannoff and the following jury was empanelled: Thomas Petrie, Bert Tully, Chas. E. Wiley, Thomas J. Stenton, Wm. H. Tucker, Robt. J. Tully, Darius Hall, Joseph Preston, John F. Leeson, John E. Boland, Wm. Waugh and A. M. Cowling.

Mr. Rigney assisting Crown Attorney Hatton, briefly reviewed the main points of the evidence to be submitted, and the Crown's case was begun with the testimony of Dr. Thompson of Havelock and Mr. Steven Bradley, who was in charge of the Ontario Rock Company's quarry where the crime was committed in the early morning of June 22nd.

Zaluski a Soldier.

Sam Zaluski wears the prized button of an ex-service soldier of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces. He has a bright intelligent appearance that lacks the pronounced foreign cast of features that indicate Alexander Matinuque's Slavic origin.

In his address to the jury Chief Justice Mulock touched upon Zaluski's service as a volunteer.

"It has been said," His Lordship remarked, "that this man was a volunteer, that he was a soldier. That was to his credit. But all men are equal before the law, soldiers and civilians and must take the consequence. You must not let the fact that he was a soldier influence you. We are grateful to our soldiers but when they come back they take upon themselves all the responsibilities of citizenship. The criminal law applies to us all, to you and to me and to all of us within the confines of Canada. There is just one law for us all."

ALLIES HAVE WARNED ITALY

PRESENT SITUATION AT FIUME IS REGARDED AS ILLEGAL.

(Canadian Press.)

ROME, Oct. 8.—Much excitement in political circles and extended comment in the press has been caused by the reported receipt of warnings from Great Britain and the United States to Italy with regard to the situation at Fiume.

It is declared that the British warning stated in effect that if "the present illegal situation" at Fiume should continue Italy would "run the risk of being put out of the Alliance and the Peace Conference," and that it was received a few days ago a similar warning from the United States.

COST OF KEEPING PRISONERS AT COUNTY JAIL

THIS YEAR IT COST EIGHTEEN CENTS PER DAY FOR EACH PRISONER.

Each prisoner confined in the County Gaol during the year ending September 30th cost the county 18 cents per day for board. This cost is about 3 cents in advance of the cost last year, and 10 cents from eight years ago. The advanced cost is due to the rise in price of bread, of which each prisoner is allowed one and a half pounds a day, and the advance in meat.

The greatest number of committments for trial during the year were made on charges of larceny, for which 30 committments were made; vagrancy followed second with 27; causes not enumerated (breach of the Ontario Temperance Act and failure to report under the Military Service Act) 25; drunks 11; murder 5. In all 137 committments were made—males 122, and females 15.

THE BATTEN EXCURSION

THE ANNUAL TRIP TO BOBCAYGON FAIR GREATLY ENJOYED THIS YEAR

There was another capacity attendance at Batten's ("Massey") annual steamboat excursion to the Bobcaygeon Fair last Saturday, September 27th.

The steamer "Stoney Lake" was chartered for the trip, and left the Lakefield wharf flying the "Union Jack" and Mr. Batten as commodore, carrying as jolly a crowd of farmers and their friends as could be packed away in the commodious steamer.

Calls were made all the way up at different points on the lakes along the route to take on additional waiting passengers eager to join the party.

Mr. Batten has a habit which he has assiduously kept up for years, and which has never been overcome, of pleasing everybody. But this is just another way of saying that the "Massey" he promotes gives satisfaction, and is the ideal machinery for the farmers.

Arriving at Bobcaygeon, the party landed and distributed themselves at the Fair and other principal sights around the village. After an enjoyable afternoon the passengers reembarked on the "Stoney Lake" for the home run. During the sail up and down, nothing happened to mar the pleasure of the event. The principal public questions of the day were thoroughly discussed, including the referendum, the farmers' party, and the coming Provincial elections. But there was no break downs and no parliamentary rules broken, because the Speaker ("Massey") kept a watch over the proceedings.

Everyone declared the event to have been a well-managed affair, although some did not get home in time to do the milking that evening.

Mr. Batten received a hearty vote of thanks, and hoped the excursion would be continued next year.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, October 8.—Premier Lloyd-George surprised his countrymen, as he frequently does, by denouncing the railwaymen's strike as "Prussianism" and "another effort to hold up the community and strangle it into submission," at the Lord Mayors Mansion House luncheon in honour of Field-Marshal Allenby yesterday. The occasion was an unusual one for such a topic, but the Premier has the habit of doing unusual things at unusual times.

Nobody expected anything more sensational than compliments to the conqueror of Palestine. "The nation means to be master in her own house," Mr. Lloyd-George declared; "a just master, a fair master, a generous master, but always master in her own house."

This was actually accepted as a proclamation of the Premier's view that the Government won a victory over the strikers.

J. H. Thomas, leader of the recent strike, speaking on Sunday night, dwelt upon the settlement as a compromise, and yesterday issued a statement appealing for reconciliation and the burial of hard feelings.

When Lloyd-George makes an important speech, the newspapers try to read between the lines to discover his political purposes. The general interpretation of the speech is that the Premier as broken with the Labour Unions and wants to draw to his support the middle classes, who apparently tended to drop away from him as a result of the recent fierce campaign upon the alleged Governmental extravagance.

MOTHER ATTEMPTS TO POISON HER CHILDREN

WATCHES EFFECT

PONTIAC, Mich., Oct. 8.—Giving as a reason for her act that her two golden-haired little girls, Shirley, aged eight, and Edna, six, "worried" her, because she felt too tired to attend to their wants at bedtime, Mrs. Hazel Leukart, aged 29, who, with her husband, lives on a small place between the village of Royal Oak and Pontiac, poisoned them both. In capsules she forced each to swallow a slow, insidious poison that paralyzes its victims and steals with slow march upon the heart, which it finally stills. Those so doomed to die feel no pain, but a great lassitude. They retain consciousness to the end.

Shirley, the elder, is expected to die within a few hours. Edna has but three or four days to live, declare the doctors.

Slow, Lingering Death.

Mrs. Leukart was arrested yesterday and taken to Detroit after she had made a full confession to the assistant prosecuting attorney of Oakland county. She told the prosecutor she had had the poison in her house for a long time, and was aware that it would bring slow, lingering death to those who took it.

"On the morning of September 28 it came to me like a flash from hell that the best way for the children was to put them where they could not bother me any more," said the woman in her confession.

"Then I went to the medicine cabinet and took the poison and gave it to Shirley and Edna. They vomited it up the first time, but I put four of the pellets in capsules so they could not taste them, and then gave them some milk to wash them down with. All that night I watched them and prayed that they would die. I felt happy. But in the morning I realised what I had done, but there was no help then. I told a neighbor what I had done, and then the doctor came."

From September 29 until yesterday, when the continued illness of the two children and their refusal to yield to the ordinary course of treatment caused the attending physician to become suspicious, the little victims each day became weaker.

Deluded Physician.

Sharp cross-questioning established the fact that the mother was aware of the nature of the trouble. She had, at first, declared both girls had eaten green pears and it was for this they had been treated by the physician.

The neighbor to whom Mrs. Leukart told her story corroborates it in every detail to-day.

Roy E. Leukart, the husband and father, is a factory employee. He told the Sheriff that his wife had never exhibited any indication of insanity; that she had always been a good, affectionate mother to the little ones, and that the day before she administered the death doses there had been a little argument because he opposed her going back to the stage. She had been at one time a vaudeville actress. So far not the slightest motive, other than the weak reason given by Mrs. Leukart, has been found for the unusual crime.

CHILDREN'S AID SOCIETY TAG DAY

(By G. W. POWELL)

Our annual Tag Day will be held on the 11th of October this year and we thought the people who were generous enough to furnish us with funds, might like to know what we are doing.

In the first place we are glad the Public have confidence enough in us not to want us to reveal a great deal of the sadness of the unfortunates with whom we have to deal; but there is a bright side always to every cloud, and our work has not been without some measure of reward. Our work has caused us to deal with a great many adults as well as children, and we believe that a great many homes have been benefitted and unfortunate people been encouraged by our visits without the necessity of a removal of the children from the home.

We have tried to interest ourselves in the life work of every child under our care and have no little job, when you realize that we have 145 of them. We see to their placements in good homes and after 14 years of age to their contracts for wages, and are keeping in trust for children a very considerable sum of money which will be repaid to them later on with accrued interest.

We could give a number of cases where our placements have been of great benefit to the children, but one or two will give some idea of our work.

Two girls were taken over by us for protection while the father was away to the war. They were placed out in splendid homes, where they are contented and happy. After the father came home, the mother who had been a sufferer for a long time, and could not care for the children, died. The father was so pleased with our treatment of the girls that he has decided that they will be left for some time yet, where they are going to school and doing well.

Another little girl who is over school age and drawing wages is so satisfied with her new home that she says she does not want to come back to Peterboro for two or three years, when the people will not know her, and she will make out that she does not want to know them.

A visit to the Shelter at any time would reveal the work that is being done there. Our Superintendent, Mrs. Read, says little, but does a great deal—go and see her.

We may be facing a very severe winter so we are in hope the public will be very generous this year when our Tag Day comes on October 11th, 1919.

JURY BROUGHT IN THEIR VERDICT SHORTLY AFTER TWELVE O'CLOCK NOON TO-DAY—WERE OUT HALF AN HOUR—SUMMARY OF THE ADDRESSES TO THE JURY.

TRIAL IS PROCEEDING

Guilty, with a recommendation of mercy, was the verdict of the jury in the trial of Sam Zaluski, the third of the five prisoners who are charged with the murder of Phillip Yanoff. It was identical with the finding of the two men who have preceded him. At the request of the counsel for the defence, Chief Justice Mulock deferred sentence until the close of the Assize. The jury was out half an hour, returning at 12.15 this afternoon.

With the terrible accusation of murder weighing on his mind Samuel Zaluski fainted in the prisoner's box last evening at 8.30. His Lordship was asking Zaluski if he understood sufficient English to challenge the evidence of Detective Cookman, who stated the prisoner made a partial confession to him. He fainted entirely without warning and fell iuto the seat in the box. Constable Harold Lawrence and Turnkey Robert Roy helped Zaluski outside where the fresh air revived him. He muttered something unintelligible about having been overseas and it is thought that his nerves got the better of him when His Lordship addressed him after evidence against him had been received.

Tom Serbonoff and Moitzsoiff, two Macedonians, who were asleep in the bunk house near Havelock when Yannoff was killed were called last night and repeated their version of the shooting on the 22 of June last and the events which took place until the robbers left. Detective George Cookman stated after Chief Thompson had sworn that prisoner had been duly warned, that Zaluski, the prisoner had confessed to him at the police station the day succeeding the murder, that he owned one of the white revolvers which was found hidden in the waiting room at Indian River. Zaluski confessed to him that he bought the revolver from a returned soldier in Toronto and bullets of the right calibre.

Strategy Used

Mr. John Riseborough at Indian River was called and told of strategy employed to capture the five men who come down the C.P.R. track. He also repeated his evidence concerning the finding of the revolvers and bullets in the station room and the bringing of the prisoners to Peterboro.

Mr. Robert Ray, turnkey, at the jail was called and stated that Zaluski wore the shoes when brought to the jail. The defence brought out that the prisoner was allowed only a half hour's exercise each day. A witness in the previous trial who had followed the rubber heel imprints on the Norwood road stated that the rubber heels when inspected at Indian River appeared to be scarce-

STEEL STRIKE PETERING OUT

(United Press.)

PITTSBURG, Pa. Oct. 7.—The steel workers' strike, now in its third week, appeared to be wearing itself out in the Pittsburg district.

Every mill of importance here today claimed additional man power and production gains.

Several mills, closed since the strike was called on 22nd September, resumed operations under handicaps.

Does the Glare Hurt Your Eyes

As a rule few eyes can endure a continuous glare, and eye strain may be caused by an excess of light in the same way as when there is a refractive error.

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 9, 1919.

THE REFERENDUM.

The visit of Sir William Hearst, if it did not do much to improve the election prospects of the Government, did at least serve a useful purpose, inasmuch as the audience who heard the Premier were given an explanation of the Referendum Ballot that cleared up some of the perplexing angles of the question that have mystified many of the voters. Sir William made it clear that an affirmative vote on the first question would result in the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act and a revival of the old license system,with the open bar and the open shop. The other questions would not be considered at all in that event, for as the Premier pointed out, they are amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act and if the Act were to be repealed by a majority vote on the first question the amendments, of course, could not be made. The Citizen's Liberty League, in advising the electors to vote "Yes" on the first question, because, as the League claims "that is a guarantee that your answers to Questions 2, 3 and 4 will be considered" directly contradicts Sir William's interpretation. The latter's explanation last night removes all doubt, however, and the Liberty League's attempt to delude the electors in voting for something nobody wants seems unlikely to succeed.

THE LABOR CANDIDATE.

Although last night's convention in the Labor Hall was advertised as an Independent Labor Party,—United Farmers' Convention, the agricultural interests were represented by only a half dozen farmers of which Mr. R. N. Scott was spokesman, and the meeting resolved itself into a Labor meeting pure and simple. The candidates whose names went before the convention were all members of the Independent Labor Party as the chair ruled it was necessary that they should be and the farmers had only a speaking part in the proceedings, Mr. Scott providing the oratory.

The choice of the convention as a Labor standard-bearer was Mr. Tooms, Business Agent of the Build- the ranks of organized labor, save through his communications to the press on labor questions, is a deep student of political economy and possesses an unusual knowledge of the problems of labor.

He is besides a speaker of no mean ability, who can discuss public questions throughout the riding and cam- tions intelligently and well. Against these qualities, however, is the fact that he is not generally known throughout the riding, and the campaign is such a short one that he will be handicapped on that account.

THE LOCAL CAMPAIGN.

The announcement of the nomination of Mr. G. A. Gillespie, M.P.P., as Liberal candidate in West Peterboro, has been, as was expected, hailed with satisfaction not only by the Liberals of the riding but by many of those who have been supporters of the government. On this occasion, as in the election of 1914, Mr. Gillespie is sure of the support of many Conservatives who recognize his sterling worth and ability. The dissatisfaction that exists among many of its former adherents with the Hearst Government would in any case have cost the administration a large number of votes, and the selection by the Liberal convention of a candidate of the calibre of Mr. Gillespie, will increase the defection from the government camp. The convention tonight to select a Hearst standard-bearer has not been preceded by much enthusiasm. The ward meetings to select delegates, were sparsely attended and there has been none of the "swing of victory" in the preliminaries. The Premier's visit to Peterboro is expected to stir up some enthusiasm among the government supporters, but if Sir William has not been able to inspire his inert Cabinet during the years he has been at the head of affairs, he is not likely to succeed in resuscitating the battered government organization in West Peterborough in the course of a few hours' visit.

A CLEAR CAMPAIGN.

The declaration of Mr. George A. Gillespie, M. P. P. Liberal candidate for West Peterboro, for the Ontario Legislature, that so far as he is concerned, at least, the campaign that is now under way will be fought out on clean and gentlemanly lines, with personalities eliminated, is pecisely the kind of announcement that was to be looked for from Mr. Gillespie. His friends, and they are legion in West Peterboro, know that no other kind of a campaign would be acceptable to the Liberal standard-bearer, who would prefer defeat to indulging in personal abuse or in blows below the belt. As ex-Warden Anderson pointed out, Mr. Gillespie exposes the fallacy of the argument used by some of the U. F. O. leaders that it was impossible for a man to engage in party politics without being covered with slime. Mr. Gillespie's connection with politics has not only enhanced his own reputation for honesty and fair dealing, but has put political campaigning on a higher plane than has sometimes been known.

MR. BURNHAM'S POSITION.

The net result of the caucus of the Union Government at Ottawa, the other day seems to have been a decision on the part of the members to hang on to the reins of office as long as possible. The new platform of the party was outlined but consideration of it was postponed until another session. In the meantime the administration will "carry on." The official statement of the caucus handed out to the press afterwards failed to mention the name of Mr. J. H. Burnham. He may or may not have been there, but at least there was no intimation in the official communique that he had resigned. There are many people who think he should. There are those who say that he was elected to support te Union Government, and that if he cannot do so any longer he should get out. He himself takes the position that the time has come to end the Union and that he cannot consistently remain a member of the Unionist Party. Accordingly he announced with a flourish of trumpets that he was moving over to the cross benches. Many of those who share his opinion of the government declare, however that Mr.Burnham should have followed the example of Mr. Nickle of Kingston and retired from the House altogether. His protest in that event would have carried some weight.

THE LIBERAL CANDIDATE.

The unanimous selection of Mr. George A. Gillespie, M. P. P., as the Liberal standard-bearer in the coming Provincial elections, by the convention of West Peterboro Liberals last night, was the only action that could have been expected in view of the manner in which Mr. Gillespie has discharged his duties as a member of the Legislature in the past five years. The announcement that Mr. Gillespie has again been chosen for re-election will be welcome not only to the Liberals of the riding, but to many conservatives who tendered him their support in the last Provincial election, and will undoubtedly be found behind him on this occasion. Mr. Gillespie's record as West Peterboro's representative is one upon which he is amply justified in asking the electors to re-elect him. He has been ready at all times to be of assistance to any of his constituents, regardless of their political beliefs—any service that could be rendered by him as a member of the Legislature on behalf of the people of West Peterboro, he has been willing and quick to perform. He has been faithful in his attendance in the House and energetic in committee work, and has so conducted himself in his public position as to win the esteem and friendship of the members of both sides of the House. As to his record as a pivate citizen, nothing could be said here that would give him a higher position in the regard of his fellow-citizens. His services in every patriotic campaign in Peterboro during the war were of the greatest possible assistance and although Mr. Gillespie would be the last man in the world to look for credit for anything he did to help win the war, it is but simple justice to him that these services should be publicly referred to. His attitude on the temperance question has always been clean-cut and definite. Temeprance legislation has invariably had his support, and in his address last night he emphatically pledged himself to continue that support.

In Mr. Gillespie the Liberals of West Peteboro have a candidate around whom they will be proud to rally. As a representative of a riding that is partially urban and partially rural no finer choice could be made, for the Liberal candidate possesses the advantage of having been a farmer, thereby acquiring a first hand knowledge of the conditions with which the agricultural interests have to contend, while his later experience as a resident of Peterboro, as a member of the Council and the Chief Magistrate of the city, has given him an opportunity to thoroughly understand urban problems.Few residents of Ontario have a deeper or more intimate knowledge of the dairying industry than Mr. Gillespie, and this knowledge should enable him to be of great assistance in the development of agriculture that is bound to come when the "Seven Sleepers" of Queen's Park are swept out of power and a live energetic and progressive Liberal administration is substituted.

The candidating of Mr. Gillespie will be generally acclaimed. His friends should see, in the short time there is left for campaigning, that his cause and that of the Liberal party, is warmly championed. There is no doubt as to the result, of overconfidence is not allowed to interfere with the efforts of the workers.

HASTINGS NEWS

HASTINGS, Oct. 8. — Mr. Cunningham of Peterboro, was in town on Wednesday.

Miss Lilian Herlihey, who underwent a surgical operation at the Ross Hospital, Lindsay, has returned home. Her many friends will be pleased to hear that she is progressing favourably.

TO THE ELECTORS OF WEST PETERBORO:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Owing to the uncompromising attitude of the Provincial Government in the past towards the claims of the Producers, Agricultural and Industrial Workers alike, it was decided at the above named convention to put up an Independent Candidate for the Provincial House. At that convention I had the honour of being nominated by ballot as candidate. The conditions under which we are living, the exploitation of the Producer and Consumer by the monopolies of industry, into the hands of a ring of Capitalists, who practically control the Government to the detriment of Democracy, should appeal to you that an Independent Candidate, not under any pledge to either of the old parties, is absolutely essential for the transaction of business to the best interests of the people, and clean government. Your candidate is nominated upon the plank of a Referendum and Recall, so that if his conduct when elected is not satisfactory to the Electors, his resignation can be called for, which, it is hoped, will keep your candidate up to the platform on which he is elected. Also at certain periods of each year, your candidate will visit the electors of the constituency to give an account of his stewardship, and from time to time receive the will of the people.

Owing to the short notice of the election date, the candidate will find it difficult to meet all the electors. If you will read the local press account of my nomination you will see that my ability to fill the seat is not questioned by my opponents. That should speak for itself. I therefore ask you to seriously conside my appeal for your vote. As this is the time of Reconstruction, when initiative and progressive action is needed to carry on the work that was commenced on the Battlefields of Europe, "The War of Democracy," "Shall we break faith?"

Ladies, you have a vote; it is for you to help to decide. So mark your ballot for TOOMS, THE INDEPENDENT CANDIDATE, who stands for the will of the people.

Election Date, October 20th.

I am, Ladies and Gentlemen,
Your Obedient Servant,
THOS. TOOMS,
Secretary I. L. P.; President Building Trades Council, Member Trades and Labor Council, etc. etc.,
Peterboro.

MR. JAS. THOMPSON GAVE AN ADDRESS

About one hundred electors attended the meeting held at Stewart's Hall when Mr. James Thompson, M.P.P., gave an address dealing with the U.F.O. platform. He also spoke on the Government temperance record and explained the ballot fully.

The chairman, Mr. C. F. Kitney, called upon Mr. Highland to address the meeting, and he spoke upon the Government's educational and agricultural platform. Asked by a lady present how he would mark his ballot on the referendum, Mr. Thompson, amid applause, answered, "Four 'no's.'"

Some Real Bargains in Boots on Saturday

As we have always been in the habit of giving some special bargains in Footwear just before Thanksgiving, we have decided to do so again this year in spite of the high prices and scarcity of boots. We have, therefore, prepared a long list of bargains for Saturday, of which the few items mentioned below will give you an idea of the bargains.

Men's Black or Tan Workboots at $5.00

These are made of Urus Calf or Grained Calf, and come with plain or capped toes. The soles, heels, and counters are of solid leather, and are guaranteed. All sizes from 6 to 11. Reg. up to $8.00, for.... $5.00

Men's White 16 inch Elk Boots at $10.00

These high-grade Boots of genuine Elk have 16 inch high tops. They have solid leather soles and heels, and are guaranteed waterproof. We have only a few pairs at present, and as we cannot get more, we have decided to clear them out at $10.00

Men's Black or Mahogany Fine Boots

We have a splendid range of fine Boots for Men in Black and in all popular colours, in Blucher or English lasts, with a choice of solid leather or Neolin soles. A special is a Velour Kip Boot, with Neolin soles and rubber heels, at $6.00
Others up to $10.00

Our Stock of Women's, Boys' and Children's Boots is now complete and the prices on these goods are remarkably low because they were bought before the recent advances.

A TICKLER FOR E. GUS PORTER

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 2.—Mr. Joseph Archambault, K.C., M.P. for Chambly,Vercheres,has given notice that to-morrow he will ask the Government questions which appear on the official votes and proceedings of the House, as follows:

1.—Is it true that at the end of August last or at the beginning of September, all trains from Bancroft to Toronto, on the Canadian National Railway were cancelled for one day because all the cars belonging to these trains were required and used for transporting crowds to Marmora, where a political picnic was organised by E. Gus Porter, M.P. for the West Riding of Hastings, in honour of Sir William Hearst and the Hon. T. W. McGarry?

2.—Is the Government aware that owing to this fact, Mr. R. H. Thompson, of Hybla, Ontario, was not able to reach a certain hospital with his young daughter, who was ill, and who died because she arrived at the hospital twenty-four hours too late?

3.—If so, does the Government intend to hold an immediate inquiry into this matter?

THE PROMOTER'S WIFE

CHAPTER LXXIX.

To have Neil turn me off with a laugh seemed almost more than I could bear. Suddenly I burst into tears, sobbing unrestrainedly. He was at once penitent.

"Poor girl, people have talked to you until you are unnerved," he said, trying to calm me. "Come Bab, don't give way like that."

"But I can't bear to have them say things about you! I just can't live if they keep saying you are dishonest, that you spend your time with women who are—not nice; and that you spend money that doesn't belong to you! Why Neil I would rather live on a crust than have you, my husband, do these things. You are smart and clever. It isn't necessary for you to do wrong to make a living. Do promise me, dear, that you will be different."

"All right, I will promise to be more careful," and with that I had to be content. Neil was quick tempered. If pushed too far he invariably rebelled. Then we would quarrel, and I would have accomplished nothing; less than nothing, for after we quarreled he always remained away; sulked for a day or two, and was altogether hard to manage. But when not crossed he was the easiest going person in the world.

I laid awake long after he slept. My life was becoming a problem: the living of it, I mean. Had I not so passionately loved my husband, loved him, faults and all, I think it might have been easier for me. But it seemed so dreadful to doubt him; so unwifely to question his integrity. I had always thought him so upright, so honest; and had so carried myself toward him.

He had turned me off when I spoke of being economical. Had said it would hurt him if people knew we were retrenching. I could not understand why cutting out extravagance should make people doubt one, but then I knew very little of business, so probably Neil was right.

I again thought of that sheaf of unpaid bills down stairs. I would ask Neil in the morning to leave me a lot of signed checks and I would fill them out and pay every cent we owed.

In the morning when I proposed doing so to Neil, he objected.

"I don't care to use so much ready money just now. Pay a few of the smaller ones if you like and let the others go. It won't hurt them to wait a while, I expect they all robbed us, anyway."

"Oh, I don't think so, Neil, really I don't! we had the very best of everything, the most expensive. You musn't talk as if people were cheats."

"Yet you listen to people who so designate me." A trifle bitterly.

"Not if I can help it, dear! And you know I don't believe you ever meant to wrong anyone—you have been led into these big schemes by older men."

"Well, I must be off—I'll call you if anything happens I can't get home to dinner."

"Please don't let anything happen." I urged, as I kissed him good bye.

I watched him swing down the street. He usually walked part of the way to the office in the morning, said he needed the exercise. How handsome he was, and how young he looked in his well fitting clothes. He was slender, yet broad of shoulder, and I never saw him in the street that I did not compare him to other men to their disadvantage.

When he passed out of sight I busied myself about a few household tasks until such time as I might expect Mr. Frederick. He came promptly at eleven, as he had promised.

"You always keep your word, do you not?" I asked.

"Always, if possible. To what do you refer?"

"Your promptness in keeping appointments."

"Oh, not to be prompt in that respect is unforgivable! especially when the appointment is with a lady."

"I forgot to ask you about Mr. Powers the other day. Did you see him?" I queried when we were seated in the library.

"Yes—I was with him some little time."

"What did he say? Does he really think Neil is doing wrong, that his business isn't all that it should be."

"One question at a time please." Then soberly: "I will tell you as nearly as I can remember just what he said."

CHAPTER LXXX.

"Did I not think I could help you, I should hesitate to distress you as I must," Mr. Frederick resumed gravely. "But I do think I can. So I must make things plain to you. Your husband when he first decided to promote big schemes, did not, I am sure, intend to be dishonest either with himself or his clients. But the lure of big business caught him. Easy money—it is very hard to make big fortunes in natural channels, hard, and a slow proposition. He was very young. When he saw how easily people bite when they think they can make big money with little; how quickly and eagerly they swallowed any idea that promised big returns, he commenced to look around for properties which he could handle to advantage in this way. Properties in which there was of course an element of risk for the client, none for him. From that it was but a step to simply imagining he had something to sell. None of the people who put in their money ever investigated; they were satisfied to get the big interest he paid them, and then to live on the promises of immense profits. It was a temptation, Forbes succumbed to it. I had been suspicious of some of his deals for some time; but when I found he had associated himself with Connor and Tearle I was sure of it. I tried to make him get out from under that combination when I talked to him the other day. I told him all I knew, and I could prove every word I said. They are two sharpers. If trouble came the brunt of it would fall on your husband. They are slick, and always manage to slide out from under. Of course, Mr. Forbes didn't believe me, thinks me an old woman for meddling, I expect. Although I tried to be as tactful as possible because I want to be your friend and—his.'" I smiled a little as I recalled that Neil had called him an "old woman" when speaking of him.

"I talked to Neil last night," I volunteered.

there is nothing but trouble ahead for him."

"What can I do? I am so ignorant of business, have trusted him so implicitly—trust him now," I added. Not to this man whom I knew cared enough for me to try to straighten out the tangle of our lives would I own that I had lost faith. "Trust him as being honest himself, even if he has been led astray by others." It was only a half declaration of faith. But I had to say something.

"Yes—I know. But—pardon my bluntness—you must not let your faith in him—your—love," he hesitated over the word, "blind you to the necessity of recognizing his danger—and yours. Now to get back to Powers. He talked frankly with me. He, like others, recognizes Forbes' ability, his cleverness. He said many complimentary things about him. But he also said that he feared for his future. That he had become mixed up with many shady transactions, that he personally knew of cases where he, Forbes, had misrepresented matters to people to get them to invest"—

"Not knowingly misrepresented, I am sure," I interrupted, my face burning.

"I am afraid he did," his voice serious, but kind." "At least he took no pains to see if what he promised could be done; or if even he had the properties he claimed were to turn out such a bonanza. He has sent out 'prospectus' which pictured in glowing language the land containing oil wells, etc., they—the company pretended to own. Upon investigation there are no such lands even—that is they do not own them, or they are worthless."

"Who investigated?" I was anxious to learn all I could, yet I understood very little of all I was told. One reason my lack of business knowledge, the other the fight in my mind to believe in Neil; my refusal in face of all I was told to believe he was really dishonest.

"I have—I did it for your sake. I was afraid things were not as they should be when I was here before. Very much afraid. I took pains to look up several of the advertised properties—and didn't find them as represented." Then after a minute: "Powers too took pains to look Forbes up. I don't want to hurt you, but he did it at his wife's request."

CHAPTER LXXXI.

"What do you mean, that Mrs. Powers asked her husband to look Neil's business up?"

"Yes." Then: "That is, his business record."

"Why should she interest herself?"

"Because she liked you, and was hesitating about asking you and Forbes to one of her select affairs. It sounds awfully harsh, but she told him after he had made his report that she should drop you from her list."

I almost groaned aloud. This was the woman whom I had hoped to have help me in my social aspirations; the woman whom I had planned to invite to my home in the hope she would give my parties eclat. Thank God I had a friend like Mr. Frederick. Mortifying as it was to have him know it was better than the embarrassment which would have been mine had I tried to put my plans into effect. Lorraine Morton had been careful not to hurt me too much. Perhaps Mrs. Powers had talked of us, Mr. Powers had warned her father, perhaps his wife and [illegible]

"Please don't look like that," Mr. Frederick said after a moment. "I had to tell you—that was why I went to Powers after you told me of your intention to try to get into society. I wanted to save you. I have seen, even where I live, how it has hurt women when they tried to get into certain sets and failed. Why do you care about it?" He spoke fiercely, as if he resented the fact that I wanted to be somebody, instead of my failure, although I knew he did not mean it that way. "What does society do for you women anyway? It makes slaves of you, dressing, entertaining, and going here, there and everywhere, not because you care for it but because Mrs. Somebody else does it, and so it is the thing to do. It don't amount to much in the long run. I can't believe it would with you. You have your lovely home, your boy, your friends. Why not be contented?"

"If all you indicate is true I shall have no beautiful home, no friends."

"Nonsense! Don't talk like that, nor allow yourself to feel that way. Your true friends are still the same when you are in trouble that they are when you do not need them. As for your home, it is too early to think of losing that — it may come, I don't know of course to what extent Forbes is involved; or will be before he either calls a halt himself, or is compelled to. I hope he will do it himself. He is very stubborn, very impatient of not only reproof but of advice. I can appreciate how hard it is for him to give up such a source of wealth; but unless he goes straight he will have to. He can be a promoter and go straight. I have known many who did — but they never were very rich men. At times they would make considerable, at others scarcely a living. 840 per cent men are not honest men in any business. What a dry person you must think me. What a lecturer I would have made." He smiled whimsically at me, then: "Come, take a ride then meet me and your husband at Mordaunt's at lunch. I have an appointment with him. Perhaps it would be as well to say nothing of what we have discussed to him. I will say I dropped in and invited you to join us."

"Thank you, I will be glad to come," I said absent mindedly. I scarcely heard his good-bye, or felt his hand clasp, so intent was I upon my thoughts. Not agreeable ones, as you can well imagine.

I dressed, simply, but carefully. I wore no jewels, not even a brooch. I would not give people occasion to talk of our extravagance. Just as I was about to start Lorraine came in.

"Drive down with me, then Thomas will take you home," I urged.

"That will be nice. So that Mr. Frederick is here again. I liked him immensely that night I met him at your dinner party. He rang true. Something a good many do not now-a-days." She bit her lip, and immediately commenced to chat of something else. It wasn't like Lorraine to make such a tactless remark.

CHAPTER LXXXII

When we drew up to the curb in front of the restaurant Neil and Mr. Frederick were just turning in. They saw us, and helped me alight, then Neil said to Lorraine:

"Aren't you coming, too?"

"I wasn't asked?" she replied smiling.

"You are asked now, Miss Morton, please join us," Mr. Frederick quickly responded.

"If you are really want me, I should be delighted."

"Take it for granted that we do, Lorraine and come along." Neil took her arm and they walked ahead of Mr. Frederick and me so giving him a chance to say:

"We will not be able to talk, but perhaps it is just as well, I like you and —Forbes to be seen with her."

"She is a dear," I returned, just as the waiter showed us to the table which had been reserved, adding another place.

"See! I wasn't expected!" Lorraine bantered.

"Se ..' :ff!: 4(4.':dki;*!bz,fi,fi,fi

As is always the case when one's mind is filled with a certain subject the conversation veered around to business before we had finished our luncheon. Lorraine seemed terribly interested, and as several intelligent questions which showed her familiarity with terms used in talking of monetary affairs. Neil was explaining a certain deal he was about to take up to Frederick. He seemed to me to be trying to impress his listener with the probity of the deal. I tried to grasp what was being said, but most of it was over my head.

"Have you seen this tract?" Mr. Frederick asked.

"No—" Neil flushed. "but Tearle has. He brings glowing accounts of it's possibilities."

"Will you wait until I have investigated it. I wouldn't take Tearle's word under oath." Someone had just spoken to Lorraine as they passed so she did not hear, although Mr. Frederick had lowered his voice—I know for that purpose.

"It is too late the prospectus has already gone out."

"When?"

"About a week ago. We have had several returns, hundreds of inquiries. The country is prosperous. People are anxious to invest their money."

"And Tearle tells them how." It was the first sarcastic speech I ever had heard Mr. Frederick make.

'Come you too you must stop talking business when you have ladies with you," I hastened to say. I saw a look on Neil's face which I recognized; one he invariably had when he was beginning to get angry or impatient.

"That's right, Mrs. Forbes. We aren't very polite," Mr. Frederick answered, while Neil, looking relieved, turned to Lorraine. "I'll see your husband in his office later." I knew he had added that to let me know he would not so easily give up helping me, and attempting to make Neil see things as he wanted him to.

The remainder of the luncheon passed pleasantly. Before we rose from the table Lorraine said:

"Won't you and Mr. Frederick dine with me one night, when ever it is convenient to you men of business?"

"That will be lovely," I hastened to say. I would know that Neil was not with Blanche Orton for that night, and I should enjoy dining with Lorraine and her father. It flashed over me that Mr. Frederick would be sure to make a good impression, and as he was a friend of Neil's it would help Neil. Little did I think that the lunch, his acceptance of Lorrraine's invitation were both because of that very idea. He knew that Neil would soon need friends. He also knew that it helped him to be seen with nice people.

But not until years afterward did I learn all that this man had done for us.

To-morrow—Barbara Is Obliged To Go To The Midnight Train.

CHAPTER LXXXIII

That afternoon after my return home I felt happy at times because of my faith in Mr. Frederick; that he would influence Neil to end his intimacy with Tearle and men of his kind; unhappy at other times when I dwelt upon the fact that it had become a necessity.

About six o'clock the telephone rang.

"This is Mr. Forbes' office. He wished me to telephone Mrs. Forbes that he would not be at home to dinner"

"Is Mr. Forbes in the office?" I recognized the blonde stenographer's voice.

"Very well, thank you."

Regardless of what Mr. Frederick had told hm of Tearle's character and reputation Neil had gone out with him. It seemed to be such a reckless thing to do. I, of course, did not realize that it isn't an easy thing to break off business relations at any time; that under certain circumstances it might be almost impossible to accomplish any great change in the personnel of a company quickly. So I dwelt upon the idea that Neil had decided to pay no attention to Mr. Frederick, to me, or to what he had been told others were saying. That he had decided to go along in the same way he had been going—a law unto himself.

I was the more distressed that he did not come home as his aunt had telegraphed while we were out to lunch that she would arrive on the midnight train. I called his club hoping to catch him here. They had not seen him. I tried one or two other places. He should meet his aunt. It would be dreadful for her to find no one at the station.

Finally I gave up trying to locate him. I ate my dinner, then sat down with a new magazine and tried to read. He might come in any minute. I said to myself, knowing he would not. Of late he had remained out the entire evening and far into the night when he had not died at home.

"If he doesn't come I will go to the station," I said aloud. Then: "I wonder if he is at Blanche Orton's Just the thought made me so miserable the tears started. "Oh, what shall I do?" I felt that never was anyone so unhappy as I; that never was a woman so anxious and worried "If I didn't love him so much!" I continued my soliloquy "if I didn't it wouldn't be so hard to lose faith in him. I wonder if he does care for Blanche Orton, perhaps Mr. Frederick is mistaken about that. It doesn't seem as if he would go there so much if he wasn't."

"I couldn't read, and finally threw down the book in digus. It was growing late. Should I try the club again? If Neil had not gone to Mrs. Orton's he might be there now.

"Is Mr. Forbes in the house?" I asked when they answered. "Will you page him please so that I may be sure. I will hold the wire." It seemed they would never come back to the telephone. After waiting an unconscionable time a voice said:

"Hello—Mr. Forbes is not in the house."

I hung up disgusted that I had waited so long. "I might have known he wouldn't be there!' I scolded. I would wait until a little after eleven then' I would get ready and go to meet his aunt if he did not come in by that time.

I started at every sound. There was no use fooling myself. It was not the anxiety that he meet his aunt which caused me so much uneasiness, it was the feeling that he was at Blanche Orton's I was not at all timid. Even had he been at home I should probably have gone with him, so it was not disinclination to go out either which made me nervous. It was the fear that he was with another woman; a fear which amounted almost to a sure knowledge.

If he had been with Mr. Frederick I shouldn't have cared, I said. After the clock had struck eleven I arose to prepare for my errand. It was strange how in every unhappy moment my thoughts flew to him.

Was it because I knew he loved me?

To-morrow—Barbara Angers Neil by Calling Him at Blanche Orton's.

CHAPTER LXXXVI.

The clock had struck the half hour before I left the house. I did not care to wait in the station at that hour. Someone might see me and wonder why Neil was not with me. I hated to have anyone pity me because of his shortcomings.

Twelve o'clock came, and the train had not come in. I had waited some distance back of the crowd, hoping by doing so to be unobserved. Then I heard a murmur of horror, and pressed forward.

"An accident!" I heard a man say. "The train ran into a freight."

"What is it please?" I asked the man who had spoken, "I have a relative coming on the train. Is anything serious the matter?"

"They don't know yet Miss, but if you wait here I will find out." The kindly man moved away, and I again stood a little apart from the crowd.

"It is quite bad Miss," his voice startled me. I had not expected him back so soon. "Some of the people are badly hurt."

"Do you know if they are bringing them here?"

"Yes—it is the nearest place where they can get attention. The right kind of attention."

"How long before they can be expected?" I asked, my heart contracting as I thought that perhaps gentle, kind Mrs. Carter, whom I had always known might be among the injured or killed.

"No one knows ma'am." If there is anything I can do for you—I am afraid my sister is on the train,

IT'S QUITE DIFFERENT

from ordinary ointments. That's why Zam-Buk succeeds when ordinary ointments fail. Mr. Theodore Ledoy of Harrowby, Man., speaking of Zam-Buk says: "There is certainly nothing equal to Zam-Buk for skin injuries. I burned my leg very badly, and although I tried everything I knew of the sore refused to heal until I used Zam-Buk. Regular applications of the balm completely healed the place in a comparatively short time."

The reason for the wonderful healing power of Zam-Buk is that in addition to its antiseptic qualities, it is so refined as to be unusually penetrating. It is thus able to reach and destroy all germs deeply embedded in the sore, and to medicinally cleanse it. Until this is done, a sore either refuses to heal, or heals only to break out again. Then Zam-Buk's healing essences grow new skin, and the wound or sore is healed.

Not only for cuts, burns and scalds is Zam-Buk indispensable, but also for eczema, ulcers, scalp sores, salt rheum, ringworm, boils, pimples, blood-poisoning and piles. 50c. box.

THIS WEAK, NERVOUS MOTHER

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I was very weak, always tired, my back ached, and I felt sickly most of the time. I went to a doctor and he said I had nervous indigestion, which added to my weak condition kept me worrying most of the time—and he said if I could not stop that, I could not get well. I heard so much about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound my husband wanted me to try it. I took it for a week and felt a little better. I kept it up for three months, and I feel fine and can eat anything now without distress or nervousness."—Mrs. J. Wowrenen, 2[illegible] North Taylor St., Philadelphia Pa.

The majority of mothers nowadays overdo, there are so many demands upon their time and strength; the result is invariably a weakened, run-down, nervous condition with headaches, backache, irritability and depression—and soon more serious ailments develop. It is at such periods in life that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will restore a normal healthy condition, as it did to Mrs. Worthlin.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. PROVINCIAL ROAD FROM HAVELOCK TO TRENT RIVER

ROAD WILL BE DEMONSTRATION OF VALUE OF TRAP ROCK.

The Department of Public Works of Ontario has authorized the construction of a first class metal road from Havelock to Trent River, a distance of two and three-quarter miles.

The road will be constructed under the personal direction of government engineers, and will be of ample width throughout and will be a first-class permanent provincial type of the latest method of road building.

The road will be constructed with trap rock from the Ontario Rock Co.'s quarry a Preneveau, and while serving this section of Ontario as a sample of how good roads should be constructed, the main idea of the Government is to test out thereby the assertion of the trap rock quarry people that their product is by far the best in the country for provincial or any other road use, where metalled surfaces are required to stand up to heavy traffic.

POTATO SALES TO CONTINUE BY BAG

COUNCIL'S AUTHORITY APPLIES AT PRESENT ONLY TO THE MARKET.

Because the Council's jurisdiction extended only to sales made on the Market, the Property Committee last night decided not to recommend that potatoes be sold by weight instead of measure, as suggested a short time ago by the Ottawa Department.

It had been pointed out that by the present system consumers are often at a disadvantage. A few large potatoes fill a peck measure, for example, but the quantity thus sold falls short of what the buyer could receive under the weight system. A bag of potatoes should weigh ninety pounds, and six pecks are supposed to average that weight; but the Inspector of Weights and Measures stated that often the bag is considerably lighter.

City Solicitor Widdifield informed the committee that the Council's authority applies only to Market sales, and because any change would not have a general effect.

Ald. Edgar moved, seconded by Mayor Duncan, that no action be taken.

A SUMMARY OF FARM CONDITIONS

LATE POTATOES TURNING OUT BETTER THAN EXPECTED.

Plowing is again very active, the recent rains having put the soil once more into first-class condition for the work.

The rain has also brought up the more recently sown fall wheat and has given a good start generally to the comparatively large area got in this season. Essex speaks of "Some Hessian Fly."

Buckwheat is still being cut and the crop, where not put in too late, is giving a fair yield.

Red clover seed has matured nicely, but has not turned out so full in yield as alsike. The spring sowing has been more or less of a disappointment, owing to the drouth of July and early August.

Sweet clover seed, however, has done well for growers this season. The Peel Representative states that one farmer in that county who had 50 acres of sweet clover received a cheque for $5,000 for his year's crop.

Essex reports that alfalfa is growing nicely after three cuttings have been taken off.

Late potatoes are turning out better than expected, having been helped considerably by the early fall rains. Turnips have been injured by the aphis in several counties, but mangels are said to be doing much better.

Corn is standing out this year as a leading field crop, the absence of early frost permitting an unusually full maturing of the cobs for seed. Silos are being filled as rapidly as men and machinery can do the job. Reports from Western Ontario indicate that the silo is still further increasing in popularity in that portion of the Province.

Brant reports that apple pickers are busy with Spies, Greenings, Snows, etc. Many orchards are selling in the lump; in others buyers are paying $6.50 a barrel for No. 1's of the better winter varieties, and $5.50 for 2's, 3's and domestics. The Prince Edward Representative claims that there is a heavier yield of apples than was expected but that many of them are of inferior quality, owing to lack of spraying. He adds that "Those who sprayed are now reaping the results."

Milk production is about normal. Some factories complain that the supply is not so large as usual, but the Brant Representative states that this is probably due to the fact that more butter is being made at home of late.

Prince Edward reports that some good specimens of Southdown lambs have been recently sold as high as $30 each for breeding and show purposes and that little pigs are now selling at from $6 to $8 each. Norfolk states that there is a decrease in the number of brood sows kept on account of the decline in the price of hogs.

Most favorable September weather has helped farmers to get their field work in good shape, and there have been only a few complaints regarding the lack of labor.

although I am not sure. I shall wait and see however, so don't be afraid to ask me anything."

I didn't know what to do. If only I knew where Neil was. It was terrible to wait here indefinitely alone. I thought of Mr. Frederick, if only he were with me. I went into the booth and called his hotel.

"No, Mr. Frederick doesn't answer." I left no message, and returned to my place of waiting.

"Is there any further news?" I asked the man who so kindly had offered to do what he could for me.

"No, Miss. I am afraid it will be a long wait. You see they had to send a wrecking train first. You better go inside and sit down. I will come and call you if there is any news."

I thanked him, but remained where I was. To sit quiet would be impossible and also intolerable. It was now one o'clock. I had left no word for Neil, supposing I should be back directly. I called the house. It was some time before Ada answered. She had been asleep she explained.

"No, Mr. Forbes has not come in."

"If he does tell him to come at once to the station. The train upon which his aunt was to come has met with an accident. She may be injured. And Ada, you better sit up. We may need you."

I waited until two o'clock. If you know what it means to wait in a railroad station until two o'clock in the morning, wait for someone who may have been injured—perhaps killed, you will realize something of my distress. I really could remain inactive no longer. I called Blanche Orton's house.

"May I speak to Mrs. Orton?" I asked.

"This is Mrs. Orton. What is it?"

Suddenly it came to me that I would let her know who I was. I had not intended to say who was talking unless Neil came to the telephone. But I would show her that I knew of his visits.

"Is Mr. Forbes there? I should like to speak to him. The train upon which his aunt was to arrive has met with an accident." I waited an appreciable time before she answered:

"No, Mr. Forbes is not here." There was something in her voice, the hesitating manner in which she spoke which made me ask:

"How long ago did he leave?"

"About thirty minutes."

"Thank you, he is probably on his way to the station by this time." I hung up the receiver trembling. I had received the information I wanted.

I returned to my place with the rest of the watchers just as Neil dashed up.

"I just got home, Bab! hurried right up here. Have they heard anything?"

"No—I knew you only just got home. Blanche Orton told me you had left only half an hour ago."

"The devil she did—what business had you calling her? I won't have you meddling with me, and my business, and the sooner you understand it the better!" He stalked over to one of the officials leaving me standing alone, the man who so kindly had helped me eyeing me with obvious pity. He had heard what Neil had said.

How the last Victory Loan was spent

For Demobilization

For Trade Extension

BEFORE buying Victory Bonds again you may want to know how Canada used the money you loaned her last year.

Canada borrowed the money to carry on the war and to provide credits for Great Britain and our Allies.

CONSIDERABLY more than one-half of the Victory Loan 1918 was spent on our soldiers. This included $312,900,000, for paying them, feeding them, bringing them home, separation allowances to their dependents, maintenance of medical services and vocational training schools.

$59,000,000 of the Victory Loan 1918 was paid on account of authorized Soldiers' gratuities.

$9,000,000 was spent at Halifax for relief and reconstruction after the disaster.

+ + + + + + +

Other disbursements were not, strictly speaking, expenditures, but National Re-investments.

To Great Britain for example:

$173,500,000 was loaned for the purchase of our wheat and cereals.
$9,000,000 for our fish.
$30,000,000 for other Foodstuffs.
$2,900,000 for Canadian built ships.
$5,500,000 to pay other British obligations in Canada.

Making in all $220,900,000 advanced to Great Britain.

To our Allies, we loaned $8,200,000 for the purchase of Canadian foodstuffs, raw material and manufactured products.

The Re-investments will be paid back to Canada in due time, with interest.

These credits were absolutely necessary to secure the orders for Canada because cash purchases were impossible.

They have had the effect of tremendously helping agricultural and industrial workers to tide over the depression that would have followed the Armistice, had we not made these credit loans.

As far as money is concerned, 1919 has been, and is still—just as much a war year as 1918. Our main expenditures for war cannot be completed until well on into 1920. Thus another Victory Loan is necessary—Get ready to buy.

MICHAEL BAHRI FOUND GUILTY ON MURDER CHARGE

SENTENCE DEFERRED UNTIL THREE COMPANIONS ARE TRIED —SECOND MAN TO BE CONVICTED.

COURT ADJOURNED

Coming all the way from his home in Fort William, the father of Michael Bahri arrived in the court room last night just as his son's doom was pronounced. Mr. A. M. Cowling, foreman of the jury arose from his seat and anounced thr the jury had found Michael guilty of murder just as the swing doors at the rear of the court swung in admitting the accused's father. He made quite a commotion as he shuffled up to the box where his son stood and Chief Thompson called for order but he had reached the prisoner's box and listened to His Lordsip as he spoke to the jury. The jury also made a strong recommendation for mercy and Sir William Mulock promised that the recommendation would be forwarded to the Minister of Justice. The tension was almost unbearable to those in the court room, while the jury slowly filed into the room and took their places in the jury box. Only the prisoner seemed perfectly composed and when the jury gave its verdict the only indication that the prisoner heard was a slight drooping of the head and the consequent disarrangement of his well brushed hair. The jury had arrived at a decision a few minutes before the court had assembled but at six minutes to seven they were unlocked from their room and announced their verdict. Mr. G. N. Gordon, counsel for the defence asked that the jury be polled which showed that every member of the jury concurred at the general verdict arrived at.

"You have had an anxious time, no doubt," said His Lordship to the jury. "But you had a plain duty to perform."

Judgment was deferred until all the murder cases are disposed of. Not wishing to keep the jury locked over Sunday, as they very likely would be if another trial was started to-day, His Lordship adjourned the court until Tuesday at one o'clock p.m., when the trial of either Samuel Zaluski, Aexander Martinoff or Philip Rotynsky, the remaining Russians accused of murder, will begin.

A difficult technical point was brought up at yesterday afternoon's session of the Fall Assises. A confession was made by Mike Bahri to Chief Thompson at the Police Court, the day of the arrest. The law demands that prisoners be warned that if they made any statements they may be used against them. Chief Thompson stated he warned Bahri twice. His Lordship decided to exclude the jury and hear the statement and decide whether it could be used in the evidence. Mr. P. N. Gordon, for the prisoner, strongly objected to the Chief's statement being used in the evidence because he thought the foreigners, being used to subjection to officers in their own country would be scared by that fact in telling the Chief everything. His Lordship, however, decided to put the Chief's statement in the evidence.

Chief Thompson's Statement.

"I had a conversation Sunday afternoon, the day the murder took place, with the prisoner," said Chief Thompson. "The prisoner was properly warned that anything he said may be used in evidence against him. This was repeated. I asked him if he could give names of the other men in the cells. He said he couldn't, that he had met them in a pool room run in Toronto by a man named John who had given him $5 to pay his railroad fare. The men, the prisoner said, had worked at the quarry and that on the train the men told how, when they got to the camp, they would get the money. He further related how they walked from the train at Havelock to the quarry. The prisoner was the first one to the camp door, but he was the last to go up the stairway and when three or four steps from the top heard a shot. I asked him if he knew who fired the shot but he said he did not. Later, Detective Cookman came to me and said that Bahri wanted to tell where he had put the money. He told me that he had put $80 between the cracks of the seat at Indian River and that one of the other men had inserted $50 in the same place. We then took Bahri to Indian River by automobile. At Indian River Mr. Riseborough handed me the money ($100.00. We returned to Peterboro and on our return we brought Konek out. Their Bahri told us how the money was divided among them on the road from Havelock. He did not seem to know the names of the rest of the men."

Mr. Gordon then began a cross-examination of Chief Thompson:

"Do you remember Bahri telling you that they had supper and were drinking after they got off the train at Havelock?"

The Chief remembered something of it.

"Do you remember Bahri telling you that Konek was the first man to go up the stairs?"

"Yes, I do."

His impression was that they were going there for the purpose of getting work?"

"Yes."

Detective Meagher

Detective Meagher was called to the witness box and the question of whether statement could be allowed was brought up by the defence and the jury were ordered to retire.

"This is a pretty mess you have got into," said Meagher to the prisoner that day.

"Yes, I suppose they will put all the blame on me," replied the prisoner.

The rest of Detective Meagher's evidence was the same as the Chief's with addition that when they were in the bunk house a belt was thrown to him, and he took the money out. On the way back to Havelock the money was divided and Bahri received $80.

Charles Moitzsioff, who slept in the bunk next to the murdered Yannoff, and who was the principal witness in Konek's trial, told his story of the hold up and the murder of Yanoff in answer to questions put by Mr. Rigney. A cross-examination by Mr. Gordon revealed no further details.

High County Constable Archibald Moore, in his evidence, stated that the prisoner admitted that they had a meal in Havelock before proceeding to the bunk-house and that they had two drinks at the time.

This concluded the case, both for the Crown and the defence. Mr. Gordon, for the defence, called no witnesses during the trial relying entirely on the evidence which he elicited from the Crown's witnesses.

Address to Jury.

Mr. Rigney then began his address to the jury. He pointed out as a significant fact that although Bahri knew by the time that the train reached Peterboro that they were going to rob the men near Havelock, he stayed on with them, when he could have got off here.

"It is impossible to reduce this charge to manslaughter. Yannoff had no time to say even 'Have mercy upon me,' because the other occupants of the bunk-house were not awakened by an altercation but by a pistol shot, and surely if there had been a quarrel the rest of the men in that small room would have been awakened. Philip Yannoff was killed in cold blood. The robbers had in their possession three $100 bills and that is just what the occupants of the bunk house, had stolen that night. That's queer isn't it. We have his own statement that he went with the crowd, as given by Chief Thompson. It is unnecessary to go into the gruesome details.

"I leave this in your hands and I expect you to discharge your obligations without any personal feelings, but only according to the evidence."

Mr. C. N. Gordon.

Michael Bahri was told to take the men down to get work. He formerly worked at the quarry and it is said that he was sober and industrious. Bahri was a stranger to the group. He was given liquor and when his senses were dulled they told him they came for the purpose of robbery. That drink, which has ruined more people, ruined more women and children and nations—that drink, I say, made this poor boy unable to decide between right and wrong. If such is the case he is not guilty of murder but of manslaughter. Murder is the taking of human life in cold blood. Manslaughter is the wrong taking of life but not with the intention of killing and that is what I say is the distinction in this case and the other. He was the last man up the stairs and the shot was fired before he reached the room. He did not participate in this crime and when a man has taken intoxicating liquors he was incapable of knowing what he was doing. If his mind was dull and he was incapable of knowing what he was doing, it is your duty then to find if he is guilty of murder or of manslaughter. It is proven that Bahri was not in that room when the shot was fired. Plied with liquor he was simply clay in the potter's hands and he comes before you charged with the murder of this man, Yannoff. The testimony shows that Koney, the man with the bad eye, dominated the whole situation. There is no testimony one way or another that Bahri ever had a revolver or a flashlight or knew that there was one until, in his intoxicated condition, the scheme was unfolded to him. There is no doubt that he was there. But what can you expect of a boy of 19 plied with liquor. It dulled his mind, stupified his faculties, so that he was incapable of knowing what he was doing. And manslaughter is a terrible thing. It is imbedded in his mind to his dying day."

His Lordship's Address.

As in the previous trial, His Lordship distinguished to the jury the difference between murder and manslaughter. He gave a resume of the evidence and in conclusion asked the jury if they thought that Bahri was under the influence of liquor when he knew that he was the last one up the bunk-house stairs.

The jury retired as the city clock was striking six o'clock and the court adjourned until 7.30 p.m.

CAPTURED GERMAN AEROPLANE TO FLY AT NORWOOD FAIR

Come to East Peterborough's Big Exhibition at Norwood on October 14th and 15th. The Directors have left nothing undone to make this by far the biggest and best exhibition they have ever held. In speeding events they have more than doubled their prizes and expect a long string of first class horses.

A large exhibit of war trophies has been secured from the Dominion government; also an exhibit of work done by disabled soldiers. This is an exceptionally fine exhibit and should not be missed.

For farmers a splendid exhibit has been secured from the Experimental Farm at Ottawa. Also special egg exhibit.

An extra special has been secured. Captains V. C. Dallin and Salter, Legion of Honor and Croix de Guerre, selected by Col. Barker for the Toronto Exhibition feats, will put on a thrilling exhibition of aerobatic stunts in one of the famous Fokker planes captured from the Germans and loaned especially for this occasion by the Dominion government. The exhibition will consist of trenchstrafing, looping, climbing, turns, nose-dives, etc. No one should miss this opportunity of seeing these world famous aviators. Mark the dates and come. General admission 25c. 1w.

CASE FOR THE DEFENSE OPENED AT ASSIZES THIS MORNING

THE MURDER OF PHILIP YANNOFF TOLD IN DETAIL BY WITNESSES.

THE EVIDENCE

At six o'clock last evening began what is generally conceded to be the most searching and exhaustive cross-examinations ever held in the new court house. The story of Moitzsioff, the Macedonian, who slept in the bunk next to Philip Yannoff was picked to pieces and presented to him in another way by the counsel for the defence, Mr. B. W. Essery. The numerous parries at the authenticity of his story were thrust aside and practically no retreat was made by the witness from his original story. Mr. Essery asking the witness how he could place Konek as the man who was in the bunk room that morning if he wore a handkerchief over his face the witness replied that he recognized him by his peculiar eyes and that one was crossed. His Lordship ordered Konek to be brought to the jury so that they could see if one of his eyes was crossed. The jury made no verbal reply of their findings.

Identified Watch.

Tom Serbonoff, another Macedonian an occupant of the bunk house the morning of the murder was called this morning He told the same story as his compatriot although Serbonoff was relieved of a gold watch two $100 bills and $10 and a Dominion Bank book, Sherbourne and Queen street branch, Toronto. He described his watch and he identified it when a number of watches were shown to him. He said he made a cross with a pocket knife on the stem when he bought it and the cross was seen on it by the jury.

"Who lit the lamp in the bunk house that night?" asked Mr. Rigney

"The bums," was the reply.

"Who are the bums".

"The men who came to the quarry."

He told the same story as to the position of the bunks in the bunk house as that told by the previous witness.

Constable Isaac Puffer of Norwood told the same story as Constable Williams. Eight foreigners were ranged in court and Mr. Puffer picked out the man to whom he was talking the afternoon of June 22. He chose Charles Moitzsioff, a previous witness, James Stephanoff, another occupant of the bunk house, was able to aswer in broken English.

The Defense

When cross-examined about belt, he became excited and declared emphatically that he knew the belt. He had worked with Yannoff for three years. More questions about the identity of the belt made him stand on his dignity and in an emphatic way asked Mr. Essery if he thought he was crazy.

County Constable Archie Moore sent the money which was taken from Russians to Crown Attorney Hatton. Mr. Hatton produced the greenbacks and silver which have been in a deposit box at the bank of Nova Scotia since the day of the murder.

Mr. Hatton's evidence concluded the case for the prosecution.

The defense called Mr. William Johnston, local court reporter, who read from his notes of the preliminary hearing that Moitzsioff in his evidence stated he recognized none of the robbers except Samuel Zaluski

Evidence Yesterday.

Constable Williams of Havelock, on the stand this afternoon, produced a package of cartridges which had been found in the waiting room at Indian River. In the box was a letter written to somebody (the name was unintelligible) by "Maud, and asked the person to whom the letter was sent to meet her at the corner of Queen street and Spadina avenue at 2 o'clock. She would have an excuse to get out by going to the butcher shop for meat. More bullets were found behind the seat in the station, wraped in a handkerchief. The bullets were of a different calibre from those found in the box. Two searchlights were also produced.

A pair of brown boots with rubber soles were shown to Constable Williams, who stated that it was the heel that made the impressions on the Norwood road. He further said that the pair of boots was on the tallest of the five Russians, when he examined their shoes in the waiting rooms at Indian River. His Lordship called for the rest of the prisoners to be brought in so that Mr. Williams could identify the man to whom the boots belonged. Samuel Zaluski was the prisoner who owned the boots. The boots were tried on Zaluski and found to fit.

The Money Belt.

A large torn leather belt thought to have belonged to the murdered man, was shown to Mr. Henry Wees of the Ontario Rock Company, who was called to the witness box yesterday afternoon, and he said he found it just outside the door of the bunkhouse near Havelock, early the morning of June 22. He also found an empty revolver shell on the bunkhouse floor about six feet from the dead man's head.

Constable Augustus Whibbs of Indian River told how he saw two men coming up the track, how they stepped and asked the Indian River station agent for a drink and how when he asked for a drink they were asked where they were going.

"To Peterboro," was the reply.

"I asked them to sign a paper which promised they would not trespass on the track again and they came into the station where I locked them in. Later three more men came up the track and on another pretext we locked them in the waiting room. About $450 was found on Tom Konek, the prisoner when searched." The prisoners were quite peachable and made no atempt to escape.

The stationmaster at Indian River, Mr. John W. Riseborough, was next called. He told the circumstances of the five Russians coming up the track and how they were detained by Constable Whibbs.

Knew Yannoff.

Charles Motzsioff, a Macedonian, one of the foreigners who were sleeping in the bunkhouse when Yannoff was shot and killed, answered the questions of the counsels through the medium of an interpreter. Motzsioff occupied the bunk in which Yanoff was killed. He located his bunk on the blue print given to him. He also pointed out Yanoff's bunk.

"When did you last see Philip Yanoff alive?" questioned Mr. Rigney.

"Saturday night, June 21," was the Macedonian's reply.

"When did you last se ehim?"

"Sunday morning. I was awakened by a shot. The prisoner (Konek) and another foreigner instantly commanded 'Hands up!' Konek was standing near my bunk. Yanoff was hollering and crying. I asked him why he was crying. He replied 'I'm hit.' Another one of the gang then struck him."

A Black Revolver.

Moitzsioff then marked with an "A" on the blue print where Konek was standing with a revolver in his hand. "It was a black revolver and he had a black handkerchief over his face."

Asked to describe the revolver he gave a description of the black automatic revolver which had already been produced in court. Three revolvers lay on the desk and he picked up from among them the black automatic.

"Hands Up!"

"He pointed therevolver at me and Konek told me to hand over my money. I said 'I have no money, I am broke.' He said 'I will shoot.' I said 'Go ahead, shoot.' Then he saw I was broke."

"Did you notice Yannoff?"

"Yes, I saw Yannoff when he was bending up asking for water. I said 'I can't give you a drink because I can't move.' Yannoff was then hit by one of the gang."

Then the Russians started in an individual search of the bunk house occupants.

"I seen them when the took the money belt off Philip Jannoff. First time the searched Yannoff but found nothing but later came back and took off his belt which was around his waist. The prisoner cut the belt with a knife. I am not quite sure it was a knife."

"Did you hear the prisoner say anything?"—"No."

"There was 400 in the belt," said the witnes.

ounsel Objected.

At this juncture the counnsel for the defense objected to the interpreter finishing the witness's evidence, even though it be disjointed. Another interpreter was placed near the witnes to check up his brother interpreter.

"The robbers gathered near the door under the lamp to look at the money which they had collected."

"What did Konek have over his face?"

"The prisoner caried a black revolver and wore a black handkerchief."

"Describe the handkerchief."

"It was black with white spots on it."

A black and white handkerchief was shown him and he recognised it.

The witness tated they made a final search and then left.

"How long were these men in the bunk house?"

"They came in shortly after three and left about ten minutes to four."

Evidence Complete

The defense completed its case early this afternoon and almost at once the counsel began their addresses to the jury, the Crown preceding.

ARE MOVING TO HAVELOCK.

On Saturday evening last a number of ladies gathered at the home of Mrs. Braund, Bond street, to say farewell to Mrs. W. A. McMaster, who is leaving town in the near future. A very enjoyable evening was spent by all, a dainty lunch being served by the hostess, assisted by two or three of the ladies.

Mr. McMaster has disposed of his business here and located in Havelock where they intend moving within the next week.—Lindsay Post.

OMEMEE MEETING NOT ENCOURAGING

(U. F. O. Publicity Committee.)

Dr. Wood's so-called gigantic meeting at Omemee was a colossal failure. There was a large crowd and the Lindsay band was there, but the enthusiasm was very, very weak. Sir Sam Hughes called for cheers for Dr. Wood, the Conservative candidate, and not one-tenth of the crowd responded. When the people got out of the hall, three cheers for F. C. Sandy were called for, and the cheers could be heard a mile off. The speaker of the evening was to have been a Cabinet Minister, but, as usual, some Toronto lawyer was sent to take his place, and he succeeded in creating more antagonism for the Hearst Government and more votes for Mr. Sandy, than any meeting of the U. F. O. could possibly have done.

His whole argument was down on the farmer. They are becoming a dangerous element in this country. Sure thing. They are all right to work on the farm and raise wheat and pigs but it requires the brainy lawyers and other professional men to run our Legislature.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Can Only Find Relief by Enriching the Blood.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather of autumn may start the tortures of rheumatism but is not the cause. The cause is in the blood and the blood only. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which may shortly leave the victim painracked and helpless.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism, and that is through the blood. Liniments, hot applications, and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by the rich, red blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. This new blood drives out the poisonous acids had impurities, and the rheumatism disappears If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin curing yourself today by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away, leaving behiad new energy and new health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SHERMAN GARBUTT WAS SERIOUSLY INJURED

Yesterday while operating a corn cutter on his farm, situated on the Young's Point Road, Mr. Sherman Garbutt, son of Mr. H. C. Garbutt, former County Councillor, was struck on the head by a bolt which flew off the machine. He was rendered unconscious, and up until a late hour last evening had not regained consciousness. Lakefield doctors are attending him.

PETERBORO' PROGRESS THIS YEAR SHOWN BY LIST OF FACTORIES

MERCANTILE BUSINESS HAS BEEN WELL MAINTAINED BUT BUILDING TRADES MADE A LATE START—CITY HAS A DIRECT BOOM THAT BEGAN IN LATE SUMMER.

THE INDUSTRIAL EXPANSION

Mid-autumn of Peterboro's first peace year affords a vantage point from which a clear survey of the city's recent development can be obtained. The mercauttile trade has undergone the transition without a falter. Merchants have reported throughout the summer and early fall a briskness of demand that has probably exceeded their expectations. Many, indeed, have found their monthly statements better than last year's and, are looking forward to winter without any fear of a deeline.

To the building trades the season, as a whole, has been a disappointment. Optimists had calculated in their idle hours a programme of construction that, commencing with the breaking of Spring was to have absorbed all the available labor in the skilled trades and unskilled occupations. The actuality is still a vivid memory and to many citizens an unpleasant one. Not a few tradesmen tarried a while in the hope of securing employment until necessity forced them to pack their tools and seek those cities that had begun to boom before the last snow had meled.

A Gradual Development.

It was not until July that Peterboro began to set its feet resolutely and securely on the road to progress. August brought further improvement and September found the labor supply running short. Valuable weeks of the building season had been lost, but there is some satisfaction in the outlook that promises to carry present contracts along to the first days of winter.

Peterboro's boom has been slow in starting and it has geen devoid of spectacular features that inflate community ambitions, property values and other commodities, so swiftly and recklessly that the bursting point is often barely avoided. This city's emergence from the turmoil of war has been more sedate, but it has also been more extensive and encouraging than most citizens realise.

A List of Industries.

The following summary of industrial expansion should carry conviction that Peterboro has secured a large share of the reconstruction development of which so much was expected twelve months ago:

The Western Clock Company are temporarily occupying quarters in the Barrie Building until the new year when they take possession of the Peterboro Chicle Company on George street, south. This company was obtained through the Council's connection with Heaton's agency of Toronto. It has an excellent rating and comes to this city with a bright future in Canadian trade.

The Chicle and Candy Company will move to the Lundy Shovel warehouse, which is being altered to accommodate it.

The Nashua Gum & Coated Paper Company have decided to locate here under an agreement which must be ratified by the citizens. This is another strong organization that has been recommended. Its financial standing is high, and as a business it is full of promise in this country. Brantford also secured it and the story of how it was attracted to Peterboro is of more than ordinary interest. The Nashua Gum and Coated Paper Company will take over the old Cordage Company's factory, providing, of course, that the citizens give their assent.

The Bon Marche Manufacturing Company have started work in the K. P. hall on Simcoe street.

Large Extensions.

The additions to the Bonner-Worth and Auburn factories have already been reported. They are easily equivalent to a large new industry, and are in some respects the features of this year's manufacturing growth.

The C. G. E. Company are preparing to install $200000 worth of new machinery, particularly in the rubber insulated wire and fractional motors departments.

In Ashburnham the Lavoie Knitting Company are occupying larger premises in the old town hall, the Auto-Specialty company is in full swing and a wool stock factory owned by Mr. Alex Stewart making good progress.

Some of these industries are launching out unpretentiously, but securely. Mr. S. R. Armstrong, the city's Industrial Commissioner, has actively engaged this summer in the pursuit of various companies that were reported to be looking for Canadian sites. Representatives of some of them have bisited the city and of that number Peterboro has secured a fair share. Citizens remember that other cities are ready to bid to the limit within the law, and even evading it, for new industries, and to be successful in this highly interesting game, Peterboro must be willing and prepared to contend on the common basis. The list of prospects for this year is not yet exhausted and if patience and persistence repeat their rewards, Mr. Armstrong may land another factory before the year is out.

G. A. Gillespie the Unanimous Choice of Liberal Party As Candidate for Legislature

NOMINATED AND ENDORSED BY REPRESENTATIVES OF LABOUR, AGRICULTURE AND RETURNED SOLDIERS--PLEDGES HONEST SUPPORT OF TEMPERANCE LEGISLATION.

LIBERAL PRINCIPLES NEEDED

"I was elected on the temperance issue in 1914 and supported temperance legislation at every opportunity in the House. This question is of great interest to the people and I promise the same support that I have given it during the last five years."

Such was George A. Gillespie's pledge to the electors at last night's convention of the Liberals of West Peterboro in accepting the unanimous nomination as their candidate in the forthcoming Provincial elections. He also declared that the problems of labor and agriculture would receive his heartiest sympathy and closest attention if elected for second term as the representative of this riding; he further announced that the broad policy of the Liberal party had his fullest endorsation.

Mr. Gillespie was proposed by Mr. George Sloan, Chamberlen street, a contracting carpenter, was seconded by W. G. Telford of Smith township a farmer, and was strongly advocated by Mr. C. R. Widdifield, who stated that he spoke as a returned soldier. Failing other nominations, Mr. Hartley declared Mr. Gillespie the unanimous choice of the Liberals of West Peterboro, as their standard-bearer and urged the electors, men and women, to work earnestly for him and the cause he represented during the next three weeks.

On the platform with Mr. Gillespie were Mr. W. A. Roebuck, of Toronto, Mr. R. R. Hall, Mr. W. A Anderson, reeve of Otonabee, Mr. Joseph Wearing, Mr. Widdifield and Mr. Hartley.

Representative Convention.

The audience was thoroughly representative of all classes of the community, with a noticeable delegation of the city's workingmen. This fact was as significant as the similar circumstance that the proposers of Mr. Gillespie were drawn from the dominating trinity of labor, agriculture and the overseas men.

Salient Points of Address.

Mr. Anderson contributed an appeal to the farmers not to stand out for class legislation, but to support the candidate of the Liberal party, whose policy embraced the new platform of the U. F. O. Mr. Roebuck denounced the Hearst Government for its failure to enact labor legislation as advanced as that of all the other Provinces in Canada, except those down by the sea, and asserted that the Liberal party, not the Conservative party, had sponsored temperance reform and contended for it against the solid opposition of the Conservative Government until public opinion during the war forced from them the Temperance Act, which they produced as an economic and not a prohibitive measure. Sir William Hearst was a member of the Government and afterwards its leader during the years of the Liberal agitation against the liquor traffic. Mr. Roebuck pointed out on the other hand that Mr. Hartley Dewart, the leader of the Provincial Liberal Party, had supported his party in their efforts and at the convention in Toronto had given the fullest pledge to implement prohibition as demanded through the referendum.

Mr. Gillespie's Address.

In accepting nomination he thanked the convention for their confidence and also the citizens for their support during his five years as a member for West Peterboro.

"I think you will agree with me that they were the most strenuous five years we have ever faced. Whatever you may have expected of me during those years I can say that I tried to do my duty in the best interests of West Peterboro, city and country, and of the Province as a whole. It is true that I had not intended to stand as a candidate again, I told Mr. Proudfoot that, also Mr. Dewart and the executive of the party in this riding. However, I was consulted by friends in the House and at home here, and upon their requests I consented to allow my name to stand if nominated at this convention. And I did this for the reason that I felt that it was still my duty to endeavor to bring about the reconstruction that has followed the war. I didn't expect an election so soon and had the Prime Minister's assurance, on which I relied, that it would not be held on the same day as the referendum, but possibly it is as well that the campaign will be short. It will be short and it will be upright and there will be no personalities on my part whoever my opponent may be. I hope to have my former supporters among the Conservatives and also that the ladies will support me ,and that I will come back to you and be able to say that I have kept up my record as an honest man. I prize that more than anything else."

Agricultural Problems

"You are all aware of the agricultural unrest," Mr. Gillespie continued. "It was my first duty in the House to act on the Agricultural committee. I saw in that department a great lack of interest. I threw my whole force into it under the late Minister Mr. Duff, also under the Premier when he was acting Minister, and also under Hon. Mr. Henry. There were developments, but there can be more work done in that department than in any of the others. The unrest itself shows that. While the Government hasn't adopted the policies I asked for I hope that it will give effect to an agricultural programme that will bring relief to the people in the cities and fully satisfy the farmers.

Would Harmonize Industry.

"In regard to Labor I have been a laborer myself and have employed men for the last few years. If you ask the men who worked for me I believe they will say that I was as kindly to them as I was to my own interests. I realize that Labor should have better days ahead than in the past, and that it will have them. If we could harmonize the different groups in the interests of all of them and for the country as a whol ewe would have a better and happier place to live in. It is my hope that we will be able to establish sound conditions.

"I hope that I will be considered as a representative of the citizens and of the agricultural interests and it will be my aim to combine the elements that are at unrest in the present time."

Most Important Election.

Mr. Joseph Wearing said that he regarded the present election as the most important that has taken place in Ontario. On the one hand were problems of the most remarkable magnitude to be grappled with, and on the other hand a Government that has been referred to for some years as "the seven sleepers." The kindest word that could be said of the Government was that it was asleep. It was in a stage of premature death that leads to death itself. It has shown all possible signs of being asleep and that it is not capable of governing at such a time as this.

"To my mind there never was a time when Liberal principles needed to be expounded and brought into the open more than at present," Mr. Wearing said. "The Liberal party has always stood for freedom of action for the greatest opportunity to every branch of labor as opposed to privilege and monopoly. The reason that I am a Liberal is because I stand for fair play for the working man and the man at the head of business, because I believe in equal opportunity for the man in the city and country as opposed to the few big men at the top who are always in operation under the Conservative regime. We need a party in power in Toronto that stands on the principles that have always been the dominating impulse of the Liberal party, principles such as Cobden, Bright, Gladstone and Lloyd George have stood upon. These giants have been the champions of the spread of education and opportunity, of the equalization of wealth and they were always opposed to privilege and monopoly."

Principles Comprehensive.

Upon such principles stood Sir Oliver Mowat and at Ottawa Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Liberal policies were broad enough to embrace the U. F. O., Labor and returned soldiers and all the people. Mr. Wearing recalled the farmers' political agitation before Laurier went into power. Shortly afterwards nothing more was heard of it because of the improvement he brought to rural conditions.

"It has been said that Mr. Hartley Dewart is lukewarm on the temperance question and the question has been asked why I, as a temperance man, support him. At the Liberal convention at which Mr. Dewart was elected leader, a policy was adopted which Mr. Dewart supported promising progressive temperance legislation within the jurisdiction of the Province. He will carry into effect the will of the people as expressed in the referendum vote. What more can be said? Mr. Dewart stands four square on the temperance question.

"I hope that we will put Mr. Gillespie back as member because we have in him the kind of man the best thinking people want. He is a man we can be proud of. In the Legislature he considers the best good of the Province and of the riding and is not seeking any personal advantage."

Mr. W. A. Andersen.

"I happened to be in the city tonight and I came here as an old friend of Mr. Gillespie's," said Reeve Anderson of Otonahee. "It has been said that he still is an honest man and I am one of those farmers and Liberals who believe that a man can be in public life yet honest, and not that a man has to be in the U. F. O. to be honest. I believe we have had great and good and honest men in our governments.

"I have been associated with the dairy industry for twenty-six years and being in a position of trust as salesman for a cheese factory, have had a chance to observe men who were honest and others who were not honest. There was a time cheese makers worked long hours for small wages, and buyers for the big exporters took advantage of the salesmen because of the close competition for the cheese. It was not until Mr. Gillespie became buyer that the cheesemaker felt safe in selling cheese without being robbed. We got a square deal from him. The influence of Mr. Gillespie as an honest buyer was a great relief to me as a salesman.

"It was reported that I attended a U.F.O.-Labour meeting in Peterboro. I wish to say that I was not at a farmers' meeting. I don't believe in the U. F. O. organization. I am interested in farmers' clubs but I am not interested in any one class that wants to run this country. I am a Canadian first and a farmer second. This country should be run by reasonable men of all ranks. I would advise the farmers of West Peterboro not to launch into class legislation, but to get unitedly behind Mr. Gillespie."

Mr. R. R. Hall.

Mr. Hall stated that he wished to show by his presence that he was in accord with and supported the platform on which Mr. Gillespie stood. It was not for class legislation, not for the financier, the farmer or labor, but for what was in the common interests of all classes.

We have had a Conservative administration in Ottawa since 1911 and in Toronto since 1905. We have had troublous times in the past five years and they may continue. The following quotations showing how the average cost of a living for a family of five has advanced in this country is taken from the Labour Gazette:

1914—$7.68; 1915—$7.78; 1916—$8.63; 1917—$11.68; 1918—$13.51 and 1919—$14.43 a week. The cost has more than doubled. Two years ago I did all that I possibly could to draw the attention of the people to the need of greater production of food. Farmers have been withdrawing from their farms. If you haven't the people to produce cheese and butter, grain and eggs and meat, how do you expect the high cost of living will be reduced And who is responsible for this condition? The men who administer the affairs at Ottawa and who have neglected our affairs at Toronto. They go on merrily spending money and our debt that was twelve millions in 1905 is now seventy-five millions. Do you mean to tell me that a man can mortgage his house and go on increasing the mortgage from year to year He will land on the side of the road, and that's where we of Ontario are going to land. If we continue as we have been going we will have more than unrest. We will have serious trouble. I don't want to appear as an alarmist, but I want to face the situation."

Mr. Hall stated that the people should throw out the present government, neck, crop and heels. Money had been spent lavishly and with no thought of value. He referred to the expenditure of $1,250,000 spent on the Government House by the Hearst Government for just one man Sir John Hendrie. That wealth was equivalent to the assessment of Harvey, Ennismore, Lakefield, Norwood and other municipalities that accomodated three or four thousand persons. Surely we must see that if you find extravagance of that kind right under your nose you must agree that the men responsible for conditions such as these are not worthy of a single vote. Government House required 976 tons of coal to heat it for the comfort of one man while in this city many persons were at their wits' end and looking for coal to save their bodies from freezing to death. You find the same wasteful extravagance all down the line in the Hearst Government's affairs. I want to say that I would be with the U. F. O. to oust that Government, with Labor to oust it, and that I am with Mr. Gillespie. I would be with everybody who would throw out a worthless reckless crowd like that."

Mr. C. R. Widdifield.

Mr. Widdifield, secretary of the Liberal Association, said that he wished to say as a returned soldier that no person did more for the men under his command than Mr. Gillespie. He had taken an interest in all the boys from Peterboro city and county.

"Mr. Gillespie's record is an honest record," Mr. Widdifield continued. "I am confident that whoever the other side may put forward as a candidate or speakers that no person can say one thing detrimental to Mr. Gillespie's character or his record in the Legislature. He is not seeking favors of any kind, but acts because of what he considers to be the best interests of all the people."

CLOSE-UP OF THE CONVENTION

"Sir William Hearst turned a cold shoulder to the Liberal proposals for temperance reform in 1911."—A. W. Roebuck.

"The Conservatives all stood for night drinking when Sam Carter of Guelph moved for a reduction in the hours of sale in 1914."—A. W. Roebuck.

"Booze must win only one of the four questions on the ballot; temperance must win them all. This is not a temperance referendum, but a booze referendum."—A. W. Roebuck.

"Labour in Ontario has had no help from the Tory Government in fifteen years."—A. W. Roebuck.

"It will be a short campaign, and upright. There will be no personalities on my part."—G. A. Gillespie.

"The beer offered by the Prime Minister is five times stronger than what is allowed to be sold in the United States."—A. W. Roebuck.

"I would advise the farmers of West Peterborough not to launch into class legislation."—Reeve Anderson.

"The Liberal Party has always stood for freedom of action and for the greatest freedom for Labour as opposed to privilege and monopoly."—Joseph Wearing.

INCREASE PENSIONS.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8. — It is now thought that the Commons will increase pensions to soldiers' dependents and wounded soldiers who are unable to secure life insurance.

Want of principle is the principal want of a mean man.

ly worn at all whereas now they are considerably worn down.

Addressed the Jury.

Mr. T. J. Rigney began his address to the jury this morning and pointed out the partial confessions which Zaluski had made to the police after his arrest. He enlarged on the rubber heel imprints which led to the arrest of Zaluski with his companions at Indian River. He asked the jury why, if the prisoner was not there that he with the rest of the gang had hidden their revolvers and search lights in the station. The prisoner confessed to the police that he had a revolver but when searched no arms were found on him. He must therefore have owned one of the revolvers found in the waiting room. Zaluski also confessed to the police that when he was being taken to Peterboro in an automobile from Indian River that he took his portion of the stolen money from his inside pocket and threw it away unknown to the County Constables. Why was he getting rid of that money? Isn't that a significant fact If that were his money had he anything to fear. The irresistible conclusion is that this man is one of the five who visited that bunk-house and the murder is indefensible on any score whatever. It is rank. If you failed to bring in a verdict of guilty you would be remiss in your duty and according to the oath you have taken.

The Defense

The address to the jury by the counsel for the defence, Mr. W. B. Essery who after sifting out many extenuating strands from the evidence wound it into a strong rope which he presented to the jury in a most masterly style.

"You must be satisfied that the man on trial is responsible for that murder.Moitzsoiff who slept next to Yannoff does not implicate this man. He knew Konek by his eyes but he said that there was a man with a thin face (a description of the prisoner.) Four other men with white handkerchiefs and three others with revolvers were there. Can they say one of them was the prisoner? How does a slim face bring home an individuality to this man? If there was even a chance of a doubt it is this trial. They may have all looked thin to those scared Macedonians. Moitzoiff said a fight was lit and turned up full and if so gentlemen of the jury that room was illuminated. The windows would have revealed the illumination to the outside. Gentlemen do you believe it?

The Rubber Heel

Mr. S. Bradley tells you that the rubber heel was distinct and six feet from the bunk house door but Mr. Bradley did not say it was the identical shoe and identical heel, it was one like it. Mr. Bradley believes to this day that there were five holes whereas there are six holes in the heel. That is a very significant thing. That shoe was worn when it came into this court room yet they say it was not worn when inspected at Indian River by the County Constables.

Mr .Essery pointed out that the rubber heel imprint is very common and that there are thousands likely in this very country. "This man must not be condemned by the imprint of this heel. Because five tracks are found in the Norwood Road is that proof that this man went that way? Does it not seem probable to you that two of these men came only to get work and do not forget that.

Knew Amount of Money.

Moitzsoiff and Serbonoff knew how much money was in Yannoff's belt. Also, not one of the fourteen witnesses would say that the articles on exhibit here was found on this prisoner at Indian River. You have nothing to identify to show that this prisoner was at the quarry. The evidence does not go beyond a strong suspicion but there is no proof that Zaluski was a participant in that shooting. If it hadn't been for Riseborough's little boy your County Constables wouldn't have the credit for finding this revolver and that searchlight at Indian River. There is nothing to show that Zaluski had any part in the murder except that he was at Indian River.

Detective Cookman's Statement

"I submit to you that Detective Cookman's statement is lacking in detail. The prisoner is able to converse in English to a certain extent but did this man understand what he was doing and saying when agitated by fear he made a statement. The greatest incentive to making a statement was present in that guard room at the Peterboro Jail. Cookman was overseas and the natural response from one to another of those who wear the returned button was given by the prisoner to his fellow veteran. Did this man say something that was so damning that it could not be explained?

Premier Hearst Fires Opening Gun in An Effort to Save Riding

IT TOOK THE PREMIER NEARLY TWO HOURS TO PROCLAIM THE VIRTUES OF THE ONTARIO GOVERNMENT.

THE SPEAKERS

Ontario's present Prime Minister was given a cordial reception at the mass meeting held in the Grand Opera House last evening. The chief of the Conservative clan of this Province gave an exhaustive speech on the measures which he contended were reforms which his Government had put on the statute books. He spoke of the alleged sins of the Opposition and spoke for a few minutes on the benefits given to the farmer by his Government. He spoke of the war record of the Province as one reason why the Conservatives should be returned to power and casually mentioned that the Opposition had cast politics aside and shoulder to shoulder helped the Governemnt in increasing the war resources of the Empire. He spoke on Labor reforms and forecasted the creation of a Ministry of Labor. He praised the work of some of his henchmen whom he said had done marvellous work. This included a reference to Dr. Cody, the present Minister of Education, whom Sir William, through a slip of the tongue designated as the Minister of Militia, his plans for consolidated schools and better teachers, better pay and better means of transportation to and from school. He told of millions spent here and millions spent there, and how the Province, although saddled with a debt of $75,000,000 had securities which could more than meet this. He mentioned of that the Province owned $22,000,000 in buildings, but forgot to mention the palace of the Lieutenant-Governor overlooking the Don brickyards. He essayed a number of verbal blows at Mr. Hartley Dewart, leader of the Opposition.

He denied a wide-spread belief that the reforms which the Hearst Government has put into effect had been forced upon them by the Opposition.

"If they do all these things in Opposition when they couldn't do it in power, surely they are more powerful in Opposition, then let's keep them there."

Mentioning the Hydro-Electric he said that it was one of the greatest boons this Province had ever had, and that they had been advanced $30,000,000.

He told his listeners that the prosperity of Ontario was evident and that it behooved us in the future to see that the resources of the Province were thoroughly developed.

He sketched the record of his Government during the past five years and defied his opponents to point to any wrong-doing or impropriety or misconduct on the part of the administration during that period.

Worked With Liberals.

On the other hand during the war they had worked shoulder to shoulder with the Liberals to help win the war.

Nowhere throughout the Dominion could a better record of war work be found than that of Ontario.

But the Government did not rest its claims to support on war work alone. He asked them to believe in the future because of what the Government had done in the past.

"We will try to continue and carry on the same Government that we have already given you."

The Provincial Treasury.

The Provincial Treasury was the key to all Governments. He referred at length to the accomplishment of the Government along these lines. In four years the revenue of the Province had increased by eight million dollars. A great deal of that was due to the Successions Duties Act, which he contended hurt no one.

The Government was expending a million and a quarter more for agriculture than ever before.

Charities and hospitals were being helped to the extent of $530,000 more than they received before.

The appropriation for education in 1919 was in round figures $4,000,000, or $3,000,000 more than in 1904.

Over $50,000,000 had been advanced to the Hydro. He defied anyone to say that that had not been good finance. It had made Ontario's industrial position secure. The Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway was another tremendous asset of the Government. Altogether against the $50,000,000 of debt which their opponents were worried about they had $93,000,000 of assets.

From the war tax they had received $8,000,000 in all. The whole of that, plus $2,000,000 more, had been spent for war purposes.

It had established the Orpington Military Hospital. It had established the Maple Leaf Club in London. It had provided the soldiers with Christmas gifts and so on, ad infinitum. The sale policy of the Government had been to stand by the soldier in every possible way.

The Province had increased to a tremendous extent. If there had been a bad year it was due to the weather and not to the Government.

On the subject of Labor legislation, he pointed to the Workmen's Compensation Act, as one of the best pieces of legislation on the statute books.

Once again he promised mothers pensions. The bill, he said was all ready to bring before the legisuature. A minimum wage for women and children was also part of the Government programme.

He promised thoroughly sympathetic action towards any recommendations which came about as a result of [illegible] National Industrial Conference, particularly with regard to the unification of Labor laws.

Temperance Act.

In conclusion he referred to the O. T. A. as a good bill. He admitted he had lost many party followers through the O. T. A. He had nothing to appologise for this Act, although it had brought the only cloud across the Government's political sky. "You had no mandate to act as you did, say some people," said the Premier. 'But we had a united mandate from the people for the winning of the war." And he believed the O. T. A. had been a factor in doing that.

Safety of Country.

Speaking of mandates, the Premier said a Government had the right to pass any and every kind of legislation for the safety of the country.

J. J. Preston Present.

Mr. J. J. Preston, the Conservative standard bearer for East Durham was present but took no part in the meeting.

Mr. R. J. Seden.

Mr. R. J. Seden who had just been nominated at the Conservative Convention in the Great War Veterans' Hall, spoke principally on the O.T.A., and stated that he stood for four "No's", and that was the way he was going to place his mark on the referendum ballot.

"I'm just as much in favor of efficiency now as in times of war, and if we are going to compete in the markets with Germany we must be as efficient as possible."

He touched on the Labor legislation that had been passed, and now in contemplation and finally he promised faithfully that he would follow in the footsteps of the Hearst Government.

The meeting was opened by Mr. C. E. Moore, President of the West Peterboro Liberal-Conservative Association, who expressed his pleasure at seeing so many ladies present and apologized for the delay in opening the meeting. He then introduced the first speaker, Dr. M. A. Morrison.

Dr. M. A. Morrison.

In opening, Dr. M. A. Morrison stated that he and Mr. T. E. Bradburnburn had been asked to speak merely to fill in time until the delegates from the convention at the G.W.V.A. Hall should arrive. Turning back to the last provincial campaign in 1914, Dr. Morrison described how the Conservatives with Sir. James Whitney at their head, had swept the province only to have their leader die shortly after. Mr. Hearst, then a member of the Cabinet, had been called upon by the Lieutenant-Governor to head the Government and had led the province through a strenuous four years. Of the many acts which he had put upon the statute books none had been of such benefit as the Ontario Temperance Act.

Continuing, Dr. Morrison told of the deputation which had waited upon Sir. William Hearst on March 8, 1916, to ask for a dry Ontario. He had never heard a more straightforward answer to a deputation than the Premier made upon that occasion. He told the deputation that a prohibitive measure would be enacted.

Three Year Trial.

Prohibition had had a three year trial and the speaker believed that we were all agreed that it was a good measure. After its enactment the production of munitions had increased 25 per cent. This fact alone was significant. Sir William had stated, however, that it was war measure, and that after the war the people would be given a chance to repeal it if they so desired by a referendum vote. This pledge was now about to be kept. But Dr. Morrison was sure that the Act would not be repealed. (Applause.)

He then went on to say that every sensible man and woman should realize that the Ontario Temperance Act had been a moral uplift to the Province and we should nominate a representative who would stand on the Hearst platform and support it to that end. If the Act should be kept in force and a new Government elected, which would be lax in its enforcement of the Act, it would be a curse to the country. He would prefer the return of the saloons to that. There had been some bootlegging going on in the Province, but if the Act were kept in force this would soon be stopped.

Dr. Morrison believed that Sir William Hearst had given us many able men. He went on to mention Dr. Cody, the taking of whom from his sacred calling to become Minister of Education, had been a benefit to the children of the Province. Mr. George Henry, who, as head of the Department of Agriculture, would do justice to the farmers, and Brigadier-General Ross, who had done so much in the way of sanitation for the soldiers. The speaker also commented upon the likelihood of there being a representative of Labour in the Cabinet in the near future. He believed that labor should be represented.

Mr. T. E. Bradburn.

Dr. Morrison was followed by Mr. T. E. Bradburn, ex-M. P. P., who stated that he was out to support the nominee of the convention as long as he stood behind Sir William. He believed that Sir William had given us the best Governmmet we have ever had in Ontario and was following along the same lines as Sir James Whitney.

"And as far as temperance is concerned," Mr. Bradburn continued, "you'll get what you want. You don't need to be alarmed."—(Laughter and applause.)

Mr. Bradburn went on to say that he had nothing against Mr. Gillespie personally, but he thought that he was on the wrong side of the vote. He concluded by stating that whoever the nominee of the convention at the other hall was, he would have his support.

Small onions are delicious when scalloped with bread crumbs.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST RIDING OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—

Having again received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Convention of West Peterborough, as a candidate for Parliamentary honours at the ensuing Provincial Election, to be held on October 20th, I desire to solicit your hearty support in favour of my election.

WAR WORK

Having represented you for the past five years (war years), I can safely say that during that period, while every effort was being made to win the war—my record is known to you all; and on that record I ask you to judge me on the position I have taken on all measures affecting the war work.

TEMPERANCE QUESTION

When I was elected in 1914, I stated my views on the Temperance question during that campaign; I pledged myself to vote for Temperance legislation on all occasions brought forward by whatever party, and the record in the House will show, that I carried out that pledge.

The Referendum vote is to be taken on the same date as the Provincial election, October 20th, and if I am again elected your representative, I promise to give my whole-hearted support to the Government elected to carry out the will of the people, as expressed by their votes on the Referendum ballot.

AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATION

During the years preceding 1914, every one agreed that the Department of Agriculture was asleep. The very first opportunity offered in the House, I introduced the question of a forward movement in Agriculture, and, along with other Liberal members of the House, have earnestly advocated a more strenuous progressive policy in Agriculture.

The shortage of production, the problem of farm help, and the numerous perplexing questions affecting the farmer, cannot be solved unless we seriously consider the cause and apply the remedy.

During the past few years of unrest in the country, due mainly to excessive living costs, I have advocated that demonstration farms be established in different counties, and increased attention be paid to the education to be received in our Agricultural College and Experimental Farms, and that the knowledge gained at the Agricultural College be put into practice on Demonstration Farms, where a profit and loss account could be kept, and the costs of producing 100 pounds of milk, or a pound of pork, or any of the many products of the farm, could be ascertained and established, such information being sadly lacking to-day. By such a system of education, the farm would be looked upon as a business manufacturing plant, that would attract the best brains to the development of the greatest asset in Canada to-day, the Farm. Our production is unlimited. The markets of the world are calling for food, and our own citizens living from hand to mouth at tremendous prices, wondering what the next six months have in store for them.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAYS

Our Highways need much repair. Auto and truck traffic is becoming daily increased, and we must develop a road policy which will make for hauling our produce to market as cheaply as possible. To this matter, I promise to give my best thought.

EDUCATION

Education, I am pleased to say, is in the hands of a new Minister, in whom we hope for great things. I believe in a separate education for the City and Rural districts. An Education in the Rural districts to educate the boy and girl the great lessons of Agriculture, making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, developing the average cow of Ontario to-day, which gives 5,000 lbs. of milk in a milking period to 10,000 lbs., producing a pound of pork or beef at a lower cost, and giving to the world the blessing which we most need: a reduction in the high cost of living.

THE LABOUR QUESTION

Regarding the important question of Labour, my own policy has been to treat labour as I would wish to be treated myself. I have had a good deal of experience with labour of various kinds and conditions, and have never had any trouble along that line, and do not expect to have any.

OUR RETURNED HEROES

To me, the welfare of the returned soldier and soldiers' wives, is one of the most essential duties of our country. Therefore, I promise that I will give my hearty support to every movement calculated to promote their very best interests. The soldiers who fought for me for five years deserve, and may expect to receive, my earnest consideration during the remaining years of my life.

THE WOMAN VOTE

I am delighted to know that women are to enjoy equal privileges with men in the use of the franchise at this election, and in the exercise of this privilege, I have the greatest faith in their good judgment and purifying influence. Their power with the ballot on October 20th, especially with the Prohibition and Labour problems, will, I feel certain, be of far-reaching effect. I will, therefore, consider the votes from the ladies counted in my favour at the approaching election, to be instruction to take high grounds on all matters calculated to elevate the morals of this community as well as of the whole Dominion.

CONCLUSION

These questions I have dealt with are, to my mind, the outstanding questions of the day. If I am elected again as your representative, I promise to give the best of my ability, my mature judgment on all questions affecting the interests of the West Riding of Peterborough, the Province of Ontario, the Dominion of Canada, and the British Empire, of which we, to-day, are so justly proud.

Thanking you, Ladies and Gentlemen, for your support in the past, and soliciting your support again on the 20th day of October, I remain,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. A. GILLESPIE.

VISITORS TO THE VILLAGE—SEVERAL DEATHS DURING THE WEEK —ACTIVITIES IN THE CHURCHES.

NORWOOD, Oct. 8.—The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church will hold their regular monthly meeting in the Ladies' Parlour of the church on Thursday afternoon at three o'clock.

Next Sunday the pulpit of the Methodist Church will be occupied at the morning and evening services by Rev. Joseph Barton, of Woofler. Rev. Mr. Terrill will be in Woofler conducting anniversary services.

The W. M. S. of the Methodist Church entertained the Mission Band in the Ladies' Parlour on Monday after four o'clock.

The Norwood branch of the Upper Canada Bible Society held their annual meeting on Thursday evening in the Anglican Church.

Interesting Address.

A most instructive address was given by Rev. Haslam, a returned missionary from India, in which he gave an interesting account of some of his work and experiences in India. Rev. Noble was in charge of the meeting, in which Rev. Welland of the Presbyterian Church and Rev. Terrill, of the Methodist Church, took part.

The officers elected for the ensuing year are: President, Mr. John Robb; vice-pres., Mr. John Rorabeck; secy.-treas., Mr. H. Wildman. Committee, Messrs. E. P. Cuffs and K. G. Thompson (Anglican Church), Messrs. W. Cuthbertson and A. J. Finlay (Presbyterian Church), Dr. Ford and Mr. Keeler (Methodist Church), and Messrs. T. Patterson and L. Fife (Baptist Church).

On Monday evening, 6th October, Rev. McCormack, of the Baptist Church, gave a lantern lecture on "The Torn Bible."

The Guild of the Presbyterian Church was re-opened on Monday night. Very interesting papers were read by Messrs. David Stark and Ross Fennell.

The Death Toll.

In Kamloops, B.C., on 19th September, the sad death occurred of Pearl, second daughter of the late Rev. Taylor, formerly pastor of the Methodist Church here, and wife of Mr. Archie Galloway, of Kamloops. To mourn her loss besides her husband and little daughter, she leaves her mother, two sisters, Mrs. John Potts and Miss Ruby, who reside in Kamloops; also a brother Howard, of Vancouver. After the death of Rev. Mr. Taylor as Picton, Mrs. Taylor and family moved to Peterborough, where Howard had optical parlous rson George street. The sorrowing friends will have the deepest sympathy of many loyal friends in Norwood and vicinity.

Mrs. Sam. Girven.

The Grim Reaper has again taken one of our former residents, Mrs. Sam Girven who for several years before her marriage was in the employ of Mr. E. P. Cuffe. A few years of her married life were spent in Norwood, after which they moved to Bass Lake, near Orillia, where the late Mrs. Girven's parents resided. The sad news reached the village on Saturday. On Monday evening the remains were brought here for burial, the funeral services being held on Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock in the Methodist Church, of which Mr. Girven and his late wife had been faithful and consistent members. Many old friends will sympathize with Mr. Girven in the sad loss which he has been called upon to sustain.

James Ferguson.

On Monday the death occurred at his late home on Belmont Street, of James Ferguson, aged seventy. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon to the Norwood Cemetery.

MEMORIAL HALL FOR WARSAW BOYS

MASS MEETING WAS HELD TO DISCUSS THE QUESTION.

WARSAW, Oct. 8.—There was a mass meeting called by the Board of Trade, held in the Town Hall, on Friday evening last, to discuss a memorial to our fallen boys also to get a little information regarding the hydro-electric.

It was unanimously decided to erect some fitting monument. A good deal of discussion arose as to how the money should be contributed. Some considered the council should just do it others that it should be all private subscription, others that so much should be given by the council and private subscription fill the amount and others that subscriptions should be taken first and the council asked to make good the deficit. It was finally left that the council appoint a committee to get subscriptions.

Dr. Munro reported that the village could buy a dynamo by which the village proper could be lighted for very little now from Lakefield.

Live Member Wanted

Some of the voters want a member whether he be U.F.O., Conservative or Liberal, who will do something for this part of the country, who will try to get good roads, a radial railway, and electricty. Why should we not have these things? We pay into the general taxes by which conveniences go to other parts of the country.

Fresh Young Men.

Some young men in the neighborhood have amused themselves, at times, interfering with engines, while owners were away, so that when they try to run their milking machines, etc., the engines will not work. The owners do not intend to stand much more of it.

Silos Filled

Silos are practically all filled now the men did the work rapidly as the weather was so favorable. Messrs. Ed. and John Payne filled seven silos in five days. Some of the distances they moved were long.

Pasture Good.

In spite of the dry summer the pasturage this autumn is splendid. Garden stuff that was hindered in growth, is doing well, even such tender plants as tomatoes are scarcely injured by frost. It is not often one may pick ripe tomatoes in the garden here, on October 6th.

Looking for Votes.

Mr. Thompson, M.P.P. East Peterboro, was in the neighborhood, canvassing, last week.

Many Warsaw residents attended Millbrook Fair last Friday and were highly pleased with the trip.

Dr. Munro went to Lakefield last Monday evening, to see about light for our village.

Conducted Service

In the absence of a regular pastor Mrs. Robert conducted the service in the Baptist church last Sunday.

The Bishop will visit the Anglican church here on Thursday evening of this week.

Preparatory service was not very well attended Friday evening.

The sacrament service in the Presbyterian church was well attended.

Referendum committee will meet in the Baptist Church on Friday evening October 10th.

The Girls' Club

The Girl's Club met at the home of Mrs. David Miller last Friday. Not all the girls were present. General business was discussed and a review of the First Aid work taken. All the directors except Mrs. Choate, who had sent word she could not attend, were present and one of the girls. The mothers are always welcome visitors. At the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Robert. There will be an election of officers.

Mrs. Aitkins and Miss Bessie left for Pittsburg last Thursday.

Mr. Robert Tedford of Norwood, was in the village last week.

Mrs. Robert Choate and three children are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Choate.

While at a silo-filling on Friday last, Mr. Clarence Drain lost his watch, but was fortunate enough to find it on Monday.

Raspberries have apparently mistaken the season. Mr. David Miller's blackberries have a nice branch of ripe berries, and on Mr. Wallace Anderson's bushes there are a lot of berries.

THOMAS TOOMS NOMINATED AS A LABOUR CANDIDATE

SUBSCRIBE TO PLATFORM

The standard of the Independent Labour Party was unfurled for the first time in West Peterboro last night, and placed in the hands of Mr. Thomas Tooms, when he was nominated as the Labour candidate for the Provincial elections in this riding. Mr. Tooms was returned on a second ballot with a majority of three over Mr. Thomas H. Lane. Mr. Alex Morrison, Ald. Gainey and Peter McArthur were also proposed, but the later two withdrew.

The first poll resulted as follows: Tooms 31, Morrison 15, and Lane 26, and on the second ballot from which Mr. Morrison's name was omitted, Mr. Tooms received 40 votes and Mr. Lane 37. When Mr. Peter McArthur, president of the Party announced the result, Mr. Lane was the first to congratulate Mr. Tooms and Mr. Morrison was a close second.

A Few Farmers Present.

There were a few U.F.O. representatives at the meeting and Mr. R. N. Scott of Smith township, occupied a seat on the platform. He explained that the Farmers of West Peterboro were not as united as in the East riding and, in some other constituencies, and for that reason he could not speak for any organization, but he promised to give his personal support to Mr. Tooms and assured him that there were quite a number of farmers in this riding who were dissatisfied with the old parties and would work for a Labour candidate.

Mr. McArthur and Mr. Tooms appealed to the working men of the city and townships to give every possible assistance to the promotion of the Independent Labour Party's initial campaign. Both speakers referred to the fact that this was Labor's first entry into the political field in Ontario, and they were launching a new movement that required both funds and hard work to prove successful. It was emphasized that the campaign was exceedingly brief and that energy would have to be concentrated upon a few weeks of careful electioneering.

In accepting the nomination, Mr. Tooms said that it was a complete surprise to him and he could only offer his thanks for the honor conferred upon him.

"I hope that I have the ability to carry out your desires and wishes," he continued, "and that I may have the privilege of doing something worth while not only for Peterboro, and that has always been the aim of my efforts, but also for the country as a whole. However, without your assistance and the assitance of the workingmen and the women of this riding I cannot do much. I therefore appeal for your most generous support."

The President's Address.

In opening the convention, Mr. McArthur said he had never attended a political meeting in this country, and as this occasion approached he grew uneasy about the customary method of procedure. For his own direction he attended the Liberal meeting and said he hadn't much to regret for that visit.

He was struck by the reiteration of Mr. Widdifield's statement that Mr. Gillespie was an honest man.

"I don't see any reason to question it," said Mr. McArthur, 'but it struck me forcibly that this was practically the only recommendation they gave him. The politics offered us in the addresses were excellent, until they advised us to support the Liberal party. The platform proposed was nothing more nor less than the Labour Party's, but they declared that it needed a Liberal Government to put it into force. I expect the Conservatives would say the same thing for themselves. Of course I differ with them. Labor wants its platform put into force no matter by what Government, but this can only be done when Labor has a force in Parliament that will compel the Government to put the platform into effect. I don't anticipate that Labor will have a majority in the House. Most of the Liberal platform was taken from that of I.L.P.; and it seemed to me that any original platform acceptable to workers must come from Labor men. However, before they can hope to get anything, they must press for it on their own platforms.

"We don't want a candidate to look after Labor and no one else. It has said that we are after class legislation. I say that the Labor man can legislate as capably as the lawyer, the doctor or the minister. It all depends on the class of men you put in. Labor is young in Canada and may not have as much talent as the older parties, but it will become educated and before many years it will have the men to set up a Labor Government."

Mr. McArthur mentioned the responsibility that had been thrust upon Labor men in Great Britain during the war, when the old political groups could not produce men capable of undertaking the tasks. As workingmen they had accepted those duties and carried them out to a success for their country.

Decide to Fight.

The first detail of the convention was a general vote by which it was decided to put forward a candidate in the interests of the Labor Party. Mr. McArthur was the first member proposed, but he declined stating that a great deal of spade work had to be done and that it was a young man's task. Were he younger he would have delighted in the position.

Mr. P. C. Lloyd was also proposed but withdrew his name.

Mr. A. McLaren pointed out that a candidate had to be a member of the party for at least three months. Another member mentioned Ald. McIntyre, but it was stated from the chair that he was not an I.L.P. man.

When the president called for nominations Mr. Chas. Duggan remarked that it had been expected that the executive would submit names.

Mr. McArthur—"You are used to the old Conservative tricks. I think we should throw this convention open to all members so that they may make the freest choice."

Mr. Tooms's Address.

It was required of the nominees for the candidacy that they accept the platform of the Independent Labor Party and agree to the recall by which, if chosen, they would write out their resignation and place it with the executive to be used in the event of their failure to carry out the conditions upon which they would be elected. Mr. Tooms, Mr. Morrison and Mr. Lane subscribed to the entire platform.

Before the balloting the members proposed for the nomination were given an opportunity to address the meeting. Mr. Tooms stated that Labor in Peterboro had reached a new stage in the game.

"It puts me back twelve months," he said, "when Labor tried to fill what they regarded as a need in the affairs of this city. They sent four candidates up for the municipal elections and all four were elected. Encouraged by that act the Independent Labor Party are now putting the opportunity of a Labor representative before you. We have heard of democracy so much that we are beginning to feel that we want it. The democracy I stand for is both political and industrial, for you can't have a political democracy and an industrial despotism. I am sorry that there are not more ladies present. They have just got the privileges of voting. We must realize that Labor cannot become 100 per cent. organized unless it has the women in it. The married men should raise the interest of the women in political questions."

Mr. Tooms spoke of the kindred interests of the farmer and city worker. All labor had been exploited by the capitalists class, but the farmer as a producer and the industrial worker in the city had a common cause.

Dealing with the platform of the Labor Party he took up the planks in order and discussed nearly all of them. He stood for co-operation, for the betterment of working conditions, for equal opportunity for all men to rise to that position for which their talents fitted them. He fully approved of free and compulsory education and wanted an equitable distribution of wealth. Mr. Tooms spoke of the success of the Labor Government in Queensland, elected in 1915 and returned to power at a subsequent election with a majority of more than two to one. That Government had reduced prices to the pre-war levels, established state butcher shops, naturalized the timber industry and put into force other enterprises for the benefit of all the people. This was an earnest example of what a Labor Government could do.

Ald. Gainey.

Withdrawing his name from the convention, Ald. Gainey stated that he had not attended with any intention of standing. He had received enough honors from the workingmen this year. Besides according to the constitution he couldn't qualify as a candidate as he hadn't been a member long enough. The honor should go to some of the workers who had helped build up the party during the last year. Ald. Gainey promised to give all the assistance he could to secure the election of the Labor candidate.

Alex Morrison.

Mr. Alex Morrison stated that if he was chosen he would stand by the I. L. P. platform. He was known as a farmer in Smith where he had lived and a workingman in the city. He had done all he could for the betterment of Labor and if elected would do nothing of which the Party would feel ashamed.

Mr. Thomas Lane.

Mr. Lane made a snappy speech, referring to his association with the Labor movement in Peterboro. The workers comprised 85 per cent. of the population and the remaining 15 per cent lived off the backs of Labor. But the Government had Legislated almost entirely for that 15 per cent.

"Isn't it time something was done for the 85 per cent? If the farmers and Labor of West Peterboro stand together we'll send a man down there to keep an eye on them. The press says that Labor and the farmers can't pull together, but the Liberals tell us that they can smooth things between Labor and the Farmer. Is that reasonable? Let's use our toopiece. Flowery promises last only until the ballots are counted."

Mr. R. N. Scott.

In the final vote on the candidates three ballots were unmarked. The last speaker was Mr. Robert Scott of Smith. The convention, he said, showed the laboring men had at last got a move on, that they had some starch in their backbone. They had been tied to the old parties too long. Mr. Scott had come to the conclusion after a life time in politics that there was not much in it.

"I am pleased that you have men who can express themselves as well as they did to-night," he said. "I can't speak of the farmers since the U. F. O. is not organized in this riding, but there are many individuals who are dissatisfied with the way things are going. Some have doubts that the farmers and labor man can get together. The question of hours and wages they think is a stumbling block. That can be overcome. The hours of the farmer can't fall in line with that of the city working man. If it rains we can't go on with our [illegible] the year round, we don't work much more than seven or eight hours a day on the average. Some say that Labor causes shorter hours and higher wages and that this entices the young men from the farms. I have known a few who went to the city, but they were soon glad to come back. I will do what I can to help elect your man. We expect him to get out into the country and I am sure Mr. Tooms will make a good impression.

An Old Country Model.

As a concluding remark, Mr. McArthur stated that he was disappointed with a custom in Canada by which it seemed that a member of Parliament never met his constituents except during elections. In the old country a member was required to appear at least once a year before his people to give an account of what he had done and to educte the people upon the questions that were before the country. Mr. McArthur believed that Canadian politics would be much improved by this system, and the electors would have a better knowledge of public affairs. He hoped that it would be adopted here and was certain that it would become a practice of the Independent Labor Party.

WITNESSES ARE POORLY PAID

DOLLAR AND A HALF A DAY NOT ENOUGH FOR HOLDING DOWN THE SLAT BENCHES AT THE COURT HOUSE

There is talk of a strike among the witnesses who have been subpoened to give evidence at the murder trial which is now being held at the Court House. Two dozen witnesses are in attendance and state that they are losing dollars every day. One dollar and a half is given them for attending and their expenses come out of their own pockets. There are eight Macedonians decorating the slat benches in the County Council Chamber who worked at the quarry near Havelock for $3.75 a day but who are now staying at one of the local hotels, having three meals a day and are growing fat on $1.50 a day presented to them by the county for their attendance at the trial. One of the principal witnesses wondered if a real present-day strike would not be effective in bringing about a more liberal indemnity. He stated that he is losing $15 a day by attending the court. He thought that the witnesses should receive their former wages, as most of them lose that while not a work and expenses besides which now amount to about $4.50. The remuneration given to the jurors is somewhat better as they receive $2.50 a day and have their meals brought to them.

"That extra dollar would buy several more meals," said one discontented witness who finds it cheaper to return to his home in Havelock every evening rather than stay at the hotel.

DE LAVAL PLANT GUTTED BY FIRE

SUPPLIES HAVE BEEN FORWARDED FROM PETERBORO PLANT

The local office of the DeLaval Co. received word on Saturday that their branch office and warehouse on St. Peter's Street, Montreal, was completely destroyed by a fire of unknown origin which broke out early on Saturday morning and gutted the entire building.

The loss cannot yet be estimated but will likely be considerable. It is thought, however, that the insurance will cover most of it.

The machinery and stock in the warehouse, and the office records and equipment were all destroyed. Nevertheless an attempt will be made to carry on business as usual and the local office shipped several boxes of forms, etc., on Saturday.

Mr. W. R. Breyfogle, the General Manager of the company, left for Montreal on the 11.52 C.P.R. train.

LOCKHART-ROBERTSON NUPTIALS

St. Paul's Presbyterian church filled to the doors with interested spectators, was the scene of a brilliant and particularly charming military wedding to-day at noon when Ruth MacDonald Robertson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Alexander J. Robertson, 397 Reid street was united in marriage to Lieut. Reginald Alexander Lockhart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Lockhart, 36 Dale avenue, Rosedale, Toronto.

The petite bride, who looked beautiful in her exquisite wedding gown of ivory brocaded satin, with a court train lined with American Beauty satin and Carrickmacross lace trimming, a wedding veil caught back with a silver bandeau, and carrying a bouquet of American Beauty roses, entered the church under the escort of her father to the tune of the wedding march played by Mr. John Crane. She was preceded by the wedding party, the ushers, Captain Douglas Hulcke, Captain Hugh Sykes, M.C., Mr. Douglas Lockhart and Mr. Walter Perks. The bridesmaids, Miss Louise Lockhart, sister of the groom and Miss Esme Aylmer, the maid of honor, Miss Phyllis Robertson and the tiny flower girl, Barbara Birks, neice of the bride. Her train was carried by Master Robertson Birks, nephew of the bride and Master Wilmot Gordon, dressed alike in white man-o'-war sailor suits. Miss Phyllis Robertson, the maid of honor, was extremely lovely in a striking gown of pink taffeta and georgette crepe, a pink and gold hat with pink ostrich tip, gold slippers and stockings. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia roses. Miss Louise Lockhart and Miss Esme Aylmer, the bridesmaids were charmingly gowned in pale blue taffeta and crepe de chine, black velvet tams with touches of gold, black shoes and stockings and carried pink roses. The little flower girl was very sweet in a white net frock over pale pink, and pink taffeta petalled hat with long pink streamers. The groom, like the best man, Lieut. James Lockhart, R.A.F., wore the uniform of the unit with which he served overseas.

Mrs. Robertson, the bride's mother, looked extremely handsome in a gown of black taffeta and ninon and a black hat with black ostrich tips. Mrs. Northedge Birks, the bride's sister, was strikingly attired in a beautiful gown of American beauty satin with black net and silver touches and a black hat. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Robt. Pogue and during the signing of the register Miss Helen MacLaren, soloist of St. Andrew's Church, sang "Because" very sweetly.

A few of the two hundred and fifty guests with the wedding party were Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart, parents of the groom, Mrs. James Lockhart, his grandmother, Chief Justice and Mrs. Hedgins, aunt and uncle of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Peleg Howland of Toronto; Miss K. Howland, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Burritt, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Cameron, Dr. and Mrs. D. Bruce MacDonald of St. Andrew's College, Toronto (the grooms Alma Mater); Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Robertson, Belleville; Mr. Fred and Miss Annie Paul of Montreal; Miss Jessie Watson of Hamilton; Captain Dalton Boyd, Toronto; Miss Boyd of Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. G. B. Calder of Watertown; Miss Taylor, the bride's aunt of Toronto; Dr. and Mrs. S. S. Davidson of Ottawa; Miss Elizabeth Fowlds of Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fowlds and Mr. Charles Fowlds of Hastings; Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Taylor of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hodgson and Dr. and Mrs. John Eastwood of Toronto; Mrs. Eric MacDougall of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Strickland of Toronto, and from the city Judge and Mrs. Hoycke, Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Gordon, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Hall, Dr. and Mrs Eastwood, Dr. and Mrs. Young, Dr. and Mrs Frederick, Dr. and Mrs. J. V. Gallivan, Mr and Mrs. Aylmer, Mr. and Mrs Wm. Hill, Miss Rosamond and Captain Wilfred Hoycke, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stratton, Mrs. V. Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. Adam Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Dickson Hall, Mr. and Mrs. Killaly, Misses A. and E. Clementi, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Aylmer, Mr. and Mrs George Hatton, Miss Nora Hatton, Mr. and Vincent Eastwood, Mr. Robert Dobie the Misses Eastwood, Mr. and Mrs. Roland Denne, Miss Georgie Stevenson, Lieuts. Romyn, and Walton Stevenson, Miss Clementi, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ackerman, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. MacDiarmid, Mr. and Mrs. K. G. Lech, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Bond, Mr. and Mrs. MacElderry, Miss Helen Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. John Crane, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Goodwill, Lieut. Kenneth Crane, Mr Roy Dixon, Mrs. W. A. Sanderson, Miss Lenore Sanderson, Mr. and Mrs. Fordyce Strickland, Mrs. Gordon Grahame, Miss Marion Grieve, Miss Eleanor Collins, Miss Jean and Miss Dorothy Hill, Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Widdifield, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Roy, Miss Rita Cavanagh, Mrs. Parker, the Misses Dunsford, Dr. and Mrs. DeCourcy King, Miss Florence Scott, Mr. Gordon Mathews, Mr. and Mrs. F. F. Mathews, Miss Mary Stratton, Mr. and Mrs. Gilman, Miss Mulholland, Mrs. Wood, Lieut. Douglas Lawrie, Mr. Herbert Rush, Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Hall, Miss Seabourne, and Mr. R. Hamilton, Mr. Spence, Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Matthews, Lieut. Gordon Matthews, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Robertson, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Cressman, Dr. and Mrs. Ed. Wood, and Mr. G. McLleland.

At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party left the beautifully and appropriately decorated church, which was gay with profusions of roses and flags, under an arch of swords formed by twelve officers, friends of the contracting party. The guard of honour was in charge of Lieut-Col. Charles Ackerman.

The guests then drove to the bride's home, where a reception was held.

Reception for Soldiers.

The whole countryside turned out on Wednesday evening to do honor to our returned men in the final reception which was called to take place in Coronation Hall. The hall was gayly decorated for the occasion with flags and bunting. The usual presentation of signet rings and addresses were made by Reeve Wilson of Emily, the address being being read by Alderman Harry Lamb for the following men, several of whom responded:

The speech by Mr. Tom Rice was loudly applauded. Cecil Mills, Walter Mitchell, Charlie Toole, Walter Eggleton, Alfred Eggleton, Victor Johnson, Harry Taylor, Lloyd Clement, Jack Bent, George Gangue, Fred Evans, Mr. Hornby.

Emily Boys—Louis Clancey, Newton Brown, George Raines, Carl Lowes, Timothy Donoghue, Walter Schofield, Albert Brooks, George Latchford, Thomas Windrim, T. Reed, Joseph Crowley, Percy Crawshaw, Edward Marsh, Cecil Fletcher, Joseph McAuliffe, Wm. Faulner, Tom Rice, Walter Harris, Col. Fee.

The following programme, under the chairmanship of Reeve Parsons, was presented and much enjoyed:

Piano Duet—The Misses Race.
Address—Rev. Mr. Scott.
Solo—Miss Corbett (Peterborough)
Address—Rev. E. Rolland.
Solo—Mr. Rix.
Address—Rev. Mr. Herrington.
Duet — Miss L. Parsons, Mr. E. Bushnell.
Address—Rev. Mr. Stillman.
Solo—Miss Corbett.
Solo—E. Bushnell.
God Save the King.

Considerable disappointment was felt at the non-appearance of Capt. Garbutt, of Oshawa. A telegram was received the following morning stating that his train had been wrecked between Oshawa and Port Hope, thus making his arrangement impossible.

Another disappointment lay in the fact that very few of the boys could be persuaded to come to the platform, they being quite content to remain in the audience.

Political Meeting.

There was a splendid meeting in the interests of Dr. Wood, the Conservative candidate, on Saturday evening last in Coronation Hall. An hour before the meeting the audience began to assemble, until there was hardly standing room left. The Lindsay band was present and led the procession from the train to the hall, where the candidate and Sir Sam Hughes were given a royal welcome. The chair was occupied by Mr. Jos. Beatty, who gave a short address, welcoming Dr. Wood to his old home town. This was followed by solos by Mr. James Mackey and a band selection.

The next speaker was Mr. W. J. McWhinney of Toronto, who, on account of so many opponents of Dr. Wood being present (U.F.O.) did not receive very much applause.

Mr. James Mackey again favoured the audience with a vocal selection.

Dr. Wood was then called upon and received a rousing reception, his speech being one of sincerity and eloquence. He in no way denounced the farmer or the opposing candidate and his address was listened to with the best of attention, only on one or two occasions when a couple of ignorant U.F.O. men took the liberty of trying to interrupt the meeting by throwing slurs, thus doing harm to themselves and their candidate.

Mr. John Carew was the concluding speaker, after which three cheers were given for Dr. Wood, which could be heard all over town.

Among those who motored down from Lindsay were: Mayor B. L. McLean, Dr. G. Clarke, G. Williamson, J. W. Deyell, Jas. Boxall, Wm. Warren, J. Jackson, Dr. McCulloch, G. H. M. Baker, Stanley Beal, J. Carew, I. Mackey and many others.

Personals.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Shaw of Novar, are visiting relatives in this vicinity.

A BIG INCREASE IN EMPLOYMENT.

Business Is Picking Up Throughout the Country, and Larger Volume of Help is Being Employed.

(Special to The Examiner.)

TORONTO, Oct. 8.—The reports from employers have been received by the Dominion headquarters of the Canadian Employment Service, and, apart from unemployment due to strikes, show a substantial increase in the volume of employment.

During the week ending 30th September, 4,413 firms employed 365,305 persons, an increase of 3,745 over the week ending 13th September.

The greatest man gains were made by quarrymen and miming, with an increase of 984 over the preceding week. Metals, textiles, and construction also made large gains.

Lumbering decreased 66 per cent, and miscellaneous fell off 7 per cent.

SAW STRIKE COMING.

LONDON, Oct. 8.— Lloyd George announced in a speech yesterday that he began preparing for the railway strike last February.

NO INCREASCE IN RATES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The government will not increase the freight rates so long as the railroads are under government control.

KINMOUNT HOPES FOR A RAILWAY TO PETERBORO

HYDRO-ELECTRIC ENGINEERS WILL SURVEY PROPOSED ROUTE OF AN ELECTRIC LINE THROUGH NORTHERN TOWNSHIPS—DISTANCE 35 MILES APPROXIMATELY—RESIDENTS PLEASED WITH SIR ADAM BECK'S INTEREST IN THEIR PETITION

WOULD OPEN THE COUNTRY

The villagers of Kinmount and the farmers of Galway and adjoining townships are awaiting with eager interest tinged with anxiety the visit next week of Hydro-Electric engineers upon whose decision and report will depend the projection of the proposed electric railway to Peterborough. Reeve John Clarke and the members of Galway Council supported by Kinmount's business men and other leading citizens hope to convince the Hydro representatives that an electrified line through West Peterborough is practicable, that it will be profitable, and incidentally that it will bring many social and other tangible benefits to the people of a district that has been too long neglected.

The engineers are expected in Peterborough next week probably on Wednesday of Thursday. They will be joined here by a small party, including Ald. Edgar, chairman of the city's Railway Committee and Mr. G. N. Gordon, whose representations to the Hydro-Electric Commission this year have been largely instrumental in reviving the movement for this line, advancing it to the stage in which the Commission undertakes seriously to consider its potentialities and problems.

Hopes Deferred.

This is not the first time the northern communities of this county have been animated by reports that their railway needs and possibilties were to be investigated. Often their hopes rose and fell with cheering rumours and long silences. Sometimes it was unofficially and thus inconclusively stated that the cross country road was unfeasible. Again, promises of one kind or naother simply flattened out, and community aspirations were dulled by repeated disappointments. However, the accumulated apathy has been lifted by the magic of Sir Adam Beck's name, and with the coming of the Hydro Commission's engineers many of the residents are showing a decidedly keen interest in the investigations of the local situation and the examination of the country upon which the report will be based. Maps of the townships have been carefully scanned, and routes of the proposed railway have been revised with the purpose of presenting the strongest case possible to the engineers, who of course will make their own surveys.

Residents Gratified.

Next week's visit is particularly gratifying to Kinmount men for the reason that their claims will at last receive official attention. In a recent interview with some of the citizens whom he met Mr. Gordon pointed out that the engineers will be mainly guided by the freight and passenger traffic the country offers to make the investment profitable and also construction problems and an approximate cost of the railway over the most desirable route. Realizing these conditions, the residents are confident that Sir Adam Beck will look favourably upon the request, the fulfillment of which it is believed would bring new life to the western half of the county in its northern and central districts.

At the County's End.

Kinmount lies at the extreme northwest corner of the county. A half mile or more to the north is Haliburton, and immediately adjoining on the west is Victoria County. In fact it has been a question before the courts over the maintenance of the Burnt river bridge whether Kinmount was in Peterborough or Victoria county. It is the leading village in Galway township. The Grand Trunk railway from Lindsay to Haliburton passes through it, and two and one-half miles to the north the old Irondale-Bancroft line, now owned by the Dominion government, forms a junction with the G.T.R. One of the grievances of Kinmount merchants is that they have to pay two freight charges in shipping to nearby points. For example, Irondale is twelve miles to the east, but it costs fifteen cents a hundred pounds to ship general freight from Kinmount to Irondale. The G.T.R. takes seven cents and the government road eight.

Seek Peterborough Markets.

Looking to the south and southeast, diagonally across the county, and especially toward this city there is no railway. The farmers are deprived of easy and direct communication with their county town and a market for their produce to which they have long looked in vain. In their present isolation they have to sell their goods to Lindsay or Bobcaygeon, and their hearts are set on Peterborough. In passing it may be said that Messrs. Hopkins, Mark and Company are advocating the proposed road. They are general merchants doing an extensive business in all their departments. Mr. Ralph Byrne, a member of the company, told the Examiner that he was heartily in favour of the idea, evidently implying that he did not fear a decrease in business.

From Minden South.

Minden, Haliburton's village, is only twelve miles north of Kinmount and is cut off from the outside world except by stage connection. It has been suggested that if the railway is built it should be extended to Minden. There is what appears to be a natural route through a series of valleys. Part of the line would be over the G.T.R., and as an amplification of this idea it is considered advisable that the new line instead of leading directly to Kinmount should start from Furnace Falls on the C.N.R. This plan would avoid hills east of Kinmount and would also use a line already completed providing arrangements could be made with the Government and the G.T.R. company.

A Route Roughly Sketched.

Coming south the Kinmount-Peterborough Electric Railway would cut across Galway township above Swamp Lake and rounding Wolf Lake on the east. It would probably follow straight south through Cavendish and Harvey townships, crossing at Hall's bridge into Smith township, touching at Young's Point and ending at Lakefield, where the G. T. R. could be used. Such is the proposal in the rough as to a tentative route. Whether it will meet with the approval of the Hydro engineers or not is the decisive question, and while they are considering costs and profits it might be permissable to recommend that they give some thought to the brightening influence this road would have upon the lives of the residents, the conveyance to Peterborough's markets of the back country's timber, grain, eggs, dairy produce and perhaps the minerals that may be locked up in the ridge of rock that extends far across into Hastings county, where the mineral wealth is undergoing a new reckoning and valuation.

Good Agricultural Country.

It should not be forgotten that the farmers around Kinmount, John Clark's constituents so to speak, have barns as big as those you envy perhaps, in Otonabee or Smith or Ennismore. The people are just as intelligent, their homes, viewed from the road will compare favourably with the best nearer the city. These are Peterborough county people and they deserve all the support that this whole community can render them in their appeal for the essential means of communicating with this city. They do not expect that a railway will be built that would have to be subsidized, that would be unprofitable, but they are sure that it could be made profitable.

A Barren Barrier.

Thre is a sort of no man's land in Galway reaching across the township somewhere between Union Creek and Silver Lake. It is a rocky formation, but the farmers declare that it has mineral deposits that should be worked. But with this one doubtful exception they recommend the railway project, and it is understood are prepared to provide a right of way if it is required. In parts of Galway and especially in Cavendish there are timber limits, the lumber from which would be a boon to Peterborough. Indeed when some of the enthusiasts in that county turn their imaginations loose they contemplate furniture factories consuming Cavendish lumber hauled by the Kinmount-Peterborough railway. The fly in this honey, or rather the baleful spirit that wakens dreams, is said to be in this case several lumber companies, which are believed to be quite content that the townships shall remain as in the old days when electric lines were unheard of and lumber kings "obtained" large tracts of valuable timber from which they hewed fortunes with the assistance of long toiling shantymen.

It is unnecessary to mention the profits that would accrue to Harvey and Smith townships, or the traffic that would be developed to Young's Point, of the imponderable benefits that railways bring to a community. The proposed line must be judged upon its practicability, of which the northern residents are thoroughly, but inexpertly satisfied.

Have Power Handy.

They are doubly certain that more than enough electricity needed for this project can be secured from Furnace Falls, the Three Brother Falls, High Falls and other undeveloped water powers close at hand. It is sincerely to be hoped that the Hydro engineers will examine Peterbgrough northern townships in a sanguine, optimisic spirit, that they may be touched by the warmth of the residents' desires, that they may be inclined to visualize the railway as a social influence and that they may be impressed with the fact that Peterborough county beyond Smith township should be thus assisted, even as a "reconstruction" measure, if the resources and productivity of the townships warrant it to the extent of the farmers' estimation.

Fishers of Men. Mark 1:14-20.

Golden Text: Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me and I will make you to become fishers of men. Mark 1:17.

1. Verse 14. By whom and for what reason, was John the Baptist cast into prison?

2. Why is a preacher under obligation or not to always rebuke sin in public men even if he risks his life in doing so?

3. What is meant by the phrase, "preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God," as applied to John the Baptist?

4. Verse 15. Does God have set times for important events to take place or are all human events contingent upon what men may do?

5. John said, "The kingdom of God is at hand," what did he mean?

6. What did John mean by "repent ye and believe the gospel?"

7. If a man is truly penitent does he or not necessarily believe the gospel?"

(This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club.)

8. Verse 16. What law generally governs us in the choice of our calling in life, environemnt, or providence, and why?

9. Has God any definite choice as to the calling a young person should adopt and if so how may it be found out?

10. Verse 17. How do you account for the abrupt manner of Jesus in calling Simon and Andrew? What reason, if any, is there to think that he had had previous conversation with them?

11. Of the two occasions, literal fishermen and a "fisher of men" to one whom God has called to be a literal fishermen, which is the more honorable, and why?

12. Verse 18. Did Jesus invite or command them to follow him? Why?

13. How do you account for it that these men so promptly forsook their nets and followed Jesus?

14. What would have been the ultimate result to Simon and Andrew if they had refused to follow Jesus?

15. Verse 19. Why did Jesus seem to have such a preference for fishermen to be his apostles?

16. How did James and John succeed in the work to which Jesus called them?

17. Verse 20. Jesus called the sons of the owner of the fishing vessels, but why did he also command the servants?

18. Verse 20. On what principle did Jesus call men to be his disciples?

19. Do you think that Jesus would have called these two sons to leave their father and his business interests if he had not known that arrangements had been made for carrying on the business of Zebedee? Why?

20. Would you say or not and why, that God to-day ever calls a man from an essential industry to be a preacher to the injury of the industry or of the public?

LAKEFIELD A.Y.P.A. OFFICERS ELECTED

ANNUAL MEETING WAS HELD ON MONDAY EVENING,

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 8.—The A.Y.P.A. of St. John's church held their annual election of officers on Monday evening in the Sunday school room. The following officers were elected:

Hon. Patron—Major (Rev.) H. A. Ben Oliel.
Patron—Rev. (Dr.) Walter Archbold.
President—Mrs. Trude Waldon.
1st. Vice. Pres.—Sergt. C. Stenner (Late of the original P.P.C.L.I.)
2nd. Vice Pres.—Miss Hilliard.
Secretary—Miss Graham.
Treasurer—Miss Hampton.
Executive Committee—Mrs. Marling, Miss Ogilvie, Mr. F. Moon, Mr. T. Leggott and Mr. A. Ball.

The treasurer read a statement of last year's work, which showed that last year the receipts amounted to $266.83 and the expenditure to $260.65. This was most gratifying and the society hope to go forward this year to even bigger things.

Miss Kathleen Blomfield, a former Lakefield resident, is the guest of Mrs. H. J. Stuart. Miss Blomfield has resided in Kelowna, B. C. for the past twelve years.

Mrs. George H. Reeve of Peterboro was in the village on Monday.

Mrs. G. Taylor of Warsaw attended the W. M. S. Conference on Monday.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds — one day is warm, the next is wet and cold and unless the mother is on her guard the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mother's best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose will prevent colds or if it does come on suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will quickly relieve it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SERIOUS REBELLION AGAINST BOLSHEVIK.

(United Press.)

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 8. — Despatches received ere from Helsingfors say wireless advices have been received in Courtland, telling of a serious rabellion against the Bolsheviki, started in Moscow by the Social Revolutionaries.

Lenine is reported to have ordered the imprisonment of Trotsky, but Lenine himself was arrested instead.

RUSSIAN PREMIER WAS ARRESTED

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Advises to Helsingfors, Finland, report that Nikolai Lenine, Russian Bolshevik premier, has been placed under arrest in Moscow. Lenine ordered the arrest of Leon Trotzky, Soviet Minister of War, but failed to secure this, and instead was himself taken into custody.

PRICES ON THE LOCAL MARKET

WEDDING BELLS

McCONKEY—HARRIS.

At 626 George street, Peterboro, Oct. 1st, by Rev. S. Crookshanks, Hazel Margaret, the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Harris, of Smith, and John Edward McConkey, of Smith. Miss Evelina Junkin waited on the bride and Mr. Howard Pearson ably assisted the groom. A few other friends accompanied the young couple.

After the marriage ceremony they returned to the bride's home where a bountiful repast was served. After a short honeymoon they will take up their residence at Selwyn.

WEBB—McQUAIG

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. David McQuaig, 474 Sherbrooke street, on Wednesday, Sept. 24th., a pretty wedding was solemnized when their youngest daughter, Lottie E., was united in marriage to Michael P. Webb, of Kingston, Rev. Mr. Chapman officiating.

The bride looked charming in a dress of taupe satin with overdress of georgette. She carried a bouquet of Ophelia ross. To the strains of wedding march played by Miss Greta Mills, and followed by her pretty flower girl, her neice, Doris Wilson. The bride entered the drawing room on the arm of her father. The young couple werr married under an arch composed of pink and white asters and their initials "W" and "Mc".

The bride was attended by her eldest sister, Mrs. Wilson, while Mr. Cecil Leal of Marmora, supported the groom. During the signing of the register, Mr. John Smith sang "Oh Promise Me." After the ceremony about sixty relatives assembled in the beautifully decorated dining room, where a buffet luncheon was served, after which amid showers of confetti, Mr. and Mrs. Webb left by th 5.30 G.T.R. train for Orillia, Welland and Buffalo. On their return they will reside in Peterboro. The many useful and valuable gifts received testified to the high esteem in which the young couple were held and may their lives like the Maple Leaf grow more beautiful as they fade.

Some of the out-of-town guests at the Webb-McQuaig wedding were Mr. and Mrs. A. Pitts, Misses Jennie and Candice DeMille, Madoc, Mr. and Mrs. L. Neal, Mr. Cecil Neal, and Mrs. Robert Harris, Marmora; Messrs. Robert and Thompson McQuaig, Harry Little, Blairton, Mr. W. J. McFaul, Mr. Joe Little, Havelock, Miss Helen McQuaig, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. S. Knox, Mr. Carmen Knox, Mr. Victor Knox, Fenelon Falls, Mr. Connely, Montreal, and Mrs. D. McQuaig, Belleville.

FITZGERALD—WINN.

At St. Peter's Cathedral, Peterboro, Sept. 23, by Rev. Father Phelan, the wedding was solemnized of Rose Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Winn, Downeyville, and Joseph Fitzgerald, of Otonabee. Miss Florence Callaghan waited on the bride and Mr. Tom Fitzgerald of Otonabee assisted the groom.

After the ceremony they returned to the bride's sister's, where a very enjoyable afternoon and evening was spent. Mr. and Mrs. Fitzgerald will take up residence at Peterboro.

SEYMOUR—BICKERSTETH.

At 7 o'clock last evening the wedding was quietly solemnized in All Saints' Church, Rev. R. B. Grobb officiating, of Charles James Seymour and Anna Matilda Bickersteth, both of the city. They were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Seymour will reside in the city.

FONTAINE—DALTON.

St. Peter's Cathedral was the scene of a pretty wedding at 8 o'clock on Tuesday morning, when Miss Susie Dalton became the bride of Mr. Leo Fontaine, both of this city. Rev. Father Guirey performed the ceremony, in the presence of a few friends and relatives of the bride and groom. Miss Clara Fontaine was bridesmaid, while Mr. Leonard Leahy assisted the groom. Mr. and Mrs. Fontaine left on a motor trip for points east, and on their return they will reside in Peterborough.

OBITUARY

HARRY KEARNEY

Harry Kearney, a well known and extremely popular resident of Young's Point, died suddenly at the family residence on Sunday evening at 5 o'clock. He had been seriously ill some months ago suffering from Spanish influenza but had recovered sufficiently to resume his work at Sudbury, where he remained until last week when he returned to the Point. On Saturday although apparently in his usual health in the morning he became ill toward evening and died on Sunday. He is survived by his mother Mrs. J. E. Kearney of Young's Point, and two sisters Mrs. McAdams of Montreal and Miss Lottie at home.

The remains were laid at rest in the Young's Point Cemetery yesterday morning at 10 o'clock, many prominent citizens of Peterboro including ex-Mayor Duffus and Rev. C. J. Phelan being present.

METHODIST W.M.S. MEETING AT LAKEFIELD WAS WELL ATTENDED

FORWARD MOVEMENT WAS WELCOMED AS A NEW IMPETUS—OPPORTUNITY FOR FORMER RED CROSS WORKERS IN PROMOTING MISSIONARY WORK.

100 DELEGATES PRESENT

(Special to the Examiner)

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 7—Yesterday the district convention of the Methodist Woman's Missionary Society was held in the Lakefield Methodist Church. The morning session began at 9.30 a.m. and was opened by Rev. S. F. Dixon, pastor of the Lakefield church.

The following is the morning programme:

Auxiliary Conference—Led by Mesdames Bookhout, Speer, Downey, Parker and others.
Circle and Band Conference—Led by Mrs. Thomas, Mrs. Sherin and others.
Hymn 295.
Paper—"Some Things we Need as Missionary Workers."—Mrs. (Rev.) Dixon.
Quiet Hour, conducted by Rev. S. F. Dixon.
Closing Prayer.

Well Attended

The conference was well attended and a spirit of unanimity prevailed among the representatives. The questions of moment in missionary work were discussed and many new points brought out. One point touched on by a good many was how to secure new members as only a comparatively small proportion of the ladies of the Methodist Church were members of the W.M.S. The idea of the personal canvas was received as a remedy and it was recommended that no woman in any congregation should be given the chance to say that she had never been asked to join the W.M.S.

The Forward Movement was discussed and it was remarked that the women of Canada who had accomplished so much in Red Cross work could surely do as much for missions. One point which was discussed at length was the difficulty in securing junior superintendents. It seems to be a task not popular in most churches, in some cases mission bands are nearly ceasing to exist. One speaker put the matter up to the conference that the indifferent attitude of the mothers was a stumbling block in the way of the Superintendents. When a mother wished to secure a music teacher for her child she made a careful choice but it did not matter in too many cases who was in charge of the child at mission band.

It was shown that this work is of such a strenuous character that a lady who undertakes it should be excused from too much other work.

National Campaign.

Reference was made to the National Campaign by several speakers and the duty of the faithful women was shown clearly and plainly, that not only should they exercise their newly gained power to vote but they should make it their business to draw out other women who might be too careless or indifferent to avail themselves of this great opportunity.

Officers Elected

The reports from the different branches of mission work were most encouraging and with the spread of the Forward Movement it is expected and hoped that the coming year will go on with greater results and increased workers.

The capable superintendent and her trusty aide the Secretary Treasurer were re-elected. So the officers stand as last year.

Superintendent—Mrs. J. K. Moore.
Secretary-Treasurer—Mrs. E. J. Wagar.

Miss Horni, native of New Brunswick, who laboured for twelve years in the mission field of Japan and five years in British Columbia, was a splendid speaker and made an earnest plea for missions, both home and foreign, and for volunteers for the mission field. The work is so enormous and the workers so few, the results are most gratifying, but if more could go out and help to carry the gospel message it would give such an impetus to the work that it would soon be accomplished. Self sacrifice is needed but in obeying the command of Christ we must forget self and go forward to all lands telling the gospel story to all people. Miss Horni mentioned the old saying, "For east is east and west is west and never the twain shall meet," and gave an example of one single case among many that disprove this saying. A Japanese girl, born in Vancouver, of Japanese parents, attended the Canadian Public school, the High school and the University and is now teaching in the prairie of Western Canada, a school of Canadian children. This young woman is a Christian and is doing splendid work. Another case she mentioned was of a boy who came from Japan to Canada at the age of 14. He worked as a house boy and earned his education, and three years ago he returned to Vancouver a graduate physician and now has a splendid practice and has bought a home in the best section of the city. He, too, is an earnest Christian.

Rev. S. F. Dixon made the quiet hour very helpful to all present and he made special mention of the national campaign for which all the evangelical church are making a united fight. He suggested the motto of the early Methodists as a motto for the present time, "All at it and always at it."

The financial results of the conference were very gratifying, as $40 was realized and when the small expenses are paid the W.M.S. will be something over $30 the richer.

The well known hospitality of the Lakefield ladies was much appreciated by the visitors and delegates.

CITY'S SEWAGE DISPOSAL PLANT WILL BE LOCATED IN OTONABEE

COUNCIL RESPONDS TO THE MUNICIPAL BOARD'S COMMAND FOR IMMEDIATE ACTION—SITE WILL BE BOUGHT AT ONCE AND PLANS PREPARED.

PUMPING STATION NECESSAR

Spurred by the peremptory order of the Ontario Municipal and Railway Board the Council decided last night to proceed at once with negotiations for the purchase of a site for the sewage disposal plant, from Mr. A. Wilson of Otonabee. City Engineer Parsons explained that the only place for the plant was on the south or Otonabee side of the river. In that location any type of disposal plant could be easily operated, whereas, if it were placed on the Monaghan side only one system could be adopted. Besides, the city would avoid damage suits by crossing the river, and there would be the added advantage of carrying off the effluent by gravity instead of pumping it.

Mr. Parsons believed that a block of 17½ acres on the Wilson property would be sufficiently extensive for the city's requirements, but he suggested that a price be also obtained upon thirty-five acres that are available.

From last night's discussion it was practically decided that a pumping-station be erected at the corner of Lock and King George Streets, and that an iron pressure main will carry the sewage from that corner to the river and thence along the shore to a point opposite the Wilson property, where the pipes will cross the river to the disposal tanks.

Expropriate If Necessary.

If the city's negotiations with Mr. Wilson fail, it is proposed to launch at once some expropriation proceedings which the Municipal Board advised in its injunction. In the meantime, City Engineer Parsons has only until December 1st, to prepare the plans for the plant but the Council is still undecided upon the details of the disposal system that will be chosen for Peterboro. This fact is shown by the following clause in the Board of Works report that was passed last night: "That, whereas the activated sludge process of sewage disposal, which the Chairman and the City Engineer saw in Milwaukee, does not appear well adapted to the requirements of Peterboro, Mr. Parsons try to get in touch with cities of 40,000 to 50,000 population with similar conditions to ours that have sewage disposal plants and visit some of them and enquire into the success of their systems of disposal."

An Imperative Duty.

Both the City Engineer and City Solicitor Widdifield interpreted the Board's order as a sharp command to the city to undertake this project without delay. A site must be arranged for and the plans prepared within the allotted time of scarcely more than six weeks. The City Engineer said he was satisfied that the pipe line laid along the shore of the river would be a comparatively inexpensive link between the pumping station and the disposal plant. A pumping station was unavoidable in any case. The motion to resume negotiations with Mr. Wilson was proposed by Alderman McIntyre and seconded by Alderman Edgar.

PROVINCES VOTE SEPARATELY.

OTTAWA, Oct. 8.—A bill was introduced in the Commons yesterday to allow the provinces to vote separately on the bone-dry proposition. It is believed it will pass.

RECORD CROWD TOOK IN MILLBROOK EXHIBITION WHICH WAS HELD LAST WEEK

Favored by one of October's sunny days the Millbrook Central Exhibition, held yesterday, surpassed all previous records from a standpoint of exhibits and attendance. The Fair ring since named "The Battle Ground of Winners," is justly called so as the situation prevailing is that Cobourg, Port Hope, Bowmanville and Orono fair dates are all previous to Millbrook and are all situated to the south; Peterboro, Lindsay, Lakefield and Keene are all to the north and are also held previous to the Millbrook fair resulting in a battle royal when the winners from the north and south meet on common ground to fight for the championship.

Interesting Decision.

One interesting event in the heavy horse ring was the best championship Clydesdale on the ground and in this class the judge reversed the Peterboro decision, awarding the first prize to Harry Earle and second to Harry Bryans. In the roadster class Stanley Belwett of Peterboro won first, Thos. Cowan of Orono second, and Norman Henry third.

The races, which were hotly contested were a big attraction and three speeding in the ring events were put on.

The Exhibits.

In the cattle class a record, surpassing all previous, was made, and rivalled the days twelve years ago, when the Redmond Brothers beat the world record in short horns. This year the showing of Holsteins and Durhams was particularly good. Unusual interest was displayed by the spectators in the splendid poultry exhibit which included some perfect specimens of birds. The dairy and ladies' work too exhibited surpassed records of previous years.

A novel feature of the fair and one which aroused considerable interest was the presence of a Curtis plane in which the aviator, accompanied by Mr. Ernie Parker of Peterboro, made some sensational flights. Several residents of Millbrook took the opportunity to make a flight and reported entire satisfaction in what they experienced.

Evening Concert.

In the evening a splendid concert, put on by the Williams All Star Company, proved so great an attraction that the Town Hall seating capacity proved inadequate.

Officials Pleased.

Mr. J. W. Hamilton and Captain J. N. McGill, like the rest of the officials, are still smiling in remembrance of the splendid success of the air.

Exhibitions of men's and boys' clothes by Oak Hall and Graftons attracted a large number of interested men and boys, who were delighted with the choice stock displayed by both firms. The exhibits were in charge of the managers of each firm and competent assistants.

Those Present.

Among those present from a distance to fair were Mr. J. J. Preston, Bethany; Sam S. Staples, Ida, Mr. and Mrs. J. Mattrass, Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lowes and son, Ernest, of Emily; Mr. Sam Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lamb and daughter, Jessie, Mr. Chas. Ivory, "the Egg King of Central Ontario," Omemee Conn.; and Mrs. S. B. Carew and Mr. H. Howden, of Emily; Mr. D. Graham, Omemee; Mr. J. Morton, Emily; Mr. and Mrs. C. Graham, Peterboro; Mrs. (Dr.) Deyell, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Munro, Mr. and Mrs. G. W. McKim, Mr. Cunningham, Mr. Jordan, Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. H. Wilson, Port Hope; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wilson, Hope; Mrs. Geo. McCartney and son, Billy, Mr. and Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Johnson of Peterboro; Mr. and Mrs. McIndoo, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sanderson of Fairmount; Mr. Sam Dickson of Smith; Mrs. R. Ruth, Mt. Pleasant; Miss Purser, Cobourg.

Some men would rather go to jail than hustle for a living.

FAT STOCK SHOW FOR PETERBORO

THIS CITY'S CLAIMS PRESENTED TO PREMIER HEARST.

President Roland Denne and Mr. R. H. Turner took advantage of Premier Hearst's visit to the city yesterday to lay before him the claim of the Exhibition Board that a fat stock show should be established in this city and conducted by the Board after the manner of the Guelph Fat Stock Show.

There is nothing of the kind between Toronto and Ottawa, and now that Peterborough has undertaken the erection of some of the buildings necessary for such a show in addition to every other facility for its proper and satisfactory carrying on, it is hoped that the Premier was sufficiently impressed with Peterborough's claims to recommend to the government that a grant be made for the purpose of completing the necessary string of buildings required.

VOL. XLIII NO. 84 PETERBOROUGH, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1919 PRICE TWO CENTS

All Five Russians Sentenced to Be Hanged on January 14, 1920

CHIEF JUSTICE MULOCK ADVISED THEM NOT TO HOLD OUT HOPES OF REPRIEVE—PRISONERS STOLIDLY RECEIVED SENTENCE, ONE AFTER THE OTHER, IN THE ORDER IN WHICH THEY WERE TRIED.

COURT ROOM CROWDED

The five Russians who were found guilty of the murder of Phillip Yanoff, were condemned by Chief Justice Mulock last night to be hanged on Wednesday, January 14, 1920.

His Lordship entered the court room shortly after eight o'clock, and in the next twenty minutes, fraught with an oppressive air of tragedy and a vague sense of human failure, a chapter of sentences, unique in the criminal annals of this Province, so far as the members of the bar could recall, was written into the records.

The public section of the court room was crowded, even into the aisles, but the last vivid act of this dramatic assize proceeded in an awed silence, broken only by the low, solemn tones of the Judge as he first addressed the five prisoners crowded in the dock, and then in the order in which they were tried pronounced the sentence of death.

Were Sentenced Separately.

His Lordship was perceptibly affected by the ordeal and by the almost overwhelming strain of performing the duty imposed upon him. His voice was unsteady at times, but he made no reference to his personal feelings until Phillip Rotinski, the last of the prisoners, stood alone before him in the dock, ringed around by a double guard of constables. He had spoken to each of the other unfortunates and as they were sentenced separately they were taken below to the cells one by one.

When only Rotinski was left the Chief Justice addressed him, but it seemed rather that the man was speaking to his fellowman or that the spirit of brotherhood or perhaps of fatherhood broke into the judicial utterance.

His Most Painful Duty.

Rotinski had heard and witnessed what had gone before. "There is nothing I can add," said His Lordship. "To me the most painful incident in my judicial life has been [illegible] which the law provides in such cases. The recommendations of the jury will be passed on to the proper authorities. It is beyond my control. I cannot offer you any hope that your sentences will be commuted. Earnestly pray for forgiveness and for your future salvation. I have fixed the date for your executions for the same day three months hence. That will give you ample time to prepare, and you will get forgiveness if you make the right appeal."

Handing the last paper and commitment to Mr. Sherry, the clerk of the court, Chief Justice Mulock immediately descended from the bench and withdrew to his anteroom. To attendants he said he desired to be alone. The crowd that had stood up as he retired, still remained standing, as if expecting that something was missing or that there was more to follow, but they suddenly realized that the scene had ended when the constables pointed to the exits, and motioned them to go.

Little Local Interest.

In these trials the names of the prisoners and their personalities were of little importance. They were foreigners, four of them Russians and the fifth an Austrian. The murdered man was a victim. There was no purely local interest in the case. These men came from Toronto where their robbery was conspired, and the scene of it was east of Have-

JURY SLUMBERED IN COURT HOUSE

TEN BEDS WERE PACKED INTO ONE SMALL INADEQUATELY VENTILATED ROOM.

Instead of the click of the typewriter and the sonorous tones of Crown Attorney George Hatton, the office of the Court House which the County Council selected as the Crown Attorney's place of abode, echoed to the sound of snores and the nightmare. The little beds placed in a row in Mr. Hatton's intended office, held ten petit jurors who saw knives gleaming and revolvers smoking while they rested there during the murder trial. A small room at the other side of the Grand Staircase held the beds of the other two jurors, while Detectives George Cookman and William Meagher kept guard in the hall outside.

COUNTY TEACHERS' ASSOCIATION MET THIS MORNING

The County Teachers' Association met in the Assembly Hall at the Normal school on Thursday, October 9. Miss Duff, of Lakefield, the president, presided. The first part of the morning was devoted to routine business, after which came the president's address, of whic hthe keynote was "punctuality." Punctuality does not mean merely to be on time, but before time.

Miss Crowe and Miss Klinck, delegates to the Ontario Educational Association, read a very interesting papers. Miss M. Armstrong, of this city, brought a class and taught a delightful lesson on music.

In the afternoon Mr. Broderick spoke on school laws, especially those dealing with the distribution of the quarter million grant, and the compulsory school atendance act, which comes in force next January. Mr. Lee told us what the government was doing regarding consolidation of schools. We may expect to have consolidation in the near future. Miss Carter read an interesting and [illegible] teaching in a Rural

THE BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA PETERBOROUGH, ONTARIO

On and after October the 13th, The Bank of Nova Scotia will resume business in their former office on the west side of George street, immediately opposite The Bank of Ottawa which has been used by the united banks since May 1st.

The Bank of Ottawa office has been placed at the disposal of the Victory Loan Committee for its approaching campaign. J. W. Fraser, Manager.

BARGAIN HINTS AT P. BLACK'S

Good things for the busy housekeeper, advertised in to-day's paper by Mr. P. Black, are well worth reading. Those who are looking specially for something for the Thanksgiving season or for early Fall wear, will be interested in the reduced price list of wanted goods. These will all be on sale Saturday, and will help to keep down the high cost of living. Some close buying recently will enable shoppers to take home some needed supplies at closest prices.

ACTOR NEARLY KILLED IN TAKING "RED GLOVE"

Alfred Allen, popular character actor, noted on both screen and stage, is in danger of losing his right eye. Allen was accidently shot in a scene in the western serial, "The Red Glove," starring Marie Walcamp at Universal City, in which he was playing an important role. The episode will be shown at the Allen Theatre to-day. The title is "The Vulture's Vengeance."

The mishap transpired when Allen, in his characterization of "Gentleman Geoff," a gambling hall owner, was repulsing a bandit raid on his place. A shot, fired from outside, struck Allen in the eye. The "shot," of course, was blank cartridge, but the paper wad, which also carried a splinter of brass from the shell, penetrated Allen's eyelid, and poison eventualized. Allen may not see through the affected eye for several months, if ever, according to his surgeon. Though he now wears a blinder and is bandaged, Allen reports each morning to Director J. P. McGowan at the Universal "back ranch" location for duty.

WEDDING BELLS

STENSON—EDWARDS.

A pretty wedding was solemnized at the Park street Baptist church on Thursday afternoon at 3.30 o'clock, when Miss Dorothy Edwards, of Peterborough, became the bride of Charles W. Stenson, of Ottawa. The groom was supported by Mr. Frederick Hall, of Peterborough, and Miss May Besby, of Toronto, was bridesmaid. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dougald Brown. Mr and Mrs. Stenson left for Ottawa the same evening where they will reside.

CATAPULTS AND SLINGS BARRED

POLICE HAVE PLACED A BAN ON THE USE OF THESE WEAPONS.

Slings and catapults are now blacklisted by the police. The season for these juvenile weapons has come in with the advent of chestnuts and the police intend to prosecute anybody found using one in a public place, as they are extremely dangerous. Only yesterday a man in the north end of the city was severely injured in the eye, and it has not yet been determined whether his eye can be saved.

GEESE AND DUCKS WANTED—ANY WEIGHT

CAR TO BE LOADED NEXT WEEK—GET PRICES.

Any weight. Not necessary to be fat. Car to be loaded next week if possible. Get prices and particulars from W. Scott Co., 124 Robinson street, Peterborough.

This is a good chance for farmers to dispose of their geese and ducks now, owing to the high price of feed, and before the cold weather sets in. W. Scott Company, Peterborough 8d-84-1w-42 Cold Storage.

DEATH WATCH ADDED TO COUT HOUSE FORCE

The death watch was promptly installed at the Court House last night. Two guards kept the first night's vigil and adequate precautions will be taken to hold the five prisoners in safe keeping until the day set for their execution.

The exhibits produced during the trial will be retained until after January 14th. Crown Attorney Hatton endeavoured to obtain for the Bulgarians at the quarry the money stolen from them, also the watches.

HOW TO PICK HUSBAND REVEALED TO GIRLS IN VITAGRAPH PICTURE

"Over the Garden Wall" a Film That Shows Interesting Husband-Hunt Ideas.

What kind of a man does the ordinary high-spirited girl want for her mate? Speectators who witness "Over the Garden Wall," the latest Bessie Love picture which will be shown at Empire theatre on Friday and Saturday are likely to get some pretty good ideas on this question.

The girl that has pep and ginger is likely to desire qualities of the same sort in her fiance. That is the suggestion offered by this film.

Miss Love plays the role of Peggy Gordon, a girl bubbling over with energy, whose lot has been cast pretty much with a foppish young chap who knows how to wear his clothes and not much of anything else. Peggy develops a strong disappointment in her fiance. She has inclinations towards a type of chap who would measure up 100 per cent. in an old sweater if he possessed good arms.

The likes and dislikes of this girl on the screen present themselves as a reflection of what every girl likes and dislikes. The picture is replete with touches of human nature. It is a treatise on love.

"Over the Garden Wall" sparkles with fine action. The picture was adapted from a story by Millicent Evison. Sam Taylor was adapter and David Smith the director.

TAG DAY

To-morrow will be Tag Day for the Children's Aid Society. The cause is a worthy one and should receive the support of the citizens. This year the tags are made to slip over buttons. This will obviate the inconvenience of having to pin on the tags which has formerly been necessary.

COMMITTEE MEETING

At a meeting of the Manufacturers Committee held last evening, on motion of Alderman Phelan seconded by Alderman Crowe, it was decided to ask the Board of Trade to co-operate with the Committee with reference to the vote on the Nashua Paper Company by-law on October the 24th.

BRITISH MINERS WILL REPORT DECISION TO THE TRADES UNION CONGRESS.

MAY STRIKE

LONDON, Oct. 10.— Miners and other trades unionists in all parts of the country are very restless to-day following the definite declaration of Lloyd George to the committee yesterday that the nationalization of mines would not be considered by the government. It is thought there will be no strike however, till after October 22nd when the committee will report to the Trades Union Congress in Glasgow. It is becoming increasingly evident that, apart from arguments claiming that nationalization would be a benefit to the community there is a strong feeling among workers that the present system of private ownership carries with it indefensible injustice to the miners. This feeling clearly rankles in the minds of workers. It is not concealed, moreover, that the present agitation, if it secures its immediate aim, will not stop at the mines.

"The nationalization of mines," says the Herald, labour organ, "is the question immediately at issue, but is, of course, a procursor to a complete policy of nationalization of industry. Here is the battle joined." On neither side is there any doubt that the fight will be stern.

"TRAVELLING THE ROAD TO RUIN"

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 10.— Forecasting another British loan to replace the nation's floating debt, the financial editor of the Mail declares it is the opinion of business men that Great Britain is still travelling on the "road to ruin" and drifting on without evidence of real reform in the government's wasteful extravagance."

FRENCH SOLDIERS WOUNDED IN RIOT

(Canadian Press.)

PARIS, Oct. 10.— French major and three soldiers were wounded in a riot at Sarrebruck, in occupied Germany. The riots are described as having grown out of labour demonstrations against the high cost of living in which Spartacans joined.

GREATEST WEAPON AGAINST DEFEAT

The great asset a sense of humor is to life, through every hardship and suffering, joy and sorrow, is wonderfully illustrated in the famous photoplay "Mickey" to be shown at at the Grand Theatre, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. In bleeding France, in England, Belgium —in fact in all Europe they have borne their burdens because they can grin, too. Their newspapers can even joke about the gravest hardships.

Mickey, a lonely waif, with all circumstances against her, proves that her endurance triumphs only because it is supported by her own natural appreciation of the humor of situations. She knows how to separate the petty from the really big things in life, and how to laugh away the small while accomplishing the great things. Mickey graphically shows that she has learned, even under the most strenuous trials, to see the humor of it all, and to learn the detail of running an automobile while she used the English side of the thoroughfare. Spurning the opportunity for further publicity, Miss Normand was sparing of her remarks to the reporters to this very limited extent.

"I was so scared I didn't know what to do." This from the lady who does the breathlessly venturesome "stunts" during the progress of "Mickey", to be shown at the Grand Theatre, on the above mentioned days, creates a problem, to wit: How did Miss Normand keep her face straight on conveying her terror at driving an automobile at snail's pace while being "chauffered" into the mysteries of motor driving. Lucky thing she was arrested before the opening of "Mickey" or those reporters would have nipped the sarcasm.

Mickey plainly defines and illustrates the word "thrill", as applied to motion pictures, as she swings along from cliff to cliff in a mountain range of recklessness. In "Mickey" there is everything imaginable that might be conceived by the most inventive producer, past or present, to put "thrills" into films and project "punches" upon the screen. Mickey proves herself the feminine and artistically concentrated essence of a Chaplain-Fairbanks combination of humor and agility. And it's mighty real, taking a dangerous fall off a racing horse; or hanging from the top of a building while the brave hero is forced to postpone temporarily rescuing her.

O'Keefe Acquitted

WAS HELD ON FURTHER CHARGES AND CONVICTED.

(Canadian Press.)

DUBLIN, Oct. 10. — Patrick O'Keefe, Sinn Feni member of Parliament for the northern division of Cork, who was acquitted on September 26 by a court martial on a charge of having arms in his possession, but was held on further charges, including accusation of sedition, was sentenced to-day to eighteen months' imprisonment for seditious utterances. He was arrested on September 12 during raids and searches for arms carried out by authorities here and elsewhere in Ireland.

AERIAL RACE STILL CONTINUES

ONE ARMY AVIATOR CRASHED INTO MOUNTAIN.

(Canadian Press.)

CHICAGO, Oct. 10.— Army aviators to-day continued their transcontinental race despite unfavourable weather conditions, over a large part of the course. Between Chicago and New York generally squally weather with high winds was reported, with showers at several points. Aviators flying between Buffalo and Chicago battled strong head winds, which at times reached a velocity of forty-five miles an hour.

Had Breakdown.

(Canadian Press.)

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Oct. 10—Lieutenant E. W. Maynard, who has been leading westbound aviators in the transcontinental airplane race, broke the radiator of his plane in alighting here and will be delayed until shortly after lunch, it was announced at the control this morning.

Died To-day.

(Canadian Press.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 10.—Lieut. E. V. Wales, army transcontinental flyer, died at a farm house 25 miles from Saratoga, Wyo., at 12.30 p.m. yesterday, after crashing into a mountain in a snow storm, the Army Air Service announced here to-day.

AMERICAN SOLDIER SHOT AND KILLED

(Canadian Press.)

OMSK, Oct. 10.—An American soldier in Vladivostok was shot and killed recently by a Russian officer, it was learned here. This and other incidents led to to the demand from Allied commanders at Vladivostok for the removal of the Russian troops from that city. Vigorous protest by the Omsk government, however, let to the withdrawal of the demand.

MR. G. N. GORDON REFUTES DUNFORD'S STATEMENT

SIR WILLIAM HEARST HAS NOTHING TO SAY

(Special to The Examiner.)

CORNWALL, Oct. 10. — Sir William Hearst, who arrived here yesterday afternoon, declined to discuss the new prohibition bill before the Dominion House. "I have no knowledge of what the bills really are," said Sir William, when seen by a reporter, "and I cannot say anything about them." The Premier also said he had not heard of any threatened bolt among the Conservatives at Ottawa. The reporter pointed out that a caucus had been called to discuss the Doherty bills and that it was said in some quarters the pushing of this legislation might prejudice the present campaign in Ontario, but Sir William was not be drawn out, and said he could not at present make any statement on the matter.

THERE IS NOT THE LEAST SHADOW OF TRUTH IN THE STATEMENT MADE BY THE WITNESS," SAID MR. GORDON AT THE ENQUIRY THIS MORNING.

MORE EVIDENCE

Mr. G. N. Gordon asked permission at the re-opening of the Police Commission's investigation this morning to refute the charge made by Dunford yesterday.

"There is not the least shadow of truth in Dunford's statement, I did call Dunford but only to ask him if he were a Crown witness and he said he was.

"The next morning he came into my office uninvited and said that he was a witness for Mr. Stewart and that if Mr. Sullivan did not lie down he would get him and it would cost Sullivan a $1,000.

Had it Fixed.

Mr. Gordon suggested that perhaps Dunford himself might get in trouble for his whiskey dealings but Dunford promptly answered that he had it fixed with the License Inspector. Mr. Gordon replied that he was lying as he knew Mr. Stewart and that nobody could fix it with him. Dunford hammered the desk and said he would get Sullivan and land him in jail and left the office after Mr. Gordon told him to get out. Later some lady 'phoned Mr. Gordon and told him to beware of Dunford but she would not give her name. Dunford told me that it was his liquor. Everybody knows that Dunford is a bootlegger."

Mr. Herbert Martin was asked if he saw Sullivan on the morning that the liquor came into Kendry. He stated that he saw him at twenty-five minutes to seven that morning and a severe cross-examination by Mr. O'Connell did not shake his evidence.

Saw Sullivan.

Cecil Wood, who lives near Kendry station was at Kendry the morning the booze was left there. He saw a man at the station and he thinks that it was Rae Sullivan although he would not swear to it. He was standing outside the station when Mr. Dunford drove up an auto truck. He saw the boxes but did not know what they contained. Wood helped

G.T.R. OFFICIALS ON VISIT HERE TO-DAY

A party of G. T. R. officials visited the city at noon to-day, and after an inspection of the company's property here, proceeded to Lakefield. They were met by representatives of the City Council and the Board of Trade and driven to the Lift Lock, which they had expressed a wish to see.

The trip was made by the Smith street route and several interesting sections of the city were visited. A brief stay was made by the party at Lakefield, and immediately returning to Peterborough, they left the city about three o'clock.

The officials were Messrs. Bond, chief engineer, Blaiklock, engineer of Maintenance of Way, Davidson, superintendent, Barrie and McGygan, engineers, and Mr. McNab, the local agent.

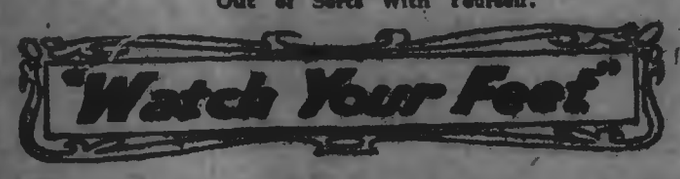
QUALITY RATHER THAN PRICE

Should Influence Your Judgment When You Buy Shoes. You Will Then Realize Some Pleasure and Satisfaction From the Shoes You Buy.

Cheap, Ill-fitting Shoes are Costly, No Matter What You Pay for Them. They Ruin Your Feet, Destroy Your Energy, and Put You Out of Sorts With Yourself.



WE advocate quality from start to finish, because we know it pays. Our shoes are built on a quality standard. We put the best there is to be had for the money in our shoes to sell at each and every price. We could buy here and there and still have them look just as good, but they would not stand up as they do. They would not build business for us. We prefer to be on the safe side---that's what makes our business grow steadily---it's the quality in the shoes and the prices at which they are sold, that keeps our business steadily increasing.

ASSIZES COST THE COUNTY $2,500

The Fall Assizes this year cost the county nearly $3,000 and range from an X-ray examination of the late Philip Yannoff, the murdered man, to $902.00 for petit jury fees and mileage. The Grand Jury cost the county $190.87, a bill of $18 for tobacco for the Russians, meals and beds for the petit jury, a considerable sum for the attendance of constables at $3.50 a day, besides the fees of at least a score of Crown witnesses, which includes a bill of $115.50 for interpreter and $105.80 at the rate of $15 a day and expenses for Dr. Thompson, of Havelock, who is classed as an expert witness.

BLOCKADE AGAINST GERMANY

Threatened by Foch Unless She Withdraws Forces From Baltic.

(United Press.)

PARIS, Oct. 10.— Marshal Foch's latest note to the German government threatening to impose a blockade against Germany unless she immediately withdraws her forces from the Baltic region, was approved by the Supreme Council of the Peace Conference to-day.

It was decided, in addition, to send an Allied Commission to the Baltic States to observe German evacuation

SYMPATHETIC STRIKES ARE IMMORAL

Declare Representatives of Capital—Collective Bargaining.

(Canadian Press.)

WASHINGTON, D.C., Oct. 10. — Opposition to collective bargaining and the closed shop were among the twelve fundamental principles outlined by the group representing capital, and presented to-day to the National Industrial Conference here. Sympathetic strikes and boycotts were declared to be indefensible, anti-social and immoral.

RAIN SPOILED THE INDIAN FAIR BUT NOT THEIR DANCE

Rain marred the annual fair held yesterday by the Chemong Indians on their reserve at Curve Lake. Shortly before the hour set for the parade of costumed riders and decorated floats, a heavy shower broke upon the village and continued nearly all the afternoon. All the features of the day's entertainment and sports had to be cancelled, but the exhibits of cattle, horses and garden produce were judged. In the evening the sky cleared, the moon came out, and the dance in the community hall ran on merrily from early in the evening until four o'clock this morning. There were visitors from Port Perry, Orillia, Peterborough and other places, and although the rain caused a general disappointment, everybody said they were coming back next year.

UNSHRINKABLE Turnbull's NATURAL WOOL

PERFECT Turnbull's FITTING

Standard for Over 60 Years

We began knitting underwear in Canada over 60 years ago. Quality has been our slogan all these years.

To us it means more than a phrase.

It is a symbol of all that is best in underwear. It expresses the mission of this business—the standards of manufacture.

Correct styling, correct fit, correct finish, we must have at all times.

Best QUALITY stands out pre-eminent and dominates the field of underwear.

So QUALITY then is a prime factor in every garment that comes from the Turnbull mills. Always look for Turnbull's trade mark when you buy underwear.

SPEAKERS REFERRED TO TWO-FACED POLICY OF THE HEARST GOVERNMENT

MR. G. A. GILLESPIE HELD A SUCCESSFUL MEETING IN THE TOWN HALL NORTH MONAGHAN—MR. C. R. WIDDIFIELD AND MR. R. R. HALL WERE AMONG THE SPEAKERS

Mr. G. A. Gillespie held a successful meeting at the Town Hall, North Monaghan, last evening which was presided over by Mr. John McIntosh, Reeve of North Monaghan and Warden of the County.

The chairman stated that a Provincial election was being held on the 20th of October. The time was very short but the issues involved were important. One of the great problems to be solved to-day is the high cost of living. If all the farmers in the country were to decide to only work eight hours a day, then the cost of living would go higher.

Mr. C. R. Widdifield referred to the two-faced policy adopted by the Hearst Government, for the purpose of deceiving and misleading the electorate.

Sir Wm. Hearst was wearing the sanctimonious garb of total prohibition, for the purpose of hood-winking the clergy, the women and prohibitionists. On the other hand, the Hon. G. Howard Ferguson and Mr. Geo. Gooderham, Mr. T. H. Lemox and other members of the Hearst party "had thier ears to the ground", and were working hand-in-glove for the liquor interests.

No less than 5,000 bottles of intoxicating liquor has been distributed among the Jewish population in Toronto recently, for the purpose of influencing their votes, and as an assurance that they will not be deprived of their liquor by the Hearst Government.

Mr. Widdifield said that Mr. Gillespie had all his life been a consistent advocate of temperance.

Five years ago, Mr. Gillespie supported the policy of "abolish the bar" and to-day there is not 1% of the people of the Province of Ontario desire to see the bar again re-established. Yet Sir William Hearst says that if the people of this Province do not vote for the Ontario Temperance Act, as he has drawn it with all its faults and imperfections, then the people of the Province of Ontario, must again go back to the open bar.

The policy of the Liberal Party, as announced by the Hon. Mr. Dewart and as adopted by the Liberal Convention, is plain. If it does not matter whether the people of the Province vote for or against the Ontario Temperance Act as constituted, the open bar will continue to be abolished.

Temperance Advocate

Mr. G. A. Gillespie was given a very hearty reception. He referred to the Temperance issue, and made quite plain to every one that he has always been a consistant advocate of the cause of temperance, and that his temperance record was well known.

Mr. Gillespie referred to the high cost of living, and pointed out that the only solution for the high cost of living was increased production. He criticised the lack of real genuine effort on the part of the Ontario Government to stimulate increased production, despite all the efforts that were made by the small band of Liberals in the House, to force the Hearst Government to take effective measures, to increase food production.

The very fact that the Hearst Government has been so neglectful of its prime duty to exercise its great power to increase food production, is the very best reason why the Electors of this Province, both men and women, should vote against them and turn them out of power.

Mr. R. R. Hall also spoke at length on the leading issues of the day.

CRESSMAN'S TEAROOMS OPEN TO THE PUBLIC

LIGHT LUNCHES FOR BUSINESS MEN WILL BE PROVIDED DAILY—EXCELLENT SERVICE.

The "four hundred" were well represented at the opening of Cressman's tea room to-day and all were delighted with the charming quarters which have been completed to form a social centre for the city.

The tea room is a bower of beauty with its tasteful grey and pink color scheme carried out even to the furniture which is silver grey, and finished with pink tinted chrysanthemum table centres. The walls are of the same delicate shade of grey and the monotony is lifted by most brilliant cretonne curtains in shades of pink. Each of the several electric lights is skilfully shaded by a huge pink shade lending a decidedly becoming light to the patrons in the room.

Most tempting delicacies are served by obliging waitresses dressed in spotless white and with the efficient staff employed there is no unnecessary wait. Even with the huge attendance of to-day the organization was so perfect that all who attended the opening were delighted with the prompt and intelligent service.

The Cressman Company is prepared to cater for ladies' private teas and will gladly welcome telephone orders for reservations. Light lunches for business men will be served from 12 to 2 o'clock every day with a suitable menu for the most discriminating taste.

The seating capacity of the room is 60, fifteen tables in all, with four places at each. Absolute privacy is provided from the rest of the departments by the ivory wall about the room, and the kitchenette, finished in spotless white, is connected at the lower end of the room. Entrance is gained to the new quarters by either of the elevators.

TORONTO COUPLE BOTH GRATEFUL

HOLMAN SAYS HE BELIEVES TANLAC SAVED HIS LIFE AND HIS WIFE JOINS IN PRAISING IT.

"I actually don't believe I would be alive to-day if it hadn't been for Tanlac," said John Holman, of 163 Chestnut street, Toronto, Ont.

"I had suffered from nervousness and stomach trouble for about two years," he continued. "I had no desire to eat and was wasting away to nothing. I suffered terribly from indigestion, my nerves went all to pieces and I became so weak that I couldn't do a lick of work. Many a night I would be unable to sleep a wink and would get up feeling so weak and nervous I could hardly drag myself around

"I tried all sorts of medicines, but got no better. Finally my wife induced me to try Tanlac, so I got a bottle and it has certainly done me a world of good. My appetite is great and I can now eat anything without having indigestion afterwards, my nerves are stronger and I sleep fine all night and feel better and stronger than I have in a long time. I have gained some in weight, too, and my wife and I both feel so grateful for what Tanlac has done for me that we want everybody to try this wonderful medicine. Why, I simply wouldn't be without it for anything!"

Tanlac is sold in Peterboro by W. B. Warne Drug Co., Ltd, in Havelock by A. C. Denike; in Lakefield by Tanner Drug Co., in Fowler's Corners by W. A. Hunter, in Gelert by A. J. Scott, in Westwood by G. Prin-

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 10TH, 1919.

THE MAIN POINT.

No voter should lose sight of the all-important fact that a "Yes" vote on the first question of the Referendum means a vote for the wide-open bar and shop just as they were prior to 1916 and that if the majority of the voters answer "Yes" to the first question, the other three questions on the Referendum ballot will not be considered at all.

THE RECALL SYSTEM.

The Independent Labor Party owes it to the electors to give a fuller explanation of the referendum and recall plank in the party's platform if misunderstandings are not to arise. The system, of course, is borrowed from the United States, but the Labor party has by no means made it clear just how it is proposed to operate the recall here. Certainly the impression given at the recent Labor convention was that the Labor candidate must place his signed resignation in the hands of the executive of the Independent Labor Party as a guarantee that if his actions were not satisfactory he would vacate his position. But the Labor officials explained at their meeting in North Monaghan that the candidates are subject to recall on a referendum vote of the electors. Who in that case would be the judges of the conduct of the candidate, the people at large or the Labor Party Executive? How would the referendum be taken and how would the expense of such a vote be met? There are points on which the people have a right to be enlightened. They are being asked to support a candidate who has bound himself to submit to recall. Surely they are entitled to know just what that means.

The united farmers have a similar plank in their platform, but according to a gentleman who has been campaigning in different parts of the Province, the U. K. O. are by no means unanimous to the exact meaning of the plank. It is interpreted differently by various U. F. O. candidates, but in all cases the candidate must agree to obey orders or resign if called upon to do so. Electors who are not members of the U. F. O. or the Independent Labor Party are not to be blamed if they ask for more information on this point.

ONTARIO'S RESPONSIBILITY.

"There is nothing to be gained by dragging purely Federal issues into the campaign. Measures for aiding the returned soldiers must be taken by the Dominion Government and the various provincial legislatures can do but little in this regard," declares the local Hearst organ. The references to Mr. Gillespie's promises to exert every effort in the interests of returned soldiers. Why call that a "purely Federal issue"? Has the Ontario Government no responsibility in helping to re-establish the hundreds of thousands of soldiers from this Province? Sir William Hearst was quick to send a message to Ottawa endorsing larger gratuities for the ex-service men. Is that to be the limit of the Government's effort on behalf of the men who fought, the men who made that noble reputation for Ontario that Sir William Hearst so eloquently referred to in his address the other night? The people of Ontario are more likely to agree with the Review's opinion that "measures for aiding the returned soldiers must be taken by the Dominion Government and the various provincial legislatures can do but little in this direction." They doubtless hold that there is much that the Provincial Governments can do and should do. For example, the land settlement scheme that the Hearst Government has started and so badly bungled would, under the direction of a capable and progressive efit to the returned men and the Province at large. The theory of the Government plan was good. There are vast tracts of land in the New Ontario clay belt affording opportunities for soldier settlement, and if the scheme had been well handled, splendid results would have already been accomplished. In the hands of the Hearst Government, however, the plan has been a failure. It has cost the Province nearly half a million dollars to establish 88 soldiers on the land. Many of the men who went to New Ontario found that the promises made by the Government were not carried out. Some of them have returned disgusted and embittered, their ambition killed by the neglect and mismanagement of the Government.

No, the re-establishment of Ontario's soldiers is not a purely Federal issue. It is a provincial as it is a municipal and an individual responsibility. Mr. Gillespie recognizes the latter obligation and pledges himself to using his best efforts in the Legislature to see that Ontario does her fair share in this great work. The returned soldiers of Peterboro have reason to know that they have had no better friend and that their cause has had no firmer advocate than Mr. Gillespie. They know, too, that his promises can be relied upon and these are reasons why hundreds of the men who wear the bronze active service button will a week from Monday mark their cross opposite the name of the Liberal candidate on the ballot paper.

QUEER TEMPERANCE TACTICS.

For a Government which, on the party platform and through the party press, is loudly hailing itself as the simon-pure, dryest-of-the-dry temperance party, the Hearst outfit acts very queerly at times. The operation of a special clause of the Ontario Temperance Act to permit of the sale of thousands of bottles of cherry brandy, containing 2 per cent. proof spirits to the Jewish voters of south-west Toronto, where Mr. Dewart, the Liberal leader, is a candidate, a manoeuvre discovered and exposed by the Liberal leader, gives a better line on the sincerity of the government in regard to temperance than do the speeches of the Hearst candidates or the articles in the Hearst press. The object behind such a glaring breach of the Ontario Temperance Act could be none other than an attempt to corrupt the Jewish voters of the riding.

Mr. Dewart, with his usual facility for getting at the bottom of things, has uncovered the disgraceful facts of the case. Ostensibly the sale of "vishnik," a cherry brandy, was in connection with the Jewish feast of the Tabernacle and a special resolution was passed by the License Board, authorizing the sale of wine for religious purposes to the Jews between Oct. 7 and Oct. 16. Barnet Stone, Conservative organizer among the Jews, was appointed a special vendor to handle the liquor, and Mr Dewart has evidence that thousands of bottles were sold and that no precautions were taken—Gentiles as well as Jews, declares the Liberal leader, had no difficulty in securing the "vishnick." Women and men got two, three or more bottles, one man getting nine. The orders were supposed to have been signed by a Rabbi, but it is declared that 400 orders were signed by a Jewish caretaker and they were readily accepted.

The manipulation of the Ontario Temperance Act is an attempt to secure the votes of the Jewish electors who are numerous in South-west Toronto would be an outrage on the part of any government. In the case of an administration which is attempting to pose under the temperance colours, such tactics are even worse than outrageous. The charge, coupled with the quickness with which the Ontario government sent a distress signal to the Conservative members at Ottawa to choke off the bone-dry Dominion legislation until after the Ontario election, show the temperance claims of the Hearst administration in a new and decidedly unflattering light.

MR. DEWART'S POSITION.

"If the Liberal party is returned to power the open bar will never return." That is the pledge of Mr. Hartley Dewart, the Liberal leader. It goes further than any promise made by Sir William Hearst or his government, and yet Mr Dewart is pilloried by the Review as anti-prohibitionist, who, if elected, would make Ontario wide open.

Mr. Dewart's position on the referendum and the liquor question was stated clearly by him at his nomination meeting in Toronto. Here it is:

'I accepted the Liberal platform as drawn up by the party last June in its entirety, and, in that manifesto, the party expressed the highest ideals that the Province asked for, and I would not have accepted the leadership if I had not accepted the whole of that platform on which the party had decided. We had the courage to say where our party stood on this temperance questions. When the people decide what they wish to be done, they shall have it enforced in every detail as they have decided.

"When the issues were submitted to you they should have been submitted so that it was made impossible under any circumstances for the return of the open bar in the province. If the Liberal party is returned to power, the open bar will never return."

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Make sure of Mr. Gillespie's re-election.

Many members of the Citizens' Liberty League will wish they were voters in South-west Toronto, where the "vishnick" flows freely.

Throughout the province the government press calls for votes for "Hearst, the man who gave you prohibition," while in South-west Toronto the slogan doubtless is, "Vote for Hearst, the man who gave you "vishnick."

Mr. Gillespie has served Peterborough well in his five years in the House. That service should be rewarded by a bigger majority on the 20th instant.

Returned soldiers will not be in accord with the argument of the Hearst organ that there is little the Legislature can do for them. They will, however, agree that there has been little that the Hearst government has done for them.

All stale bread should be dried in the warming oven until dry enough to roll with crumbs.

FIUMAN GIRLS DELILAHS.

Entice Italians to Desert and Enlist With D'Annunzio.

FIUME.—Legions of Fiume girls are enticing soldiers to desert from the ranks of the Italian army forces stationed at Abbazia and oter points on the armistice line in order to increase Gabriele D'Annunzio's army of occupation.

The girls leave Fiume hidden in motor trucks and are driven over a circuitous route in order to evade the watchfulness of the Carabiniers who are stationed between the regular Italian army, and D'Annunzio's forces. When they leave the motor trucks at various posts the girls begin work quietly by talking to soldiers on the street and the soldiers in turn convey word to their comrades. Sometimes through this method entire battalions have gone over to the Fiume army, among them one battalion of Bersagliere and another of machine gunners.

FREDFRICK REFUSES TO CONSIDER A BUSINESS PROPOSITION

CHAPTER LXXXVIII

I had not asked Neil where he had spent the evening the night he came in so unlike himself from the effects of what he had been drinking. I thought I would wait until he was entirely himself, and in good humor. I was terribly afraid he had been at Blanche Ortop's. Someway when he was out now I invariably accused him in my mind of being with her. Occasionally he would drop something which showed me I was mistaken, but most of the time he was very close-mouthed as to where he spent his time; even more so than usual since his aunt came.

Neil knew she would disapprove of his actions. He had known that father and mother had worried over my extravagance, and they really were far less worldy than his aunt in many ways. She accepted the extravagance, our mode of living without question. That a nephew of hers could be dishonest she never would have believed. And she would have been shocked to know he visited another woman without me, and would have argued with him had she known it.

"I do hope we shall have Neil all to ourselves," I remarked to aunt as we drove down town. "So often he has people he knows lunch with him."

"We mustn't be selfish dear Bab. A big business men like Neil often has to do many things on account of that business."

"I guess I know that!" I answered rather pettishly, "I have had to learn that lesson perfectly. I shall be so glad when he feels he has made enough so he won't have to work so hard, and can take more time at home with me. Why he hardly sees Robert now-a-days. Just a few minutes in the morning, and occasionally on Sunday. The boy will scarcely feel acquainted with him as he grows up unless Neil manages to give him more of his time." I had not meant to complain of Neil in any way; but when I started to talk of his absences from home I invariably said more than I intended.

"A man has to judge what is best for him to do in his business" aunt replied in a reproving manner, then changed the subject by asking about the different buildings we passed, etc.

Neil was waiting for us, and to my surprise so was Mr. Frederick. I was so surprised and pleased to see him that I greeted him very cordially. I noticed aunt looked her surprise. I flushed as I recalled that I had said I hoped there would be no one with Neil: then flushed still more as I saw her look at me.

"My aunt, Mrs. Carter, Mr. Frederick. He has consented to lunch with us," Neil said in his usual off hand manner. Then went right on talking to Mr. Frederick as we trailed after them into the dining room.

"The company is to be incorporated for five million," he said in eager tones. "It will be the biggest thing of its kind going. We are sure of several big wells, and that sells the remainder of the prospect you know. And"—

But Forbes, you haven't answered my question yet," Mr. Frederick interrupted. "Who are associated with you in this deal?"

Just then the head waiter saw us and led us to a table. For a few moments the talk was general, as Neil ordered the luncheon. Aunt asked Mr. Frederick some questions. Evidently my pleasure at seeing him had aroused some sort of suspicion in her mind. But he answered them all so frankly, was so bluntly himself that she soon "thawed out" as Neil would have said, and was chatting pleasantly with him.

The luncheon ordered, Neil at once turned to Mr. Frederick and began to talk of the wonderful profits he expected to make from his big oil deal which he was promoting.

"You haven't answered my question Forbes, who are the men associated with you? I never touch a thing unless I know who's" running it. If the men are on the square, fair honest fellows, the deal is apt to be on the square also. But if crooks are behind it I wouldn't give the snap of my finger for any proposition you can lay before me".

"Well Scott is one of them—" I had noticed that Neil flushed as Frederick talked, flushed and looked a bit embarrassed.

"Scott's all right, but who are the others?"

"Connor and Tearle—and myself—"

The waited just then brought our luncheon. As he laid the plates I heard Frederick say:

"You'll have to count me out Forbes. I won't go into anything with those fellows."

Fishers of Men. Mark 1:14-20.

Golden Text: Jesus said unto them, Come ye after me and I will make you to become fishers of men. Mark 1:17.

1. Verse 14. By whom and for what reason, was John the Baptist cast into prison?

2. Why is a preacher under obligation or not to always rebuke sin in public men even if he risks his life in doing so?

3. What is meant by the phrase, "preaching the gospel of the kingdom of God," as applied to John the Baptist?

4. Verse 15. Does God have set times for important events to take place or are all human events contingent upon what men may do?

5. John said, "The kingdom of God is at hand," what did he mean?

6. What did John mean by "repent ye and believe the gospel?"

7. If a man is truly penitent does he or not necessarily believe the gospel?"

(This is one of the questions which may be answered in writing by the members of the club.)

8. Verse 16. What law generally governs us in the choice of our calling in life, environemnt, or providence, and why?

9. Has God any definite choice as to the calling a young person should adopt and if so how may it be found out?

10. Verse 17. How do you account for the abrupt manner of Jesus in calling Simon and Andrew? What reason, if any, is there to think that he had had previous conversation with them?

11. Of the two occasions, literal fishermen and a "fisher of men" to one whom God has called to be a literal fishermen, which is the more honorable, and why?

12. Verse 18. Did Jesus invite or command them to follow him? Why?

13. How do you account for it that these men so promptly forsook their nets and followed Jesus?

14. What would have been the ultimate result to Simon and Andrew if they had refused to follow Jesus?

15. Verse 19. Why did Jesus seem to have such a preference for fishermen to be his apostles?

16. How did James and John succeed in the work to which Jesus called them?

17. Verse 20. Jesus called the sons of the owner of the fishing vessels, but why did he also command the servants?

18. Verse 20. On what principle did Jesus call men to be his disciples?

19. Do you think that Jesus would have called these two sons to leave their father and his business interests if he had not known that arrangements had been made for carrying on the business of Zebedee? Why?

20. Would you say or not and why, that God to-day ever calls a man from an essential industry to be a preacher to the injury of the industry or of the public?

Your Cigar and Pipe Will Be Next!

MEMBERS of the Women's Christian Temperance Union did their best to prevent cigarettes being sent to Canadian soldiers in the trenches.

Field secretaries of the Anti-cigarette League have been working all summer organizing a national campaign to banish all forms of tobacco. It is predicted the movies will be the next to be attacked.

Professional reformers are in the ascendancy—and "the Devil loves nothing better than the intolerance of reformers".

Now is the time to check the spirit of rabid intolerance and interference with personal rights. "Hell is paved with good intentions".

Join with the Citizens' Liberty League in its honest, sincere endeavor to obtain a fair and just solution to Ontario's vexed temperance problem—the repeal of the unsatisfactory Ontario Temperance Act and the enaction of new legislation that will permit the sale of light beer and wine generally and the sale of pure spirituous liquors through Government agencies only.

Start Campaign Against Tobacco

WASHINGTON.—The forces which won prohibition are now about to start a campaign against tobacco. Three independent organizations are working individually to banish the cigarette and the other forms of tobacco. If they cannot do it otherwise, they will strive for legislation.

The three organizations in the campaign to send tobacco after alcohol are: The Anti-Cigarette League of America, the Women's Christian Temperance Union and the Committee of Fifty.

Four organization meetings of the founders of this committee have already been held at the Yale Club in this city. Constitution, by-laws and a program of procedure have been drawn up.

Field secretaries of the Anti-Cigarette League have left for various parts of the country to commence an educational campaign against the weed.

WINSTON CHURCHILL SAYS NO ONE MAN INVENTED THE "TANKS."

WERE RESULT OF EXPERIMENTS WITH VARIOUS TYPES SUBMITTED.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—"It is impossible to say that this or that man invented the tank."

Winston Spencer Churchill, Secretary of State for War, testified in this wise before the Royal Commission on awards to inventors, which is dealing with the claims of eleven men, who are seeking the honour and bounties attached to the invention of this formidable instrument of war.

The testimony and the statements of the attorneys indicated that the tank was a sort of middleground between armoured motor cars, which wide trenches rendered ineffective, and the huge steam rollers planned to batter down barbed wires and other entanglements.

Mr. Churchill testified that from the beginning of the war numerous plans of various types of land ships had been submitted. Eighteen of these appeared so feasible that models were constructed and trials were made, and it might be said that the original tank—first used on the Somme offensive in 1916—was the result of the experiences gained in the trials of each of these eighteen.

REAL VALUE

is based, not on the price paid for a commodity, but on the benefit derived. That is why Zam-Buk is the cheapest skin healer on the market—because the benefit derived is 95% greater than can be got from ordinary ointments. This is due to the fact that Zam-Buk is all medicine—100%. Ordinary ointments are 5% medicine and the balance animal fat.

The superiority of Zam-Buk is proved by the many cases of chronic skin trouble and old sores which yield to the power of Zam-Buk after all other treatments have failed.

The unusual power of penetration which Zam-Buk possesses enables it to reach the underlying tissues, where skin troubles have their "root." Then the germicidal properties in Zam-Buk destroy all germs. Until this is done healing can never be thorough. The reason why sores that have been treated with ordinary ointments break out again is because the remedy has never got to the seat of the trouble, but has only healed over the outer skin. Zam-Buk, on the contrary, uproots skin disease, and the cure is complete and permanent.

Zam-Buk should always be used for eczema, ringworm, scalp sores, pimples, abscesses, ulcers, blood-poisoning, bad leg, piles, cuts, burns and scalds. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

COMMUTATION OF DEATH SENTENCE

COUNSEL FOR THE FIVE CONDEMNED MEN WILL MAKE AN EFFORT IN THIS DIRECTION.

The recommendations for mercy which accompanied the juries' verdict of guilty in the five murder trials will as Chief Justice Mulock informed the prisoners be transmitted to the Governor-General-in-Council. In addition to this separate appeals for commutation of the death sentence to imprisonment will be made to the Minister of Justice by the Counsels for the defence. Mr. G. N. Gordon is acting for Michael Bahri and Alex. ander Martinuque and Mr. Basil W. Essery of Toronto will appeal for clemency on behalf of Philip Rotensky, Samuel Zaluski and Thomas Konek.

LAKEFIELD NEWS

LAKEFIELD, Oct. 8. — Miss Mona Fortier was in Young's Point for a few days this week.

Mrs. John Lynn of Peterboro was the guest of her mother, Mrs. Northcott on Tuesday.

Thanksgiving Service.

The Methodist church will hold their annual Thanksgiving service on Sunday and will also have a Thanksgiving Social on Monday night. The choir will render suitable music and the pastor, Rev. S. F. Dixon, will officiate.

This is the first thanksgiving since the close of the war and it will be suitably celebrated by all the local churches. Special collections will be taken up for local church work.

Autumn Excursion.

"The Grove" held their autumn excursion on Tuesday to Gilchrist's bay at Stoney Lake. A large number attended and the day was much enoyed.

Harvest Festival.

On Sunday next the annual Harvest Festival services wil be held in St. John's church. The rector will take both services.

Special Services.

The Lakefield Baptist church will hold their Thanksgiving services on Sunday. There will be appropriate music and the pastor, the Rev. F. Ashton, will speak at both services. A large congregation is expected to "Enter His Courts with Thanksgiving."

MRS. MAY COULD NOT WORK

Made Well and Strong by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbia, Pa.—"I was very weak and run down and had dragging-down pains and pains in my back. I could not get around to do my work and had to sit down and rest often during theday. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised in the papers and read the testimonials, so I thought I would try it. Now I am healthier than I ever was in my life, and can recommend it to any woman who suffers as I did." —Mrs. ELISABETH MAY, R.F.D. No. 1, Columbia, Pa.

The reason Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, curative influence, and the letters which we are constantly publishing from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of this famous root and herb medicine.

THE BUNK HAS BEEN REMOVED

SOUVENIR FIENDS OVERLOOKED A GOOD CHANCE TO SECURE YANOFF'S BUNK

So superstitious are the Macedonians, who sleep in the bunk-house at the Ontario Rock Company quarry where the murder of Philip Yannoff was committed that they refused to sleep there unless the bunk of the murdered man was removed. The Company accordingly removed the bunk and only the comparative whiteness of the floor directly at the top of the stairs shows where the bunk once stood. The murder has so worked on the minds of the Macedonians that half of them have quit their jobs. They have also found better banking facilities and now carry only a bank book instead of a roll of greenbacks. Charles Moitzsoiff and Tom Serbonoff two of the foreigners who gave evidence at the trial and who were robbed by the Russians were still lingering around Victoria Park today in the vain hope that their money which is locked in the local bank of Nova Scotia and a gold watch, which was with the rubber heel imprints, the most decisive factor in finding the prisoners guilty, will walk down the hill and deposit themselves in their pockets.

ARE THE DAYS OF MIRACLES OVER?

IS SUPERSTITION AND FALSE BELIEF TO OVERSHADOW FACTS ANY LONGER?

When a woman who has been sick for years becomes well after taking a certain scientific preparation—can you deny that the remedy must be good?

Read these extracts taken from a letter written to us by Mrs. H. Cross, of 262 King Street West, Toronto:—

"I suffered for several years with inflammatory Rheumatism and could hardly get up or down stairs. My husband bought me a box of Templeton's Rheumatic Capsules, and almost immediately I felt relief. The swellings started to go down and the stiffness left my knees. I might say that previously to using T.R.C.'s I had tried almost everything under the sun without success. I am a happier and wiser woman now, and I cannot thank you enough for the aid T.R.C.'s have given me."

It's the same story from hundreds of other Rheumatic sufferers. They tried T.R.C.'s and T.R.C.'s fixed them up. If you suffer, try them.

Ask your Druggist or write us for our new booklet; it is interesting and costs you nothing (Templetons, 142 King West, Toronto). We mail T.R.C.'s anywhere on receipt of $1.00.

TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST RIDING OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—

Having again received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Convention of West Peterborough, as a candidate for Parliamentary honours at the ensuing Provincial Election, to be held on October 20th, I desire to solicit your hearty support in favour of my election.

WAR WORK

Having represented you for the past five years (war years), I can safely say that during that period, while every effort was being made to win the war—my record is known to you all; and on that record I ask you to judge me on the position I have taken on all measures affecting the war work.

TEMPERANCE QUESTION

When I was elected in 1914, I stated my views on the Temperance question during that campaign; I pledged myself to vote for Temperance legislation on all occasions brought forward by whatever party, and the record in the House will show that I carried out that pledge.

The Referendum vote is to be taken on the same date as the Provincial election, October 20th, and if I am again elected your representative, I promise to give my whole-hearted support to the Government elected to carry out the will of the people, as expressed by their votes on the Referendum ballot.

AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATION

During the years preceding 1914, every one agreed that the Department of Agriculture was asleep. The very first opportunity offered in the House, I introduced the question of a forward movement in Agriculture, and, along with other Liberal members of the House, have earnestly advocated a more strenuous progressive policy in Agriculture.

The shortage of production, the problem of farm help, and the numerous perplexing questions affecting the farmer, cannot be solved unless we seriously consider the cause and apply the remedy.

During the past few years of unrest in the country, due mainly to excessive living costs, I have advocated that demonstration farms be established in different counties, and increased attention be paid to the education to be received in our Agricultural College and Experimental Farms, and that the knowledge gained at the Agricultural College be put into practice on Demonstration Farms, where a profit and loss account could be kept, and the costs of producing 100 pounds of milk, or a pound of pork, or any of the many products of the farm, could be ascertained and established, such information being sadly lacking to-day. By such a system of education, the farm would be looked upon as a business manufacturing plant, that would attract the best brains to the development of the greatest asset in Canada to-day, the Farm. Our production is unlimited. The markets of the world are calling for food, and our own citizens living from hand to mouth at tremendous prices, wondering what the next six months have in store for them.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAYS

Our Highways need much repair. Auto and truck traffic is becoming daily increased, and we must develop a road policy which will make for hauling our produce to market as cheaply as possible. To this matter, I promise to give my best thought.

EDUCATION

Education, I am pleased to say, is in the hands of a new Minister, in whom we hope for great things. I believe in a separate education for the City and Rural districts. An Education in the Rural districts to educate the boy and girl the great lessons of Agriculture, making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, developing the average cow of Ontario to-day, which gives 5,000 lbs. of milk in a milking period to 10,000 lbs., producing a pound of pork or beef at a lower cost, and giving to the world the blessing which we most need: a reduction in the high cost of living.

THE LABOUR QUESTION

Regarding the important question of Labour, my own policy has been to treat labour as I would wish to be treated myself. I have had a good deal of experience with labour of various kinds and conditions, and have never had any trouble along that line, and do not expect to have any.

OUR RETURNED HEROES

To me, the welfare of the returned soldier and soldiers' wives, is one of the most essential duties of our country. Therefore, I promise that I will give my hearty support to every movement calculated to promote their very best interests. The soldiers who fought for me for five years deserve, and may expect to receive, my earnest consideration during the remaining years of my life.

THE WOMAN VOTE

I am delighted to know that women are to enjoy equal privileges with men in the use of the franchise at this election, and in the exercise of this privilege, I have the greatest faith in their good judgment and purifying influence. Their power with the ballot on October 20th, especially with the Prohibition and Labour problems, will, I feel certain, be of far-reaching effect. I will, therefore, consider the votes from the ladies counted in my favour at the approaching election, to be instruction to take high grounds on all matters calculated to elevate the morals of this community as well as of the whole Dominion.

CONCLUSION

These questions I have dealt with are, to my mind, the outstanding questions of the day. If I am elected again as your representative, I promise to give the best of my ability, my mature judgment on all questions affecting the interests of the West Riding of Peterborough, the Province of Ontario, the Dominion of Canada, and the British Empire, of which we, to-day, are so justly proud.

Thanking you, Ladies and Gentlemen, for your support in the past, and soliciting your support again on the 20th day of October. I remain,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. A. GILLESPIE.

FROM CHERRY-BLOSSOM LAND

The Japanese Give Good Example

It is a proverb of Cherry Blossom Land that beauty of face and figure depend on womanly health.

What is it that makes our Canadian women often pale, sallow-faced, with dark circles under the eyes, and very often old at forty-five when they should be in their prime?

Women suffer in girlhood from backache, spine-ache and headaches, followed by irregularities and as a result diseases of the womanly organs are more common than any one but a physician in active practice could suppose.

After long experience in the treatment of women's diseases, Dr. Pierce evolved a vegetable tonic and corrective which he called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This is a purely vegetable preparation, without a particle of alcohol contained in it.

When a woman complains of backache, dizziness or pain—when everything looks black before her eyes—a dragging feeling, with nervousness, she should turn to this "temperance" herbal tonic. It can be obtained in almost every drug store in the land and the ingredients are printed in plain English on the wrapper. Put up in tablets or liquid. Dr. Pierce, of Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., will send a trial size of the tablets for ten cents.

THE FIUME DIFFICULTY

(Canadian Press.)

TRIESTE, Oct. 10.—General Grazioli, former commander of the Italian garrison at Fiume, left Trieste for Rome last evening on his way from Fiume, where he was sent by the government to confer with Gabriele D'Annunzio. He appeared confident and cheerful, and said that an early solution of the Fiume difficulty would be reached.

RICHARD HALL & SON LIMITED

ILLUMINATING EVIDENCE AT THE POLICE COMMISSION INVESTIGATION

COUNTY CONSTABLE MOORE IN THE WITNESS BOX—WHISKEY RUNNING IN PETERBORO.

County Constable Archibald Moore was the first man in the stand yesterday afternoon and told of the excursion which he and License Inspector Stewart made to Kendry station to seize whiskey. When the train pulled up two men stood near the baggage care receiving the heavy cases.

"Who were these two men?" asked Mr. Widdifield.

"I think one was Sullivan, but I won't swear positively that it was him," answered Mr. Moore.

The cases were taken to Mr. Moore's house and later sent away by Mr. Stewart. Before the liquor was received a message over the telephone to watch his whiskey as somebody was going to try to steal it. The informant would not give his name.

That afternoon Martin Moher came to his house and asked him to suppress a disturbance near his home. But Mr. Moore was suspicious and only went up town. Next Saturday a man by the name of Carveth a neighbor of Moher denied that there was any disturbance. He went down to Moher's neighborhood but the neighbors denied that any rumpus had taken place in that vicinity. Mr. Stewart later told him that there was a plot on foot to steal the whiskey and Mr. Moore set guard over the wet goods. Mr. Stewart soon after told Moore that William Hamilton had made a statement implicating Deective Newhall. They decided to ship the booze right away, which was done.

Later he went into Ed Wright's barber shop and inquired who the barber shop across the road. One of the barbers replied that his name was Sullivan, but that he was away in Toronto. He denied that he asked Mr. Flannery the barber if that was Sullivan across the road in the window.

Auburn Granite Pit.

Mr. Moore, so he alleges, went to the Auburn Gravel Pit and Emmet Faux, who was working there, and called him:—

"Where's Joe—Stewart—I've got something to tell him," said Faux.

"I told him to see Mr. Stewart, and I told the license inspector that Faux wanted to see him. Later Mr. Moore saw Faux on the street and there Faux told him about P. C. Boyd telling him that if Johnston broke away from Mr. Stewart he would get police protection.

Mr. Hall Cross-Examines.

"When did you hear about there being any police protection?' opened Mr. Hall.

He could not mention the immediate date.

"Did you believe that statement?"

He was pretty sure he did.

"Why didn't you tell Chief Thompson.

Because last May 25 I went to Chief Thompson and asked for the names of some young men who had broke a buggy on 24th of May. An officer give me the names and the Chief come around and said there was no use of us being bad friends and he said 'You arrested Sullivan.' I said 'No I didn't, I handed him over to the Inspector.'"

"Why didn't you tell the Chief then?"

"I suppose I might have."

"I know it is," said Mr. Akey, positively.

Mr. Gerald Dunford, after being ordered to take a wad of gum out of his mouth, was cross-examined by Mr. Hall.

"What induced you to go into the detective business to get $100 as commission?"

"Well for not being hard up."

"What information did you give to Mr. Stewart to earn $100 in the Sullivan trial?"

Mr. Dan O'Connell objected to the question being answered as the License Commission protect such men.

"Mr. Akey told me that Sullivan was going to Kendry and as Sul

"Didn't you know that was a breach of duty? Why didn't you tell Magistrate Dumble about it?"

"I never thought of it."

"Isn't it because you didn't believe it?"

"I'm not accusing Detective Newhall. Perhaps I should have told the Chief."

"Did you see Hamilton's statement before it was printed in the newspapers?"

I did. Mr. Stewart showed it to me a few days after Hamilton made it."

Mr Moore stated that he never knew until Dunford gave evidence that Dunford received a share of the liquor fine from Mr. Stewart.

"Mr. Stewart didn't trust you with that information, did he?"

"No, I guess not."

"Don't you think Mr. Stewart acted very suspiciously?"

"I saw nothing wrong"

"Doesn't he form conclusions too quickly?"

Refused to Go.

"I don't know, but one time I regot a message from Mr. Stewart fused to go with him. One night I that a carload of liquor was to come down from Lindsay and to be distributed at a fowl supper in the country. Mr. Stewart said he got the information through Sergt. James Reid. I wouldn't go because I thought there was not sufficient grounds for going out there."

"Didn't he (Stewart) suspect you once of setting fire to buildings while you were a fireman?" demanded Mr. Hall.

"Now, now, Mr. Hall, don't go back twenty years ago."

Mr. Hall demanded that he speak, but Mr. O'Connell strongly objected, and asked that the cross-examination go on.

Mr. O'Connell again objected but—

"I'm scared of nothing, let them tear away," said Mr. Moore.

"Let him go on I like to hear it myself, it brings me back to my younger days."

"You were acquitted?"

"Yes, and I got a raise in pay."

His Honor asked if this was not outlawed by now and Mr. Moore called Mr. Hall "a mean man."

"I am sorry if you misunderstood my attitude in this matter," said Mr. Hall. "You flew off the handle without waiting until I concluded."

"Do you think Mr. Stewart was justified in taking the steps in arresting you as he did?"

"Yes, he was a police officer."

The Kendry Case.

"Have you seen a copy of the Magistrate's notes, of the evidence?"

"No."

Certain parts of the evidence was read and Mr. Moore stated that it was correct. Mr. Moore further said that last Wednesday James Akey told him that he was at Kendry that day.

"Will you solemnly swear that you did see Sullivan at Kendry that morning?"

"I will not.'

"Why?"

"It was either Sullivan of the very image of Sullivan at Kendry."

"Why have you cause for enmity against the police force?"

"Up to the Sullivan trial there was no friction, but since that I haven't spoken to P. C. Boyd. He put his head up when he saw me. I took it all in a joke when P. C. Boyd asked me for a bottle of whiskey and I told him to come down when Mrs. Moore wasn't home. I dont hold anite against anybody long," observed Mr. Moore. "Mr. Stewart knows that, I didn't like him for a long time."

"About nine years?"

"O, perhaps longer than that."

"You kr w a man changes his whole carcass in seven years."

"Why don't you like the Chief?"

Mr. Moore stated that the Chief had forestalled him in obtaining a conviction. He said he had made arrangements for the young offenders to come before Magistrate Langely but the police got wind of it and brought the boys into the City Police Court. Mr. Moore considered this "butting in" on his duties by the police. Chief Thompson stated that the whole case was handled by C. P. R. constables.

Mr. O'Brien, for Mr. Rae Sullivan, asked Mr. Moore if he could remember who was in Ed. Wright's barber shop the day that he asked who kept the shoe across the road.

Mr. James Akey was recalled by His Honor and was asked if he admitted to Mr. Moore that he was at Kendry.

"I never did, sir."

"You said that yesterday," said Akey, directly to Mr Moore, squaring up to him.

"You wanted me to say I was at Kendry, didn't you? I'm not scared of you or Joe Stewart either. I pay my way."

"I said yesterday—now just wait my memory is—" said Mr. Moore.

DON'T BE A "MISERY-FACTORY"

Stop Headaches, Bilious Spells, Colds and Constipation with "Cascarets"—Ideal Physic!

You men and women who can't get feeling right—who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach and colds.

Are you keeping your liver and bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely shocking your insides every few days with Calomel, Salts, Oil or violent Pills?

Cascarets work while you sleep; they cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels which is now keeping you in constant misery. Cascarets never gripe, sicken or cause inconvenience and Cascarets cost so little too.

THAT COLD IS DANGEROUS

Don't wait 'Till you are Sorry.

When you feel out of sorts, shivery, headachy, don't wait till you are laid up in bed before you take action to remedy these things. Chilly, achy feelings are Nature's warnings. Get something to clear out your system, cool the blood, exterminate the germs.

There is nothing so quick and reliable as Dominion C. B. Q.—which stands for Cascara Bromide Quinine Tablets. Dominion C. B. Q. cures a cold in a few hours—takes the headache away—makes you feel fit.

ELEGANCE AND COMFORT IN FOOTWEAR

When we opened our new Shoe Section, we discarded many old traditions and started this Department anew—we had a new perspective, as it were. The result is obvious. One of the most striking examples is the great variety of widths—ranging from A to D, four in all. Then there is the modish lines of new Footwear, that have sacrificed nothing in the way of comfort, for they are selected from myriads of samples by one who has studied the problem of Foot Comfort.

The above statements will mean more than statements if you inspect and fit on our Brown Calf Skin Walking Boots, for instance. They are made of fine supple stock, and have a ten-inch top and a graceful pointed toe, that is patterned with scroll perforations. In one model the heel is square and an inch and a half in height, and the other is Louis pattern. The Price is $12.00 pair. Then there are those with Black Patent Vamps, dull Kid tops, and high Louis heels, and a toe that tapers down to a neat point. Also priced at $12.00. There are Pumps of Black Satin at $9.00. Of Black Kid and Patent at $10.00.

We merely mention these to give you an inkling of the fashionable models to be had in our New Section.

MR. G. N. GORDON REFUTES DUNFORD'S STATEMENT

Dunford and Sullivan to put the boxes into the truck.

Mr. Hall Cross-Examines

"Didn't Mr. Stewart take you to Sullivan's Shop and asked you if you could not identify him as the man that was at Kendry", asked Mr. Hall

"I am not sure whether he did or not."

Mr. Hamilton was sitting with Sullivan in the court but Wood refused to swear which one of them was at Kendry that morning.

Rae Sullivan was recalled to the box and admitted that he was at Kendry before Dunford came with the truck. Dunford expected that Storne was there but he wasn't. He went up to the road to telephone and left me there.

"Why was Storne to be there?" sharply demanded Mr. O'Connell.

"I don't know" replied Sullivan, "that is only Dunford's story."

"What time did you leave town that morning?"

About seven o'clock."

"Did you help on with that liquor?"

"Yes, I helped put on one box, Woods ask him what was in it and Dunford replied that it was dynamite.

Saw Sullivan.

Ida Burke (a man) an employee of the C.P.R. saw Sullivan alight from the train at the station there that memorable morning.

Ida stated that Stewart came to his house with a subpoena and when he discovered that Ida had seen Sullivan at the station that morning he said,—

"If I get anything on Sullivan I'll connect you with him."

Ida stated that the demand that the subpoena be given him, which was done.

"What do you know about these whiskey transactions?" asked Mr. O'Connell.

"I don't know nothing", replied Ida.

"Did you go to Kendry that morning?" "No."

"Were you at work that day?"

"Yes."

Constable Wigg was the next witness called and remembered seeing Sullivan the morning that the wet goods were dropped from the Montreal train at Kendry. Constable Wigg told how some years ago he told Mr. Stewart of places he suspected stealing whiskey. Sometime later Stewart told Wigg that there was $5 for him for every information he gave. Wiggs stated that it would be a breach of duty and that he must report to the Chief Constable.

"Did you ever hear of any police protection for liquor stolen from Moore's house?" asked Mr. Hall.

"No, I never heard of any such thing."

"Did you ever hear or do you know of any members of the police force giving protection to wrongdoers?" asked His Honour Judge Huycke.

John Monkman, a clerk of the Liquor Commission at Toronto, produced correspondence between Mr. Stewart and the Liquor Commission and between bites the lawyers examined them at the lunch hour.

MR. G. A. GILLESPIE AT MAY'S SCHOOLHOUSE

ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING WAS HELD —ELECTION ISSUES DISCUSSED

The first shot in Mr. Gillespie's campaign of the rural districts was fired last night at May's school house to a very enthusiastic audience.

Mr. W. J. Byers occupied the chair, and in introducing Mr. Gillespie as the first speaker, declared that during his five years in the Legislature he had shown himself to be an honest and upright man, who could be trusted by the people.

Mr. Gillespie enlarged upon his published letter to the electors showing how he had roused the government to action in agricultural affairs. During his first year in the House the Agricultural Committee met only twice and then had no proposals to offer. As a result of his efforts much more attention was paid to agricultural affairs.

In answer to a question Mr. Gillespie declared himself strongly in favor of a minimum wage and better treatment of the working classes.

He also replied to Mr. Tooms by showing that he had given Peterboro people the best milk at a price lower than that in almost any part of the province. He was prepared to prove that he was fair in all his deals.

Mr. J. J. Duffus.

Mr. J. J. Duffus supported the candidature of Mr. Gillespie, because of his straight, clean record, and his patriotic stand during the war. He recalled that Mr. Gillespie had given liberally to every patriotic need during the war, and stated that he often wondered how he could stand to give so much, knowing him to be a man of only moderate means.

He urged all citizens anxious for a good dependable representative to vote for Mr. Gillespie.

Mr. Jos. Wearing.

The last speaker was Mr. Joseph Wearing, who showed that the present government had been steadily going to pieces since the death of Sir James Whitney. It was a government divided against itself and therefore certain to fall.

The speaker quoted from a speech of Mr. Hartley Dewart delivered in Toronto on Wednesday, where he again declared himself as being an advocate of temperance "to the fullest extent of the Provincial jurisdiction."

He also showed that every Liberal candidate in Ontario was in favour of this platform, whereas many of the Conservative candidates were declaring themselves to be against their leader on this question.

The meeting closed with singing of the National Anthem and three cheers for Mr. Gillespie.

Plaid ribbon forms the crowns of schoolgirls' hats.

MARRIED FIRST MAN SHE MET ON ROAD

Miss Peggy Hyland will be in town next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Empire Theatre in her latest William Fox photo play, "The Rebellious Bride." This is described as a story of the Ozark mountains, with Peggy as a wild, care-free, fun-loving girl who is compelled to marry the first man she meets on a country road. She gets a millionaire, and she has the hardest job of her young life figuring out what she will do with him after she gets him.

How she gets into this dilemma, after fleeing from one man at the altar and eloping with a second suitor, is said to be told in a way both thrilling and amusing; and how she gets out of the dilemma is shown in a smashing climax.

ALL FIVE RUSSIANS SENTENCED TO BE HANGED JAN. 14, 1920

lock at the Ontario Rock company's quarry. There were expressions of sympathy for the men, more particularly for Zaluski, Martinuque and Rotinski, who were regarded as tools of Konek and Bahri. To most of those who followed the case their interest was largely centred in the expert and fearless manner in which Steve Bradley, the manager of the quarry and William Whibbs, the County Constable at Indian River, undertook their separate tasks of running down the Russians on the Sunday morning of June 22, after they had robbed the bunkhouse, killed Yanoff and set out to return to Toronto.

Konek Sentenced First.

Tom Konek, who fired the fatal shot, was first called upon by Chief Justice Mulock to stand.

"What have you to say why the sentence of the Court should not be passed upon you?" asked His Lordship, after Mr. T. J. Rigney, for the Crown, made the formal motion for sentence.

Konek, of the protruding jaw and receding forehead and the blank stare that seemed to observe nothing, remained silent.

"He has nothing to say, your Lordship," replied his counsel, Mr. B. W. Eassary, who, with Mr. G. N. Gordon, conducted the defence.

The Judge next addressed Michael Bahri, the Austrian, who answered "nothing" before the question was completed.

Sam Zaluski, Alex Martinuque and Phillip Rotinski had nothing to add to the statements they gave in Court.

"They have nothing more than the testimony they gave in court," Mr. Gordon supplemented.

Konek Sentenced.

To Konek, standing alone for sentence, His Lordship said: "The jury after carefully listening to the evidence, found you guilty of the crime of murder, and the evidence it seems established the fact that your hand fired the pistol with which Phillip Yanoff was killed. I don't wish to say anything painful to you. Unfortunately, you have a heavy enough burden to carry. I do deplore the duty that devolves upon me to have to sentence so many young men, and to pronounce sentences such as this. The jury added a recommendation of mercy. It is not in my power to modify the sentence I must pass. The law says that any person found guilty of the crime of murder shall be sentenced to die, and that is the only sentence the law permits the trial judge to pronounce. Any modification in any of these cases must come from a higher authority. I have no right to hold out to you the hope of the commutation of your sentence.

It is to be greatly regretted that five young men find themselves in the position in which you are in to-day. The ease with which it seems to have been possible for whoever organized this crime of robbery, the ease with which they induced five young men to join in and proceed to carry it out is deplorable. With great deliberation the scheme was carried out and with a fatal result. I hope your experience will be a warning to others not to give way to temptation, and for the sake of a few dollars to commit such a great wrong and so great a crime.

"I hope all of you will take the fullest advantage of the time intervening between this and the day on which your sentence will be carried out, and that you will prepare for the great future. Do not allow yourselves to be buoyed up by the hope of reprieve or commutation, but make certain of your future by appealing to the only tribunal that can give you permanent pardon. You know to what I allude."

With a slight drop in his voice, His Lordship then pronounced the death sentence, fortunately rarely required in this county:

"The sentence of the Court is that you, Tom Koneck, shall be taken back to the place from which you came and be detained there until the fourteenth day of January, 1920, and that on that day you shall be hanged by the neck until you are dead, and may the Lord have mercy on your soul."

The prayer in the last words was uttered in a whisper that was barely audible. Konek was led back to the jail, and Michael Bahri was ordered to stand up. The sentence was the same in each case, but His Lordship altered somewhat the personal charge to each prisoner.

To Bahri he said in part: "The evidence indicates that you took an active part in organizing this crime, and that you directed it to its finish. I can hold out to you no hope of commutation."

Sam Zaluski.

His Lordship, speaking to Zaluski, the Russian who enlisted in Toronto and went overseas, mentioned the deplorable position he was now placed in.

He also referred to the recommendation of mercy. "It was not your hand that fired the shot that killed Phillip Yanoff. Nevertheless the law makes you equally liable. There is, however, a very considerable moral difference between the actual firing of the shot and the participating in the transaction, which under the law makes you equally liable."

Marianque and Rotinski.

Similar counsel and regrets were expressed by His Lordship to the remaining two prisoners, and it was noticeable that in sentencing the second last man, Martinuque, his Lordship showed the effects of the accumulating strain of sentencing the five young men to death.

"ATLANTIC" COMPELLED TO LAND.

Will Not Resume Flight To-day.

GREENPORT, Oct. 10.—The Handley Page bombing plane Atlantic, from Parrsboro, N.S., which was compelled to land here last night with her eleven passengers, eighty miles short of Mineola, will not resume her flight to Mitchell field to-day, according to present plans of Admiral Kerr, commander of the coast harbor.

GUY BROTHERS HERE TO-NIGHT

COMPANY CARRIES A FEMALE INTERLOCUTOR.

Miss Lillian Guy will be seen as interlocutor with the Guy Brothers Big Minstrel show to appear here to-night at the Grand.

Miss Lillian Guy is George R. Guy's youngest daughter. She formerly appeared with a number of Broadway attractions. Miss Lillian Guy will positively appear with this company.

She will render a number of popular songs and keep the audience in laughter from the rise of the curtain. She is the only female interlocutor on the road to-day, which is something out of the ordinary to see. Secure seats now at Box Office.

A COMEDY ALONG ROMANTIC LINES

"KISS BURGLAR" IS ONE OF THE BEST SHOWS OF THE SEASON.

What bears promise in every way of being one of the most striking musical play productions of the season is "The Kiss Burglar," with book and lyrics by Glen MacDonough and music by Raymond Hubbell, which is scheduled to appear at the Grand Saturday, matinee and evening.

The plot cannot be revealed for the present, but it may be said that "The Kiss Burglar," is a comedy along romantic lines and that it reveals intimate glimpses of the fashionable life of the metropolis. One of the big scenes shows Peacock Alley, a fashion promenade in a well-known New York hotel, and here will be seen in all its glory, the Peacock Alley Chorus which bids fair to become famous upon its appearance here, just as it did overnight on Broadway. Another scene of the spectacular order is laid in a country house in the Berkshire Hills, at one of the rendezvous of the metropolitan smart set. Gayety and adventure, all typical of the New York life of to-day, are depicted in the play and the action interspersed with numerous song features. Fashionable life in all its interesting phases is set forth in "The Kiss Burglar," with all the dramatic power and lyric charm of which Mr. MacDonough is a past master. There are at least a dozen sparkling lyrics, both romantic and comic, which Mr. Hubbell has set to music of the popular song hit order. Solos, duets and ensemble numbers will punctuate the development of the story of every day adventure. The ensembles will reveal the mastery of Julian Mitchell, while the play itself is being staged by Edgar MacGregor, who ranks among the successful directors on the dramatic stage. The company which is a carefully selected one including the famous Peacock Alley chorus has been carefully selected, and "The Kiss Burglar" will be offered here as seen as the George M. Cohan Theatre, New York City for six record breaking months, with the original Cohan Theatre production.

ETHEL CLAYTON IN FAMOUS STAGE PLAY "MAGGIE PEPPER"

A STORY OF DEPARTMENT STORE LIFE SHOWING AT THE ALLEN TO-DAY.

Beautiful Ethel Clayton, who is starring in a screen version of the late Charles Klein's famous play of department store life "Maggie Pepper," recently discussed the life of department store women with a reporter. Said Miss Clayton:

"My sympathy is invariably with the woman who is compelled to work for a living—particularly in one of the great department stores of a big city. To be subjected day after day to the whims of thoughtless patrons, or the petty autocratic methods of superiors in the business must be a dreadful thing for even a phlegmatic temperament."

ETHEL CLAYTON in "Maggie Pepper."

"Maggie Pepper" tells the story of a plucky girl in a big department store that has fallen behind the times. The manager hates Maggie and this hatred is intensified when Jim Holbrook, the owner, comes from abroad and takes a fancy to the girl. Holbrook's fiancee is the manager's ward, which is an added source of trouble. She repudiates the owner, when he is attracted to Maggie. Then Maggie leaves and goes home, whither Holbrook follows to get her to return.

Maggie has other troubles. Her dead brother's child, Claire, has been surrendered perforce to mother, who marries a crook. The mother is arrested for shoplifting and Claire is taken back to Maggie. Released from custody, the woman seeks Maggie and tells her that her husband is going to kidnap Claire.

The acting of Ethel Clayton as Maggie is superb. She is perfect as the ill-used and hard working girl, yet charming in every mood. Elliot Dexter is splendidly cast as Holbrook. Raymond Hatton is a typical Hebrew drummer; Tully Marshall is excellent as the crook husband. In fact, every member of the cast is above the average in his or her rendition of the allotted part.

NIETZCHE CREED EXPOSED IN "UNPARDONABLE SIN"

Big Photoplay, Starring Blanche Sweet, Has Unique Feature For Thursday.

Harry Garson's extraordinary screen production, "The Unpardonable Sin," begins an engagement at the Allen Theatre next Wednesday, October 15, twice daily.

"The Unpardonable Sin" will unquestionably attract to the Allen Theatre a class of patrons which have heretofore scoffed at the moving picture as a means of telling a dramatic story. Reviews of the picture which have been printed in other cities emphasize the fact that here is one of the few photoplays ever produced that "starts out to do something and does it." One situation follows another in as logical a manner as was ever accomplished on the speaking stage.

In no sense is "The Unpardonable Sin" a preachment. It is an absorbing tale of love and adventure, with incidents of the World War as a background. And yet, those seriously inclined will find from the manner in which the action is presented, much of a philosophical nature to interest them. The titles for the big production are a clever combination of the clear straightforward statements which help the action of the story and footnotes from the writings of Nietzsche, the mad European philosopher, whose doctrines are said to have largely contributed to the horrors of the recent conflagration on the other side of the Atlantic. Just how impossible were the teachings which emanated from this crooked brain, and how terrible would be the final results were these teachings followed, are indelibly impressed by this remarkable picture.

ASK YOURSELF

are you logical in your use of medicine? When your stomach is ailing you take something that reaches the stomach, but when the trouble is in your lungs or breathing passages, do you take something that goes there direct? This is where so many people make a mistake. They swallow remedies into the stomach in a vain attempt to cure an ailment which is of the lungs! Then they wonder why they receive no benefit.

For ailments of the lungs and breathing passages the logical treatment is the use of a remedy that is breatheable and therefore capable of reaching the lungs direct.

Pepe is that kind of remedy—a breatheable remedy in tablet form. When Pepe are dissolved in the mouth medicinal vapor is released and breathed to all parts of the bronchial tubes and the minute air cells of the lungs, soothing the inflammation and consequent irritation, healing the sore places and ending the cough.

Next time you are troubled with a cough, sore throat, bronchitis or laryngitis, take Peps and prove for yourself the superiority of the direct treatment. All dealers 60c.

ILLUMINATING EVIDENCE AT POLICE INVESTIGATION

van wouldn't pay me what he owed me, I told Mr. Stewart," finally answered Dunford. "Mr. Akey also said that he was going to meet Sullivan at Kendry."

"What did you do to get the $100 in the Johnston case?"

"I told Mr. Stewart that I was going to Norwood to meet Buck Winch."

"How did Johnston happen to accompany him?"

"Mr. Johnston came with goods. Winch left Peterboro the night before and met Johnston on the road coming this way."

"Did Winch tell you that he was going to get off at Kendry, that he had two shipments, one for Norwood and the other for Kendry?"

"He did not."

"Was it Mr. Stewart suggested to you that you earn a percentage of these fines?"

"Mr. Stewart told me that he was allowed to give 20 per cent. of the fines."

Dunford stated that he informed Mr. Stewart on only these two occasions. Dunford admitted that the second cargo of whiskey he took to a slaughter house on the gravel road where he hid it. He denied that he went out and got it again.

The Johnston Affair.

"You yourself would have liked to have seen Johnston escape, wouldn't you?"

"Perhaps I did."

"Did you have the money in your pocket to pay Johnston's fine?"

"Yes, $500."

"If Johnston had escaped you would have kept the fine?"

"No, I didn't get the money until after Johnston was fined."

He told where he secured the money for the fine.

"Don't you remember that when Johnston was to escape that he was to throw an overcoat over the officer and then trip him up?"

"No, I don't remember."

"Mr. Sullivan told me that he was at Kendry," said Dunford, a statement which he repeated.

"When Akey, Sullivan, Poulson had nothing to do with these liquor transactions, what do you say to that?"

"They are all liars."

"Mr. G. N. Gordon told me at the time of the Sullivan case that if I did stand up and lie for Sullivan he would implicate me in the liquor business, but I refused," said Dunford to Mr. O'Connell.

"Do you remember getting whiskey at the C. P. R. station addressed to the Saunders Co.," asked Mr. O'Connell.

"Yes, I signed for it and took it to my yard until I got orders from Sullivan, who owned the whiskey. Sullivan used to sell his whiskey by bulk and sold most of it to Hamilton."

He reiterated his former statement that there was a plot to steal the whiskey in Moore's house. Detective Newhall was implicated in it and Sergt. Blade was in the bunch that was to go to Inspector Stewart's office to steal whiskey.

25 Used Upright Pianos

Have you a Piano in your house that is silent too much of the time?

Then sell it to us—We will pay cash for it at a reasonable valuation, based upon the date of its manufacture and its condition. Or if you prefer, you may accept the figure as so much cash, to apply towards the purchase of a Player Piano, or an Edison Diamond Disc.

Hundreds of good pianos are silent, because the one member of the family that plays is not at home.

A modern Player Piano in its place would bring new life into the home, as it can be played by any member, old or young, who can reach the pedals from a bench.

For dance music, song accompaniment or any kind of piano music, one of our Player Pianos will bring countless new pleasures into the family circle.

THE SONG ROLLS.

There is a great deal of pleasure to be found in playing and singing our new song rolls, with both words and music. There is an extensive selection of the latest popular, and standard songs, and anyone can play the accompaniments for themselves or others to sing.

OUR OFFER AND TERMS

Come in and tell us what instrument you have that you are not getting full service from. Our representative will go and see it and place a cash valuation on it. You may then accept this if it satisfies you, or if you wish to replace your silent piano with one that will give you music at the wish of any member of the family, or a Diamond Disc Edison Phonograph that will give perfect re-creations of every class of music, the amount can be applied toward the purchase of your selection of the new instrument. The balance, if any, can be arranged on convenient terms to suit you, and make the EXCHANGE AT ONCE, as we are anxious to secure at least 25 USED UPRIGHT PIANOS to fill an immediate need.

If you are unable to come to our store, do not delay investigating this opportunity. Fill in the coupon below, mail it to us, and it will receive prompt attention.

The whole countryside turned out on Wednesday evening to do honor to our returned men in the final reception which was called to take says Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital. Thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health to-day were it not for the deadly drug, Nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. It's a simple process to rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed, and lo! the pernicious habit quickly vanishes. Druggists refund the money if they fail. Be sure to read large and interesting announcement by Doctor Connor soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of nicotine poisoning, and how, to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotol tablets; you will be surprised at the result. (6)

Tobacco Habit Dangerous

Pure Milk!

—protected in every way

Every one who sees the Borden Dairy Barns understands instantly why Borden's St. Charles Milk is pure. PURITY - QUALITY - ECONOMY

With the increased cost of labor and materials due to war conditions, it is not reasonable to suppose that a really first class baking powder can be made and sold at the old prices. Rather than sacrifice the quality of we found it necessary to make slight increases in price during the war period. Even though Magic Baking Powder may cost a few cents more than the ordinary kinds it is still by far the most economical baking powder on the market to-day when purity, strength and leavening qualities are taken into consideration.

Contains No Alum Made in Canada

A young man from the country called on a certain great manufacturer in his workshop, and the man of metals and machinery picked up a powerful magnet and said:

"That magnet will draw three pounds of iron from a distance of two feet."

"That's not much," said the young countryman thoughtfully. "I know something wrapped in muslin and frills that draws me every Sunday over three miles of ploughed fields."

To the Voter

DO YOU KNOW—that the beer sold in Ontario previous to prohibition ranged up to over 7% alcoholic content by weight measure, whilst the "Beer of the Ballot"—the beer for which you are asked to vote October 20th—has a strength of but 2.51%?

¶ DO YOU KNOW—that such well-known beers manufactured in the United States as Blue Ribbon, Budweiser and Schiltz—always spoken of as "very light non-intoxicating beers"—ranged up to 4.19%—sixty per cent. stronger than the "Beer of the Ballot"—the beer for which you are asked to vote October 20th?

¶ DO YOU KNOW—that in Maine, where prohibition has been in force over sixty years, the courts have held that beer of 3% alcoholic strength, was non-intoxicating—and any beer of under 3% strength was permitted to be sold as freely as ginger ale?

¶ DO YOU KNOW—that in Sweden, Norway and Denmark—as a result of the findings of Government commissions appointed to determine what was an intoxicating liquor—beer of practically the same strength as asked for in the coming Referendum is regarded as non-intoxicating and is sold everywhere, by anybody, without license, and without paying a Government tax?

WALLNUTS WILL BE DEARER THIS YEAR

RAISINS AND OTHER CHRISTMAS INDISPENSABLES ON THE UP-GRADE

"Christmas celebrations are coming much higher this year than last," Mr. R. N. Cotton, representative from the W. G. Pattrick Company, importers of specialties, told The Examiner today.

Raisins, which are an inseparable accompaniment to the Christmas celebrations are soaring higher each year, and this year, owing to the high prices asked by the California dealers, the Green raisin dealers have boosted their prices almost double what they were five years ago. Fancy sultanas, for instance, usually retailed at 15 cents a pound, will cost the retailer 25 and 26 cents a pound.

Germans Responsible.

Walnuts — also an indispensable Christmas item on the menu — are priced at 45 cents a pound wholesale in the shell, and are almost beyond the ordinary purse for the shelled nut. Mr. Cotton said that the Germans are responsible for this, as ten years before the war they bought up a big percentage of the French walnut trees to prepare rifle butts for the war. Later, during the war of the past five years, France was forced to use her trees for the same purpose, resulting in a diminishing of the trees to about one-third what they were ten years ago. The shortage of the trees has reacted upon the price, and is greatly responsible for the present high level.

"There is, happily," Mr. Cotton remarked, "a slight tendency for the walnut markets to weaken on account of Chinese competition, but the Chinese nut is inferior in quality.

Peanut Takes Its Place.

Since the rise in price of other nuts, peanuts are taking the place of the more expensive varieties, and are found to be not only cheap in price, but highly nutritious. To fill the huge demand for peanuts, Pattrick & Company have at present 100 tons of them at Vancouver and an additional 100 tons coming in from Java.

Price Goes Down.

Everything is higher this year than last, Mr. Cotton said, and there is not the slightest hope of anything going down for some time. France has all she can do to feed herself, and the fact that the embargo on such a product as sardines has not helped the Canadian market much, as very few have come out as yet. A few Norwegian sradines, too, have struck Canada, but nothing to justify a drop in prices.

The one good food which has dropped in price is herrings. These fish, which are brought in from Scotland, are economical and are good food at all times.

Public Buys Heavily.

"The public," Mr. Cotton said, "is buying just as heavily if not more so with the high price, and such a luxury as H.P. Sauce, which has increased very much in price is, having a twenty per cent. greater demand than in former years.

Will Become Household Factors.

Unknown to the majority of Canadians, dried eggs imported from China are being extensively used by the manufacturing bakers in Canada Ogilvie Brown used 50 tons of them last year and such firms as Telfords also use them extensively. Cocoanut butter is rapidly supplanting other shortening in the manufacturing bakers shops and the merits of this is finding speedy advertising through the employees who take it home where it is found by the housewives to be a splendid substitute for butter and will, directly the manufacturers are able to put it on the market in small quantities, probably supplant other shortening. The price of it is 37 cents a pound.

All Canada, Mr. Cotton, concluded is apparently, judging form this own extensive travelling through the Dominion, in a very prosperous condition.

WOMEN HAVE ACQUIRED NEW HABIT.

Cigarette smoking among London women is now being varied by the occasional sight of a woman in a restaurant smoking a cigar. Another development of smoking by women is street smoking, and frequently one may see a girl at the lunch hour in the city sauntering along enjoying her cigarette, while during the evening young women may often be seen [illegible] smoking.

TAGGERS FOR TAG DAY

Everything is now in readiness for our grand work, namely, the collection of funds to assist those who, owing to the decree of circumstances over which they have no control, are unable to help themselves.

If the public could but realize the good work carried on by the society, not only in assisting children, but also inculcating greater and more noble principles into the parents.

The Road to Health is Smooth and Clear If You Use Nujol

THE real Road to Health is an intestinal highway 30 feet long. When Constipation clogs this road, it's the same as when a landslide blocks a mountain pass. There is a difference, however. Constipation not only blocks the way, but breeds poisons which menace health.

The obstruction in the mountain pass can be blown out with dynamite, and the obstruction in the intestines CAN be blown out with powerful drugs—but any drug powerful enough to do this is bound to harm the body.

There is only one way to relieve Constipation without in the least measure endangering the delicate mechanism of the human system.

That is the NUJOL way.

NUJOL is absolutely harmless. It is NOT a drug. Not a particle of it is assimilated by the body. All it does is to soften the mass impacted in the colon and lubricate the way to normal expulsion.

NUJOL does this without causing any pain or discomfort. It does not in any way interfere with the digestive processes. It has no more effect on the delicate membranes and tissues than to smooth and soothe them.

It is a healing force which gently but effectively removes the intestinal obstruction, and performs this great service to health without in any way lessening Nature's provisions for protection.

Its sole province is to help Nature help herself.

Nearly everyone is subject to Constipation at some time or other. Nearly everyone has proved the worthlessness of ordinary "remedies" as to lasting results. Now try Nujol—and learn that there is a lasting relief for this curse.

For valuable health booklet—"Thirty Feet of Danger"—free, write Nujol Laboratories, Standard Oil Co. (New Jersey) 50 B'way, N.Y.

Warning: Nujol is sold only in sealed bottles bearing the Nujol Trade Mark. All druggists. Insist on Nujol. You may suffer from substitutes.

MANY INTERESTING ADDRESSES AT TEACHERS' INSTITUTE CONVENTION

TEACHERS ARE HOLDING THEIR MEETINGS IN THE PUCLIC LIBRARY --ART IN THE SCHOOLS--AMENDMENTS TO THE SCHOOL ACT.

CATTLE MARKET

At yesterday's session of the annual convention of the Teacher's Institute which is being held in the Public Library, Mr. A. Mowat, Inspector of Public Schools for this city spoke briefly of the proposed amendments to the School Act: some of these being of interest to the general public. Referring to the compulsory attendance act, Mr. Mowat said a child of six years, who had enrolled, would be obliged to attend school regularly. Blind and deaf children must attend suitable schools. The act four the school attendance of Adolescents would provide suitable schools for youths of from 14 to 18 years, who did not wish to attend High School, the municipality bearing only one-third the cost of same. Speaking of Dental Clinics, Mr. Mowat stated that this city was now to have a dental survey, and also medical inspection.

Large Grant.

Mr. R. F. Downey, the chairman, referred to the large grant made by the Government to rural municipalities (many of them wealthy) for educational purposes. He said that the cities did not receive adequate grants. Mr. Mowat made reference to the tendency in the United States, where the school taxes were felt to be burdensome, to appeal for government assistance in the way of increased grants.

Nature Study.

In the afternoon, Mr. M. N. Clark outlined the Nature Study. course for the two Fourth book classes.

Miss M. O'Connell and Mr. Mowat then dealt with Dewey's book, "The Schools of To-morrow." The former gave a most comprehensive resume of the book. 'Thoughtful people realize that the schools of yesterday do not meet the needs of to-morrow Dewey's idea was to create a rather flexible educational system, in which the school is an embryo community, and the teacher a mere watcher and helper.

Mr. Mowat pointed out that where as schools groping for better methods and teachers experimenting, are good signs, the schools depicted by Dewey are open to criticism. The latter did not approve of drill, while Dr. Claxton an eminent educationalist says that the years from 6 to 10 are the years for memory work, and mechanical drill. The schools under discussion had not measured up particularly well, and Mr. Mowat referred to a most salient fact—the very large percentage of failures among United States students in the recent Rhodes scholarships examinations.

Miss E. Eagleson gave a much appreciated vocal solo.

Art in the Schools

Miss G. McCabe followed with a delightful paper on "Art in the Schools". She spoke of the moral and cultural value of art, and the need for it in life; also the effect that the study and appreciation of the beautiful produced in the life of a child. The love of the material and the sensational was becoming a substitute for the love of the beautiful. The latter would save us from the failure of the age, and make for us a civilization to rival that of Hellas.

In the discussion that followed, Mr. Mowat pointed out that the good and the beautiful must be kept ever together, quoting, as a warning against their separation, that in Greece and Rome, when Art was at its zenith, morality was at its lowest ebb.

He told the interesting fact that a picture dealer in this city said that the boys and girls chose the pictures he sold. The children came in with their parents, told the stories of the pictures they studied in school and took them into their homes.

500 EMPLOYEES TO BE "LET OUT" FROM GOVERNMENT PRINTING BUREAU.

OTTAWA, Oct. 9.—Radical reorganisation is to take place in the Government Printing Bureau, and between four and five hundred employees are to be "let out." Incidentally, reference was made to the matter this morning when the Special Committee of the House of Commons took up the question of rectifying the Civil Service on the lines of the Bill before Parliament.

It is figured out that a saving of $760,000.00 per annum will be effected from the reforms that are proposed.

School Fair.

A very large crowd attended our annual school fair, which was held on Friday last. The exhibits were exceptionlly good, there being, poultry, eggs, fruit, vegetables, seeds, sewing and baking. The diffrent out of door sports including foot races, jumping, also driving. After the sports an interesting programme was carried out. Rev. Father's Casey and O'Leary of Lindsay being present to congratulate the teachers and pupils on their successful work during the past year.

EXAMINER PATTERN SERVICE

A PRETTY SUMMER FROCK.

Waist 2864, Skirt 2891.

This very attractive combination would be nice for organdie, challie, voile figured or plain. Bands of embroidery in colours would form a suitable trimming. Pattern 2864 furnishes the waist model, and Pattern 2891 supplies the skirt. One could develop this in blue taffeta with bands of taupe georgette.

The Waist is cut in 7 Sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust measure. The Skirt in 7 Sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30, 32 and 34 inches waist measure. Its width at the lower edge is 1 3-8 yard. To make this design for a medium size will require 5 3-4 yards of 36 inch material.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 15 cents FOR EACH pattern in silver or 1c and 2c. stamps.

MEMORIAL HALL FOR WARSAW BOYS

MASS MEETING WAS HELD TO DISCUSS THE QUESTION.

WARSAW, Oct. 8.—There was a mass meeting called by the Board of Trade, held in the Town Hall, on Friday evening last, to discuss a memorial to our fallen boys also to get a little information regarding the hydro-electric.

It was unanimously decided to erect some fitting monument. A good deal of discussion arose as to how the money should be contributed. Some considered the council should just do it others that it should be all private subscription, others that so much should be given by the council and private subscription fill the amount and others that subscriptions should be taken first and the council asked to make good the deficit. It was finally left that the council appoint a committee to get subscriptions.

Dr. Munro reported that the village could buy a dynamo by which the village proper could be lighted for very little now from Lakefield.

Live Member Wanted

Some of the voters want a member whether he be U.F.O., Conservative or Liberal, who will do something for this part of the country, who will try to get good roads, a radial railway, and electricty. Why should we not have these things? We pay into the general taxes by which conveniences go to other parts of the country.

Fresh Young Men.

Some young men in the neighborhood have amused themselves, at times, interfering with engines, while owners were away, so that when they try to run their milking machines, etc., the engines will not work. The owners do not intend to stand much more of it.

Silos Filled

Silos are practically all filled now the men did the work rapidly as the weather was so favorable. Messrs. Ed. and John Payne filled seven silos in five days. Some of the distances they moved were long.

Pasture Good.

In spite of the dry summer the pasturage this autumn is splendid. Garden stuff that was hindered in growth, is doing well, even such tender plants as tomatoes are scarcely injured by frost. It is not often one may pick ripe tomatoes in the garden here, on October 6th.

Looking for Votes.

Mr. Thompson, M.P.P. East Peterboro, was in the neighborhood, canvassing, last week.

Many Warsaw residents attended Millbrook Fair last Friday and were highly pleased with the trip.

Dr. Munro went to Lakefield last Monday evening, to see about light for our village.

Conducted Service

In the absence of a regular pastor Mrs. Robert conducted the service in the Baptist church last Sunday.

The Bishop will visit the Anglican church here on Thursday evening of this week.

Preparatory service was not very well attended Friday evening.

The sacrament service in the Presbyterian church was well attended.

Referendum committee will meet in the Baptist Church on Friday evening October 10th.

The Girls' Club

The Girl's Club met at the home of Mrs. David Miller last Friday. Not all the girls were present. General business was discussed and a review of the First Aid work taken. All the directors except Mrs. Choate, who had sent word she could not attend, were present and one of the girls The mothers are always welcome visitors. At the next meeting to be held at the home of Mrs. Robert. There will be an election of officers.

Mrs. Aitkins and Miss Bessie left for Pittsburg last Thursday.

Mr. Robert Tedford of Norwood, was in the village last week.

Mrs. Robert Choate and three children are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Choate.

Continued Business Activity and Good Wages Depend on Canada's New Victory Loan

DURING the past four years Canada's prosperity has been due largely to orders from Great Britain and our Allies.

Canada was able to obtain these orders because she advanced credit to these countries.

Canada was able to give this credit only because you bought Victory Bonds.

Great Britain, with France, Belgium, and other Allies, are now prepared to place large orders with us for the products of our factories, farms, forests and fisheries—provided Canada again gives them credit.

Credit must be given if we are to have any guarantee of good times and good wages. But our workers on these orders must be paid their wages in cash; so, much of the money that you invest in Victory Bonds will go out in wages to Canadians.

You will be absolutely protected—you will get a good rate of interest and all of your money will be paid back at the time stated in the Bond.

Every cent will be spent in Canada, and ultimately circulate to the benefit of all.

Canada can give this credit only if you again buy Victory Bonds.

If Canada is not able to give this credit, other countries will.

Therefore Canada's continued prosperity rests with you.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

"A FOOL THERE WAS."

Based upon Rudyard Kipling's poem, "A Fool There Was," the feature picture at the Grand Opera House aroused much enthusiasm from the large audience. The play is founded on the story of a vampire who craves a place in society, but is barred from realising her wish on account of her reputation. Even the society men, who become enamoured with her, cannot be used as stepping stones to the goal she seeks. After many conquests, which end in her leaving the men, who become entangled in her net, either penniless or suicides, she chooses, by way of vengeance, a woman who has snubbed her, to entangle an American diplomat, and diverts him from his duties and his loved ones, to throw him, like the rest, broken, at her feet, and witnesses, to her unutterable satisfaction, the heartbreak she has caused the man's wife. The role of vampire is exceptionally fitted to Theda Bara's peculiar charms and her acting in the part startlingly realistic.

"Envy," another McClure story, with Ann Murdoch in the leading role, is a particularly interesting play, and affords wide scope for the star's splendid acting.

A good, live Sunshine Comedy is also included in the programme.

TAG DAY.

Editor, Examiner:

Dear Sir,—It is to be hoped that there will be the usual generous response to-morrow to the appeal for the Children's Aid Society. There are no paid officers in the Society except the Inspector and Matron, who devote their whole time to the work of the Society. The results of the work are apparent to all who have the welfare of little children at heart. The aim of the Society is to co-operate with parents and others so as to prevent conditions arising where children are neglected. As a last resort children are taken from homes where they have been neglected and placed in good foster homes. Let us remember these children when we are tagged to-morrow.

Yours truly,
Joseph Wearing,
Secretary.

STOCK MARKETS

(Special to The Examiner.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The market continued to gain at the opening to-day. U. S. Steel opened at 110 3-4 up 1-2; Mexican Petroleum at 145 up 1 1-2; American Locomotive at 115 3-4 up 1-8; Studebaker at 125 up 1-4; Baldwin at 143 1-4 off 1-4; Bethlehem B. at 107 3-4 up 1-8.

Motor stocks became active during the last half-hour. Chandler advanced 35 points overnight, going to 335; Studebaker at 129 was up 4 1-4; General Motors at 298 3-4 was up 5 5-8; Stutz at 140 was up ... and Pierce-Arrow at 69 was up 4 7-8.

Some selling came into steel stocks, but reactions in leaders were not a point.

U. S. Rubber got above 128, and Mexican Petroleum held within 2 points of its early high.

POLICE CHIEF DENIES THAT LIQUOR WAS EVER SENT TO HIS OWN RESIDENCE

CHIEF THOMPSON CHARACTERIZES LICENSE INSPECTOR STEWART AS A "MALICIOUS MAN"—WITNESS WAS OF THE OPINION THAT RAE SULLIVAN WAS NOT GUILTY IN KENDRY STATION CASE.

THE EVIDENCE

Chief John Brown of Sudbury, who came to the Police Investigation in answer to a telegram, gave evidence yesterday afternoon. Chief Brown was formerly a sergeant on the local police force. He gave evidence concerning the Bridgenorth liquor, which Mr. Stewart stated was taken to Chief Thompson's home. He denied that Chief Thompson told Inspector Stewart that the firemen might have stolen it.

"Was any whiskey in the custody of the police court, to your knowledge, put in bags and taken to a deer hunt?" asked Mr. Hall.

"Not to my knowledge," replied Chief Brown.

"Did you at any time see Chief Thompson take liquor or smell liquor?"—"Never."

Mr. O'Connell, speaking of the hunting trip elcited the information that a car called for the Chief one morning and the Chief took with him a suitcase and a sack which had been laying under Detective Newhall's desk.

The Sack.

"Did you have any reason to believe that there was liquor in that sack?" asked Mr. O'Connell.

"Did you hear any noise of bottles in the sack?"

"No."

"Do you remember telling Inspector Stewart's son at Sudbury some time ago that you knew where that liquor went to that the Chief took and in a sack?"

"No, I never did," replied Chief Brown.

"Saw it in a public place when it was under Detective Newhall's desk," asked Mr. Hall.

"I saw it was."

Sergeant Arthur Blade, in a suit of "civies" followed Chief Brown in the box.

"Were you ever in Mr. Stewart's office while he wasn't there?" began Mr. Hall.

"Never. I was only in Mr. Stewart's office once and he was in then."

Wrote to Flavelle.

Sergt. Blade stated that reports came to his ears that Mr. Sewart was circulating statements that he had broken in his office o obtain whiskey. Sergt. Blade said he wrote to Mr. J. D. Flavelle and told him of the facts and asked for an investigation last July 9. His letter to Mr. Flavelle was read in court.

THE LARGEST STILL ON RECORD

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, October 11.—The authorities last evening found the biggest illicit still ever in operation in Canada, and resembling some of the mammoth affairs to be found in the mountains of Kentucky. It was discovered at the home of a barber, Frederick St. John, in the village of Grimsby, in this county, 17 miles west of St. Catharines.

It is believed this is the source of thousands of gallons of illicit whisky which has been coming from the West for some time. The authorities suspected there might have been stills in the mountain ridge leading to Hamilton.

The discovery was made by License-Inspector King, High Constable R. E. Boyle, and local officers.

The boiler in connection with the still was so large and heavy that it took six men to carry it, and there were great pipes running from it to the "worm."

St. John, who is a returned soldier, about 28 years old, was arrested and remanded until to-day, when he will receive a hearing before the Magistrate. Two other men are being looked for, one of whom is a Southerner, and believed to be the builder of the still. He is believed to have got across the line, but the police have been notified in all directions.

STATEMENT BY THE LICENSE BOARD

MR. J. D. FLAVELLE GIVES HIS VERSION OF THE CHARGES MADE BY MR. HARTLEY DEWART—SAYS REPRESENTATIONS WERE MADE TO THE BOARD—MR. FLAVELLE HASTENS TO EXPLAIN.

Kindly publish the following statement in the first issue of your paper in view of the allegations and charges made by Mr. Hartley Dewart, at a meeting at Toronto last evening, regarding the sale of wine to members of the Jewish community for Communion purposes:

I have to say that by the provisions of the Ontario Temperance Act, the Board of License Commissioners, of which I am Chairman, are authorized to appoint such persons as may appear desirable for the purpose of importing into this Province, under the provisions of any Statute of Canada or any Order in Council passed thereunder, wine for use in Divine Service. On the 30th of September, at a regular meeting of the Board, the Chief Rabbi of the Jewish community of Toronto waited upon the Board, and after hearing his application the following resolution was passed:

Copy of resolution passed by the Board of License Commissioners for Ontario on the 30th day of September, 1919:

"Whereas representations have been made the Board of License Commissioners by the Chief Rabbi of the Jewish Religion in Toronto that it is necessary that suitable wine should be provided for the use of members of the Jewish community in Toronto, during the Feast of the Tabernacles for the year 1919, under the direction of the Rabbi of each congregation and an application has been made to the Board for authority to import such wine as may be necessary for that purpose during the said feast; being a religious observance, extending from Tuesday the 7th day of October until noon of Thursday on the 16th day of October, 1919, and it appearing desirable that such application be granted. Therefore: Resolved, that Barnet Stone, residing at 633 Euclid Avenue, in the City of Toronto, be appointed as special vendor under the provisions of Section 8ix A of the the Ontario Temperance Act, for the period aforesaid. It being understood that the said wine shall be obtained through the Government Dispensary at Toronto by the said vendor, who shall distribute the same under the directions of the Rabbi of each congregation as aforesaid."

(Signed) J. D. FLAVELLE, Chairman.

Stone Was Recommended.

It was reported to the Board by the Rabbi that the wine referred to was for use by the Jewish community in religious observances, for the purpose of celebrating the "Feast of the Tabernacles" as requested by the Hebrew Ritual, and that the festival lasts for eight days, commencing on Tuesday, 7th October and ending on Thursday, 16th October. The Rabbi recommended Mr. Stone, who is a member of the Jewish community, for the appointment in question and vouched for his reliability, and thereupon the appointment was made. If any irregularity, such as charged by Mr. Dewart, has taken place, there is nothing to stop whoever is guilty thereof from being dealt with pursuant to the Act; and until some evidence is forthcoming, proving that the Act has been contravened, the Board feels justified in assuming that the authorities of the Jewish Church have acted in perfect good faith. Whatever responsibility attaches to the action of the Board is assumed in full by the Board. Neither the Prime Minister nor any member of the Government or the Legislature have been consulted or as far as the Board is aware had the slightest knowledge of the Rabbi's application, which was dealt with the same as all other matters of business coming before the Board. It will be noticed that the law is applicable to the churches of the Christian community as well as to the Jews and I presume that not even Mr. Dewart would contend that wine for Communion purposes should not be available. All proper precautions have been taken by the Board in connection with this application and if there has been any impropriety or irregularity it will be dealt with according to law, irrespective of who the guilty parties may be.

Board of License Commissioners for Ontario.

Cannot Accept

WILLIAM IVENS DECLINES THE MAYORALTY NOMINATION IN WINNIPEG—SPOKE IN KITCHENER.

KILLED IN RIOTS

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 11.—William Ivens, who was chosen candidate for Mayor at the Labour Convention on Monday evening, refused to accept the nomination.

The information is contained in a telegram received to-day from Mr. Ivens in Sarnia, Ontario.

"Thank you for the vote of confidence," the wire reads. "It was a complete surprise. Cannot possibly accept the nomination."

Because of Ivens' refusal, the nomination of S. J. Farmer, who was second choice at the convention, will be considered at a joint meeting of the Executive Councils of the Dominion Labour Party and ex-Soldiers' and Sailors' Labour Party in the Labour Temple on Monday night.

It was the general opinion in labour circles to-day that Ivens showed good spirit in refusing to be a candidate, and that the rank and file of labour would gather to the support of Farmer in the event of his being chosen.

In reply to the request made by Harry Veitch, of the Dominion Labour Party, to-day, that he take the field for the office of Mayor, Farmer stated that he would leave the matter of his acceptance entirely up to the joint executive meeting on Monday.

Labour men are of the opinion that Farmer will receive a solid Labour vote, and may pull a few outsiders into the ranks of labour. He is a single taxer, and wealthy.

WILL RETURN.

(Special to The Examiner.)

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 11.—Speaking before a crowd of one hundred workers last night Mr. Ivens, of Winnipeg, said among other things: The Bill passed by the Government abolishing the trial by jury was the most damnable travesty upon a British people. At the present time there are things going on at Ottawa which you will hear of in the near future, which will startle the whole country. Ottawa is on my itinerary in Ontario, but I cannot say how I am going to get there. He had received telegrams from the Grand Army in Sarnia expressing regret at the conduct of the citizens toward Mr. Ivens, and inviting him to go back there on 17th October. And he said, "You bet I will accept the invitation."

"THE KISS BURGLAR"

Even in a season notable for its many successes, none surpass the popularity enjoyed by the new musical comedy "The Kiss Burglar", during its long metropolitan run at the Cohan Theatre, New York, which will be seen at the Grand, Tonight. The latest effort of Glen MacDonough and Raymond Hubbell is fast fulfilling the prediction made for it—that it would be as great a success as any musical production made in a decade.

This charming musical entertainment is animated, colorful, teems with real humor and has a score that will take rank with the best music heard in a play of its kind in recent years.

The melodies throughout the fifteen numbers have a captivating lilt that is more than mere catchiness. The characters of the play are above all, human and the story they interpret, one that commands attention with the rise of the curtain and holds it until the finale.

The musical ensembles arranged by John Mitchell provide ample opportunity for an exceptionally agile and attractive chorus to demonstrate their ability in the terpsichorean art.

HOT FIGHT IN RENFREW

(Special to The Examiner.)

PEMBROKE, October 11.—A hot fight is in progress in North Renfrew. Three candidates are in the field. E. A. Dubiop, who represented the Riding during the last session, again carries the Conservative colours. His most dangerous opponent is R. M. Wares, U. F. O. candidate and Prohibitionist. The third contender is Thos. H. Moffatt, Liberal, also a Prohibitionist.

Only a few days ago it was thought that the U. F. O. man would succeed in wresting the constituency from the Government. His representatives were greeted with cheers wherever they went in the outlying districts, but a change has come over the contest.

Farmers who previously supported the Conservatives, but had expressed their intention of backing up the U. F. O. candidate, have gone back to their old love.

In the north end there is a German vote, which both parties are making an effort to secure. It is believed that this will go to Dunlop, and that the Conservatives will again carry the riding.

A DELIBERATE ATTEMPT TO DECEIVE THE VOTERS ON TEMPERANCE ISSUE

HEARST CANDIDATE IN WEST PETERBORO, IN LETTER SENT TO TEMPERANCE WORKERS, TRIES TO DELUDE THEM INTO SUPPORTING GOVERNMENT—HIS COMMUNICATION AN INSULT TO THE PUBLIC INTELLIGENCE.

The newspaper and platform campaign of the Hearst party in West Peterborough, to trick the voters into believing that the Hearst Government is the only Simon pure temperance party—a campaign that is doomed to failure because the people are too intelligent to be deceived by such ridiculous claims—is being extended. The Hearst candidate, Mr. R. J. Soden, has issued a circular letter, copies of which have been sent to many of the electors who are known to be temperance workers. In his communication, probably because he felt that there was not the same chance, of his statements being checked up as if they were made more publicly, Mr. Soden has gone to greater lengths and resorted to more deliberate mis-statments than he has ventured to do on the public platform or his journalistic supporter has dared to do in print. What do the voters of the West Riding think of this scandalous bid for temperance votes—based, as it is, on premises which the Hearst candidate must know are utterly false, and which completely ignore the records of the two parties on the temperance issue.

A DELIBERATE ATTEMPT AT DECEPTION.

Mr. Soden's letter is published to show how far the Hearst candidate is prepared to go in an attempt to win the election. Here it is:

October 9th, 1919.

Dear Sir,

Knowing that you are greatly interested in the passage of and proper enforcement thereafter, of the Ontario Temperance Act, I would like to draw attention to the following facts in connection therewith:

It is, as you know, very essential at this time, on account of the hands into which the leadership of the Liberal Party has fallen, for all Prohibitionists to ensure the return of the Hearst Government if they would obtain the enforcement of the Temperance Act by a Government whose leader is himself heartily in sympathy with and openly advocates Prohibition.

The liquor interests of Ontario are making every effort to defeat the Hearst Government. Money is being poured out like water, and Dewart candidates are being put in the field, and in many instances are cleverly camouflaged as Labour men, farmer candidates, and even as Temperance Liberals.

The public should be warned emphatically against this phase of the situation.

A vote for any Dewart candidate, that is, for any man who accepts Dewart as his leader, is simply a vote against the proper enforcement of the prohibitory Act if it is passed.

The half-hearted or lax enforcement of the Act, if it is carried, as it will be without doubt, would be about the worst thing that could possibly happen the Prohibition cause.

This, I know, will be readily understood by you; and I am satisfied that you will use your best endeavours to see that the Dewart candidates, no matter what their profession on Prohibition may be, are not supported by those who are working for the carrying of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Yours truly,

R. J. SODEN.

Temperance advocates, no matter what their political leanings may be, should turn in disgust from a candidate who endeavours to twist the temperance issue to his own advantage by deliberately making use of statements that he cannot believe himself. Mr. Soden's attempt to show an alliance between the Liberals and the liquor interests is despicable. He knows that in the election of 1914 the Whitney Government was helped back into power by the interests he now charges are assisting Mr. Dewart. He knows that every vote in the control of the liquor interests went to Conservative candidates and helped the defeat of the Liberals, who were standing firm on an abolish-the-bar platform. He knows that when resolutions were introduced into the Legislature by the Liberal Opposition in 1915 curtailing the sale of liquor, the Government, of which Sir William Hearst was a member, voted them down. He knows that when the Premier, overawed by the pressure of public opinion as expressed by a petition signed by seventy-five per cent. of the people of Ontario, finally introduced the Ontario Temperance Act, that the Liberal members of the Legislature were unanimous in their support of the measure. At the same time he knows that many of the Government members opposed the Act tooth and nail in caucus, and only refrained from doing so in the House on the grounds of political expediency.

Mr. Soden cannot be ignorant of the fact that the Liberal candidates throughout Ontario have pronounced themselves firmly and emphatically on the temperance issue. Nor can he deny that in the Government ranks there is no such unanimity. He will have to confess that the majority of the Hearst candidates have made no statement as to their personal position in regard to the Referendum. He will have to go further than that, and admit that some of them have come out openly and stated their opposition to the Ontario Temperance Act. What has Mr. Soden to say of the utterances of Mr. T. H. Lennox, who declares that he is not a Prohibitionist, but is supporting the Referendum on political grounds? And of C. H. Mills, the Hearst nominee in Waterloo, who is for wine and beer licenses, and declares so on every platform. And of G. H. Gooderham, the Hearst candidate in South-West Toronto, where the Ontario Temperance Act has been suspended to permit the Government organiser among the Jews to sell 62 per cent. proof spirits to the Jewish voters under the guise of being necessary for a religious function?

INSULTING THE PUBLIC INTELLIGENCE.

Mr. Soden's letter is an insult to the public intelligence. It is a deliberate libel, not only upon Liberal candidates, but upon the nominees of the farmers and the Labour Party. The innuendo that it is the money of the liquor interests that is putting the candidates of these three factions into the field is one that is unworthy of Mr. Soden, and that will have boomerang tendencies in the campaign. Like the Liberal Party, the United Farmers of Ontario are emphatically and unmistakably for temperance—their position is as firm as that of many of the Government supporters is dubious. If liquor money is being poured out like water, as Mr. Soden claims—and we all admit that the Hearst candidate should, from his knowledge of how it helped to elect the Government in 1914, know something about liquor money—it would seem a certain conclusion that the liquor interests are more hopeful of support from the Lennoxes and Gooderhams and Mills' of the Hearst party than they can possibly be of any assistance whatever from the Liberal Party which has consistently fought against the traffic.

The Prohibitionist vote in West Peterborough has been earned by Mr. Gillespie, and he will receive it too—helped by the deliberate attempt of the Hearst nominee to deceive the electors.

A Marine Disaster

TWO THOUSAND LIVES REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN LOST IN THE WRECK OF AN UNNAMED BRITISH SHIP ON NORWEGIAN COAST.

THE DEATH ROLL

(Canadian Press.)

ARCHANGEL, Oct. 11.— Two thousand lives have been lost in the wreck of an unnamed British ship on the Norwegian coast, according to a wireless despatch received here from Helsingfors.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Neither the Admiralty nor Lloyd's have received any information relative to the wreck of a British ship on the Norwegian coast. At these sources the report is discredited.

If the loss of life in the wreck reported in the Archangel despatch is as large as indicated, the disaster will mark a new record in the annals of the sea. It would seem probable that the ship which was wrecked was a military transport bringing British soldeirs from Archangel, from which port Great Britain has been embarking large numbers of men during the last month.

It is known that troop ships have sailed quite recently from Archangel.

The largest recorded loss of life in a marine disaster occurred when the Titanic was sunk, after colliding with an iceberg south of Newfoundland, on 14th April, 1912, the list of deaths showing 1,503 names.

The Lusitania, sunk by a German submarine on 7th May, 1915, carried with her more than 1,000 of her passengers and crew.

When the Empress of Ireland was sent to the bottom in the Gulf of St. Lawrence on 30th May, 1914 the loss of life was 1,027.

"THE DUMBELLS"

Direct from a run of over five hundred performances in France, forty in Brussels, and a month in London, the famous "Dumbells," composed entirely of Canadian soldiers, will play a limited home-coming tour of the larger cities of Canada. Their debut in this city will be made at the Grand on Friday and Saturday, 24th and 25th October.

"The Dumbells," as they were called in France, need no introduction to the returned soldiers in Canada, as their wonderful success in entertaining the soldiers immediately behind the lines is a matter of military history. This company, composed entirely of soldiers who had done their bit in the front lines, was given much greater latitude than was accorded to the visiting theatrical organisations from England, and many of their performances were staged inside the range of fire from the German guns. They are also the only troupe whose performances were given enirely free to the soldiers. For this Canadian tour they are offering their original overseas revue, "Biff, Bing, Bang!" and in it the soldier boys play everything from chorus girls to prima donnas.

IF those who are willing to assist, either as scrutineers or with their automobiles, will leave word at Mr. Gillespie's Committee Rooms on Hunter Street, west of the Post Office, it will be appreciated. Telephone 1500, or names may be left with C. R. Widdifield. G. N. Gordon, Joseph Wearing or J. E. L. Goodwill.

Under the provisions of the Ontario Housing Act the City Council is desirous of being informed if there are Citizens ready to enter into arrangements to have Dwellings built, under conditions of payment as specified in the said Act.

Houses of moderate cost, say from $2,500.00 to $3,500.00, including Cost of Lot.

Names may be forwarded, by letter, to the City Clerk, giving brief particulars as to locality desired, within the City Limits, and Cost, not to exceed above amounts. Applications to be in by Saturday, 18th inst.

Replies will enable Council to determine as to the advisability of taking up the proposition.

GEORGE H. DUNCAN, Mayor.

KILLED SON-IN-LAW.

WOMAN WHO USED AXE AND PITCHFORK WAS ACQUITTED.

(Canadian Press.)

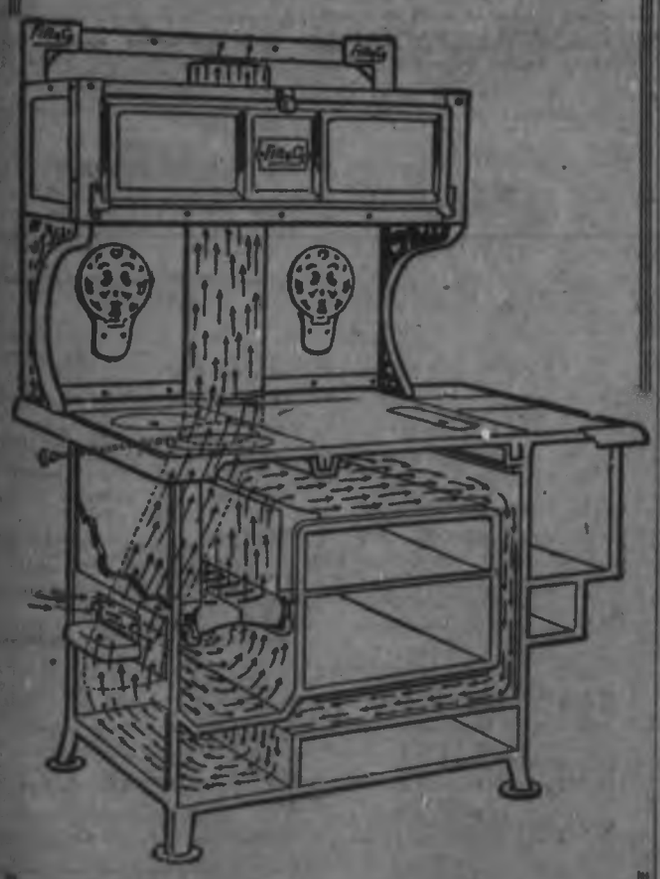
EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Takema Nyphink, charged with the murder of her son-in-law, George Bodarenko, was acquitted yesterday.

The killing followed a family row, in which the deceased used a pitchfork and an axe in an attack upon the accused and her usband. The woman secured the axe in a scuffle, and is alleged to have struck down her son-in-law.

The jury was out half an hour, and brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Dance frocks are very full.

Economize In Fuel



THE FiReCo., RANGE

In the FiReCo Range the fire travel is LONGER than in any other range. The longer the flue, the less heat escapes up the chimney. The flues in the range being exceedingly large lessens the friction in the fire travel, and therefore assists the chimney in doing its work. The exceptionally large flue above the oven forms a SECOND COMBUSTION CHAMBER, and materially increases the efficiency of the fuel.

The burning of escaping gases in the second combustion chamber is a real source of ECONOMY, and at the same time enables one to use soft coal as a kitchen fuel. In this Range the BLACK SMOKE IS CONSUMED into ashes, and therefore not deposited as unburned carbon or soot, which clogs the flues and prevents the use of soft coal as a fuel in the ordinary kitchen range. Any variety of SOFT COAL is an IDEAL FUEL in the FiReCo Range.

The Dominion Government Test, made on 25th November, 1918, PROVES THIS ABSOLUTELY.

Saves Fuel

The FiReCo Range has been built and designed for the particular purpose of saving fuel. Thousands of people using this Range now tell us that ONE BUCKET of coal in a FiReCo Range or Heater will do your Cooking, Baking, or Heating more satisfactorily than TWO BUCKETS in any other Range or Heater.

SCHOOLS, TEACHERS, PUPILS, FOUR SCORE YEARS AGO

A CONTRAST WITH TO-DAY IN HOUSING, METHOD AND ROUTINE—PUNISHMENT A FACTOR OF SCHOOL LIFE.

By Frank H. Dobbin, Peterborough.

The proposition now presented by the Board of Education that a very considerable sum of money, running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, should be expended in providing additional accomodation for pupils in other than what is stated to be the present crowded quarters, and for additional attendance as well, brings the thought that something might be related of the history of our local schools and how in the past housing was provided for the increase of juvenile population. As the town grew children foregathered and demands had to be met. Just as now the call comes for additional room. Though we have this to remember: that the character and class of the school suggested to be now provided is vastly different and in effect very much more costly.

If the educational factory is to turn out a superior brand of product, then the tools and facilities must be provided else the product will suffer. It is clear to thinking and observing men that what has held Canada together, amidst all the war and after-war turmoil that is throttling the world is the fact that the average of education and its influence on the individual is higher in Canada, per capita, than in almost any other country in the world. What is termed free, democratic education for the masses and not the highly specialized teachings that ignore the common man and the needs of his children.

The end of the first seven years of settlement showed that the population of the town site had increased and that those locating had brought with them numbers of children. For the first twenty years such schools as were provided were rather in the way of private effort. One was established at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, upstairs, in a building long since demolished. There was one on Charlotte street, on the ground now partially occupied by the dwellings at the corner of Rubidge and Charlotte streets. There for many years Mrs. Flavelle conducted a private school and was partially successful and was in after years gratefully remembered by those who attended.

Dr. S. P. Ford, of Norwood, an old Peterboro boy, and who has completed the fifty-fourth year of practice being quite the dean of the profession in this district, gave some interesting reminiscences of the schools of the early days. Dr. Ford served as medical officer in the closing years of the American War of the Rebellion, and afterwards took up practice in the eastern part of the county, and at Norwood. He has personal recollection of the matters of which he writes and contributes the following, the approximate dates being in the later thirties and on through the forties of the last century:

"One, Chesman Mowe, kept a private school in the later thirties, in a small house near to what is now the entrance to the Little Lake Cemetery, south as far as the Locks, and when the promoters of the cemetery project sought consent from the Assembly of Upper Canada to buy the property set up a strong opposition. The result of the controversy was that the house not only ousted the brothers, but made a gift in fee simple of the lands to the cemetery company."

Continuing Dr. Ford writes: "Walter Sheridan, afterwards County Clerk and Treasurer, taught in a small school in what was known as the Scotch Village (afterwards Ashburnham). The building was of logs, squared and comfortable, and was pulled down when the new brick school was erected.

"On the west side of Aylmer street, between Charlotte and King streets, in a clapboard building, high up on cedar posts, a Mr. Weatherhead, a one-armed man, taught school for several year, in the early forties. Among his pupils were late J. J. Lundy, William and Peter Hamilton, James Stenson and his sister, Joseph Cobb, the Henthorn boys, the Eastlands, the Spencellys, John Ford, William Ford, the Hartleys and our active and venerable friend Richard Winch, William and James English, and many others, now gone to rest, but who were prominent men in the town in years, no so remote.

"Mrs. Colwell, widow of Captain Colwell, taught a private school for girls in the house afterwards occupied by W. S. Conger, on London street. (The site of this house is now covered by the St. Vincent's Orphanage). Mrs. Cobb, mother of late Jos. Cobb, taught a girls' school, in a little building on the south corner of London and Aylmer streets. Thos. Whitfield, a Cavan man, came in and started up a school in an old building which stood near the spot now occupied by the armories, on Murray street.

On the west side of Aylmer street, between Simcoe and Hunter streets, a Mr. Ware had a school. This building stood just about opposite to old Black Horse Inn, that venerable building adjoining the Creamery. There were constant fights between the boys of this school and of the Weatherhead school. One day the Ware boys caught the Weatherhead boys in swimming at the old swimmin' hole, near Pat Hammon's distillery (the stone building now used by Fitzgerald's fuel business). The hour was that of high noon. The Ware boys swiped the clothes of the swimmers, carried them away and deposited them at the corner of George and Brock streets, and it was late in the afternoon before a good Samaritan hunted up and returned the stolen clothes.

The old school on the north side of Brock street, between George and Water streets, afterwards used as a paint shop, had something of an educational history. Here taught first, Rev. Andrew Smith, father of late Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisons. Also Thomas Robinson, (and uncle of T. W. Robinson), was teacher for several years. Many of the former citizens of Peterboro gained each his education in this building. It has lately been pulled down and taken away."

In 1844 came into force the first Common School Act, for the Province of Upper Canada, and was applied in the Colbourne District in 1845. The Act gave the municipality of North Monaghan certain powers, and as well placed certain functions in the hands of the County Council, and application was made to the Assembly of Upper Canada for a grant of lots on which to build schools within the town plot as surveyed. Elias Burnham was the first school inspector, and his report at the end of the year gives a graphic description of the paucity of accommodation and limited facilities for teaching. He concludes his remarks with the statement that "in no instance in my recollection, with one or two exceptions, have I seen the English grammar in use; very seldom geography and no history, except in an occasional reading book. The Bible I found in general use."

Largely as a private enterprise a building was erected for use as a school on the ground afterwards covered by the play shed at the new Central School, Murray street. Built of hewn logs and comfortable, for many years it was the representative school of the district. In it the higher as well as the rudimentary branches of education were taught. It was conducted by Rev. S. Armour, the first Episcopal clergyman in Peterboro. Afterwards it became the Grammar School of the district, and a sum of public money was donated for its support. Rev. R. J. C. Taylor, afterwards taught in this school, and was familiarly and affectionately known as Parson Taylor.

At the time mentioned the governing bodies of the schools were disassociated, being the Grammar School Trustee Board and the Peterboro Common School Board. At the beginning of 1852 these were united in the Grammar and the Union School Board, and the men in office set about improving the facilities and accomodation. The British Methodist Society had some time before built at the corner of Hunter and Sheridan streets, a rather important church in its dimensions and accommodation. Used for some time as a place of worship and meeting, but the denomination seemed not to attract to its fold a large number and eventually the building was purchased by the school board and fitted for purposes. Being a timber frame structure, it could be readily altered. An additional floor was built in the auditorium, which with the basement gave three floors and fair room for the attendance. The upper floor was devoted to the higher flights of the Grammar School. The two lower floors to the Common School pupils. There are many men, living to-day, who gained such education as they acquired within the shelter of this old building.

It is within the recollection of many that the principals of this school, in is best days, were John and Thomas Gordon, two brothers. The first had charge of the Grammar School and the other the Common School. Both were excellent teachers and systematized the rules of studies and classes and brought order into what had been a rather desultory routine. If the names of the class books could be consulted it would be seen that Sheriff Hall, E. H. D. Hall and his brother Frank Hall, the Boswell boys, the Edwards boys and many others were educated in this old building. From its roll of scholars came many of the professional and business men of the town and who were prominent in its affairs. The writer of this article also passes under the roof within its hallowed walls.

Early in 1857 the inevitable had come about. Too many pupils for the space at disposal. Besides one or two fires that started in the building from stove and other flues made people fearful of the next one that might take place. Agitation began for the betterment of the schools. Public dinners in each ward, and ultimately it was decided to build a new school, known as the Central School, (the most easterly of the two buildings now on the site on Murray street). It was at first proposed to place the school at the corner of Water and Murray streets, opposite St. Paul's church but wiser council prevailed and the park was saved from the intrusion. The building was opened in 1860, being, as was admitted, the very finest school in the whole Midland District, and a source of pride and satisfaction to the town.

To provide the money two town lots were sold, realizing about $800. The Clergy Reserve money appropriated to the town for 1856, nearly $5,000, was used and a credit opened in the old Commercial Bank for the necessary balance. The entire cost of the building fitted and furnished, amounted to $16,253. Take the dimensions, accomodation and durability and compared with the room and proposed expenditure on the new school in the South-West Ward and we can see how far along the road of progress we are galloping.

A curious feature of the financing for this building was that, while debentures were issued, no provision was made for a sinking fund, and as the debentures fell due new ones were issued to replace. The debt was not lessened, indeed when a round up was called for it was found that not only had none of the original debentures been cancelled, but that it required $9,842 to satisfy the original issue of $8,400. Finally

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

SATURDAY, OCT. 11TH, 1919.

THE MAIN POINT.

No voter should lose sight of the all-important fact that a "Yes" vote on the first question of the Referendum means a vote for the wide-open bar and shop just as they were prior to 1916 and that if the majority of the voters answer "Yes" to the first question, the other three questions on the Referendum ballot will not be considered at all.

THE SAME OLD TUNE.

The Hearst journalistic gramaphone in West Peterboro continues to grind out the same old tune of ——— for the Government, as the only hope of cause of temperance. Daily the record is put on the machine and it is played so often that the "Review" sometimes forgets that the record is a double-sided one and that not long ago the reverse side was played, just as cheerfully and just as persistently. When the Liberal party appealed to the people of Ontario on a straight temperance issue the Government organ on Hunter Street used every effort that editorial experience could devise to defeat the abolish-the-bar policy. It did not succeed on that occasion, however, in its attempt to beat the temperance candidate, Mr. Gillespie, and it will not succeed now, even if its articles are dryer—this goes both ways—than they were in 1914. The voters are not likely to forget that the "Review", which now daily tries to picture the Hearst Government as the only friend of temperance, only five years ago lined up with the liquor interests and did its best to defeat a temperance candidate.

THE MAN FOR WEST PETERBORO.

Mr. Gillespie has no need to make any declaration to the people of Peterboro. Everybody knows that he has, through all his life, been opposed to the liquor traffic, and no one in the business has ever profited by the acts, or by the indecision of the present member. More than that, Mr. Gillespie has shown that he possesses the stamina to stand by what he considers the will of those who elected him.

The day is past in which the member of the Legislature Assembly who recognizes his responsibility to his electors will stultify himself and become a mere machine. The time has passed into history and will, it is hoped, no more return, when intelligent citizens elected their member with a view only to the "Yea" or "Nay" which he might record under the direction of an authority. The need of the hour is brain, and the man worth sending to either Provincial or Federal Houses are such as have some convictions of their own and who do not hesitate to state them.

Mr. Gillespie is such a man, and no one would hesitate to say that Peterborough has had any reason but to feel proud of its representation in Queen's Park during the past five years.

The compliments of the "Review" with regard to the honesty and good intentions of Mr. Gillespie are appreciated as far as they go, but Shakespere spoke somewhere about "damning a man with faint praise." The people of Peterboro need not be told of the business ability of the present member, nor, need they be informed of his enterprise in extending again and again the business over which he presides in this city.

While attending to his own business and giving adequate attention to the affairs of his constituency, he has made time for sympathetic and generous support of every patriotic and moral issue which have been upon the hearts of his electors.

Many Conservatives voted for Mr. Gillespie in 1914 and many will do so again. Peterboro is well satisfied with its representative and on October 20th he will certainly be returned to continue his splendid work.

HERE IS THE RECORD.

The history of the Liberal battle with the liquor traffic from 1912 onward shows how consistent has been the stand of the Liberal party in favor of advanced temperance legislation. Here it is:

1912 — The Liberals introduced "Abolish the Bar policy into the legislature. Government rejected it.

1914—The Liberals re-introduced "Abolish the Bar. Government rejected it.

1914—Liberals fought general election on "Abolish the Bar" issue. Government opposed it.

1915—Liberals re-introduced "Abolish the Bar" policy. Hearst Government rejected it.

1916—Government and Opposition united to unanimously put Prohibition into effect.

1919—Liberal political convention affirms its attitude in favor of progressive temperance legislation to the fullest exten of the Provincial jurisdiction.

1919—Mr. Hartley Dewart, Liberal leader, dictates that if the Liberal party is returned to power the open bar will never come back.

This is the party record upon which Mr. G. A. Gillespie confidently applies for the support of the electors in the present campaign. His own record on the temperance issue has been equally as consistent and creditable. Prohibitionists will make no mistake in voting for Mr. Gillespie. He is as sound on temperance as he is on every other issue, and he is a member of the party which has for years fought the combined efforts of the Government and the liquor traffic.

THE REFERENDUM.

In spite of all that has been published or said in explanation of the Referendum ballot, there is among people an unfortunate misunderstanding in regard to the taking of the vote. An East Riding voter who called upon The Examiner yesterday said that in his neighborhood a large number of people believed that their ballots would be spoiled if they did not show either four crosses under "Yes" or four crosses under "No." They have failed to understand that they can vote "Yes" or "No" in each question just as they please, largely because the Referendum committee prints a ballot showing four crosses in the "No" column and the Citizen's Liberty League, a similar ballot with the crosses all in the "Yes" column.

The facts to remember in this connection are first that every voter must give an answer to all four questions for any ballot in order to be counted and not thrown out as spoiled must have a cross in either the "Yes" or "No" column, opposite each of the four questions.

A voter may answer "Yes" to one and "No" to the other three, or "Yes" to the first, "No" to the second, "Yes" to the third and "No" to he fourth, or may make any other combination without spoiling the ballot, only provided that his ballot shows four crosses, one opposite each question, no matter in which column.

The prohibition party may urge that the ballot be marked in a certain way, as shown in its advertising literature, or the anti-prohibitionists may urge that the ballot be marked in another way, the first being all "No" and the second all "Yes."

The voter, however, IS ENTITLED TO MARK THE REFERENDUM BALLOT JUST AS HE PLEASES, and can rest secure that his vote will be among those counted so long as he does not miss placing a cross opposite any of the questions.

Just what the effect of his marking of the four crosses will be and how far they will represent his wishes with regard to the handling of the liquor traffic is a matter that each voter will have to figure out for himself.

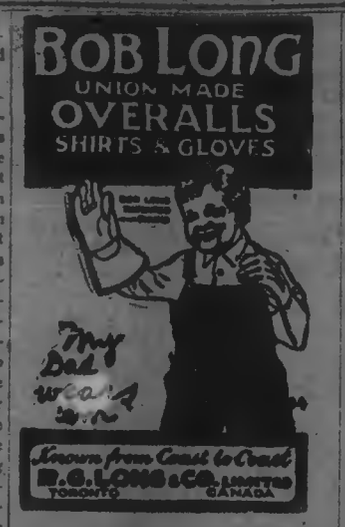
But in order to have any effect at all he must place four crosses on the ballot.

EXPENSIVE CAMPAIGN LITERATURE.

The Post is in receipt of a publication from the Ontario Government entitled "The Province of Ontario in the War," which is nothing more or less than campaign literature distributed at the public expense. It is a publication of 125 pages and printed on most expensive book paper. The work is by J. Castill Hopkins and from a typographical standpoint it is a splendid sample of work.

The Toronto Saturday Night is another publication which has received a copy and it characterizes it as a panagyric of achievements of the Hearst Government during the past four years and is embellished with handsome portraits of Sir William and the members of his Cabinet. It is true that a non-partisan color is given to the publication by the inclusion of a portrait of William Proudfoot, K.C., eidevant leader of an imaginary Opposition; but Mr. Proudfoot is the only private member who is so honored. If it were merely the purpose of the book to give honor where honor is due, we should have thought that a picture of all the members of the Legislature during the war period would have been included. Mr. Proudfoot is rather useless as camouflage, since he is no longer leader of the Liberal party, and rumor has it will run an Independent supporter of Sir William Hearst.

Issued three weeks before an appeal to the people, the conclusion is inescapable that the book was intended as campaign literature, for which the general public foots the bill. That the bill will be large is unquestionable, because an expert estimate of the cost shows that they could not be mechanically produced under any circumstances, at less than $250 per thousand. Even if only a thousand of them are sent to each constituency in the Province of Ontario, the sum would run into $25,000 or $30,000; but one thousand per constituency is possibly a very limited estimate of the number being distributed at the present time to assist in keeping he Hearst Government in power. Everybody is talking of economy as the only salvation of this country, but it seems difficult to induce our public men to practice it, especially when handling the people's money.—Lindsay Post.



EDITORIAL NOTES.

A Gillespie vote is a vote for progress—vote for the man who has ably represented you for the past five years.

Mr. Soden's attempt to contort the temperance issue to his own advantage should lose him hundreds of temperance votes.

The Liberal and U.F.O. candidates are clean cut in their declarations on the temperance question. But what about the great mass of the Hearst candidates?

The chief evidence that is brought forward to show that the Hearst Government is the temperance party is that the Premier says he is going to vote "No" four times. How will the rest of the Cabinet vote?

What has Mr. Tooms, the candidate of the Independent Labour party to say if the insinuation in Mr. Soden's letter to temperance workers that he and his fellow nominee of the Labour party are placed in the field by the liquor interest?

LOWER PRICES FOR CLOTHING IF BETTER SUPPLY OF WOOL

Col. Price put it right up to the Dominion Government at the sitting of the Board of Commerce this morning that the cost of clothing would come down if the State were to get the manufacturer of cloths in Canada a sufficient supply of wool.

Donald McKinnon, of the Simpson Company, suggested that the manufacturer would be able to produce cheaper if he made fewer patterns, but pointed out that the Canadian mills were in such an independent position to-day that they could pick and choose what they wanted to manufacture. The garment assemblers were somewhat in the same position, because they could not get the cloth as readily, and the retailer,-not having the quantity coming along normally, naturally marked up the price. He ventured the suggestion that the cure-all was "more production."

WINDS.

Some winds, like robins, nest in trees,
And some, like meadow larks, in grasses;
While others cling to flowers, like bees.
The gales that sweep the salt morasses,
Like petrels, brood on stormy seas;
And eagle-winds, as wild as these,
Their eyries make on beetling masses
Of crag in rugged mountain passes.
But wiser is the nestling breeze—
The laughing, elfin breeze, that furls
Its fragrant wings among your curls!
—Arthur Guiterman in Harper's Monthly.

More and better shaves

Did you ever see a barber start to shave a customer without stropping his razor first? Never! Isn't this fact significant?

Stropping, you see, is needed to reform the saw-like edge that results from shaving; to keep the blade free from rust; and to give you for each morning's shave a keen-edged blade. The self-stropping feature of the AutoStrop Razor preserves the keen edge that makes shaving comfort possible.

Stropping—shaving—cleaning are all done without removing the blade from the razor.

Everywhere—razor, strop and 12 blades, complete, in an attractive case, $5.00.

"SHE withstood everything in the field and above all was, and still is, the last and only car to survive until the cessation of hostilities"—Extract from letter received by Ford Motor Company from a British Soldier, in Africa.

Over shell-torn roads, through water soaked fields, second only to the tanks in its power to climb debris and crater holes, the Ford car made a world famous record in the fighting area of the great war. In press despatches, in field reports, in letters, in rhyme and song the praises of the Ford were sounded.

In France	-	700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Italy	-	850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Egypt	-	996 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Mesopotamia		999 cars out of 1,000 were Fords

The Ford power plant that established this world-wide record in every theatre of the war remains the same. It will be in the Ford you buy.

NEIL'S AUNT BECOMES INQUSITIVE

CHAPTER LXXXIX

I could see that Neil was terribly put out, although he made no reply when Frederick said he 'would have to count him out.' I also noticed that Mrs. Carter had heard the remark, and had glanced sharply at Neil as if to probe the meaning of what she did not understand.

I tried to talk naturally, and Frederick immediately followed my lead. Then Neil pulled himself together, and the remainder of the luncheon passed off pleasantly. Aunt and I left as soon as we finished, leaving the two men smoking. I had proposed going so that they might talk business if they wished. I wanted Frederick to believe in Neil, I couldn't help but wish he would go in with Neil on some of his deals. I was sure it would be a help to my husband in every way if only he could be associated with a man so bluntly honorable in every way as was Kendall Frederick.

"What did Mr. Frederick mean when he said that he wouldn't go in with those men Neil mentioned? What kind of men are they?"

"I do not know them, aunt, I never have met either one of them." I was glad to be able to say so honestly.

But surely Neil talks of his affairs to you. You must know if his associates are all right."

"No— Neil talks very little of his business affairs at home. He says the office is the place for business, not the home."

"In a sense he is right, yet often a woman's intuition is a help to a man. I rather liked that Mr. Frederick, what do you know of him?"

"Oh, we have known him a long time! he is always just as you saw him to-day. A plain blunt man, but straightforward and honest. He is very wealthy, and I can't help wishing he would become interested with Neil,—He is older and would be a good influence," I added, knowing aunt would wonder why I was so anxious.

"But— you speak Bab as if Neil needed some good influence. You aren't worried over anything in connection with him are you?"

"No aunt—that is not particularly. Yet he is in such big things for a man as young as he is. You must know that by what he has accomplished since we have been married. I don't believe there's another man his age in all New York who has made his money, not inherited it, that has done as well. You see if one inherits money they always have capital, but Neil had nothing, just a few hundred dollars he had saved."

"Yes, he has done wonders. But he was always very bright. His mother was a very clever woman. He inherits many of her traits," pride of family in her voice.

I tried to change the subject by talking of the different places of interest we passed, but something seemed to have aroused aunt's suspicion that everything was not quite all right for she returned again to the subject of Neil's business, and asked me many questions, some of which I could not answer, others which I did not care to.

"Have you visited Neil's new office? He was telling me he had lately taken a more commodious one?" she questioned.

"Yes, I have been there once. I do not go often, there is no reason why I should," I replied, blushing to think of what had occurred because of my visit.

"I should like to stop and see it, if you have time."

"Certainly. We can stop off then walk up the Avenue to the theatre. We shall have plenty of time." We were going to a matinee.

When we reached the office the blonde stenographer was so frankly surprised to see us that she amused me immensely. I told her she could go right on with her work, that we had no wish to interrupt her, and that we would look around by ourselves. She had risen as if to accompany us when I said to aunt that we would go into Neil's private office. Fortunately he had not locked the door when he left.

"This is sumptuous!" Aunt exclaimed seating herself in one of the large leather chairs, while I took the swivel one at the desk. I had caught a glimpse of an envelope addressed in bold but fashionable chirography. Perhaps I might happen on to something I wanted to know.

"Yes, Neil has very good taste," I replied quietly drawing the envelope toward me as I spoke of the fine view from the windows.

To-morrow—Bab Appropriates a letter she sees upon Neil's Office Desk.

Sensational Discovery of Misleading Tactics by Referendum Committee

House-to-House Canvass, Distorting the Issue, Confusing and Misleading the Women Voters

EVIDENCE is accumulating of a widespread campaign of distortion and confusion by the Referendum Committee in an effort to stampede and dragoon the women voters to vote according to the wishes of the Referendum Committee.

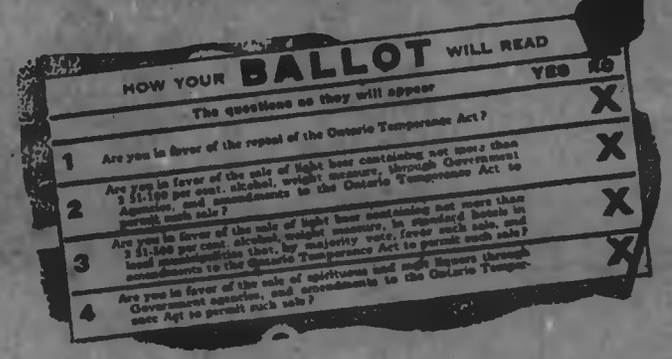
Canvassers have been going from door to door all over the Province spreading two absolute untruths—confusing and misleading the innocent—utterly nullifying the effort of the Government to obtain an honest, straightforward, well-advised vote of the people. Independently-minded women who disagreed with them were subjected to tirades of abuse.

It is one of the greatest scandals in the political history of Ontario—a sensational development in the campaign—a grave reflection on, and indictment of, the honesty of purpose of the entire Referendum Committee.

FIRST.—Flamingly colored and sensational circulars have been sent broadcast over the Province in which it is claimed that—in the words of the advertising as shown in the copy reproduced to the right—"To vote 'Yes' in one column and 'No' in the others makes your ballot worthless." Further, self-constituted advisors to the electorate have gone from house to house solemnly making the same declaration—that if you vote "Yes" in one column and "No" in the others, your ballot will be spoiled. That statement by the Referendum Committee is an absolute untruth, and has been publicly branded as such in the columns of the "Mail and Empire," October 4th, by Sir William Hearst, the Premier of the Province. The Premier's statement is reproduced to the right.

SECOND.—These demagogues and representatives of the Referendum Committee have distributed wholesale a distorted ballot in which it is claimed the man or woman who votes "Yes" to Questions 2 and 3 votes for intoxicating beer. That is an absolute untruth. The beer for which you will vote on October 20th, the Beer of the Ballot, is not intoxicating, has been proven non-intoxicating by scientific experiments and thorough research by a board of fourteen qualified experts.

To vote "Yes" in one column and "No" in the others makes your ballot worthless



HOW YOUR BALLOT WILL READ
The questions as they will appear
YES NO
1 Are you in favor of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act? X
2 Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51-100 per cent. alcohol, weight measure, through Government Agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? X
3 Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2 51-100 per cent. alcohol, weight measure, in standard hotels in local municipalities that, by majority vote, favor such sale, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? X
4 Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? X

The Citizens' Liberty League hereby calls upon the Referendum Committee to make a public explanation, retraction and apology that will set the people right—or stand condemned of trickery unworthy of public men and women.

Vote "Yes" to all four questions and support the broad-minded men and women of the Citizens' Liberty League in their efforts to obtain sane, moderate temperance legislation.

Vote "YES" to All Four Questions

Mark your ballot with an X. Any other marking will spoil it. Remember also—every voter must vote on every question or his ballot will be spoiled.

SCHOOLS, TEACHERS, PUPILS, FOUR SCORE YEARS AGO

the amount was consolidated with some other obligations and eventually paid. It was the irregularity in the financing of this municipal enterprise that brought about the institution of what was known as the Peterboro Town Trust, continued to this day, and whereby the obligations incurred are financed and dealt with entirely outside functions of the Council. In the breadth of the Dominion only the other city has a similar arrangement.

The transition from the old and shabby church-school was hailed with delight and satisfaction by both teachers and pupils. "Goin' to school" became a pleasure instead of a drudge. Corporal punishment had been a rule, it was now modified and used as a deterrant instead of a punishment. But more of this further on. And as we are considering the school buildings alone, reference need not be made to the several stans that taught from time to time. In 1856 the number of pupils attending the Common School is given as 498. By 1864, (three years after the opening of the enlarged school) the number had grown to 1038, and was taken advantage of. The course of study was simple though varied considering that the school life of the pupil did not carry on but for a very few years. In 1868 a further advance was made and the building was heated by steam.

Within the last month or two certain persons have written to the press stating the horror with which they viewed the whipping of small onenders, by or in the hands of the police—indeed a reluctant police. And as a contrast to the ideas of such benign persons a fact or two may be stated as to the method of maintaining discipline in the local schools fifty years ago. Not that pupils were fractious, but that it was the rule to punish for neglect of preparation of lessons and for poorly prepared tasks. Also for any infringements of duty and procedure.

Up to the year 1869 we had a succession of schoolmasters who came, saw and conquered. Two of these were vigorous exponents of the doctrine of flagellation, and practiced what they preached. A Mr. J. C. Patterson came to tool the fourth and third books. The position and place in study of any pupil was defined by stating the book from which he studied. The classes running from the First Book, or Primer to the Fourth Book. There were side studies in geography, grammar, arithmetic and a sprinkling of history. That is in the Common School branches. Other and higher flights were inculcated up-stairs.

In the matetr of flogging and punishment Mr. Patterson was an artist. The boy who offended was whaled with elegance and precision. None of your rough-and-scramble affairs, but punishment administered neatly and ever thoroughly. He understood, so it seemed, the anatomy of the human body and picked his spots that the work was effective. Boys were thrashed for what they did and oftener for what they didn't. Either offence, it seemed, deserved adequate punishment. He was an ardent politician of the time and surroundings, an admirer of Hon. George Brown, and once indeed, he carried his predilictions into practice. (Mr. Brown came to run in the Riding of Peterboro, and while the campaign was on certain local wags made an effigy of the famous politician and hung it by the neck to a tree on St. John's Church grounds, the tree overhanging the street. Morning after, assembling for school the boys found the effigy and stoned it to heart's content, literally knocking the stuffing out of it. Thirty of the most reckless were late for school and paid the penalty by a thrashing of phenomenal severity. This teacher, in after years, was known as Hon. J. C. Patterson, for some time Lieut. Governor of the Province of Manitoba. Reproached by one of his pupils for his early severity he replied that he was sure that where he whipped there must have been deserving circumstances to warrant it.

If Mr. Patterson ware an artist, his successor, Robert Fairbairn was a genius. As a connoisseur he left Mr. Patterson laps behind. His was the motto of the Irish hedge schoolmaster, who said that if the mind wouldn't mark, faith, he'd soon mark the back. A Scotchman, red headed, impulsive and erratic ,it seemed that he often flailed first and then enquired into the facts afterwards. He brought with him and introduced a taws, a modification of the Russian knout, wooden handle and seven or eight strips of leather hanging from the handle. His favorite method of punishment was to call the offender to the platform, and while towering over the small figure, hold it by the collag of the coat and search with the taws up and down for the soft spots. The writhing victim yelling the meanwhile. One infraction of class rules always brought severe whipping. An ink bottle with the contents frozen would be placed on the stove, the cork not being removed. Presently the cork popped and the inky contents flew to th eceiling and about the room. Ceiling over the stove was perfectly black with seasons of explosions. On one occasion Mr. Fairbairn whipped the entire class of 23 boys because no one boy would tell who had placed the bottle on the stove. He was familiarly referred to as "Scotch Bob."

It will be plain that such methods made for an absence of harmony between teacher and pupil. Indeed was bred strong resentment. On occasion the class rose in rebellion, and slates and books were hurled at the teacher, and a general ruction ensued that was only quelled by bringing up the reserves in the persons of teachers from the upper rooms. The rising was so complete as a sweeping that there were too many to whip as a reprisal. This incident recalls the names of some of those concerned, the chief of the Soviet being Fred Winch, Jim Borrowman, Charley Niblock, Jessee Chapman, Jim Carruthers, Knuttety Hodgins, Fred Hall and a sparkling of lesser lights. It was gay while it lasted and its memories hallowed the old school room for many a day.

Flailings were accepted, as a matter of course, just as we now accept the demand for a new $250,000 school as a coming tribulation that might as well be suffered along with other high costs of living. But in many ways mentioned, if a boy did not get at least three threshings in two days he felt neglected and if a week passed without a whaling he was being treated with indifference. And that positively could not be

Once, after a particular series of severe whippings, four irate fathers came to the school, called the teacher outside and gave him his choice of abating these punishments to some reasonable extent or taking a cold bath in the river.

On opening the new school rules were made and adhered to that punishment would only be administered by the principal, the statement of teacher and pupil being first heard. Whippings at once fell off over seven to one. Under and amidst brighter and more wholesome surroundings the school began to make a record, and what had been a dread for many became a pleasure.

We learn by contrast and we gain by experience. Any one who will take the trouble to delve into the successive reports made as to our schools and consider the gradual progress will appreciate. The expansion of the common school curriculum, if the expression may be used, the piling on of studies, the taxing of the pupil with "Home Work," the endeavor to inculcate a little of everything and not so much as would be substantial of study to be used in what the prayer book terms: "that station of life which it has pleased God to call us" but hesitates to affirm that we are going on, carrying on in the very best. The ethics of the profession of teaching have to be maintained. The traditions of the educational vocation must be respected, for only a people or cult that respects its traditions may make progress. For here is a field of thought, abundant with the common man that the common man's child—of which there are many and ever will be—needs the grounding in elements of every-day education that will make the citizen, appreciative of his place in the scheme of life and capable of tackling his daily duties, first and always. The backbone of this country is the common people. And the common people need first of all a Common School and Technical Educatio. Fof the larger flights can wait.

British Columbia Woman Speaks Plainly.

Her Message is to Everyone.

Those who have found relief are the people who want all sufferers to know what they gained from their experience.

Mrs. B. Walters, of Savona, B.C., writes, praising Gin Pills for the immediate relief given by these splendid Pills. Mrs. Walters says:—

"I advise people who have not used Gin Pills to try them. I have been troubled for years with weak kidneys, and one box of Gin Pills cured me. I recommend them as an absolute and reliable cure."

Derangement of kidneys or bladder is so very serious that at the first sign of pain in side or back, treatment with Gin Pills should begin. The duty of the kidneys is to cleanse the blood. If weak or inactive, uric acid and other poisons and waste are carried to the joints and muscles, causing inflammation, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, constant headaches, dizziness, floating specks before the eyes, gravel or stone in the bladder, general debility and lassitude. If you have any of these symptoms, get Gin Pills at once. Free sample on request. At druggists or dealers, 50c a box. Money refunded if not relieved.

More Farms - Good Times

How it Affects You

Among our returned soldiers there are thousands of practical farmers. Still other thousands are studying farming under Canada's supervision, by hiring out to farmers, and by taking courses in agricultural colleges. These men want to "go on the land," but they have no capital. So, through the medium of the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, Canada says to them "If you are fully qualified to farm, I will lend you money to purchase land, stock and implements. You may pay it back within a stated time, and for the loan of it, I will charge you only a moderate rate of interest."

Canada makes this offer, not only because men who have fought deserve well of their country, but because it is of prime importance that more land should be cultivated.

The love of outdoor life and the resourcefulness of our soldier citizens are just the qualities to make them successful farmers, and upholders of the best Canadian tradition.

As evidence of the value of the Land Settlement Act, the following figures were available on August 15:--

Number of applications from soldiers	29,495
Number of applications investigated and approved (not all placed)	22,281
Number of soldiers actually farming this year	9,043
Average amount of loan to each soldier	$2,960
Total amount of loans	$26,767,304
Average size of farm	160 acres
Total amount of homestead lands—that is, virgin soil placed under cultivation	1,000,000 acres

This million acres was divided among 3,768 soldiers, 160 acres each being the original allotment; but 2,512 soldiers availed themselves of the privilege open to all soldier-homesteaders to obtain an additional 160 acres, making their allotment 320 acres each.

In addition to a million acres of virgin soil already placed under cultivation, more than 6,000 other farms are now being worked, many of which would have been less productive if returned soldiers had not taken them over.

It is just as true to-day as it was before the war that big crops favorably marketed mean general prosperity for Canada.

The more wheat and farm products Canada grows and sells, the more money will be spread through all classes of the community. Not only the farmer, but the merchant, the manufacturer, the industrial wage earner and the professional man will benefit.

Here is where YOU come in.

$24,000,000 of the forthcoming Victory Loan will be used to make loans to soldier farmers.

By purchasing Victory Bonds you will help the soldier who is starting life anew on the farm as well as sharing in this national investment in farm development. You will not only get good interest on your money with the best security, but you will participate in the increased general prosperity which greater farm production brings.

Get ready to join in the promotion of greater national prosperity, therefore, by subscribing to the

Why a Heintzman & Co. Piano?

The compelling force in buying a piano bearing the name of "Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Linfited," is its tone.

Other reasons, of course.

All through the sixty-five years that this piano has been built the skill of the most capable craftsmen and the wisdom of the most musicianly artists have contributed to keep it to the front rank.

For long years it has been the standard in piano building. But above all else that gives it a distinctive place is its Tone. And when Tone is wanting nothing else counts.

MR. G. A GILLESPIE AT YOUNG'S POINT

ADDRESSES DELIVERED ON PUBLIC ISSUES OF THE DAY—A GOOD MEETING.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie held a well attended meeting considering the unfavourable weather at Young's Point last evening. Mr. Charlton occupied the chair. Addresses were delivered by Capt. C. R. Widdifield and Mr. R. R. Hall. Mr. G. A. Gillespie in the course of his remarks stated that one of the great problems that was confronting the people of Canada to-day is: What can be done to reduce the high cost of living.

Mr. Gillespie said that when he was elected to the Legislature one of the first steps he took was to have measures bring about increased production but the Minister of Agriculture and the Hearst Government gave it the cold shoulder and did nothing and allowed nothing to be done.

Mr. Duff at that time was Minister of Agriculture and since his death there has been no improvement or real effective steps made to increase food production. The Government had been from time to time criticized by even their own friends.

Even Sir Joseph Flavelle leading Conservative as he is, in the Province said in the public press addressed to The Minister of Agriculture.

"You have permitted, you are now permitting, thousands of young Ontario farmers, the cream of our Agricultural people, to leave their own Province for the West, while, by your inertia, you show you are not cognizant of the advantages of continued residence in this Province if full advantage is taken of the opportunities which open in response to intelligent effort."

Mr. Gillespie also referred to his own temperance record. In 1914 he ran his election on the problem of abolish the bar and the electors approved of his course. Since that time the bar has been abolished and will not be restored by any liberal administration.

Sir William Hearst says that if the majority of people vote against the Ontario Temperance Act he will restore the open bar. Mr. R. J. Soden says he is a supporter of Sir William Hearst. It is therefore very plainly to be seen that Mr. Soden has somewhere hidden in his platform a plank that re-established the open bar, not withstanding his wild protests that he is the simon pure advocate of total prohibition.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds — one day is warm, the next is wet and cold and unless the mother is on her guard the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mothers best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose will prevent colds or if it does come on suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will quickly relieve it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CANDIDATE IN EAST OTTAWA

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.— A new Independent Conservative candidate in East Ottawa for the Ontario Legislature has appeared. He is Mr. Derocher, formerly Mayor of Ottawa. Mr. Derocher was waited upon by a large delegation of French Canadians yesterday and asked to accept the candidature. He requested 24 hours to consider and his decision will be announced shortly.

Mr. J. Marchand also stated his intention last night to run as the Hearst canidate in East Ottawa and is the first candidate mentioned since Controller Champagne announced his withdrawal.

Mr. Marchand is an well known Ottawa citizen and a keen Hearst supporter and looks for the aid of his people in the new riding.

GERMANY'S NEW WAR

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Confirmation of the newspaper report that German forces have captured Riga is being awaited here, but if disparity of the rival forces is as great as reported in some despatches, the success of the attack on the city would not be surprising. "Germany's new war" is featured in this morning's newspapers, but reorts printed here add nothing of importance to despatches received by the Canadian press. There whereabouts of General Von Der Goltz continues to be subject of contradictory rumors and estimates of size of the army commanded by Colonel Avaloff-Bermondt also show wide divergence.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY AT THE S. A. TEMPLE

The little old woman who lived in a shoe and had fourteen children and didn't know what to do, will be seen in real life at the Salvation Army Temple rally on Sunday afternoon. A large shoe to accommodate the old woman and her children has been built on the platform and an interesting time is anticipated. No admission. Everybody welcome.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Can Only Find Relief by Enriching the Blood.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather of autumn may start the tortures of rheumatism but is not the cause. The cause is in the blood and the blood only. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which may shortly leave the victim painracked and helpless.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism, and that is through the blood. Liniments, hot applications, and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by the rich, red blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. This new blood drives out the poisonous acids had impurities, and the rheumatism disappears If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin curing yourself today by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away, leaving behind new energy and new health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LINDSAY MAN GAVE HIS BLOOD TO SAVE LIFE OF BROTHER

MR. JOSEPH LONERGAN, OF PETERBORO, MEETS MISFORTUNE ON THE EVE OF HIS WEDDING

In a last effort to save the life of his brother Joseph, who was lying seriously ill at St. Joseph's Hospital at Peterboro, Mr. J. Lonergan of the Hotel Benson, Lindsay, journeyed to Peterboro Wednesday night and bravely submitted to transfusion of blood from his own body to that of his brother, before one of his legs was amputated by his physicians.

Mr. Joseph Lonergan contracted rheumatism in one of his knees some years ago, and although troubled at times with rheumatic pains, the ailment did not assume a serious phase until this summer. Motor traffic through the country, it is believed, aggravated the trouble and a few weeks ago—practically on the eve of his wedding—Mr. Lonergan, was obliged to enter St. Joseph's Hospital. An abscess of some form, it is understood had developed in the knee, and his condition continued to grow worse, baffling the skill of the attending physicians. Hope for his recovery had amost been abandoned, when, as a last rasort, it was decided to amputate the affected limb. The patient was in a very weakened condition and a transfusin of blood was absolutely, necessary to increase his vitality if the operation was to be successful. Mr. John Lonergan volunteered and on Wednesday after the transfusion had taken place, the limb was amputated by Drs. Moir and Gallivan.

Yesterday morning a 'phone message from Peterboro conveyed the gratifying information that the patient's condition was quite satisfactory, and hopes are held out for his recovery.

Mr. J. Lonergan, of the Hotel Benson, is feeling no ill effects after the transfusion, and is, of course, delighted over the success of the operation.

SPECIAL SERVICES AL THE TEMPLE

It is expected Sunday will be a banner day so far as the S.A. Temple Sunday School is concerned inasmuch as it is the Young People's Rally Day. Staff Capt. Cornish of Toronto will be in charge.

In the afternoon service which commences at 2.15 sharp there will be erected a huge shoe in which "Mrs. Foote' 'and her fourteen children reside. This will illustrate by means of a song service the importance of the Sabbath school for every child.

Songster Leader Ford is going to provide sacred music by his orchestra and altogether the S.S. officers are expecting a splendid time.

If you are interested in children came along and you will be interested and inspired and there will be something in keeping with the Sabbath to interest old and young. Come and bring someone else..

Lots of men remain bachelors simply because they can afford to.

A childless marriage is not a bowling success in one sense of the term.

CHARGES MADE BY MR. DEWART

Mr. H. H. Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., at his nomination meeting in Templar's Hall, Queen Street West, Wednesday.

Under the guise of the necessity for utilizing "vishnick" in the observance of the Kiddush in Jewish homes, the Liberal Leader declared, Mr. Ben Stone, Chief Conservative organizer among the Jews, had been given authority to import liquor by the thousands of bottles, and Mr. Dewart said he was prepared to prove that the Government vendor was not particular whether it was this special "vishnick" which was supplied, or another brand of liquor.

Issue Orders by Hundred.

Mr. Dewart read Section 6A of the statute under which he said authority had been taken for the Government action. "Under the force of this regulation," he said, "there has been authority given to the chief Conservative organizer amongst the Jews in Southwest Toronto for the purpose of appointing him a special vendor to import liquor by the thousands of bottles from the city of Montreal into Toronto. Under the authority of that regulation Mr. Ben Stone, who is, jointly with the Chief Rabbi and Police Magistrate Cohen of this city, the chief Conservative representative of the Jewish people, appeared, according to the announcement in the synagogue, in the Zion Institute, Beverly Street, Sunday afternoon and issued orders by the hundred to those who appeared."

"Just upon the eve of an election this authority is given, authority to obtain strong liquor in the city of Toronto under the guise of religious privileges ,and authority to purchase this liquor from the 7th to the 15th of this month. You will see this Government is perfectly willing to sacrifice its record for temperance and everything else if by some such method as this it can save itself from the defeat which it sees impending in Southwest Toronto.

Claims it is Cherry Brandy.

The Liberal Leader went on to explain that "vishnick" is really cherry brandy, and later on in his argument he produced a signed statement by Thomas Hayes & Son, analysts, to the effect that it was equal to proof spirits 62.84 per cent. He read from the Jewish Encyclopaedia to show that it was absolutely unnecessary in observance of the Kiddush, and in fact there was a special recommendation in the Jewish faith against utilizing "beer or brandy."

Took Precautionary Measures.

Mr. Dewart demanded: "Does this License Department understand what it is doing? Apparently it did because precautionary measures were taken. The liquor was imported from Montreal and on Monday morning, when the store opened, there were many there and Stone had to go down, and explain that the liquor had not arrived. Tuesday morning there was a still larger crowd, because documents had been issued by the hundreds and have already been issued by the thousands. On Monday morning, before 10 o'clock, Chief Rabbi Jacobs, accompanied by Stone, appeared at the door, doubtless because of the alarm created by the Globe article, and soon Commissioner Flavelle was on the spot, doubtless to see that Southwest Toronto got what his friend, George Gooderham, desired it should get."

Supply Was Exhausted.

Speaking of Monday morning, he continued: "One thousand bottles had been served, because I took precautionary measure of having men there to see what was taking place. That went on all day Monday until the supply was exhausted. It went on again to-day until notice was put up, whether because of lack of supply or because they saw my photographers there watching the movements, that no further liquor would be served. All this means that this Government is so desperately averse to defeat that it is even willing to take this miserable practice to save itself, so far as the Jewish people in Southwest Toronto are concerned. I want to tell Sir William Hearst that he cannot buy the Jews of Toronto with a bottle of brandy. We have the evidence of what took place. We know the sales were made, and we have details of men getting one, two, four and even six bottles of liquor."

Says It Is Bribery.

Mr. Dewart—Well nine is the highest on record. I know there were others, and evidence will be forthcoming later to show that the vendors were not too particular as to what they gave, and did not always stick to vishnick, as prescribed under "Doctor" Stone's order. Realize what this means, that a Government upon the eve of an election, within ten days of the time that it is going to its execution, ten days in which to save its precious neck, by that cheap practise attempts to bribe one of the most respectable peoples in the city of Toronto and in the Province of Ontario.

Not Prescriptions.

"They were not prescriptions which were issued. I have in my hands one of the documents which had been given at a meeting which George Gooderam attended this week, issued after he had spoken at that meeting. I will not say at the same time, but during the same evening. Those who were there were instructed as to where they could get this liquor. And I am also informed that the signature of the supposed rabbi on this order I have is not that of a rabbi at all ,but of the caretaker of the Zionist building. We have evidence to show that 400 orders were issued by this caretaker as a rabbi and honored by the Government vendors.

"Then we go a little bit farther. Do you tell me that this wine is for sacramental purposes?"

From the audience—No, booze.

Produces Bottle.

"I have got a bottle of it here" (and amid applause Mr. Dewart pulled a bottle out of his grip). "I will take the chance of any policeman arresting me on a charge of illegally having liquor in my possession, but what about the poor returned man who is caught with an ounce in his possession and pays $200? We know that between three to five thousand bottles of liquor have been issued from this new vendor's store in two days and, carried through the streets of Toronto, while other respectable men are arrested and fined. I know, because I sent a man to test them, and they gave this liquor also to a very respectable looking Christian, who could not by any chance be taken for a Jew. That is how the temperance law is administered by your prohibition Premier."

SAYS ITALIAN IS A GOOD SOLDIER

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 11.—Before the Canadian Club, Brig.-Gen. C. H. Mitchell gave some new information with reference to Italy's part in the war. He said it was not generally known that the Italians effectually stopped the Germans and Austrians and held them for three weeks until the British and French divisions could get there. In his opinion there was not a better soldier than the Italian in the war and the only trouble was after they had defeated the invaders they were inclined to ease up a bit because the fight was won and they didn't see the necessity for exerting themselves. Mitchell said the Fiume affair was like Dr. Jameson's raid in the Transvaal, and that Fiume and Poland will be the centres of trouble for the League of Nations for years.

TAGGERS OUT IN FULL FORCE

There seems to be every prospect of success for the Children's Aid Society's Tag Day. The taggers this morning reported that the tags were selling very well and the crowds on the street bore out this statement for people without tags were few and far between. Nevertheless there were a few who came down town by way of the less travelled streets and who, whenever a tagger hove in sight, immediately discovered the fact that they had a pressing engagement on the opposite side of the street.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Toronto, Ont.

Recommends Internal Bathing for Piles and Constipation.

If people who suffer from constipation, piles and the many ills resulting from accumulated waste in the intestines would realize what the J.B.L. Cascade is doing for thousands of people who are being daily restored to perfect health by its use, there would be a J.B.L. Cascade in every Canadian home.

Mr. E. Nighswander, of Green River, Ont., writes: "I purchased a J.B.L. Cascade from you about ten months ago and consider it the best money I ever invested. For years I have been troubled with constipation, ulcers in the bowels and piles, which all the money I spent on medicines and doctors only relieved temporarily. My J.B.L. Cascade has completely cured these troubles, and I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow-men to endorse the Cascade in the very highest terms. No amount of money could estimate the value it has been to me. No home should be without one.

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfected invention for internal bathing. Keeps the system sweet and clean, cures constipation, headaches, rheumatism, and keeps you fit at all times. It is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co.

Phone or ask them for free booklet all about it—or write Tyrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College St., Toronto.

TEACHERS DISCUSS SCHOOL PROBLEM

The teachers of the city and county institutes, who are holding their annual conventions in the city met in a joint session in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute, Friday morning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. R. F. Downey, President of the city association, occupied the chair.

The programme which was to have occupied the day was completed at noon owing to the absence of Dr. Dandeno, the Education Department's representative, who was to have spoken both morning and afternoon.

The opening paper on the programme was an address from the President, who took for his subject "Waste in Education". Of the many factors which are responsible for such a condition the speaker dealt with a few of the most potent:

1. The course of study as hitherto outlined.

2. The need of consolidated schools in rural districts with their larger grounds better equipment libraries, assembly halls, etc.

3. The multiplicity of authority in rural sections—or the constant changing of trustees many of whom have litle interest in educational affairs beyond the securing of a teacher who must be obtained at the lowest possible salary.

4. Poor attendance is a constant worry to both teacher and pupil.

5. Lack of permanence in the teaching profession. Numbers of teachers are leaving the profession for more remunerative employment.

6. Poor organization.—Many of our best educators advocate a public school course that may end when a child is of the age of twelve.

An instrumental duet was given by Misses Morrow and Caldwell. Miss Shearer gave a pleasing vocal solo.

"Social Unrest and The School", was the subject on which Mr. H. R. H. Kenner was asked to speak. Of so able and comprehensive a nature was this address that a motion was passed to the effect that it be published in the city press and it is the hope of the Institute that Mr. Kenner may be prevailed upon to accede to their wishes. The problems touched upon were such as should be of keen interest to the public at large and to all bodies having to do with educational affairs.

Many Problems

Some thoughts brought out were that the storms and trials of the war years, the relaxation brought about by peace, the general tendency to laxity in the home, the social life in which the immature are allowed to mingle without requisite supervision are problems confronting the parent, the teachers of secondary schools and of even the higher forms of our public schools. The teachers find themselves struggling with difficulties connected with ordinary living. Feeling the responsibility of their work they hesitate to use the means employed by other bodies of workers to assert their just rights, and the public are slow to recognize their responsibilities in the matter.

Capt. J. E. R. Munroe, dealt with the "Labour Problem, Past and Present". Trade unions of modern times are certainly responsible for the elimination of the unfortunate conditions under which life was made miserable for the working classes. The time must come when false power will be swept away, when all might not be rich but none be poor.

A trio rendered by Misses Armstrong, Fusee and McKay was much enjoyed. Miss Caldwell was the accompanist for all the musical numbers.

The closing paper of the convention was one on "Composition" by Mr. Gould of King Ed. School. This subject has shown great improvement in the last generation due to the fact that children read a great deal more than heretofore. Public and School Libraries are the crying need of the day and children should be encouraged to read a great deal under proper supervision.

A New Blood-Food Has Been Discovered That Works Wonders

SAID TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PEOPLE THAT ARE RUN-DOWN.

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into thin blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and flesh-building the treatment is.

Just think of it—Ferrozone uplifts the entire nervous system, removes the blood, makes it rich and red—gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and languor.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferrozone;—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Ferrozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Ferrozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferrozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferrozone build you up, let it win you back to robust health—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers. 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferrozone.

EGGS TOOK A SUDDEN DROP

BLACKBOARDS WERE POSTED UP IN THE TORONTO MARKET WITH GOOD RESULTS.

TORONTO, October 11. — Eggs took a sudden drop at the St. Lawrence market this morning when Property Commissioner Chisholm set the fair price standard at 65-68c. The price being asked at the time was about 75c.

The commissioner, following last week's conferences with Major Duncan, has had eight blackboards set up at the market and next week he will post on these the fair prices for most commodities on sale there. Today he made a beginning with eggs only and a ten cent drop followed his posting up of the 65-68c figures.

Another form of produce to take a downward dive was potatoes.

These, though not posted on the blackboards were reduced in price 5 to 10c a basket as a result of possible visits to the sellers made by Supt. Harkins of the market.

BIG STRIKE TIES UP NEW YORK HARBOR

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. — Extension to the coastwise traffic at every Atlantic port of the longshoremen's strike, which has completely paralyzed New York harbour, appeared inevitable to-day. John F. Riley, the chairman of the committee directing the strike, announced that orders for such an extension had been issued following the action here yesterday of the National Adjustment Commission of the United States Shipping Board, which refused to grant an increase in the coastwise longshoremen's scale from 65c to $1 an hour.

Activities in the New York harbor this morning were virtually at a standstill. In addition to stoppage of steamer sailings resulting from the longshoremen's strike, the employees of all the Hudson River ferry lines and all the railway companies' tug lines (with the exception of the Lackawana) struck suddenly last night, tieing up the tugs and all ferry boats.

THE YOUNG MEN OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

OFFICERS ELECTED—BI-MONTHLY MEETINGS WILL BE HELD.

A number of the young men of St. Andrew's Church met on Thursday evening, when it was decided to resuscitate the St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild. Mr. W. S. Campbell, who has been instrumental in getting the young men together, occupied the chair. There is an enthusiastic number of young men in St. Andrew's who are bound to make the Guild a success.

Bi-monthly meetings will be held.

The election of president, secretary, and treasurer took place on Thursday evening, and resulted as follows:

President, Mr. Charlie Thornton.
Secretary, Mr. Norman Lang.
Treasurer, Mr. Allen MacNabb.

At next meeting, which will take place in two weeks' time, an executive of five members will be elected.

NO ORCHESTRA PRACTICE

There will be no orchestra practice at the Conservatory this evening.

THE SAN CARLO GRAND OPERA COMPANY COMING

GAVE UP DATE IN LONDON TO ACCOMMODATE THE PRINCE OF WALES.

Representatives of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company, the greatest of all touring organizations, numbering one hundred people, and including a large and brilliant chorus, superb symphony orchestra, and some twenty of the foremost opera stars of the present day, is coming to Peterboro for one performance on Wednesday evening, Oct 22, directly following its engagement in Ottawa. The San Carlo forces are now appearing in His Majesty's, at Montreal, for two weeks, and drawing capacity audiences.

Peterboro gets this big event — without question the most extraordinary affair in local amusement history, because the San Carlo Co. generously gave up its engagement in London on date in question. So Wales could hold his public reception at the Grand Opera House in that on the date in question. So that what is London's loss, artistically speaking, is Peterboro's gain.

Further particulars will be given out early next week by Manager Dahn of the Grand. Two rows of seats will have to be removed from the lower floor of the theatre to accommodate the San Carlo orchestra.

MUSICAL TREAT OF THE SEASON

FAMOUS PEACOCK ALLEY CHORUS COMING HERE.

Which will prove the season's most interesting musical event, will be realized when Coutts and Tennis, scenic spectacle "The Kiss Burglar" announced for production at the Grand Saturday, matinee and evening.

The gorgeous costumes are fashion plates of the latest design, several of which were purchased at the Appraisers Stores at the New York Customs House, and they represent the latest models that were being smuggled into this country, fresh from the dressmakers shop in Paris. The new and novel dances of which there are seventeen were staged and produced by Julian Mitchell who is considered one of America's best dancing masters. The special musical numbers and song hits from the pen of Raymond Hubbell, of which twelve promise to become an international rage. An enormous company including the famous Peacock Alley chorus who know how to sing and dance make the audience wonder if the producers have cornered all the pretty girls as well as talented in America. The action of the play offers an interesting story of America and Europe with book and lyrics by Glen MacDonough who already has a long list of successes to his credit While the last word in scenery is spoken, which is scenery—not on the canvas of commerce—but on silk, and is the original Cohan Theatre production. Seats on sale now Prices $1.50, $1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c., evening Matinee, $1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c.

"OH, BOY!"

A newly married couple, a midnight supper and a dashing and captivating actress, Jackie Sampson, accidentally meeting Jim Marin in an apartment where she takes refuge in fleeing from an officer of the law after a mix-up in a gay restaurant is the story of "Oh, Boy," the delightfully pretty New York Princess Theatre musical comedy success which F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott will send here. At the Grand Thursday evening.

The story of "Oh, Boy" revolves around one George Budd, a young bachelor who secretly marries Lou Ellen Carter without taking her parents into his confidence.

Jim Marvin, a friend of Budd's, gathers about him a number of gay friends at Budd's apartments in order to celebrate a polo victory. A telegram arrives from his quaker aunt who is his guardian and opposed to his marrying. The bride decides it best to spend the night at her home. She and George leave the apartment, and then Jackie Sampson, an actress who plays "Modesty" in "Experience," dashes in the open window to escape a constable. She meets Jim Marvin and tells him she was with a party in the restaurant and during a mix-up she hit an officer in the eye. Jim Marvin proves a true friend and introduces her to the constable as the real Mrs. Budd. The arrival of the bride's father and mother, and Budd's quaker aunt, result in some amusing situations, but as George is a resourceful young man he manages to straighten out the mix-up and the story ends with happiness for all.

Eighteen musical numbers grace the score of "Oh, Boy" of the whistley kind. Some of the most popular are: "An Old Fashioned Wife," "Till The Clouds Roll By," "Rolled Into One," "The Frist Day of May," "Roola-loo" and "Nesting Time in Flatbush."

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

When the musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," comes to the Grand on Saturday, 18th October, matinee and evening, theatregoers will be treated to gorgeous costumes, elaborate stage settings, novelties that are new and effective, and an excellent cast supported by a bewitching beauty chorus who present the many stage pictures that make a show a success. One of the many novel features in the tuneful musical play is a gorgeous stage setting which presents a brilliant Follies production on the roof of a New York theatre, with a grand illumination of the city in the distance. In rapid succession follows "Flirtation Walk," an illuminated runboard extending out over the heads of the audience, on which the clever dances are introduced by bewitching beauties. A lawn fete at Colonel Stone's home, Miami, Fla., with banks of flowers and lights. Novel drills and dance ensembles. The famous "pony" ballet from the roof of a New York theatre, and a brilliant musical spectacle in all its merry-making. There are fully some twenty musical numbers, including "My Soldier Girl," "Just For You," "Wrap Me in a Bundle of Love," "That Dixie Wedding Tune," and "Won't You Be My Beau," are among the real favourites.

"THE SILVER KING" THRILLING PLAY NOW IN PICTURES

Wm. Faversham, Celebrated Actor, Appears in the Stellar Role at the Allen Next Monday.

After holding the stage in England and this country for more than thirty years, "The Silver King," the famous melodrama of English life, written by Henry Arthur Jones and Henry Herman has been pictured with William Faversham in the stellar role, and this great Paramount-Artcraft special picture will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

WILLIAM FAVERSHAM in "The Silver King."
Paramount-Artcraft Special

"The Silver King" deals with the adventures of Wilfred Deaver, an English country squire, who is ruined by a supposed friend in revenge for country and he amasses a fortune in cutting him out in the affection of a beautiful girl whom Denver marries. Years later, Ware induces Denver to bet all he owned upon a Derby race, the result being that he is impoverished. When Denver hears Ware gloating over the success of his scheme, he goes to the latter's house at night with intention to kill him, but Ware instead is slain by the leader of a band of robbers.

Denver is suspected of the crime, but he evades arrest by fleeing to this a Western mining camp. His wife and friends, as well as the police, believe him to be killed in a railway accident and when he appears in England under an assumed name, exciting events ensue. Denver's innocence of murder is established and he is reunited with his family.

Mr. Faversham is supported by Barbara Castleton, who plays opposite him, Warburton Gamble, John Sunderland and other well known players.

"THE UNPARDONABLE SIN"

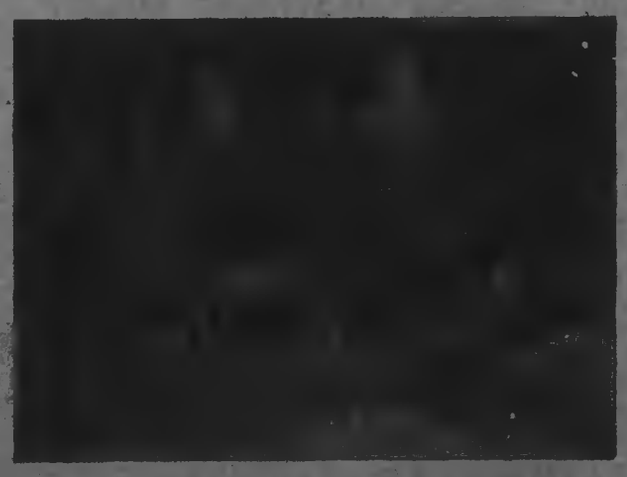
BIG ATTRACTION AT THE ALLEN THEATRE, COMMENCING NEXT WEDNESDAY.

Much has been written about the cost of big photo-play productions—and because not a little of it has been pure "press agentry," it is, perhaps, no longer the best of form to attempt to guage the merit of a photoplay production by the amount of money which was expended in making it.

The production is in ten reels, and this alone means a lot of money. Cutting into the exchequer of Harry Garson, the producer, to a greater extent, however, were the salaries of such people as Marshall Neilan, Blanche Sweet, Wallace Beery and others whose services were enlisted in the screening of the story. Miss Sweet, the star, was secured for the production only after extra inducements had been offered her to forsake the comparatively quiet life, away from moving picture people, which she had been leading after having established herself as an International screen favorite.

Much of the comedy in "The Unpardonable Sin," is provided by two able little screen stars, who will be particularly welcomed everywhere by members of the Boy Scouts of America. One of the youngsters plays the part of a member of the Belgium organization of the Boy Scouts and the other announces to his chance acquaintance that he is an American Boy Scout. The two youngsters match their wits against those of adults in the cause of Humanity, and get results, which, in most cases, are as amusing as they are gratifying.

"The Unpardonable Sin" will be the attraction at the Allen Theatre, beginning next Wednesday, and performances will be given twice nightly, beginning at 6.15 and 9.00.



ALICE JOYCE IN STRONGEST ROLE "THE THIRD DEGREE" IS VEHICLE

Alice Joyce, Vitagraph star of rare charm and accomplishments owes her present eminence to ambition and hard work, which quickly brought ample reward for her natural endowments for the screen. She had only a limited experience in amateur theatricals when she came to New York from Virginia, and while casting about for an opening into a job as a telephone [illegible] apartment [illegible] her a small part in a railway story and her future was assured.

Miss Joyce pictured beautifully and showed true dramatic talent in her first picture, registering ever more effectively with each succeeding release.

Her early successes include "The Girl of the Music Hall," "School for Scandal," "The Face of the Madonna," "The New Minister" and "A Celebrated Case."

Miss Joyce rose to her present eminence in the silent drama with Vitagraph, which she joined May 15, 1916.

Rare Charm and Beauty.

Possessed of rare beauty and personal charm and with marked emotional talent, Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, selected her to play the part of Mary Turner, the most wonderful shop girl in the world, in "Within the Law," and her characterization was declared by critics to be an even more finished piece of emotional acting than that of her predecessors on the speaking stage, including such famous stars as Jane Cowl, Emily Stevens and Margaret Illington.

Her reputation firmly established, Miss Joyce was given leading roles in many of Vitagraph's greatest successes.

This Her Strongest Role.

She is seen in one of her strongest and most appealing roles as Annie Sands in "The Third Degree, a splendid picturization of Charles Klein's famous stage success, which will be seen in the Empire theatre on Oct. 13, 14 and 15. The story is a powerful expose of the vicious so-called "third degree" system used by police to extort confessions from prisoners with no regard to their palpable guilt or innocence.

Tom Terriss directed the picture, and in the supporting cast are Gladden James, Anders Randolf, Miss Hedda Hopper, Herbert Evans, George Backus, J. T. Wade, L. Rogers Lytton and Edward McGuire.

If the victims remain single there is no objection to love at first sight. Some men use all the material they have on hand in making fools of themselves.

BELLEVILLE WINS THE O. B. A. A. TITLE

Belleville won the Ontario baseball championship yesterday by defeating the International Harvester Company's team of Hamilton by 6 runs to 0. As the G.T.R. had won the previous game by 5 to 2 they annexed the honours in two straight games. Glover was in great form. The Belleville pitcher in the semi-final and final games has allowed only 6 runs in five games and only a couple of them were earned. He has won twenty-two games out of twenty-three starts.

GOOD TIMES AHEAD.

There are good times ahead for music teachers. Every teacher should make plans for a large increase in work this autumn. The war has tremendously increased the public estimation of music. It is recognized in every walk of life as something serious and worth while, and this general attitude is sure to have its reflex in the making of music students. This is no time to be pessimistic on business conditions in this country. We are one of the greatest credited nations in the world, and with a devastated and decimated Europe to rebuild, there cannot help but be occupation, at good wages, for all, with no victory loans to bare the bottoms of pocket books. The teacher who realizes these conditions and prepares this fall to make the most of them, will enjoy unprecedented prosperity.

A Diagram Picture — Note the Pointed Corn

Why Corns Hurt

Note this diagram picture of a corn. Note its conical shape. The cause of the corn is pressure. And pressure makes it hurt. The point of the corn is pushed into the nerves. Applying a Blue-jay plaster instantly removes the pressure. Note the felt ring (A) in the picture below. The ring gives barefoot comfort in the tightest shoe.

But that is temporary. One should not continue a ring. The corn should be quickly ended.

The bit of B&B wax in the center of the ring does that (marked B in illustration below). In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. It stops the pain, then ends the corn. And it wraps the corn so the action is undisturbed.

Then the action of the B&B wax is centered on the corn. Held there by the rubber coated adhesive tape (C) which wraps comfortably around the toe. Healthy tissue is not affected.

These are the reasons why millions of people have adopted the Blue-jay method. Keeping corns is folly when this easy way can end them. Treating them in cruder ways is inexcusable.

For your own sake, convince yourself by applying Blue-jay to one corn.

The Premier Explains The Referendum Ballot

"IF QUESTION ONE IS CARRIED IN THE AFFIRMATIVE THAT ENDS THE OTHER QUESTIONS, BECAUSE IF NUMBER ONE IS CARRIED THE O.T.A. IS REPEALED, AND QUESTIONS TWO, THREE AND FOUR REFER TO AMENDMENTS TO THE O.T.A., AND YOU CAN'T AMEND AN ACT THAT HAS BEEN REPEALED, DECLARES SIR WILLIAM.

In discussing the referendum at Monday night's meeting Sir William Hearst said:

"This is not a plebiscite. It is a vote on a law that is now on the statute books, and it will go into force in the way the questions are answered. There is no room for juggling on the part of the Government, because we have written on the statute books just what will follow your vote.

"Question One, 'Are you in favour of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act?' was put on, and in addition the other questions, were put on, because any answer to the one question would not have given the people the chance to register their opinion in the ballot box, as I had promised would be done. Every man and woman surely has a clear opinion upon the first question.

The State Is Plain.

"If you want the O.T.A. repealed vote yes; if you want it sustained vote no. If the majority vote in the affirmative the act says what will be done. It says that the O.T.A. will stand repealed from a date to be proclaimed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and the Ontario Liquor License Act will be revived. So that the conditions would be brought back similar to what they were prior to September 16, 1916. It is written as plain as we can write it on the statute books.

Effect of "Yes" to Question One.

"If Question One is carried in the affirmative that ends the other questions, because if Number One is carried the O.T.A. is repealed, and Questions Two, Three and Four refer to amendments to the O.T.A., and you can't amend an act that has been repealed. But if Number One is answered in the negative, then Questions Two, Three and Four become important, because they refer to amendments that can be made.

Beer of Ballot Twice as Strong.

"Question two asks: 'Are you in favour of the sale of light beer through Government agencies, and amendments to the O. T. A. to permit of the same?' The beer of the ballot is 2.51 per cent. alcohol by weight, or 5.46 per cent. proof spirits, a little over twice the strength of the beer it is lawful to-day to sell. That was put in that way, because it was what the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada asked for. They were a representative body, and they asked in their resolution that beer of that strength might be sold, and so they have a right to appeal to the people of the Province on that question. If the majority of the people say that they are in favour of Question Two, then beer is going to be sold in Government agencies.

Want Questions Settled Once for All.

"Question Three asks if you are in favor of the sale of light beer in standard hotels, and amendments to the O. T. A. to permit of the sale. That question was asked for this reason: While some people wanted only light beer sold for consumption in private dwellings, others said: 'We want the liberty to get a glass of the light beer. And we want public opinion tested upon every question upon which there is any volume of public opinion, for we want these questions settled once and for all.

"Question Four asks: 'Are you in favor of the sale of all kinds of liquor through Government agencies, and amendments to the O. T. A. to permit of the same?' If you think it is a good thing in this Province to have liquor of all kinds sold through Government agencies for consumption in private dwellings under such regulations as the Board of License Commissioners may make with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, then you will vote 'Yes' to Question 4.

To Keep O. T. A. Vote Four 'No's.'

"If you will take each of these questions as a separate proposition you will have no difficulty in understanding what each question means," declared Sir William. "Each question is a definite proposition. If you want the O.T.A. as it is today, then you will vote four 'No's.' and it will stay just as it is. You will still be able to get liquor on a doctor's prescription or for sacramental or other purposes as prescribed intact."

"By paying a doctor $2 for getting a prescription and twenty-five cents' worth of liquor," shouted someone in the back of the hall amid laughter.

"Whatever is legitimate to pay the doctor you will have to pay," answered the Premier.

"There is another thing. You have to vote four times, but not necessarily four 'No's' or four 'Yeses.' Wherever you vote 'Yes' it will be counted among the 'Yeses,' and wherever you vote 'No' it will be counted among the 'No's'."

Get Soiled First

EVERYONE knows that the cuffs are the most exposed portions of the shirt. They get soiled first.

If you turn the cuffs you can wear the shirt a day or two longer before sending it to the laundry.

But if you turn an ordinary cuff it bulges and looks unsightly. You wouldn't be seen with it.

The new "Double Wear Cuff" is different. It folds just as neat and flat when turned in as when turned out. Your friends cannot tell which side is turned out.

One trip to the laundry is harder on a shirt than two days' wear. Every time you turn your cuffs you save laundry money and get more wear out of the shirt. Get the habit —turn your cuffs—it pays.

Prisoner in Cornwall Jail Tries to Hang Himself.

CORNWALL, Oct. 9. — A young man named James E. Rolland, of Iroquois, who was arrested at Springfield, Mass., last week and brought back to Cornwall by Special Agent Tisdale, of the G. T. R., Montreal, after escaping from a county constable, who effected his arrest on a charge of writing threatening letters to officials of the Grand Trunk Railway, appeared before Judge O'Reilly on Saturday last, and elected to be tried by a jury at the General Sessions, which will be held here in December.

After spending a few days in confinement, he appears to have changed his mind about waiting until December, for when the turnkey went into the jail, he found Rolland hanging by the neck to the bars of his cell door. He had improvised a rope out of the cotton sheet of his bed, and had all but succeeded in ending his life.

Rolland remained in an unconscious condition nearly all morning. He had written a note on the leaf of a memorandum book in an evidently steady hand, before e made the attempt to end his life. The note was in lead pencil, and was as follows:

"My life has been a failure: so I have decided to settle it all. Goodbye. J. E. Rolland."

A few more minutes would have ended Rolland's career. He has been placed under a special guard.

YOUNG MOTHER ARRESTED.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 9.—At Kalador Inspector Ruston of the Children's Aid Society arrested Grace Wood, aged twenty-one years, charged with abandoning her child at Bonar Law Station on the C.P.R. a few days ago. She was brought to Madoc and given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Casement last night, and was committed for trial. She was brought to the County Jail here. The child was three weeks old, and is now being cared for in the Shelter. The accused claims she has been a school teacher.

Handy tin boxes containing 12 tablets cost but a few cents. Druggists also sell larger "Bayer" packages.

There is only one Aspirin—"Bayer"—You must say "Bayer"

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) of Bayer Manufacture of Monoaceticacidester of Salicylicacid. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assist the public against imitations, the Tablets of Bayer Company will be stamped with their general trade mark, the "Bayer Cross."

GETTING OUT REFERENDUM VOTE

In the general work of the rousing up of the Referendum the Centre Ward has been in the hands of an energetic committee which reports most gratifying results in the canvas

The propositions on the ballot that call for assent to the retention of the Act and the elimination of the other propositions have been supported, so far as promises are concerned, beyond all expectations. In addition the canvas of men of the men's committees is closing up all over the city. The forehanded work devised and instituted has borne fruit in that objections likely to turn up have been forestalled and met.

The several churches of the city will take up the subject in brief three minute addresses prefacing each service, morning and evening on Sunday 12th and Sunday 19th. A strong appeal will be made to support the temperance cause and hold to the principles for which the fight is being made in the cause of temperance.

During the week will be made a liberal distribution of literature, the statements in which will cover possible objections and answer any appeals that may be made to support the side of liquor.

It has been suggested that the medical men of the City might in their capacities as advisers to men, women and indeed to families in general, make statement from their own knowledge of the feebleness of the general contention by some that liquor has large medicinal value. The largest number of the profession decry this theory and now is the time to drive it home. So far the profession has not taken anything like the position it could take in this regard.

With regard to the use of cars and vehicles on voting day, Mr. Andrew Brown has charge of this detail and will be glad to have those willing to assist to advise him of such intention. A large number of cars will be needed as many women should reach the poles and many of whom are unable to walk for any distance. During the day of polling the Y.M.C.A. will be headquarters for cars and transportation, and needs for service can be 'phoned in and will receive attention.

LATEST TYPE OF TOURIST CARS

The Canadian National daily transcontinental train, Toronto-Winnipeg-Vancouver made its initial trip from Toronto, with one of the very latest type of steel tourist cars as part of its equipment, the first of an order of twenty such cars in whose construction every point has been considered for the safety and comfort of passengers. This modern type of tourist car, with anti-telescopic device is of similar design to the standard sleeping coach, exception being they are upholstered in leather instead of plush.

Electrically lighted throughout, all berths, upper and lower, are provided with berth lamps. A new feature for this class of car is that lamps have been istalled under the seats in the aisles of the car, so that when the ceiling lamps are turned out for the night light may be provided under berth curtains, a great convenience for passengers when going through the car.

Phosphorus push buttons can be readily seen in the dark, should the passenger require to switch on the light or ring the bell, when the berth is in darkness.

A safety feature introduced is a device for holding down the upper berth which precludes any possibility of the upper berth closing when in use. Separate berth curtains are provided so that passengers in the upper berths will not disturb passengers in the lower.

The kitchen has the latest steel range, facilities for washing dishes, and lockers enable passengers to store their food. Lavatories have received special attention, and provide greater conveniences than the older type. An electric thermostatic heating control can be so adjusted as to regulate the temperature of the car, thus preventing overheating.

Thus with the introduction of the daily service of the Canadian National lines between Toronto-Winnipeg-Vancouver, is the added convenience of the very latest type of tourist cars for second-class passenger who can enjoy a transcontinental trip in every comfort at minimum expense.

Silky Wool From Australia

No other material was ever used in these famous stockings for children.

There have been times when the Australian supply was light. Then, we were unable to produce enough Little Darling and Little Daisy Hosiery to go 'round. For we would not substitute other wool.

We thought it better not to vary the quality of Little Darling and Little Daisy Hosiery.

Mothers, we know, expect in these stockings the finest, softest and best knitted wool yarn. They expect unusual wear. It means much to them to clothe their children in such comfortable, healthful—and, at the same time, such economical—material.

LITTLE DARLING HOSIERY—for babies and tiny tots up to seven—has silken toe and heel.

LITTLE DAISY HOSIERY—for children up to twelve—has extra strength in heel and toe.

MORE EGGS
More Eggs
GUARANTEED
Hens are supplied by nature with 1,200 to 4,000 rudimentary yolks. But a yolk is only half an egg, and a hen won't lay half an egg—it's the whole egg or nothing with her. To lay a whole egg, the hen must have a "white" for a "yolk." If she is to lay 1,000 eggs, her feed must supply 1,000 whites as well as 1,000 yolks—she must get "white" just as she gets meat, bones and feathers—from her feed. Ordinary grain feeds and "mill-mixtures," will fatten a hen and produce yolks, but do not produce enough "whites" to make her lay any more eggs than usual. Only the feeding of Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder will supply enough elements to make "a white for every yolk," and make a hen LAY MORE EGGS—winter and summer—or we guarantee it. The price of Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder is very little more than ordinary feed, but they multiply her eggs many times—there is no comparison of values. Chicken keepers, you will never get eggs enough to satisfy you until you feed them Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder. TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST RIDING OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—

Having again received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Convention of West Peterborough, as a candidate for Parliamentary honours at the ensuing Provincial Election, to be held on October 20th, I desire to solicit your hearty support in favour of my election.

WAR WORK

Having represented you for the past five years (war years), I can safely say that during that period, while every effort was being made to win the war—my record is known to you all; and on that record I ask you to judge me on the position I have taken on all measures affecting the war work.

TEMPERANCE QUESTION

When I was elected in 1914, I stated my views on the Temperance question during that campaign; I pledged myself to vote for Temperance legislation on all occasions brought forward by whatever party, and the record in the House will show that I carried out that pledge.

The Referendum vote is to be taken on the same date as the Provincial election, October 20th, and if I am again elected your representative, I promise to give my whole-hearted support to the Government elected to carry out the will of the people, as expressed by their votes on the Referendum ballot.

AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATION

During the years preceding 1914, every one agreed that the Department of Agriculture was asleep. The very first opportunity offered in the House, I introduced the question of a forward movement in Agriculture, and, along with other Liberal members of the House, have earnestly advocated a more strenuous progressive policy in Agriculture.

The shortage of production, the problem of farm help, and the numerous perplexing questions affecting the farmer, cannot be solved unless we seriously consider the cause and apply the remedy.

During the past few years of unrest in the country, due mainly to excessive living costs, I have advocated that demonstration farms be established in different counties, and increased attention be paid to the education to be received in our Agricultural College and Experimental Farms, and that the knowledge gained at the Agricultural College be put into practice on Demonstration Farms, where a profit and loss account could be kept, and the costs of producing 100 pounds of milk, or a pound of pork, or any of the many products of the farm, could be ascertained and established, such information being sadly lacking to-day. By such a system of education, the farm would be looked upon as a business manufacturing plant, that would attract the best brains to the development of the greatest asset in Canada to-day, the Farm. Our production is unlimited. The markets of the world are calling for food, and our own citizens living from hand to mouth at tremendous prices, wondering what the next six months have in store for them.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAYS

Our Highways need much repair. Auto and truck traffic is becoming daily increased, and we must develop a road policy which will make for hauling our produce to market as cheaply as possible. To this matter, I promise to give my best thought.

EDUCATION

Education, I am pleased to say, is in the hands of a new Minister, in whom we hope for great things. I believe in a separate education for the City and Rural districts. An Education in the Rural districts to educate the boy and girl the great lessons of Agriculture, making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, developing the average cow of Ontario to-day, which gives 5,000 lbs. of milk in a milking period to 10,000 lbs., producing a pound of pork or beef at a lower cost, and giving to the world the blessing which we most need: a reduction in the high cost of living.

THE LABOUR QUESTION

Regarding the important question of Labour, my own policy has been to treat labour as I would wish to be treated myself. I have had a good deal of experience with labour of various kinds and conditions, and have never had any trouble along that line, and do not expect to have any.

OUR RETURNED HEROES

To me, the welfare of the returned soldier and soldiers' wives, is one of the most essential duties of our country. Therefore, I promise that I will give my hearty support to every movement calculated to promote their very best interests. The soldiers who fought for me for five years deserve, and may expect to receive, my earnest consideration during the remaining years of my life.

THE WOMAN VOTE

I am delighted to know that women are to enjoy equal privileges with men in the use of the franchise at this election, and in the exercise of this privilege, I have the greatest faith in their good judgment and purifying influence. Their power with the ballot on October 20th, especially with the Prohibition and Labour problems, will, I feel certain, be of far-reaching effect. I will, therefore, consider the votes from the ladies counted in my favour at the approaching election, to be instruction to take high grounds on all matters calculated to elevate the morals of this community as well as of the whole Dominion.

CONCLUSION

These questions I have dealt with are, to my mind, the outstanding questions of the day. If I am elected again as your representative, I promise to give the best of my ability, my mature judgment on all questions affecting the interests of the West Riding of Peterborough, the Province of Ontario, the Dominion of Canada, and the British Empire, of which we, to-day, are so justly proud.

Thanking you, Ladies and Gentlemen, for your support in the past, and soliciting your support again on the 20th day of October. I remain,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. A. GILLESPIE

LABOUR PARTY MEETING AT MIDDLETON SCHOOL

MR. NOBLE OF TORONTO WAS AMONG THE SPEAKERS, ALSO THE LOCAL LABOUR CANDIDATE.

Thos. Tooms, Independent Labour candidate, held a meeting at Middleton school which eventually turned into an enthusiastic gathering, when the speakers were about to finish, the audience called for more, so another meeting was mutually arranged for Thursday evening next, Oct 16th. Mr. Noble, of Toronto, was the first speaker, followed by the candidate, Thos. Tooms, also T. Lane and F. McMurray. Things of mutual interest were dealt with in the cost of production and the cost to the consumer and the many-sided question, cost of living, was also dealt with. A spirit of co-operation and a better understanding were arrived at.

Home Complexion Peeler Works Wonders

To keep the face, neck, arms and hands truly beautiful and youthful in appearance, the treatment which seems most sensible is one which will actually remove the skin itself immediately it begins to age, fade, coarsen or discolor. The only known treatment which will do this, aside from a painful, expensive surgical operation, is the application of ordinary mercolized wax, which is as harmless as it is effective.

The wax is put on at night, just as you apply cold cream, and washed off in the morning. It absorbs the dead and half dead surface skin in almost invisible flaky particles, a little each day, no discomfort being experienced. With the disappearance of the old cuticle, the newer, healthier skin underneath gradually appears, richly beautiful with the flush of youth. This mercolized wax, which you can get at any drug store in original package, is indeed a veritable wonder-worker.

Polcie Chief Denies Etc.

He received a letter from Mr. Enos Saunders, Solicitor for the Liquor Commission stating that he had sent a copy of Blade's letter to Mr. Stewart. He also suggested that both sides forget the past "because friction between the police force and the License Inspector was most undesirable."

Stewart's Reply.

Mr. Stewart's reply to the License Board's letter admonishing him to cease the friction with the police force stated that he tried to be on agreeable terms but that he found the police force not willing to call this truce.

"Is there any truth in Dunford's evidence which implicates you?" asked Mr. Hall.

"Absolutely none," replied Sergt. Blade.

Mr. O'Connell asked Blade if he knew the reputation of Hamilton, Sullivan and Akey.

He had.

He was asked if he knew Sullivan sold whiskey and he said he would have bet his life on Sullivan until the day he was fined.

Sergt. Blade said he never knew that the liquor seized on the Norwood Road was in Stewart's office.

Denied Jeering Him.

"If Mr. Stewart says I jeered at him behind my back he is lying," said Blade.

"Do you usually go around livery barns?"

"No, Mr. O'Connell, it is not my habit to hang around livery barns. It is not the place for a police sergeant. I am too busy to loaf."

"Did you ever call Mr. Stewart, 'Gizzard' or a son of a——?" asked Mr. Hall.

"No, never."

Sergt. Jack Deannard stated that Mr. Stewart offered him $5 for information that would lead to a conviction before he gave it to the Chief Constable. Sergt Blade also stated that one night when he was walking the beat, Mr. Stewart asked him to give him information of illegal liquor dealings before he reported it to Chief Thompson and he would get a tip of $5.00.

Chief Thompson.

Chief Thompson next filled the witness box and stated that the Lev-assuer beer was sent to St. Joseph's Hospital.

"No liquor of any kind ever went from the police station to my house," stated the Chief positively. He further stated that there was no truth in the statement that he wanted the liquor because his wife was ill. Chief Thompson also said that he saw two of his constables pouring the liquor which was supposed to go to his house, down the sink. Chief Thompson specifically denied all the charges of converting liquor to his own use and alleged conversations which Mr Stewart had made. The sack which was supposed to carry liquor carried the hunting boots, knives and other paraphernalia.

Chief's Opinion.

Chief Thompson, in his evidence, said one day in his office, he asked Mr. Stewart who had given the Liquor Commission the incorrect information, that he had stolen three bottles of confiscated liquor. The Chief informed Mr. Stewart that he was the one to blame. Mr. Stewart is alleged to have retaliated by calling the Chief a liar and a thief.

When Mr. O'Connell cross-examined the Chief and asked him his opinion of Mr. Stewart he said that he thought he was malicious and would go to the ends of the earth to down a man if he took a dislike to him. Chief Thompson also said that he was of the opinion that Sullivan was not guilty in the Kendry liquor case.

"Do you think that Stewart sunk so low that he perjured himself in the Kendry case?" asked Mr. O'Connell.

An Opinion.

"If you ask my honest opinion, I do," stated the Chief. Sometimes when the Magistrate dismissed liquor cases, Mr. Stewart told me he thought the Magistrate was party to the liquor transactions, and that he wanted to report him to the Government."

"Mr. Stewart's judgment in my mind isn't good, he is irritable and follows a certain line of reasoning, which makes him think that the Court ought to be of the same opinion," said the Chief.

"Statements came to me," continued the Chief, "that Mr. Stewart said I wasn't fit for my position: I believe Adjutant Buntin told me this."

Police Protection.

The Chief further said that he heard of the statement which Hamilton was said to have made, which stated that he had police protection. He called Hamilton into his office and asked him about it. Hamilton denied making the statement and Hamilton said he never had police protection but he wished he had.

He later called Sullivan into his office and asked him about the affair. Sullivan denied that he had ever made such a statement to Hamilton and also said he never had or could get police protection.

Detective Newhall and Mr. Saunders of the Liquor Commission, who is coming down from Toronto, and Adjutant and Mrs. Buntin will be heard this morning.

Magistrate David Dumble did not preside with his colleagues but left for Toronto. Mr. Dumble was most anxious that the case be finished before he left but this was found impossible owing to the large number of witnesses.

CONGRESS REPEALED. RECIPROCITY ACT

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—In anticipation of a general ultimate revision of the tariff, the House to-day repealed the Canadian Reciprocity Act which President Taft made one of his issues in 1910, and nearly brought about the disruption of the Republican party. This country passed the so-called Canadian Reciprocity Act after President Taft had toured the country and fought with his party over it, but Canada never accepted it. A belief exists among Republican leaders that Canada is now preparing to pass legislation of acceptance, at a time when the pact made in 1911 might work to the disadvantage of commerce and farmers in this country.

Liberals and Prohibition

The following letter appears in the Toronto Globe:

To the Editor of The Globe: Your editorial of October 3rd, entitled "Duty of Liberal Prohibitionists," and the letter quoted in that editorial from a Liberal Prohibitionist, seem to indicate a hesitancy on the part of some Liberal prohibitionists as to what candidates they should vote for. The position to my mind is quite clear. Every prohibitionist and every temperance man, no matter what his previous political leanings, who wants to insure no possible chance of the return of the bar to the Province of Ontario, should vote in all cases for the Liberal candidate. As you very clearly point out in the editorial in question, the Conservative party is committed to nothing in the way of temperance reform. Many of its candidates are openly opposed to prohibition. And Sir William Hearst says that "if question number one on the referendum ballot is marked 'yes' by a majority of the voters, Ontario will return to the wide open bar and liquor store as it was before 1916." There is no doubt then about the position Sir William Hearst and his party will take if they are returned to power on the 20th. On the other hand, the position of the Libral party is also quite clear. The Liberal party is against the return of the bar to-day as it was at the last Provincial general election, when it went down to defeat fighting for the abolition of the bar which was being upheld by the combined forces of the Conservative party and the liquor interests. As a life-long Liberal and reader of The Globe, I must say that I am disappointed with the lukewarm, half-hearted support you are giving the Liberal party, and particularly our honored and revered leader Mr. Dewart, on the prohibition issue during this campaign. Speaking at Ottawa on October 2nd, Mr. Dewart made his position quite clear. The following is an extract from his speech as it appeared in Ottawa Journal (Conservative) on October 3rd:

"We are face to face with two issues—the referendum and the issues so far as the general government is concerned. The Liberal party insists that the two issues should not be confounded. The Liberals stand where they always stood as the pioneers of temperance legislation. They stand on the same platform as they stood in 1914 when they favored the abolition of the bar. Where were the Conservatives then? There was not a barroom in Ottawa or Ontario that was not a Conservative committee room. The Liberals introduced resoltions curtailing the sale of liquor in 1915, but the Conservative Government resolutely refused to do anything. It was not until 1916, when a petition of three-quarters of the people of the Province was presented that Premier Hearst realized the seriousness of the situation, and passed the Ontario Temperance Act.

"In the by-election in South-west Toronto, in 1916, the Liberals won," said Mr. Dewart. "I stood for the Ontario Temperance Act. My opponent favoured wine and light beer. I stand now as I stood then, favouring the highest degree of temperance the Province has the power to enact. It is left to you people to decide, but I promise you to have the law enforced, as it has not been enforced."

And later on, after referring to Sir William Hearst's statement already quoted, that the bar would come back if the people vote for the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act, Mr. Dewart is reported as having said: "The Liberals won't stand for the restoration of the bar in Ontario. Never again, so far as the Liberals are concerned, will the bar be restored to thos Province."

It is, therefore, the plain duty of all opponents of the bar to vote for the candidates of the Liberal party. Being the father of five sons, I am much interested in the future manhood of our Province, and being the son of the man who secured the passage of the "Scott Act" through Parliament, I am proud of the fact that I have been a total abstainer all my life. The prohibition question is the paramount issue in this campaign. I am going to vote "No" to all four questions on the referendum. I am conscientiously convinced that that is the proper decision to arrive at. But my conviction is just as strong that I should vote for the Liberal candidate in my riding to prevent the return of the bar, in the event of a majority voting for the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Ottawa, Ont. D'Arcy Scott.

MUSIC AND DRAMA

Guy Brothers Minstrels paid their annual visit to Peterborough last night and were, as usual, greeted by a capacity audience at the Grand. For many years this attraction has annually entertained local play-goers, and its popularity never seems to diminish. This year's offering averages up well with other years, for although the first part fell considerably below the standard set last year, the olio was considerably better. The singing of the company was not as good as it has been on other occasions, either in solo or chorus work, and the end men's gags and stories were pretty well in the superannuated class. The second part, however, made up for the failure of the first. Kelda, the frog man, did some great contortionist work, the Baum brothers scored heavily in a high class musical act, and Hugh Norton proved a clever quick change artist. The Agawam quartette and a dancing and singing number in which George R Guy presented his famous boxes solo, completed the bill.

STANDARD TIME ELECTION DAY

Deputy-Returning Officer J. Fordyce Strickland has received word that standard time will govern in the voting on both sides the referendum the provincial elections on October 20. The polls will open at 9 o'clock in the morning old time and close at 4 o'clock in the afternoon under the same schedule.

The Real Issue!

Defeat of the Ontario Temperance Act Means Return of the License System

The magician directs his audience to fix its gaze intently upon something else in order that his dexterous fingers may the more easily practise to deceive.

THE APOLOGISTS for the Liquor Traffic loudly protest that they are "absolutely opposed to the return of the old license system." At the same time they ask you to vote "Yes" to question No. 1 which, if carried by the affirmative, means a return to the Liquor License Act.

They have deliberately stated in their advertising that "the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act does not mean a return to the general sale of spirituous liquors."

Don't be fooled by this camouflage.

As the terms of the old License Act permit the general sale of spirituous liquors, it naturally follows that this statement is a transparent effort at camouflage.

The Bars Must Not Return!

The Temperance Referendum Act, 1919, specifically provides for the return of the old license system. What could be clearer or more to the point than the language of the statute? It plainly states that if there is a majority voting "Yes" on the first question that—

"The Ontario Temperance Act shall be repealed.... and the Liquor License Act....shall be revived and shall be in force in Ontario....and shall have effect until altered or modified by lawful authority as if the Ontario Temperance Act had not been passed." (See any copy of the Act for full text).

In a recent speech, Premier Hearst, the framer of the Act, interpreted question No. 1 as follows:—

"If Question 1 on the referendum ballot is marked 'Yes' by a majority of the voters, Ontario will return to the wide-open bar and liquor store as it was before 1916. If anyone is quoting me as saying anything different, then he is quoting me wrongly."

What will be the Situation after the Referendum?

—If a majority vote "Yes" on question No. 1.

The Ontario Temperance Act will be repealed.

On the day that this Act ceases to exist, the Liquor License Act comes into force.

The Traffic will again be licensed to sell all kinds of intoxicating liquors, as it was before Sept. 16, 1916.

The bars will come back.

The saloons will flourish.

Liquor stores will re-open.

The old "booze" conditions will return. It will be a black day for Ontario.

—If a majority vote "No" on question No. 1.

The Ontario Temperance Act will continue in force.

The danger of resurrecting the old Liquor License Act will have passed once and for all.

The Ontario situation will continue as it exists to-day—except in so far as it may be modified by Dominion legislation, or by an amendment to the Ontario Temperance Act in case a majority vote "Yes" for questions Nos. 2, 3 or 4.

The way to prevent any of these amendments from introducing intoxicating beer or spirituous liquors into Ontario is to vote "No" on every question.

What Will Happen If Majority Vote "No" on Question No. 1, and "Yes" on others?

(a) If a majority vote "Yes" on question 2—then the Ontario Temperance Act will be amended and 5.46% beer (proof spirits) will be sold through Government Agencies.

(b) If a majority vote "Yes" on question 3—Then 5.46% beer (proof spirits) will be sold in standard hotels even in localities formerly under local option where a majority vote favors such sale.

(c) If a majority vote "Yes" on question 4—Then we will have all kinds of liquor sold by Government Agencies.

Don't be fooled! Don't let your attention be distracted from the true issue by the arts of camouflage! Don't be misled into believing that the defeat of the Ontario Temperance Act will merely mean the so-called "light" beer for Ontario. Remember that it actually means bringing back the evil conditions ensuing from the return to the old Liquor License Act. Mark your ballot with

Four X's—One X only under each NO

Be sure you answer every question. Be sure you mark your ballot with an X after each question under the word "No," or your vote will be lost to Temperance.

IN MEMORIAM.

NOFTALL.—In loving memory of Lance-Corporal Carl Noftall, killed in action in France, 11th October, 1918, aged 19 years and 10 months.

NOFTALL.—In memory of Lce.-Cpl. Carl Noftall, killed in action, 11th October, 1918.

'Twas on a bright summer day
When our brave hero sailed away,
The flags were flying,
The whole world seemed gay.
But oh! that dull, dull ache
With us has remained for aye.

That manly figure, straight and true,
Went forth to save his country, her honour, too;
No more those blue eyes flash,
No more that sunny, boyish smile;
There is a great stillness while the twilight creeps—
We bow our heads in reverence, for there he sleeps.

In that torn and bleeding country,
With others of his kind,
Where the blood red poppies sigh in the sunlight,
There is grave you'll find.
'Tis naught but a rough wooden cross;
But God, and God only, knows our great loss.
—Inserted by his Sister, Mabel.

IN MEMORIAM.

ACKERMAN.—In loving memory of Lieut. Arthur Ross Ackerman, M.C., and Battalion, 1st Canadians, who died 11th October, 1916, from wounds received at Courcelette, on the Somme Front.

IN MEMORIAM.

In loving memory of our dear son, Herman Sexsmith, who died one year ago to-day, Oct. 12th, 1919:

Peaceful be thy rest dear son,
'Tis sweet to breathe they name,
In life we loved you very dear,
In death we do the same.
Dearest son you've been absent
From our midst a year to-day,
How we miss your loving presence
Aching hearts alone can say.
—Father and Mother.

Catarrhozone Never Fails

Dripping from the nose is one of the foulest and most disgusting symptoms of a Catarrhal cold. By using Catarrhozone you cure this quickly —cure it because you bathe the lining of the nose and throat with that powerful antiseptic of the Blue Gum of Australia.

So healing is Catarrhozone that you feel wonderfully benefitted in five minutes' use of the inhaler. Nothing ever devised cures a cough, cold or sore throat so quickly. No drugs to take, nothing to upset the stomach—you follow nature's own plan in using Catarrhozone which supplies healing essences and soothing balsams in vapour form to the places that are needing treatment.

Results talk—that's why thousands rely solely upon Catarrhozone to prevent and cure their winter ills. Get the complete $1.00 outfit, it lasts two months; small size 50c., sample size 10c., all dealers and the Catarrhozone Co., Kingston, Canada.

MURRAY STREET BAPTIST CH. TO-MORROW.

If the Thanksgiving atmosphere is to be felt anywhere, and the glories of the autumn season visualized in any sanctuary, it will be so in the beautiful auditorium of the Murray street Baptist church to-morrow.

The decorations are not only suitable but superb. Art and Nature are met together and over and above all, the flags proclaim the fact that Peace is more precious than any of the many gifts for which God is to be thanked.

The music will be of a high order, and Mr. Webb will preach morning and evening. The Thanksgiving offering will be made.

SPECIAL MUSIC AT TRINITY CHURCH

The splendid choir of Trinity church will give a special programme of music at both services to-morrow. They will be assisted by Mr. H. A. CALEDONIAN CLUB WAS ORGANIZED

With keen enthusiasm, the Caledonian Club was revived last evening at the first regular meeting held by the club since the beginning of the war, when so large a number of the members answered the call to the Colours.

The meeting, which was held in the W. O. W. Hall, was opened with a short sketch of the conditions of the club by the President, Mr. Robert French.

Elected Officers.

Honorary president, John Moyes.
President, Ed. Hardie.
Vice-president, Robert Hendry.
Secretary, Thomas McArthur.
Treasurer, James Reid.
Recording secretary, John A. Smith.
Committee: Harry Taylor, Robert French, Tom Smith, S. Leith, and Mr. Dick.
Auditors, D. Stewart and J. Grierson.

After the election of officers, routine business was attended to, and it was found that the club was in a very satisfactory financial condition. It is expected that the club will in the near future tender a banquet and dance to all local Scotsmen returned from overseas.

It was mentioned that 64 per cent. of the club membership went overseas and that nine of the number made the supreme sacrifice. A large number of new members were added to the club roll last night, and it is confidently expected that at subsequent meetings the membership will be very greatly increased. All kinds of attractions are in store for the members in the coming year.

The next meeting will be held on 24th October in the W.O.W. Hall.

THE LARGEST STILL ON RECORD

(Special to The Examiner.

ST. CATHARINES, October 11.—The authorities last evening found the biggest illicit still ever in operation in Canada, and resembling some of the mammoth affairs to be found in the mountains of Kentucky. It was discovered at the home of a barber, Frederick St. John, in the village of Grimsby, in this county, 17 miles west of St. Catharines.

It is believed this is the source of thousands of gallons of illicit whisky which has been coming from the West for some time. The authorities suspected there might have been stills in the mountain ridge leading to Hamilton.

The discovery was made by License-Inspector King, High Constable R. E. Boyle, and local officers.

The boiler in connection with the still was so large and heavy that it took six men to carry it, and there were great pipes running from it to the "worm."

St. John, who is a returned soldier, about 28 years old, was arrested and remanded until to-day, when he will receive a hearing before the Magistrate. Two other men are being looked for, one of whom is a Southerner, and believed to be the builder of the still. He is believed to have got across the line, but the police have been notified in all directions.

STATEMENT BY THE LICENSE BOARD

MR. J. D. FLAVELLE GIVES HIS VERSION OF THE CHARGES MADE BY MR. HARTLEY DEWART—SAYS REPRESENTATIONS WERE MADE TO THE BOARD—MR. FLAVELLE HASTENS TO EXPLAIN.

Kindly publish the following statement in the first issue of your paper in view of the allegations and charges made by Mr. Hartley Dewart, at a meeting at Toronto last evening, regarding the sale of wine to members of the Jewish community for Communion purposes:

I have to say that by the provisions of the Ontario Temperance Act the Board of License Commissioners, of which I am Chairman, are authorized to appoint such persons as may appear desirable for the purpose of importing into this Province, under the provisions of any Statute of Canada or any Order in Council passed thereunder, wine for use in Divine Service. On the 30th of September, at a regular meeting of the Board, the Chief Rabbi of the Jewish community of Toronto waited upon the Board, and after hearing his application the following resolution was passed:

Copy of resolution passed by the Board of License Commissioners for Ontario on the 30th day of September, 1919:

"Whereas representations have been made the Board of License Commissioners by the Chief Rabbi of the Jewish Religion in Toronto that it is necessary that suitable wine should be provided for the use of members of the Jewish community in Toronto during the period of the Feast of the Tabernacles for the year 1919, under the direction of the Rabbi of each congregation and an application has been made to the Board for authority to import such wine as may be necessary for that purpose during the said feast; being a religious observance, extending from Tuesday the 7th day of October until noon of Thursday on the 16th day of October, 1919, and it appearing desirable that such application be granted. Therefore: Resolved, that Barnet Stone, residing at 633 Euclid Avenue, in the City of Toronto, be appointed as special vendor under the provisions of Section Six A of the the Ontario Temperance Act, for the period aforesaid. It being understood that the said wine shall be obtained through the Government Dispensary at Toronto by the said vendor, who shall distribute the same under the directions of the Rabbi of each congregation as aforesaid."

(Signed) J. D. FLAVELLE, Chairman.

Stone Was Recommended.

It was reported to the Board by the Rabbi that the wine referred to was for use by the Jewish community in religious observances, for the purpose of celebrating the "Feast of the Tabernacles" as requested by the Hebrew Ritual, and that the festival lasts for eight days, commencing on Tuesday, 7th October and ending on Thursday, 16th October. The Rabbi recommended Mr. Stone, who is a member of the Jewish community, for the appointment in question and vouched for his reliability, and thereupon the appointment was made. If any irregularity, such as charged by Mr. Dewart, has taken place, there is nothing to stop whoever is guilty thereof from being dealt with pursuant to the Act; and until some evidence is forthcoming, proving that the Act has been contravened, the Board feels justified in assuming that the authorities of the Jewish Church have acted in perfect good faith. Whatever responsibility attaches to the action of the Board is assumed in full by the Board. Neither the Prime Minister nor any member of the Government or the Legislature have been consulted or as far as the Board is aware had the slightest knowledge of the Rabbi's application, which was dealt with the same as all other matters of business coming before the Board. It will be noticed that the law is applicable to the churches of the Christian community as well as to the Jews and I presume that not even Mr. Dewart would contend that wine for Communion purposes should not be available. All proper precautions have been taken by the Board in connection with this application and if there has been any impropriety or irregularity it will be dealt with according to law, irrespective of who the guilty parties may be.

Board of License Commissioners for Ontario.

WILLIAM IVENS DECLINES THE MAYORALTY NOMINATION IN WINNIPEG—SPOKE IN KITCHENER.

KILLED IN RIOTS

(Special to The Examiner.)

WINNIPEG, Man., Oct. 11.—William Ivens, who was chosen candidate for Mayor at the Labour Convention on Monday evening, refused to accept the nomination.

The information is contained in a telegram received to-day from Mr. Ivens in Sarnia, Ontario:

"Thank you for the vote of confidence," the wire reads, "it was a complete surprise. Cannot possibly accept the nomination."

Because of Ivens' refusal, the nomination of S. J. Farmer, who was second choice at the convention, will be considered at a joint meeting of the Executive Councils of the Dominion Labour Party and ex-Soldiers' and Sailors' Labour Party in the Labour Temple on Monday night.

It was the general opinion in labour circles to-day that Ivens showed good spirit in refusing to be a candidate, and that the rank and file of labour would gather to the support of Farmer in the event of his being chosen.

In reply to the request made by Harry Veitch of the Dominion Labour Party, to-day, that he take the field for the office of Mayor, Farmer stated that he would leave the matter of his acceptance entirely up to the joint executive meeting on Monday.

Labour men are of the opinion that Farmer will receive a solid Labour vote, and may pollish few outsiders into the ranks of labour. He is a single taxer, and wealthy.

WILL RETURN.

(Special to The Examiner.)

KITCHENER, Ont., Oct. 11.—Speaking before a crowd of three hundred workers last night, Rev. Mr. Ivens, of Winnipeg, said among other things: The Bill passed by Parliament abolishing the trial [illegible] was the most damnable thing ever [illegible] over [illegible] things going on at Ottawa which you will hear of in the near future, which will startle the whole country. Ottawa is on my itinerary in Ontario, but I cannot say how I am going to get there. He had received telegrams from the Grand Army in Sarnia expressing regret at the conduct of the citizens toward Mr. Ivens, and inviting him to go back there on 17th October. And he said, "You bet I will accept the invitation."

"THE KISS BURGLAR"

Even in a season notable for its many successes, none surpass the popularity enjoyed by the new musical comedy "The Kiss Burglar", during its long metropolitan run at the Cohan Thaetre, New York, which will be seen at the Grand, Tonight. The latest effort of Glen MacDonough and Raymond Hubbell is fast fulfilling the prediction made for it—that it would be as great a success as any musical production made in a decade.

This charming musical entertainment is animated, colorful, teems with real humor and has a score that will take rank with the best music heard in a play of its kind in recent years.

The melodies throughout the fifteen numbers have a captivating lilt that is more than mere catchiness. The characters of the play are above all, human and the story they interpret, one that commands attention with the rise of the curtain and holds it until the finale.

The musical ensembles arranged by Julian Mitchell provide ample opportunity for an exceptionally agile and attractive chorus to demonstrate their ability in the terpsichorean art.

HOT FIGHT IN RENFREW

(Special to The Examiner.)

PEMBROKE, October 11.—A hot fight is in progress in North Renfrew. Three candidates are in the field. E. A. Dunlop, who represented the Riding during the last session, again carries the Conservative colours. His most dangerous opponent is R. M. Waren, U. F. O. candidate and Prohibitionist. The third contender is Thos. H. Moffatt, Liberal, also a Prohibitionist.

Only a few days ago it was thought that the U. F. O. man would succeed in wresting the constituency from the Goverament. His representatives were greeted with cheers wherever they went in the outlying districts, but a change has come over the contest.

Farmers who previously supported the Conservatives, but had expressed their intention of backing up the U. F. O. candidate, have gone back to their old love.

In the north end there is a German vote, which both parties are making an effort to secure. It is believed that this will go to Dunlop, and that the Conservatives will again carry the riding.

A DELIBERATE ATTEMPT TO DECEIVE THE VOTERS ON TEMPERANCE ISSUE

HEARST CANDIDATE IN WEST PETERBORO, IN LETTER SENT TO TEMPERANCE WORKERS, TRIES TO DELUDE THEM INTO SUPPORTING GOVERNMENT—HIS COMMUNICATION AN INSULT TO THE PUBLIC INTELLIGENCE.

The newspaper and platform campaign of the Hearst party in West Peterborough, to trick the voters into believing that the Hearst Government is the only Simon pure temperance party—a campaign that is doomed to failure because the people are too intelligent to be deceived by such ridiculous claims—is being extended. The Hearst candidate, Mr. R. J. Soden, has issued a circular letter, copies of which have been sent to many of the electors who are known to be temperance workers. In his communication, probably because he felt that there was not the same chance, of his statements being checked up as if they were made more publicly, Mr. Soden has gone to greater lengths and resorted to more deliberate mis-statments than he has ventured to do on the public platform or his journalistic supporter has dared to do in print. What do the voters of the West Riding think of this scandalous bid for temperance votes—based, as it is, on premises which the Hearst candidate must know are utterly false, and which completely ignore the records of the two parties on the temperance issue.

A DELIBERATE ATTEMPT AT DECEPTION.

Mr. Soden's letter is published to show how far the Hearst candidate is prepared to go in an attempt to win the election. Here it is:

October 9th, 1919.

Dear Sir,

Knowing that you are greatly interested in the passage of and proper enforcement thereunder, of the Ontario Temperance Act, I would like to draw attention to the following facts in connection therewith:

It is, as you know, very essential at this time, on account of the hands into which the leadership of the Liberal Party has fallen, for all Prohibitionists to ensure the return of the Hearst Government if they would obtain the enforcement of the Temperance Act by a Government whose leader is himself heartily in sympathy with and openly advocates Prohibition.

The liquor interests of Ontario are making every effort to defeat the Hearst Government. Money is being poured out like water, and Dewart candidates are being put in the field, and in many instances are cleverly camouflaged as Labour men, farmer candidates, and even as Temperance Liberals.

The public should be warned emphatically against this phase of the situation.

A vote for any Dewart candidate, that is, for any man who accepts Dewart as his leader, is simply a vote against the proper enforcement of the prohibitory Act if it is passed.

The half-hearted or lax enforcement of the Act, if it is carried, as it will be without doubt, would be about the worst thing that could possibly happen the Prohibition cause.

This, I know, will be readily understood by you; and I am satisfied that you will use your best endeavours to see that the Dewart candidates, no matter what their profession on Prohibition may be, are not supported by those who are working for the carrying of the Ontario Temperance Act.

Yours truly,

R. J. SODEN.

Temperance advocates, no matter what their political leanings may be, should turn in disgust from a candidate who endeavours to twist the temperance issue to his own advantage by deliberately making use of statements that he cannot believe himself. Mr. Soden's attempt to show an alliance between the Liberals and the liquor interests is despicable. He knows that in the election of 1914 the Whitney Government was helped back into power by the interests he now charges are assisting Mr. Dewart. He knows that every vote in the control of the liquor interests went to Conservative candidates and helped the defeat of the Liberals, who were standing firm on an abolish-the-bar platform. He knows that when resolutions were introduced into the Legislathre by the Liberal Opposition in 1915 curtailing the sale of liquor, the Government, of which Sir William Hearst was a member, voted them down. He knows that when the Premier, overawed by the pressure of public opinion as expressed by a petition signed by seventy-five per cent. of the people of Ontario, finally introduced the Ontario Temperance Act, that the Liberal members of the Legislature were unanimous in their support of the measure. At the same time he knows that many of the Government members opposed the Act tooth and nail in caucus, and only refrained from doing so in the House on the grounds of polltical expediency.

Mr. Soden cannot be ignorant of the fact that the Liberal candidates throughout Ontario have pronounced themselves firmly and emphatically on the temperance issne. Nor can he deny that in the Government ranks there is no such unanimity. He will have to confess that the majority of the Hearst candidates have made no statement as to their personal position in regard to the Referendum. He will have to go further than that, and admit that some of them have come out openly and stated their opposition to the Ontario Temperance Act. What has Mr. Soden to say of the utterances of Mr. T. H. Lennox, who declares that he is not a Prohibitionist, but is supporting the Referendum on political grounds? And of C. H. Mills, the Hearst nominee in Waterloo, who is for wine and beer licenses, and declares so on every platform. And of G. H. Gooderham, the Hearst candidate in South-West Toronto, where the Ontario Temperance Act has been suspended to permit the Government organiser among the Jews to sell 62 per cent. proof spirits to the Jewish voters under the guise of being necessary for a religious function?

INSULTING THE PUBLIC INTELLIGENCE.

Mr. Soden's letter is an insult to the public intelligence. It is a deliberate libel, not only upon Liberal candidates, but upon the nominees of the farmers and the Labour Party. The innuendo that it is the money of the liquor interests that is putting the candidates of these three factions into the field is one that is unworthy of Mr. Soden, and that will have boomerang tendencies in the campaign. Like the Liberal Party, the United Farmers of Ontario are emphatically and unmistakably for temperance—their position is as firm as that of many of the Government supporters is dubious. If liquor money is being poured out like water, as Mr. Soden claims—and we all admit that the Hearst candidate should, from his knowledge of how it helped to elect the Government in 1914, know something about liquor money—it would seem a certain conclusion that the liquor interests are more hopeful of support from the Lennoxes and Gooderhams and Mills' of the Hearst party than they can possibly be of any assistance whatever from the Liberal Party, which has consistently fought against the traffic.

The Prohibitionist vote in West Peterborough has been earned by Mr. Gillespie, and he will receive it too—helped by the deliberate attempt of the Hearst nominee to deceive the electors.

A Marine Disaster

TWO THOUSAND LIVES REPORTED TO HAVE BEEN LOST IN THE WRECK OF AN UNNAMED BRITISH SHIP ON NORWEGIAN COAST.

THE DEATH ROLL

(Canadian Press.)

ARCHANGEL, Oct. 11. — Two thousand lives have been lost in the wreck of an unnamed British ship on the Norwegian coast, according to a wireless despatch received here from Helsingfors.

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Neither the Admiralty nor Lloyd's have received any information relative to the wreck of a British ship on the Norwegian coast. At these sources the report is discredited.

If the loss of life in the wreck reported in the Archangel despatch is as large as indicated, the disaster will mark a new record in the annals of the sea. It would seem probable that the ship which was wrecked was a military transport bringing British soldeirs from Archangel, from which port Great Britain has been embarking large numbers of men during the last month.

It is known that troop ships have sailed quite recently from Archangel.

The largest recorded loss of life in a maring disaster occurred when the Titanic was sunk, after colliding with an iceberg south of Newfoundland, on 14th April, 1912, the list of deaths showing 1,503 names.

The Lusitania, sun kby a German submarine on 7th Mai, 1915, carried with her more than 1,200 of her passengers and crew.

When the Empress of Ireland was sent to the bottom in the Gilf of St. Lawrence on 30th May, 1914, the loss of life was 1,027.

"THE DUMBELLS"

Direct from a run of over five hundred performances in France, forty in Brussels, and a month in London, the famous "Dumbells," composed entirely of Canadian soldiers, will play a limited home-coming tour of the larger cities of Canada. Their debut in this city will be made at the Grand on Friday and Saturday, 24th and 25th October.

"The Dumbells," as they were called in France, need no introduction to the returned soldiers in Canada, as their wonderful success in entertaining the soldiers immediately behind the lines is a matter of military history. This company, composed entirely of soldiers who had done their bit in the front lines, was given much greater latitude than was accorded to the visiting theatrical organizations from England, and many of their performances were staged inside the range of fire from the German guns. They are also the only troupe whose performances were given entirely free to the soldiers. For this Canadian tour they are offering their original overseas revue, "Biff, Bing, Bang!" and in it the soldier boys play everything from chorus girls to prima donnas.

IF those who are willing to assist, either as scrutineers or with their automobiles, will leave word at Mr. Gillespie's Committee Rooms on Hunter Street, west of the Post Office, it will be appreciated. Telephone 1500, or names may be left with C. R. Widdifield, G. N. Gordon, Joseph Wearing or J. E. L. Goodwill.

Under the provisions of the Ontario Housing Act the City Council is desirous of being informed if there are Citizens ready to enter into arrangements to have Dwellings built, under conditions of payment as specified in the said Act.

Houses of moderate cost, say from $2,500.00 to $3,500.00, including Cost of Lot.

Names may be forwarded, by letter, to the City Clerk, giving brief particulars as to locality desired, within the City Limits, and Cost, not to exceed above amounts. Applications to be in by Saturday, 18th inst.

Replies will enable Council to determine as to the advisability of taking up the proposition.

GEORGE H. DUNCAN, Mayor.

KILLED SON-IN-LAW.

WOMAN WHO USED AXE AND PITCHFORK WAS ACQUITTED.

(Canadian Press.)

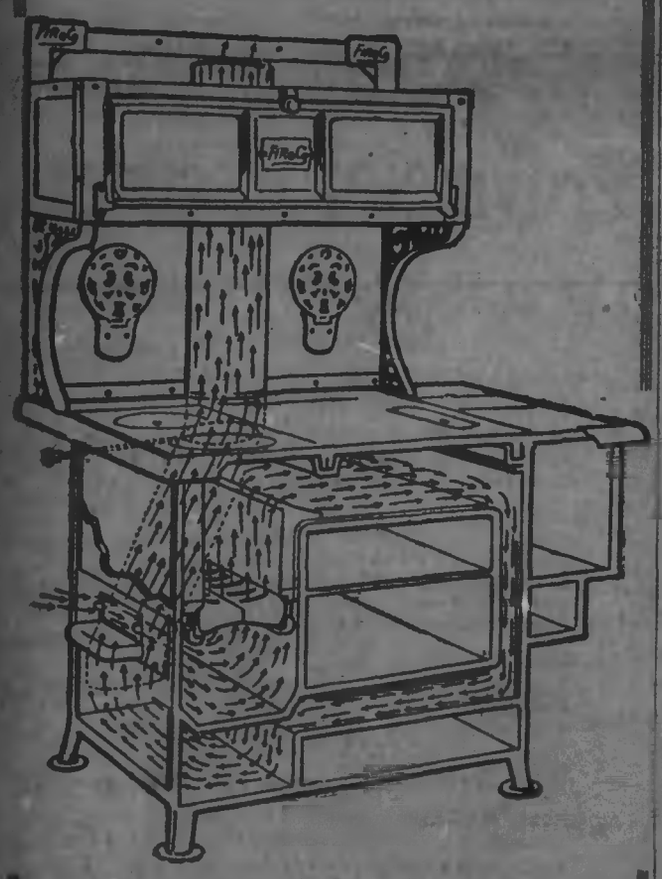
EDMONTON, Alta., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Takema Nyphink, charged with the murder of her son-in-law, George Bodarenko, was acquitted yesterday.

The killing followed a family row, in which the deceased used a pitchfork and an axe in an attack upon the accused and her usband. The woman secured the axe in a scuffle, and is alleged to have struck down her son-in-law.

The jury was out half an hour, and brought in a verdict of not guilty.

Dance frocks are very full.

Economize In Fuel



THE FiReCo., RANGE

In the FiReCo Range the fire travel is LONGER than in any other range. The longer the flue, the less heat escapes up the chimney. The flues in the range being exceedingly large lessens the friction in the fire travel, and therefore assists the chimney in doing its work. The exceptionally large flue above the oven forms a SECOND COMBUSTION CHAMBER, and materially increases the efficiency of the fuel.

The burning of escaping gases in the second combustion chamber is a real source of ECONOMY, and at the same time enables one to use soft coal as a kitchen fuel. In this Range the BLACK SMOKE IS CONSUMED into ashes, and therefore not deposited as unburned carbon or soot, which clogs the flues and prevents the use of soft coal as a fuel in the ordinary kitchen range. Any variety of SOFT COAL is an IDEAL FUEL in the FiReCo Range.

The Dominion Government Test, made on 25th November, 1918, PROVES THIS ABSOLUTELY.

Saves Fuel

The FiReCo Range has been built and designed for the particular purpose of saving fuel. Thousands of people using this Range now tell us that ONE BUCKET of coal in a FiReCo Range or Heater will do your Cooking, Baking, or Heating more satisfactorily than TWO BUCKETS in any other Range or Heater.

SCHOOLS, TEACHERS, PUPILS, FOUR SCORE YEARS AGO

A CONTRAST WITH TO-DAY IN HOUSING, METHOD AND ROUTINE—PUNISHMENT A FACTOR OF SCHOOL LIFE.

By Frank H. Dobbin, Peterborough.

The proposition now presented by the Board of Education that a very considerable sum of money, running into hundreds of thousands of dollars, should be expended in providing additional accomodation for pupils in other than what is stated to be the present crowded quarters, and for additional attendance as well, brings the thought that something might be related of the history of our local schools and how in the past housing was provided for the increase of juvenile population. As the town grew children foregathered and demands had to be met. Just as now the call comes for additional room. Though we have this to remember: that the character and class of the school suggested to be now provided is vastly different and in effect very much more costly.

If the educational factory is to turn out a superior brand of product, then the tools and facilities must be provided else the product will suffer. It is clear to thinking and observing men that what has held Canada together, amidst all the war and after-war turmoil that is throttling the world is the fact that the average of education and its influence on the individual is higher in Canada, per capita, than in almost any other country in the world. What is termed free, democratic education for the masses and not the highly specialized teachings that ignore the common man and the needs of his children.

The end of the first seven years of settlement showed that the population of the town site had increased and that those locating had brought with them numbers of children. For the first twenty years such schools as were provided were rather in the way of private effort. One was established at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, upstairs, in a building long since demolished. There was one on Charlotte street, on the ground now partially occupied by the dwellings at the corner of Rubidge and Charlotte streets. There for many years Mrs. Flavelle conducted a private school and was in after years gratefully remembered by those who attended.

Dr. S. P. Ford, of Norwood, an old Peterboro boy, and who has completed the fifty-fourth year of practice being quite the dean of the profession in this district, gave some interesting reminiscences of the schools of the early days. Dr. Ford served as medical officer in the closing years of the American War of the Rebellion, and afterwards took up practice in the eastern part of the county, and at Norwood. He has personal recollection of the matters of which he writes, and contributes the following, the approximate dates being in the later thirties and on through the forties of the last century:

"One, Chesman Mowe, kept a private school in the later thirties, in a small house near to what is now the entrance to the Little Lake Cemetery, south as far as the Locks, and when the promoters of the cemetery project sought consent from the Assembly of Upper Canada to buy the property set up a strong opposition. The result of the controversy was that the house not only ousted the brothers, but made a gift in fee simple of the lands to the cemetery company."

Continuing Dr. Ford writes: "Walter Sheridan, afterwards County Clerk and Treasurer, taught in a small school in what was known as the Scotch Village (afterwards Ashburnham). The building was of logs, squared and comfortable, and was pulled down when the new brick school was erected.

"On the west side of Aylmer street, between Charlotte and King streets, in a clapboard building, high up on cedar posts, a Mr. Weatherhead, a one-armed man, taught school for several year, in the early forties. Among his pupils were late J. J. Lundy, William and Peter Hamilton, James Stenson and his sister, Joseph Cobb, the Henthorn boys, the Eastlands, the Spencellys, John Ford, William Ford, the Hartleys and our active and venerable friend Richard Winch, William and James English, and many others, now gone to rest, but who were prominent men in the town in years no so remote.

"Mrs. Colwell, widow of Captain Colwell, taught a private school for girls in the house afterwards occupied by W. S. Conger, on London street. (The site of this house is now covered by the St. Vincent's Orphanage). Mrs. Cobb, mother of late Jos. Cobb, taught a girls' school in a little building on the south corner of London and Aylmer streets. Thos. Whitfield, a Cavan man, came in and started up a school in an old building which stood near the spot now occupied by the armories, on Murray street.

On the west side of Aylmer street, between Simcoe and Hunter streets, a Mr. Ware had a school. This building stood just about opposite to old Black Horse Inn, that venerable building adjoining the Creamery. There were constant fights between the boys of this school and of the Weatherhead school. One day the Ware boys caught the Weatherhead boys in swimming at the old swimmin' hole, near Pat Hammon's distillery (the stone building now used by Fitzgerald's fuel business). The hour was that of high noon. The Ware boys swiped the clothes of the swimmers, carried them away and deposited them at the corner of George and Brock streets, and it was late in the afternoon before a good Samaritan hunted up and returned the stolen clothes.

The old school on the north side of Brock street, between George and Water streets, afterwards used as a paint shop, had something of an educational history. Here taught first, Rev. Andrew Smith, father of late Dr. Bruce Smith, inspector of prisons. Also Thomas Robinson, (and uncle of T. W. Robinson), was teacher for several years. Many of the former citizens of Peterboro gained each his education in this building. It has lately been pulled down and taken away."

In 1844 came into force the first Common School Act, for the Province of Upper Canada, and was applied in the Colbourne District in 1845. The Act gave the municipality of North Monaghan certain powers, and as well placed certain functions in the hands of the County Council, and application was made to the Assembly of Upper Canada for a grant of lots on which to build schools within the town plot as surveyed. Elias Burnham was the first school inspector, and his report at the end of the year gives a graphic description of the paucity of accommodation and limited facilities for teaching. He concludes his remarks with the statement that "in no instance in my recollection, with one or two excepions, have I seen the English grammar in use; very seldom geography and no history, except in an occasional reading book. The Bible I found in general use."

Largely as a private enterprise a building was erected for use as a school on the ground afterwards covered by the play shed at the new Central School, Murray street. Built of hewn logs and comfortable, for many years it was the representative school of the district. In it the higher as well as the rudimentary branches of education were taught. It was conducted by Rev. S. Armour, the first Episcopal clergyman in Peterboro. Afterwards it became the Grammar School of the district, and a sum of public money was donated for its support. Rev. R. J. C. Taylor, afterwards taught in this school, and was familiarly and affectionately known as Parson Taylor.

At the time mentioned the governing bodies of the schools were disassociated, being the Grammar School Trustee Board and the Peterboro Common School Board. At the beginning of 1852 these were united in the Grammar and the Union School Board, and the men in office set about improving the facilities and accomodation. The British Methodist Society had some time before built at the corner of Hunter and Sheridan streets, a rather important church in its dimensions and accommodation. Used for some time as a place of worship and meeting, but the denomination seemed not to attract to its fold a large number and eventually the building was purchased by the school board and fitted for purposes. Being a timber frame structure, it could be readily altered. An additional floor was built in the auditorium, which with the basement gave three floors and fair room for the attendance. The upper floor was devoted to the higher flights of the Grammar School. The two lower floors to the Common School pupils. There are many men, living to-day, who gained such education as they acquired within the shelter of this old building.

It is within the recollection of many that the principals of this school, in is best days, were John and Thomas Gordon, two brothers. The first had charge of the Grammar School and the other the Common School. Both were excellent teachers and systematized the rules of studies and classes and brought order into what had been a rather desultory routine. If the names of the class books could be consulted it would be seen that Sheriff Hall, E. H. D. Hall and his brother Frank Hall, the Boswell boys, the Edwards boys and many others were educated in this old building. From its roll of scholars came many of the professional and business men of the town, and who were prominent in its affairs. The writer of this article also passed under the rod within its hallowed walls.

Early in 1852 the inevitable had come about. Too many pupils for the space at disposal. Besides one or two fires that started in the building from stoves and other causes made people fearful of the possibilities that might take place. Agitation began for the betterment of the schools. Public discussion was had, and ultimately it was decided known as the Central School, (the most easterly of the two buildings now on the site on Murray street). It was at first proposed to place the school at the corner of Water and Murray streets, opposite St. Paul's church but wiser council prevailed and the park was saved from the intrusion. The building was opened in 1860, being, as was admitted, the very finest school in the whole Midland District, and a source of pride and satisfaction to the town.

To provide the money two town lots were sold, realizing about $800. The Clergy Reserve money appropriated to the town for 1856, nearly $5,000, was used and a credit opened in the old Commercial Bank for the necessary balance. The entire cost of the building fitted and furnished, amounted to $16,258. Take the dimensions, accomodation and durability and compared with the room and proposed expenditure on the new school in the South-West Ward and we can see how far along the road of progress we are galloping.

A curious feature of the financing for this building was that, while debentures were issued, no provision was made for a sinking fund, and as the debentures fell due new ones were issued to replace. The debt was not lessened, indeed when a round up was called for it was found that not only had none of the original debentures been cancelled, but that it required $9,842 to satisfy the original issue of $8,400. Finally

"Peterborough Presents Possibilities Unsurpassed."

SATURDAY, OCT. 11TH, 1919.

THE MAIN POINT.

No voter should lose sight of the all-important fact that a "Yes" vote on the first question of the Referendum means a vote for the wide-open bar and shop just as they were prior to 1916 and that if the majority of the voters answer "Yes" to the first question, the other three questions on the Referendum ballot will not be considered at all.

THE SAME OLD TUNE.

The Hearst journalistic gramaphone in West Peterboro continues to grind out the same old tune of ——— for the Government, as the only hope of cause of temperance. Daily the record is put on the machine and it is played so often that the "Review" sometimes forgets that the record is a double-sided one and that not long ago the reverse side was played, just as cheerfully and just as persistently. When the Liberal party appealed to the people of Ontario on a straight temperance issue the Government organ on Hunter Street used every effort that editorial experience could devise to defeat the abolish-the-bar policy. It did not succeed on that occasion, however, in its attempt to beat the temperance candidate, Mr. Gillespie and it will not succeed now, even if its articles are dryer—this goes both ways—than they were in 1914. The voters are not likely to forget that the "Review", which now daily tries to picture the Hearst Government as the only friend of temperance, only five years ago lined up with the liquor interests and did its best to defeat a temperance candidate.

THE MAN FOR WEST PETERBORO.

Mr. Gillespie has no need to make any declaration to the people of Peterboro. Everybody knows that he has, through all his life, been opposed to the liquor traffic, and no one in the business has ever profited by the acts, or by the indecision of the present member. More than that, Mr. Gillespie has shown that he possesses the stamina to stand by what he considers the will of those who elected him.

The day is past in which the member of the Legislature Assembly who recognizes his responsibility to his electors will stultify himself and become a mere machine. The time has passed into history and will, it is hoped, no more return, when intelligent citizens elected their member with a view only to the "Yea" or "Nay" which he might record under the direction of an authority. The need of the hour is brain, and the men worth sending to either Provincial or Federal Houses are such as have some convictions of their own and who do not hesitate to state them.

Mr. Gillespie is such a man, and no one would hesitate to say that Peterborough has had any reason but to feel proud of its representation in Queen's Park during the past five years.

The compliments of the "Review" with regard to the honesty and good intentions of Mr. Gillespie are appreciated as far as they go, but Shakespere ——— somewhere about "damning a man with faint praise." The people of Peterboro need not be told of the business ability of the present member, nor need they be informed of his enterprise in extending again and again the business over which he presides in this city.

While attending to his own business and giving adequate attention to the affairs of his constituency, he has made time for sympathetic and generous support of every patriotic and moral issue which have been upon the hearts of his electors.

Many Conservatives voted for Mr. Gillespie in 1914 and many will do so again. Peterboro is well satisfied with its representative and on October 20th he will certainly be returned to continue his splendid work.

HERE IS THE RECORD.

The history of the Liberal battle with the liquor traffic from 1912 onward shows how consistent has been the stand of the Liberal party in favor of advanced temperance legislation. Here it is:

1912 — The Liberals introduced "Abolish the Bar policy into the legislature. Government rejected it.

1914—The Liberals re-introduced "Abolish the Bar. Government rejected it.

1914—Liberals fought general election on "Abolish the Bar" issue. Government opposed it.

1915—Liberals re-introduced "Abolish the Bar" policy. Hearst Government rejected it.

1916—Government and Opposition united to unanimously put Prohibition into effect.

1919—Liberal political convention affirms its attitude in favor of progressive temperance legislation to the fullest exten of the Provincial jurisdiction.

1919—Mr. Hartley Dewart, Liberal leader, dictates that if the Liberal party is returned to power the open bar will never come back.

This is the party record upon which Mr. C. A. Gillespie confidently applies for the support of the electors in the present campaign. His own record on the temperance issue has been equally as consistent and creditable. Prohibitionists will make no mistake in voting for Mr. Gillespie. He is as sound on temperance as he is on every other issue, and he is a member of the party which has for years fought the combined efforts of the Government and the liquor traffic.

THE REFERENDUM.

In spite of all that has been published or said in explanation of the Referendum ballot, there is among people an unfortunate misunderstanding in regard to the taking of the vote. An East Riding voter who called upon The Examiner yesterday said that in his neighborhood a large number of people believed that their ballots would be spoiled if they did not show either four crosses under "Yes" or four crosses under "No." They have failed to understand that they can vote "Yes" or "No" in each question just as they please, largely because the Referendum committee prints a ballot showing four crosses in the "No" column and the Citizen's Liberty League, a similar ballot with the crosses all in the "Yes" column.

The facts to remember in this connection are first that every voter must give an answer to all four questions for any ballot in order to be counted and not thrown out as spoiled must have a cross in either the "Yes" or "No" column, opposite each of the four questions.

A voter may answer "Yes" to one and "No" to the other three, or "Yes" to the first, "No" to the second, "Yes" to the third and "No" to he fourth, or may make any other combination without spoiling the ballot, only provided that his ballot shows four crosses, one opposite each question, no matter in which column.

The prohibition party may urge that the ballot be marked in a cerain way, as shown in its advertising literature, or the anti-prohibitionists may urge that the ballot be marked in another way, the first being all "No" and the second all "Yes."

The voter, however, IS ENTITLED TO MARK THE REFERENDUM BALLOT JUST AS HE PLEASES, and can rest secure that his vote will be among those counted so long as he does not miss placing a cross opposite any of the questions.

Just what the effect of his marking of the four crosses will be and how far they will represent his wishes with regard to the handling of the liquor traffic is a matter that each voter will have to figure out for himself.

But in order to have any effect at all he must place four crosses on the ballot.

EXPENSIVE CAMPAIGN LITERATURE.

The Post is in receipt of a publication from the Ontario Government entitled "The Province of Ontario in the War," which is nothing more or less than campaign literature distributed at the public expense. It is a publication of 125 pages and printed on most expensive book paper. The work is by J. Castill Hopkins and from a typographical standpoint it is a splendid sample of work.

The Toronto Saturday Night is another publication which has received a copy and it characterizes it as a panagyric of achievements of the Hearst Government during the past four years and is embellished with handsome portraits of Sir William and the members of his Cabinet. It is true that a non-partisan color is given to the publication by the inclusion of a portrait of William Proudfoot, K.C., eidevant leader of an imaginary Opposition; but Mr. Proudfoot is the only private member who is so honored. If it were merely the purpose of the book to give honor where honor is due, we should have thought that a picture of all the members of the Legislature during the war period would have been included. Mr. Proudfoot is rather useless as camouflage, since he is no longer leader of the Liberal party, and rumor has it will run an Independent supporter of Sir William Hearst.

Issued three weeks before an appeal to the people, the conclusion is inescapable that the book was intended as campaign literature, for which the general public foots the bill. That the bill will be large is unquestionable, because an expert estimate of the cost shows that they could not be mechanically produced under any circumstances, at less than $250 per thousand. Even if only a thousand of them are sent to each constituency in the Province of Ontario, the sum would run into $25,000 or $30,000; but one thousand per constituency is possibly a very limited estimate of the number being distributed at the present time to assist in keeping he Hearst Government in power. Everybody is talking of economy as the only salvation of this country, but it seems difficult to induce our public men to practice it, especially when handling the people's money.—Lindsay Post.

EDITORIAL NOTES

A Gillespie vote is a vote for progress—vote for the man who has ably represented you for the past five years.

Mr. Soden's attempt to contort the temperance issue to his own advantage should lose him hundreds of temperance votes.

The Liberal and U.F.O. candidates are clean-cut in their declarations on the temperance question. But what about the great mass of the Hearst candidates?

The chief evidence that is brought forward to show that the Hearst Government is the temperance party is that the Premier says he is going to vote "No" four times. How will the rest of the Cabinet vote?

What has Mr. Tooms, the candidate of the Independent Labour party to say if the insinuation in Mr. Soden's letter to temperance workers that he and his fellow nominee of the Labour party are placed in the field by the liquor interest?

LOWER PRICES FOR CLOTHING IF BETTER SUPPLY OF WOOL

Col. Price put it right up to the Dominion Government at the sitting of the Board of Commerce this morning that the cost of clothing would come down if the State were to get the manufacturer of cloths in Canada a sufficient supply of wool.

Donald McKinnon, of the Simpson Company, suggested that the manufacturer would be able to produce cheaper if he made fewer patterns, but pointed out that the Canadian mills were in such an independent position to-day that they could pick and choose what they wanted to manufacture. The garment assemblers were somewhat in the same position, because they could not get the cloth as readily, and the retailer, not having the quantity coming along normally, naturally marked up the price. He ventured the suggestion that the cure-all was "more production."

WINDS.

Some winds, like robins, nest in trees,
And some, like meadow larks, in grasses;
While others cling to flowers, like bees.
The gales that sweep the salt morasses,
Like petrels, brood on stormy seas;
And eagle-winds, as wild as these,
Their eyries make on beetling masses
Of crag in rugged mountain passes.
But wiser is the nestling breeze—
The laughing, elfin breeze, that furls
Its fragrant wings among your curls!
—Arthur Guiterman in Harper's Monthly.

More and better shaves
Did you ever see a barber start to shave a customer without stropping his razor first? Never! Isn't this fact significant?
Stropping, you see, is needed to reform the saw-like edge that results from shaving; to keep the blade free from rust; and to give you for each morning's shave a keen-edged blade. The self-stropping feature of the AutoStrop Razor preserves the keen edge that makes shaving comfort possible.
Stropping—shaving—cleaning are all done without removing the blade from the razor.
Everywhere—razor, strop and 12 blades, complete, in an attractive case, $5.00.

"SHE withstood everything in the field and above all was, and still is, the last and only car to survive until the cessation of hostilities"—Extract from letter received by Ford Motor Company from a British Soldier, in Africa.

Over shell-torn roads, through water soaked fields, second only to the tanks in its power to climb debris and crater holes, the Ford car made a world famous record in the fighting area of the great war. In press despatches, in field reports, in letters, in rhyme and song the praises of the Ford were sounded.

In France	-	700 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Italy	-	850 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Egypt	-	996 cars out of 1,000 were Fords
In Mesopotamia		999 cars out of 1,000 were Fords

The Ford power plant that established this world-wide record in every theatre of the war remains the same. It will be in the Ford you buy.

The Promoter's Wife

BY JANE PHELPS

NEIL'S AUNT BECOMES INQUISITIVE.

CHAPTER LXXXIX

I could see that Neil was terribly put out, although he made no reply when Frederick said he 'would have to count him out.' I also noticed that Mrs. Carter had heard the remark, and had glanced sharply at Neil as if to probe the meaning of what she did not understand.

I tried to talk naturally, and Frederick immediately followed my lead. Then Neil pulled himself together, and the remainder of the luncheon passed off pleasantly. Aunt and I left as soon as we finished, leaving the two men smoking. I had proposed going so that they might talk business if they wished. I wanted Frederick to believe in Neil. I couldn't help but wish he would go in with Neil on some of his deals. I was sure it would be a help to my husband in every way if only he could be associated with a man so bluntly honorable in every way as was Kendall Frederick.

"What did Mr. Frederick mean when he said that he wouldn't go in with those men Neil mentioned? What kind of men are they?"

"I do not know them, aunt. I never have met either one of them." I was glad to be able to say so honestly.

But surely Neil talks of his affairs to you. You must know if his associates are all right."

"No— Neil talks very little of his business affairs at home. He says the office is the place for business, not the home."

"In a sense he is right, yet often a woman's intuition is a help to a man. I rather liked that Mr. Frederick, what do you know of him?"

"Oh, we have known him a long time! he is always just as you saw him to-day. A plain blunt man, but straightforward and honest. He is very wealthy, and I can't help wishing he would become interested with Neil.—He is older and would be a good influence," I added, knowing aunt would wonder why I was so anxious.

"But— you speak Bab as if Neil needed some good influence. You aren't worried over anything in connection with him are you?"

"No aunt—that is not particularly. Yet he is in such big things for a man as young as he is. You must know that by what he has accomplished since we have been married. I don't believe there's another man his age in all New York who has made his money, not inherited it, that has done as well. You see if one inherits money they always have capital, but Neil had nothing, just a few hundred dollars he had saved."

"Yes, he has done wonders. But he was always very bright. His mother was a very clever woman. He inherits many of her traits," pride of family in her voice.

I tried to change the subject by talking of the different places of interest we passed, but something seemed to have aroused aunt's suspicion that everything was not quite all right for she returned again to the subject of Neil's business, and asked me many questions, some of which I could not answer, others which I did not care to.

"Have you visited Neil's new office?" He was telling me he had lately taken a more commodious one?" she questioned.

"Yes, I have been there once. I do not go often, there is no reason why I should," I replied, blushing to think of what had occurred because of my visit.

"I should like to stop and see it, if you have time."

"Certainly. We can stop off then walk up the Avenue to the theatre. We shall have plenty of time." We were going to a matinee.

When we reached the office the blonde stenographer was so frankly surprised to see us that she amused me immensely. I told her she could go right on with her work, that we had no wish to interrupt her, and that we would look around by ourselves. She had risen as if to accompany us when I said to aunt that we would go into Neil's private office. Fortunately he had not locked the door when he left.

"This is sumptuous!" Aunt exclaimed seating herself in one of the large leather chairs, while I took the swivel one at the desk. I had caught a glimpse of an envelope addressed in bold but fashionable chirography. Perhaps I might happen on to something I wanted to know.

"Yes, Neil has very good taste," I replied quietly drawing the envelope toward me as I spoke of the fine view from the windows.

To-morrow—Bab Appropriates a letter she sees upon Neil's Office Desk.

Sensational Discovery of Misleading Tactics by Referendum Committee

House-to-House Canvass, Distorting the Issue, Confusing and Misleading the Women Voters

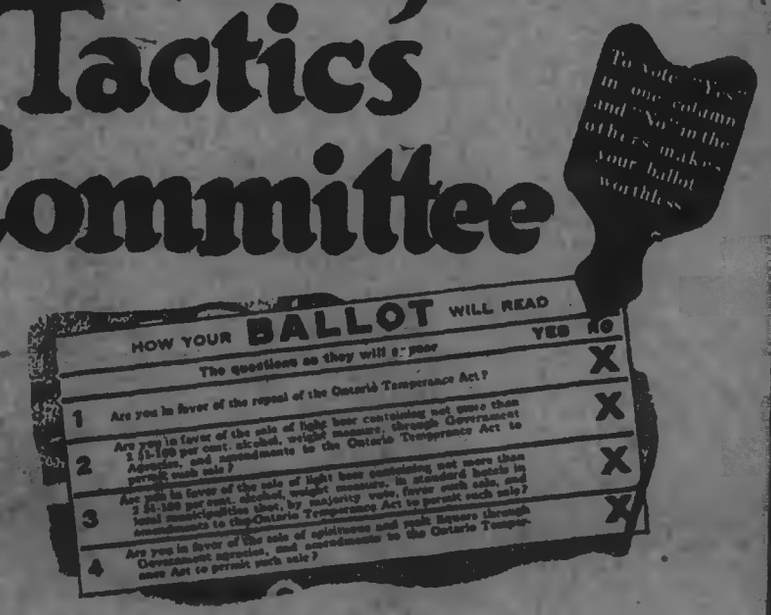
EVIDENCE is accumulating of a widespread campaign of distortion and confusion by the Referendum Committee in an effort to stampede and dragoon the women voters to vote according to the wishes of the Referendum Committee.

Canvassers have been going from door to door all over the Province spreading two absolute untruths—confusing and misleading the innocent—utterly nullifying the effort of the Government to obtain an honest, straightforward, well-advised vote of the people. Independently-minded women who disagreed with them were subjected to tirades of abuse.

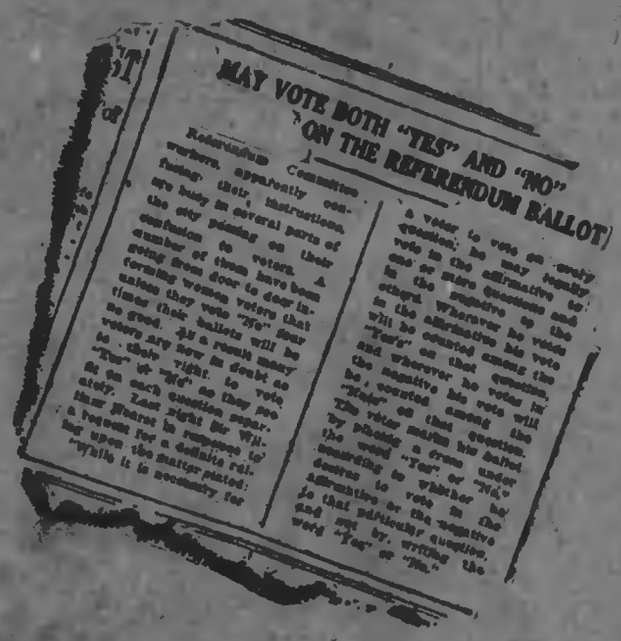
It is one of the greatest scandals in the political history of Ontario—a sensational development in the campaign—a grave reflection on, and indictment of, the honesty of purpose of the entire Referendum Committee.

FIRST.—Flamingly colored and sensational circulars have been sent broadcast over the Province in which it is claimed that—in the words of the advertising as shown in the copy reproduced to the right—"To vote 'Yes' in one column and 'No' in the others makes your ballot worthless." Further, self-constituted advisors to the electorate have gone from house to house solemnly making the same declaration—that if you vote "Yes" in one column and "No" in the others, your ballot will be spoiled. That statement by the Referendum Committee is an absolute untruth, and has been publicly branded as such in the columns of the "Mail and Empire," October 4th, by Sir William Hearst, the Premier of the Province. The Premier's statement is reproduced to the right.

SECOND.—These demagogues and representatives of the Referendum Committee have distributed wholesale a distorted ballot in which it is claimed the man or woman who votes "Yes" to Questions 2 and 3 votes for intoxicating beer. That is an absolute untruth. The beer for which you will vote on October 20th, the Beer of the Ballot, is not intoxicating, has been proven non-intoxicating by scientific experiments and thorough research by a board of fourteen qualified experts.



To vote "Yes" in one column and "No" in the others makes your ballot worthless
HOW YOUR BALLOT WILL READ
The questions as they will appear
YES NO
1 Are you in favor of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act? X
2 Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.5-100 per cent. alcohol, under such measure, through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? X
3 Are you in favor of the sale of light beer containing not more than 2.5-100 per cent. alcohol, under such measure, in standard hotels in local municipalities where, by majority vote, favor such sale, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? X
4 Are you in favor of the sale of spirituous and malt liquors through Government agencies, and amendments to the Ontario Temperance Act to permit such sale? X



Vote "Yes" to all four questions and support the broad-minded men and women of the Citizens' Liberty League in their efforts to obtain sane, moderate temperance legislation.

The Citizens' Liberty League hereby calls upon the Referendum Committee to make a public explanation, retraction and apology that will set the people right—or stand condemned of trickery unworthy of public men and women.

Vote "YES" to All Four Questions

Mark your ballot with an X. Any other marking will spoil it. Remember also—every voter must vote on every question or his ballot will be spoiled.

SCHOOLS, TEACHERS, PUPILS, FOUR SCORE YEARS AGO

the amount was consolidated with some other obligations and eventually paid. It was the irregularity in the financing of this municipal enterprise that brought about the institution of what was known as the Peterboro Town Trust, continued to this day, and whereby the obligations incurred are financed and dealt with entirely outside functions of the Council. In the breadth of the Dominion only one other city has a similar arrangement.

The transition from the old and shabby church-school was hailed with delight and satisfaction by both teachers and pupils. "Goin' to school" became a pleasure instead of a drudge. Corporal punishment had been a rule, it was now modified and used as a deterrant instead of a punishment. But more of this further on. And as we are considering the school buildings alone, reference need not be made to the several slabs that taught from time to time. In 1850 the number of pupils attending the Common School is given as 400. By 1864, (three years after the opening of the enlarged school) the number had grown to 1050, and was taken advantage of. The course of study was simple though varied considering that the school life of the pupil did not carry on but for a very few years. In 1868 a further advance was made and the building was heated by steam.

Within the last month or two certain persons have written to the press stating the horror with which they viewed the whipping of small onenders, by or in the hands of the police—indeed a reluctant ponce. And as a contrast to the ideas of such benign persons a fact or two may be stated as to the method of maintaining discipline in the local schools fifty years ago. Not that pupils were fractious, but that it was the rule to punish for neglect of preparation of lessons and for poorly prepared tasks. Also for any infringements of duty and procedure.

Up to the year 1869 we had a succession of schoolmasters who came, saw and conquered. Two of these were vigorous exponents of the doctrine of flagellation; and practiced what they preached. A Mr. J. C. Patterson came to tool the fourth and third books. The position and place in study of any pupil was derived by stating the book from which he studied. The classes running from the First Book, or Primer to the Fourth Book. There were side studies in geography, grammar, arithmetic and a sprinkling of history. That is in the Common School branches. Other and higher flights were inculcated up-stairs.

In the matetr of flogging and punishment Mr. Patterson was an artist. The boy who offended was whaled with elegance and precision. None of your rough-and-scramble affairs, but punishment administered neatly and over thoroughly. He understood, so it seemed, the anatomy of the human body and picked his spots that the work was effective. Boys were thrashed for what they did and oftener for what they didn't. Either offence, it seemed, deserved adequate punishment. He was an ardent politician of the time and surroundings, an admirer of Hon. George Brown, and once indeed, he carried his predilictions into practice. Mr. Brown came to run in the Riding of Peterboro, and while the campaign was on certain local wags made an effigy of the famous politician and hung it by the neck to a tree on St. John's Church grounds, the tree overhanging the street. Morning after, assembling for school the boys found the effigy and stoned it to heart's content, literally knocking the stuffing out of it. Thirty of the most reckless were late for school and paid the penalty by a thrashing of phenomenal severity. This teacher, in after years, was known as Hon. J. C. Patterson, for some time Lieut. Governor of the Province of Manitoba. Reproached by one of his pupils for his early severity he replied that he was sure that where he whipped there must have been deserving circumstances to warrant it.

If Mr. Patterson were an artist, his successor, Robert Fairbairn was a genius. As a connoisseur he left Mr. Patterson laps behind. His was the motto of the Irish hedge schoolmaster, who said that if the mind wouldn't mark, faith, he'd soon mark the back. A Scotchman, red headed, impulsive and erratic it seemed that he often flailed first and then enquired into the facts afterwards. He brought with him and introduced a taws, a modification of the Russian knout, wooden handle and seven or eight strips of leather hanging from the handle. His favorite method of punishment was to call the offender to the platform, and while towering over the small figure, hold it by the collar of the coat and search with the taws up and down for the soft spots. The writhing victim yelling the meanwhile. One infraction of class rules always brought severe whipping. An ink bottle with the contents frozen would be placed on the stove, the cork not being removed. Presently the cork popped and the inky contents flew to th eceiling and about the room. Ceiling over the stove was perfectly black with seasons of explosions. On one occasion Mr. Fairbairn whipped the entire class of 23 boys because no one boy would tell who had placed the bottle on the stove. He was familiarly referred to as "Scotch Bob."

It will be plain that such methods made for an absence of harmony between teacher and pupil. Indeed was bred strong resentment. On occasion the class rose in rebellion, and slates and books were hurled at the teacher, and a general ruction ensued that was only quelled by bringing up the reserves in the persons of teachers from the upper rooms. The rising was so complete and sweeping that there were too many to whip as a reprisal. This incident recalls the names of some of those concerned, the chief of the Soviet being Fred Winch, Jim Borrowman, Charley Niblock, Jessee Chapman, Jim Carruthers, Knuttety Hodgins, Fred Hall and a sparkling of lesser lights. It was gay while it lasted and its memories hallowed the old school room for many a day.

Flailings were accepted, as a matter of course, just as we now accept the demand for a new $250,000 school as a coming tribulation that might as well be suffered along with other high costs of living. But in many ways mentioned, if a boy did not get at least three threshings in two days he felt neglected and if a week passed without a whaling he was being treated with indifference. And that positively could not be.

Once, after a particular series of severe whippings, four irate fathers came to the school, called the teacher outside and gave him his choice of abating these punishments to some reasonable extent or taking a cold bath in the river.

On opening the new school rules were made and adhered to that punishment would only be administered by the principal, the statement of teacher and pupil being first heard. Whippings at once fell off over seven to one. Under and amidst brighter and more wholesome surroundings the school began to make a record, and what had been a dread for many became a pleasure.

We learn by contrast and we gain by experience. Any one who will take the trouble to delve into the successive reports made as to our schools and consider the gradual progress will appreciate. The expansion of the common school curriculum, if the expression may be used, the piling on of studies, the taxing of the pupil with "Home Work," the endeavor to inculcate a little of everything and not so much as would be substantial of study to be used in what the prayer book terms: "that station of life which it has pleased God to call us" but hesitates to affirm that we are going on, carrying on in the very best. The ethics of the profession of teaching have to be maintained. The traditions of the educational vocation must be respected, for only a people or cult that respects its traditions may make progress. For here is a field of thought, abundant with the common man that the common man's child—of which there are many and ever will be—needs the grounding in elements of every day education that will make the citizen, appreciative of his place in the scheme of life and capable of tackling his daily duties, first and always. The backbone of this country is the common people. And the common people need first of all a Common School and Technical Educatio. For the larger flights can wait.

More Farms - Good Times

How it Affects You

Among our returned soldiers there are thousands of practical farmers. Still other thousands are studying farming under Canada's supervision, by hiring out to farmers, and by taking courses in agricultural colleges. These men want to "go on the land," but they have no capital. So, through the medium of the Soldiers' Land Settlement Act, Canada says to them "If you are fully qualified to farm, I will lend you money to purchase land, stock and implements. You may pay it back within a stated time, and for the loan of it, I will charge you only a moderate rate of interest."

Canada makes this offer, not only because men who have fought deserve well of their country, but because it is of prime importance that more land should be cultivated.

The love of outdoor life and the resourcefulness of our soldier citizens are just the qualities to make them successful farmers, and upholders of the best Canadian tradition.

As evidence of the value of the Land Settlement Act, the following figures were available on August 15:--

Number of applications from soldiers	29,495
Number of applications investigated and approved (not all placed)	22,281
Number of soldiers actually farming this year	9,043
Average amount of loan to each soldier	$2,960
Total amount of loans	$26,767,304
Average size of farm	160 acres
Total amount of homestead lands—that is, virgin soil placed under cultivation	1,000,000 acres

This million acres was divided among 3,768 soldiers, 160 acres each being the original allotment; but 2,512 soldiers availed themselves of the privilege open to all soldier-homesteaders to obtain an additional 160 acres, making their allotment 320 acres each.

In addition to a million acres of virgin soil already placed under cultivation, more than 6,000 other farms are now being worked, many of which would have been less productive if returned soldiers had not taken them over.

It is just as true to-day as it was before the war that big crops favorably marketed mean general prosperity for Canada.

The more wheat and farm products Canada grows and sells, the more money will be spread through all classes of the community. Not only the farmer, but the merchant, the manufacturer, the industrial wage earner and the professional man will benefit.

Here is where YOU come in.

$24,000,000 of the forthcoming Victory Loan will be used to make loans to soldier farmers.

By purchasing Victory Bonds you will help the soldier who is starting life anew on the farm as well as sharing in this national investment in farm development. You will not only get good interest on your money with the best security, but you will participate in the increased general prosperity which greater farm production brings.

Get ready to join in the promotion of greater national prosperity, therefore, by subscribing to the

CHORAL UNION ORGANIZED.

CAMPBELLFORD. Oct. 6. — Campbellford has taken a forward step along musical lines by organizing a choral union. Mr. C. H. Harris occupied the chair at the meeting for organization, when the following officers were elected: Hon. President, C. H. Harris; President, D. F. Robertson; Vice-President, E. Brunnelle; Secretary-Treasurer, V. S. Colinson; Musical Director, D. Nicholson; Accompanist, W. Thomson; Membership Committee, W. Henson, Chairman, Miss Maynard, Mrs. A. Hay, Mrs. C. W. Turner, J. Taylor; Music Committee, Messrs. D. F. Robertson, D. Nicholson, W. Thomson and Broughton.

British Columbia Woman Speaks Plainly.

Her Message is to Everyone.

Those who have found relief are the people who want all sufferers to know what they gained from their experience.

Mrs. B. Walters, of Savona, B.C., writes, praising Gin Pills for the immediate relief given by these splendid Pills. Mrs. Walters says:—

"I advise people who have not used Gin Pills to try them. I have been troubled for years with weak kidneys, and one box of Gin Pills cured me. I recommend them as an absolute and reliable cure."

Derangement of kidneys or bladder is so very serious that, at the first sign of pain in side or back, treatment with Gin Pills should begin. The duty of the kidneys is to cleanse the blood. If weak or inactive, uric acid and other poisons and waste are carried to the joints and muscles, causing inflammation, rheumatism, sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, constant headaches, dizziness, floating specks before the eyes, gravel or stone in the bladder, general debility and lassitude. If you have any of these symptoms, get Gin Pills at once. Free sample on request. At druggists or dealers, 50c a box. Money refunded if not relieved.

Why a Heintzman & Co. Piano?

The compelling force in buying a piano bearing the name of "Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co., Limited," is its tone.

Other reasons, of course.

All through the sixty-five years that this piano has been built the skill of the most capable craftsmen and the wisdom of the most musicianly artists have contributed to keep it to the front rank.

For long years it has been the standard in piano building. But above all else that gives it a distinctive place is its Tone. And when Tone is wanting nothing else counts.

MR. G. A GILLESPIE AT YOUNG'S POINT

ADDRESSES DELIVERED ON PUBLIC ISSUES OF THE DAY—A GOOD MEETING.

Mr. G. A. Gillespie held a well attended meeting considering the unfavourable weather at Young's Point last evening. Mr. Charlton occupied the chair. Addresses were delivered by Capt. C. R. Widdifield and Mr. R. R. Hall. Mr. G .A. Gillespie in the course of his remarks stated that one of the great problems that was confronting the people of Canada to-day is: What can be done to reduce the high cost of living.

Mr. Gillespie said that when he was elected to the Legislature one of the first steps he took was to have measures bring about increased production but the Minister of Agriculture and the Hearst Government gave it the cold shoulder and did nothing and allowed nothing to be done.

Mr. Duff at that time was Minister of Agriculture and since his death there has been no improvement or real effective steps made to increase food production. The Government had been from time to time criticized by even their own friends.

Even Sir Joseph Flavelle leading Conservative as he is, in the Province said in the public press addressed to The Minister of Agriculture.

"You have permitted, you are now permitting, thousands of young Ontario farmers, the cream of our Agricultural people, to leave their own Province for the West, while, by your inertia, you show you are not cognizant of the advantages of continued residence in this Province if full advantage is taken of the opportunities which open in response to intelligent effort."

Mr. Gillespie also referred to his own temperance record. In 1914 he ran his election on the problem of abolish the bar and the electors approved of his course. Since that time the bar has been abolished and will not be restored by any liberal administration.

Sir William Hearst says that if the majority of people vote against the Ontario Temperance Act he will restore the open bar. Mr. R. J. Soden says he is a supporter of Sir William Hearst. It is therefore very plainly to be seen that Mr. Soden has somewhere hidden in his platform a plank that re-established the open bar, not withstanding his wild protests that he is the simon pure advocate of total prohibition.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds — one day is warm, the next is wet and cold and unless the mother is on her guard the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mother's best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose will prevent colds or if it does come on suddenly the prompt use of the Tablets will quickly relieve it. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CANDIDATE IN EAST OTTAWA

(Special to The Examiner.)

OTTAWA, Oct. 11.— A new Independent Conservative candidate in East Ottawa for the Ontario Legislature has appeared. He is Mr. Derocher, formerly Mayor of Ottawa. Mr. Derocher was waited upon by a large delegation of French Canadians yesterday and asked to accept the candidature. He requested 24 hours to consider and his decision will be announced shortly.

Mr. J. Marchand also stated his intention last night to run as the Hearst canidate in East Ottawa and is the first candidate mentioned since Controller Champagne announced his withdrawal.

Mr. Marchand is an well known Ottawa citizen and a keen Hearst supporter and looks for the aid of his people in the new riding.

GERMANY'S NEW WAR

(Canadian Press.)

LONDON, Oct. 11.—Confirmation of the newspaper report that German forces have captured Riga is being awaited here, but if disparity of the rival forces is as great as reported in some despatches, the success of the attack on the city would not be surprising. "Germany's new war" is featured in this morning's newspapers, but reorts printed here add nothing of importance to despatches received by the Canadian press. There whereabouts of Geieral Von Der Goltz continues to be subject of contradictory rumors and estimates of size of the army commanded by Colonel Avaloff-Bermondt also show wide divergence.

SUNDAY SCHOOL RALLY AT THE S. A. TEMPLE

The little old woman who lived in a shoe and had fourteen children and didn't know what to do, will be seen in real life at the Salvation Army Temple rally on Sunday afternoon. A large shoe to accommodate the old woman and her children has been built on the platform and an interesting time is anticipated. No admission. Everybody welcome.

RHEUMATIC PEOPLE

Can Only Find Relief by Enriching the Blood.

Rheumatism is a disorder of the blood. It attacks people when the blood is overcharged with acid and impurities, thus setting up inflammation in the muscles and joints. Wet weather or cold weather of autumn may start the tortures of rheumatism but is not the cause. The cause is in the blood and the blood only. Victims of this malady have every reason to fear the first dull ache in the limbs and joints, followed by sharp pains through the flesh and muscles; these are the symptoms of poison in the blood which may shortly leave the victim painracked and helpless.

There is only one way to cure rheumatism, and that is through the blood. Liniments, hot applications, and rubbing may give temporary ease, but cannot possibly root the trouble out of the system. That can only be done by the rich, red blood which Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make. This new blood drives out the poisonous acids had impurities, and the rheumatism disappears If you are a sufferer from this painful malady begin curing yourself today by the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and see how soon the pains and stiffness of the joints fade away, leaving behind new energy and new health.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LINDSAY MAN GAVE HIS BLOOD TO SAVE LIFE OF BROTHER

In a last effort to save the life of his brother Joseph, who was lying seriously ill at St. Joseph's Hospital at Peterboro, Mr. J. Lonergan of the Hotel Benson, Lindsay, journeyed to Peterboro Wednesday night and bravely submitted to transfusion of blood from his own body to that of his brother, before one of his legs was amputated by his physicians.

Mr. Joseph Lonergan contracted rheumatism in one of his knees some years ago, and although troubled at times with rheumatic pains, the ailment did not assume a serious phase until this summer. Motor traffic through the country, it is believed, aggravated the trouble and a few weeks ago—practically on the eve of his wedding—Mr. Lonergan was obliged to enter St. Joseph's Hospital. An abscess of some form, it is understood had developed in the knee, and his condition continued to grow worse, baffling the skill of the attending physicians. Hope for his recovery had amost been abandoned, when, as a last resort, it was decided to amputate the affected limb. The patient was in a very weakened condition and a transfusin of blood was absolutely necessary to increase his vitality if the operation was to be successful. Mr. John Lonergan volunteered and on Wednesday after the transfusion had taken place, the limb was amputated by Drs. Moir and Gallivan.

Yesterday morning a 'phone message from Peterboro conveyed the gratifying information that the patient's condition was quite satisfactory, and hopes are held out for his recovery.

Mr. J. Lonergan, of the Hotel Benson, is feeling no ill effects after the transfusion, and is, of course, delighted over the success of the operation.

SPECIAL SERVICES AL THE TEMPLE

It is expected Sunday will be a banner day so far as the S.A. Temple Sunday School is concerned inasmuch as it is the Young People's Rally Day. Staff Capt. Cornish of Toronto will be in charge.

In the afternoon service which commences at 2.15 sharp there will be erected a huge shoe in which "Mrs. Foote 'and her fourteen children reside. This will illustrate by means of a song service the importance of the Sabbath school for every child.

Songster Leader Ford is going to provide sacred music by his orchestra and altogether the S.S. officers are expecting a splendid time.

If you are interested in children came along and you will be interested and inspired and there will be something in keeping with the Sabbath to interest old and young. Come and bring someone else.

Lots of men remain bachelors simply because they can afford to.

A childless marriage is not a howling success in one sense of the term.

Mr. H. H. Dewart, K.C., M.P.P., at his nomination meeting in Templar's Hall, Queen Street West, Wednesday.

Under the guise of the necessity for utilizing "vishnick" in the observance of the Kiddush in Jewish homes, the Liberal Leader declared, Mr. Ben Stone, Chief Conservative organizer among the Jews, had been given authority to import liquor by the thousands of bottles, and Mr. Dewart said he was prepared to prove that the Government vendor was not particular whether it was this special "vishnick" which was supplied, or another brand of liquor.

Issue Orders by Hundred.

Mr. Dewart read Section 6A of the statute under which he said authority had been taken for the Government action. "Under the force of this regulation," he said, "there has been authority given to the chief Conservative organizer amongst the Jews in Southwest Toronto for the purpose of appointing him a special vendor to import liquor by the thousands of bottles from the city of Montreal into Toronto. Under the authority of that regulation Mr. Ben Stone, who is, jointly with the Chief Rabbi and Police Magistrate Cohen of this city, the chief Conservative representative of the Jewish people, appeared, according to the announcement in the synagogue, in the Zion Institute, Beverly Street, Sunday afternoon and issued orders by the hundred to those who appeared."

"Just upon the eve of an election this authority is given, authority to obtain strong liquor in the city of Toronto under the guise of religious privileges ,and authority to purchase this liquor from the 7th to the 15th of this month. You will see this Government is perfectly willing to sacrifice its record for temperance and everything else if by some such method as this it can save itself from the defeat which it sees impending in Southwest Toronto.

Claims it is Cherry Brandy.

The Liberal Leader went on to explain that "vishnick" is really cherry brandy, and later on in his argument he produced a signed statement by Thomas Hayes & Son, analysts, to the effect that it was equal to proof spirits 62.84 per cent. He read from the Jewish Encyclopaedia to show that it was absolutely unnecessary in observance of the Kiddush, and in fact there was a special recommendation in the Jewish faith against utilizing "beer or brandy."

Took Precautionary Measures.

Mr. Dewart demanded: "Does this License Department understand what it is doing? Apparently it did because precautionary measures were taken. The liquor was imported from Montreal and on Monday morning, when the store opened, there were many there and Stone had to go down, and explain that the liquor had not arrived. Tuesday morning there was a still larger crowd, because documents had been issued by the hundreds and have already been issued by the thousands. On Monday morning, before 10 o'clock, Chief Rabbi Jacobs, accompanied by Stone, appeared at the door, doubtless because of the alarm created by the Globe article, and soon Commissioner Flavelle was on the spot, doubtless to see that Southwest Toronto got what his friend, George Gooderham, desired it should get."

Supply Was Exhausted.

Speaking of Monday morning, he continued: "One thousand bottles had been served, because I took precautionary measure of having men there to see what was taking place. That went on all day Monday until the supply was exhausted. It went on again to-day until notice was put up, whether because of lack of supply or because they saw my photographers there watching the movements, that no further liquor would be served. All this means that this Government is so desperately averse to defeat that it is even willing to take this miserable practice to save itself, so far as the Jewish people in Southwest Toronto are concerned. I want to tell Sir William Hearst that he cannot buy the Jews of Toronto with a bottle of brandy. We have the evidence of what took place. We know the sales were made, and we have details of men getting one, two, four and even six bottles of liquor."

Says It Is Bribery.

Mr. Dewart—Well nine is the highest on record. I know there were others, and evidence will be forthcoming later to show that the vendors were not too particular as to what they gave, and did not always stick to vishnick, as prescribed under "Doctor" Stone's order. Realize what this means, that a Government upon the eve of an election, within ten days of the time that it is going to its execution, ten days in which to save its precious neck, by that cheap practise attempts to bribe one of the most respectable peoples in the city of Toronto and in the Province of Ontario.

Not Prescriptions.

"They were not prescriptions which were issued. I have in my hands one of the documents which had been given at a meeting which George Gooderam attended this week, issued after he had spoken at that meeting. I will not say at the same time, but during the same evening. Those who were there were instructed as to where they could get this liquor. And I am also informed that the signature of the supposed rabbi on this order I have is not that of a rabbi at all ,but of the caretaker of the Zionist building. We have evidence to show that 400 orders were issued by this caretaker as a rabbi and honored by the Government vendors.

"Then we go a little bit farther. Do you tell me that this wine is for sacramental purposes?"

From the audience—No, booze.

Produces Bottle.

"I have got a bottle of it here" (and amid applause Mr. Dewart pulled a bottle out of his grip). "I will take the chance of any policeman arresting me on a charge of illegally having liquor in my possession, but what about the poor returned man who is caught with an ounce in his possession and pays $200? We know that between three to five thousand bottles of liquor have been issued from this new vendor's store in two days and carried through the streets of Toronto, while other respectable men are arrested and fined. I know, because I sent a man to test them, and they gave this liquor also to a very respectable looking Christian, who could not by any chance be taken for a Jew. That is how the temperance law is administered by your prohibition Premier."

SAYS ITALIAN IS A GOOD SOLDIER

(Special to The Examiner.)

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 11.—Before the Canadian Club, Brig.-Gen. C. H. Mitchell gave some new information with reference to Italy's part in the war. He said it was not generally known that the Italians effectually stopped the Germans and Austrians and held them for three weeks until the British and French divisions could get there. In his opinion there was not a better soldier than the Italian in the war and the only trouble was after they had defeated the invaders they were inclined to ease up a bit because the fight was won and they didn't see the necessity for exerting themselves. Mitchell said the Fiume affair was like Dr. Jameson's raid in the Transvaal, and that Fiume and Poland will be the centres of trouble for the League of Nations for years.

TAGGERS OUT IN FULL FORCE

There seems to be every prospect of success for the Children's Aid Society's Tag Day. The taggers this morning reported that the tags were selling very well and the crowds on the street bore out this statement, for people without tags were few and far between. Nevertheless there were a few who came down town by way of the less travelled streets and who, whenever a tagger hove in sight, immediately discovered the fact that they had a pressing engagement on the opposite side of the street.

The Quick Way to Stop a Cough

This home-made syrup does the work in a hurry. Easily prepared, and saves about $2.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good.

Pour 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth) in a 16-oz bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 16 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup.

And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon, your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. Recommends Internal Bathing for Piles and Constipation.

If people who suffer from constipation, piles and the many ills resulting from accumulated waste in the intestines would realize what the J.B.L. Cascade is doing for thousands of people who are being daily restored to perfect health by its use, there would be a J.B.L. Cascade in every Canadian home.

Mr. E. Nighswander, of Green River, Ont., writes: "I purchased a J.B.L. Cascade from you about ten months ago and consider it the best money I ever invested. For years I have been troubled with constipation, ulcers in the bowels and piles, which all the money I spent on medicines and doctors only relieved temporarily. My J.B.L. Cascade has completely cured these troubles, and I feel it a duty I owe to my fellow-men to endorse the Cascade in the very highest terms. No amount of money could estimate the value it has been to me. No home should be without one.

The J.B.L. Cascade is the only perfected invention for internal bathing. Keeps the system sweet and clean, cures constipation, headaches, rheumatism, and keeps you fit at all times. It is shown and explained at Warne Drug Co.

Phone or ask them for free booklet all about it—or write Tyrell's Hygienic Institute, 163 College St., Toronto.,

TEACHERS DISCUSS SCHOOL PROBLEM

The teachers of the city and county institutes, who are holding their annual conventions in the city met in a joint session in the Assembly Hall of the Collegiate Institute, Friday morning at 8 o'clock.

Mr. R. F. Downey, President of the city association, occupied the chair.

The programme which was to have occupied the day was completed at noon owing to the absence of Dr. Dandeno, the Education Department's representative, who was to have spoken both morning and afternoon.

The opening paper on the programme was an address from the President, who took for his subject "Waste in Education". Of the many factors which are responsible for such a condition the speaker dealt with a few of the most potent:

1. The course of study as hitherto outlined.

2. The need of consolidated schools in rural districts with their larger grounds better equipment libraries, assembly halls, etc.

3. The multiplicity of authority in rural sections—or the constant changing of trustees many of whom have litle interest in educational affairs beyond the securing of a teacher who must be obtained at the lowest possible salary.

4. Poor attendance is a constant worry to both teacher and pupil.

5. Lack of permanence in the teaching profession. Numbers of teachers are leaving the profession for more remunerative employment.

6. Poor organization.—Many of our best educators advocate a public school course that may end when a child is of the age of twelve.

An instrumental duet was given by Misses Morrow and Caldwell. Miss Shearer gave a pleasing vocal solo.

"Social Unrest and The School", was the subject on which Mr. H. R. H. Kenner was asked to speak. Of so able and comprehensive a nature was this address that a motion was passed to the effect that it be published in the city press and it is the hope of the Institute that Mr. Kenner may be prevailed upon to accede to their wishes. The problems touched upon were such as should be of keen interest to the public at large and to all bodies having to do with educational affairs.

Many Problems

Some thoughts brought out were that the storms and trials of the war years, the relaxation brought about by peace, the general tendency to laxity in the home, the social life in which the immature are allowed to mingle without requisite supervision are problems confronting the parent, the teachers of secondary schools and of even the higher forms of our public schools. The teachers find themselves struggling with difficulties connected with ordinary living. Feeling the responsibility of their work they hesitate to use the means employed by other bodies of workers to assert their just rights, and the public are slow to recognize their responsibilities in the matter.

Capt. J. E. R. Munroe, dealt with the "Labour Problem, Past and Present". Trade unions of modern times are certainly responsible for the elimination of the unfortunate conditions under which life was made miserable for the working classes. The time must come when false power will be swept away, when all might not be rich but none be poor.

A trio rendered by Misses Armstrong, Fusee and McKay was much enjoyed. Miss Caldwell was the accompanist for all the musical numbers.

The closing paper of the convention was one on "Composition" by Mr. Gould of King Ed. School. This subject has shown great improvement in the last generation due to the fact that children read a great deal more than heretofore. Public and School Libraries are the crying need of the day and children should be encouraged to read a great deal under proper supervision.

A New Blood-Food Has Been Discovered That Works Wonders

SAID TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PEOPLE THAT ARE RUN-DOWN.

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into thin blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and flesh-building the treatment is.

Just think of it—Ferrozone uplifts the entire nervous system, removes the blood, makes it rich and red—gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and languor.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferrozone;—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Ferrozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Ferrozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferrozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferrozone build you up, let it win you back to robust health—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers. 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferrozone.

EGGS TOOK A SUDDEN DROP

TORONTO, October 11. — Eggs took a sudden drop at the St. Lawrence market this morning when Property Commissioner Chisholm set the fair price standard at 65-68c. The price being asked at the time was about 75c.

The commissioner, following last week's conferences with Major Duncan, has had eight blackboards set up at the market and next week he will post on these the fair prices for most commodities on sale there. Today he made a beginning with eggs only and a ten cent drop followed his posting up of the 65-68c figures.

Another form of produce to take a downward dive was potatoes.

These, though not posted on the blackboards were reduced in price 5 to 10c a basket as a result of possible visits to the sellers made by Supt. Harkins of the market.

BIG STRIKE TIES UP NEW YORK HARBOR

(Canadian Press.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11. — Extension to the coastwise traffic at every Atlantic port of the longshoremen's strike, which has completely paralyzed New York harbour, appeared inevitable to-day. John F. Riley, the chairman of the committee directing the strike, announced that orders for such an extension had been issued following the action here yesterday of the National Adjustment Commission of the United States Shipping Board, which refused to grant an increase in the coastwise longshoremen's scale from 65c to $1 an hour.

Activities in the New York harbor this morning were virtually at a standstill. In addition to stoppage of steamer sailings resulting from the longshoremen's strike, the employees of all the Hudson River ferry lines and all the railway companies' tug lines (with the exception of the Lackawana) struck suddenly last night, tieing up the tugs and all ferry boats.

THE YOUNG MEN OF ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH

OFFICERS ELECTED—BI-MONTHLY MEETINGS WILL BE HELD.

A number of the young men of St. Andrew's Church met on Thursday evening, when it was decided to resuscitate the St. Andrew's Young Men's Guild. Mr. W. S. Campbell, who has been instrumental in getting the young men together, occupied the chair. There is an enthusiastic number of young men in St. Andrew's, who are bound to make the Guild a success.

Bi-monthly meetings will be held.

The election of president, secretary, and treasurer took place on Thursday evening, and resulted as follows:

President, Mr. Charlie Thornton.
Secretary, Mr. Norman Laing.
Treasurer, Mr. Allen MacNabb.

At next meeting, which will take place in two weeks' time, an executive of five members will be elected.

NO ORCHESTRA PRACTICE

There will be no orchestra practice at the Conservatory this evening.

THE SAN CARLO GRAND OPERA COMPANY COMING

GAVE UP DATE IN LONDON TO ACCOMMODATE THE PRINCE OF WALES.

Representatives of the San Carlo Grand Opera Company, the greatest of all touring organizations, numbering one hundred people, and including a large and brilliant chorus, superb symphony orchestra, and some twenty of the foremost opera stars of the present day, is coming to Peterboro for one performance on Wednesday evening, Oct 22, directly following its engagement in Ottawa. The San Carlo forces are now appearing in His Majesty's, at Montreal, for two weeks, and drawing capacity audiences.

Peterboro gets this big event, without question the most extraordinary affair in local amusement history, because the San Carlo Co. generously gave up its engagement in London on date in question. So Wales could hold his public reception at the Grand Opera House in that on the date in question. So that what is London's loss, artistically speaking, is Peterboro's gain.

Further particulars will be given out early next week by Manager Dahn of the Grand. Two rows of seats will have to be removed from the lower floor of the theatre to accommodate the San Carlo orchestra.

MUSICAL TREAT OF THE SEASON

FAMOUS PEACOCK ALLEY CHORUS COMING HERE.

Which will prove the season's most interesting musical event, will be realized when Coutts and Tennis, scenic spectacle "The Kiss Burglar" announced for production at the Grand Saturday, matinee and evening.

The gorgeous costumes are fashion plates of the latest design, several of which were purchased at the Appraisers Stores at the New York Customs House, and they represent the latest models that were being smuggled into this country, fresh from the dressmakers shop in Paris. The new and novel dances of which there are seventeen were staged and produced by Julian Mitchell who is considered one of America's best dancing masters. The special musical numbers and song hits from the pen of Raymond Hubbell, of which twelve promise to become an international rage. An enormous company including the famous Peacock Alley chorus who know how to sing and dance make the audience wonder if the producers have cornered all the pretty girls as well as talented in America. The action of the play offers an interesting story of America and Europe with book and lyrics by Glen MacDonough who already has a long list of successes to his credit. While the last word in scenery is spoken, which is scenery—not on the canvas of commerce—but on silk, and is the original Cohan Theatre production. Seats on sale now Prices $1.50, $1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c., evening Matinee, $1.00, 75c., 50c., 25c.

"OH, BOY!"

A newly married couple, a midnight supper and a dashing and captivating actress, Jackie Sampson, accidentally meeting Jim Marin in an apartment where she takes refuge in fleeing from an officer of the law after a mix-up in a gay restaurant is the story of "Oh, Boy," the delightfully pretty New York Princess Theatre musical comedy success which F. Ray Comstock and William Elliott will send here. At the Grand Thursday evening.

The story of "Oh, Boy" revolves around one George Budd, a young bachelor who secretly marries Lou Ellen Carter without taking her parents into his confidence.

Jim Marvin, a friend of Budd's, gathers about him a number of gay friends at Budd's apartments in order to celebrate a polo victory. A telegram arrives from his quaker aunt who is his guardian and opposed to his marrying. The bride decides it best to spend the night at her home. She and George leave the apartment, and then Jackie Sampson, an actress who plays "Modesty" in "Experience," dashes in the open window to escape a constable. She meets Jim Marvin and tells him she was with a party in the restaurant and during a mix-up she hit an officer in the eye. Jim Marvin proves a true friend and introduces her to the constable as the real Mrs. Budd. The arrival of the bride's father and mother, and Budd's quaker aunt, result in some amusing situations, but as George is a resourceful young man he manages to straighten out the mix-up and the story ends with happiness for all.

Eighteen musical numbers grace the score of "Oh, Boy" of the whistley kind. Some of the most popular are: "An Old Fashioned Wife," "Till The Clouds Roll By," "Rolled Into One," "The Frist Day of May," "Roo-la-loo" and "Nesting Time in Flatbush."

"MY SOLDIER GIRL"

When the musical spectacle, "My Soldier Girl," comes to the Grand on Saturday, 18th October, matinee and evening, theatregoers will be treated to gorgeous costumes, elaborate stage settings, novelties that are new and effective, and an excellent cast supported by a bewitching beauty chorus who present the many stage pictures that make a show a success. One of the many novel features in the tuneful musical play is a gorgeous stage setting which presents a brilliant Follies production on the roof of a New York theatre, with a grand illumination of the city in the distance. In rapid succession follows "Flirtation Walk," an illuminated runboard extending out over the heads of the audience, on which the clever dances are introduced by bewitching beauties. A lawn fete at Colonel Stone's home, Miami, Fla., with banks of flowers and lights. Novel drills and dance ensembles. The famous "pony" ballet from the roof of a New York theatre, and a brilliant musical spectacle in all its merry-making. There are fully some twenty musical numbers, including "My Soldier Girl," "Just For You," "Wrap Me in a Bundle of Love," "That Dixie Wedding Tune," and "Won't You Be My Beau," are among the real favourites.

"THE SILVER KING" THRILLING PLAY NOW IN PICTURES

Wm. Faversham, Celebrated Actor, Appears in the Stellar Role at the Allen Next Monday.

After holding the stage in England and this country for more than thirty years, "The Silver King," the famous melodrama of English life, written by Henry Arthur Jones and Henry Herman has been pictured with William Faversham in the stellar role, and this great Paramount-Artcraft special picture will be shown at the Allen Theatre on Monday and Tuesday.

"The Silver King" deals with the adventures of Wilfred Denver, an English country squire, who is ruined by a supposed friend in revenge for country and he amasses a fortune in cutting him out in the affection of a beautiful girl whom Denver marries. Years later, Ware induces Denver to bet all he owned upon a Derby race, the result being that he is impoverished. When Denver hears Ware gloating over the success of his scheme, he goes to the latter's house at night with intention to kill him, but Ware instead is slain by the leader of a band of robbers.

Denver is suspected of the crime, but he evades arrest by fleeing to this a Western mining camp. His wife and friends, as well as the police, believe him to be killed in a railway accident and when he appears in England under an assumed name, exciting events ensue. Denver's innocence of murder is established and he is reunited with his family.

Mr. Faversham is supported by Barbara Castleton, who plays opposite him, Warburton Gamble, John Sunderland and other well known players.

"THE UNPARDONABLE SIN"

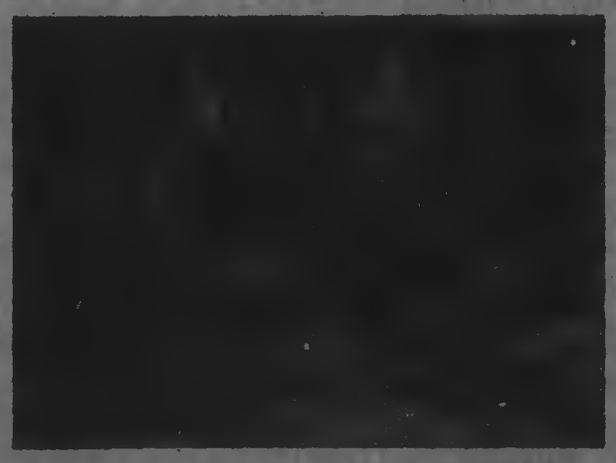
Much has been written about the cost of big photo-play productions—and because not a little of it has been pure "press agentry," it is, perhaps, no longer the best of form to attempt to guage the merit of a photoplay production by the amount of money which was expended in making it.

The production is in ten reels, and this alone means a lot of money. Cutting into the exchequer of Harry Garson, the producer, to a greater extent, however, were the salaries of such people as Marshall Neilan, Blanche Sweet, Wallace Beery and others whose services were enlisted in the screening of the story. Miss Sweet, the star, was secured for the production only after extra inducements had been offered her to forsake the comparatively quiet life, away from moving picture people, which she had been leading after having established herself as an International screen favorite.

Much of the comedy in "The Unpardonable Sin," is provided by two able little screen stars, who will be particularly welcomed everywhere by members of the Boy Scouts of America. One of the youngsters plays the part of a member of the Belgium organization of the Boy Scouts and the other announces to his chance acquaintance that he is an American Boy Scout. The two youngsters match their wits against those of adults in the cause of Humanity, and get results, which, in most cases, are as amusing as they are gratifying.

"The Unpardonable Sin" will be the attraction at the Allen Theatre, beginning next Wednesday, and performances will be given twice nightly, beginning at 6.15 and 9.00.



ALICE JOYCE IN STRONGEST ROLE "THE THIRD DEGREE" IS VEHICLE

Alice Joyce, Vitagraph star of rare charm and accomplishments, owes her present eminence to ambition and hard work, which quickly brought ample reward for her natural endowments for the screen. She had only a limited experience in amateur theatricals when she came to New York from Virginia, and while casting about for an opening took a job as a telephone operator in a Gramercy Park apartment. [illegible] offered her a small part in a railway story and her future was assured.

Miss Joyce pictured beautifully and showed true dramatic talent in her first picture, registering ever more effectively with each succeeding release.

Miss Joyce rose to her present eminence in the silent drama with Vitagraph, which she joined May 15, 1916.

Rare Charm and Beauty.

Possessed of rare beauty and personal charm and with marked emotional talent, Albert E. Smith, president of Vitagraph, selected her to play the part of Mary Turner, the most wonderful shop girl in the world, in "Within the Law," and her characterization was declared by critics to be an even more finished piece of emotional acting than that of her predecessors on the speaking stage, including such famous stars as Jane Cowl, Emily Stevens and Margaret Illington.

Her reputation firmly established, Miss Joyce was given leading roles in many of Vitagraph's greatest successes.

This Her Strongest Role.

She is seen in one of her strongest and most appealing roles as Annie Sands in "The Third Degree, a splendid picturization of Charles Klein's famous stage success, which will be seen in the Empire theatre on Oct. 13, 14 and 15. The story is a powerful expose of the vicious so-called "third degree" system used by police to extort confessions from prisoners with no regard to their palpable guilt or innocence.

Tom Terriss directed the picture, and in the supporting cast are Gladden James, Anders Randolf, Miss Hedda Hopper, Herbert Evans, George Backus, J. T. Wade, L. Rogers Lytton and Edward McGuire.

If the victims remain single there is no objection to love at first sight. Some men use all the material they [illegible] in [illegible]

GOOD TIMES AHEAD.

There are good times ahead for music teachers. Every teacher should make plans for a large increase in work this autumn. The war has tremendously increased the public estimation of music. It is recognized in every walk of life as something serious and worth while, and this general attitude is sure to have its reflex in the making of music students. This is no time to be pessimistic on business conditions in this country. We are one of the greatest credited nations in the world, and with a devastated and decimated Europe to rebuild, there cannot help but be occupation, at good wages, for all, with no victory loans to bare the bottoms of pocket boows. The teacher who realizes these conditions and prepares this fall to make the most of them, will enjoy unprecedented prosperity.

Why Corns Hurt

Note this diagram picture of a corn. Note its conical shape. The cause of the corn is pressure. And pressure makes it hurt. The point of the corn is pushed into the nerves. Applying a Blue-jay plaster instantly removes the pressure. Note the felt ring (A) in the picture below. The ring gives barefoot comfort in the tightest shoe.

But that is temporary. One should not continue a ring. The corn should be quickly ended.

The bit of B&B wax in the center of the ring does that (marked B in illustration below). In two days, usually, the whole corn disappears. It stops the pain, then ends the corn. And it wraps the corn so the action is undisturbed.

Then the action of the B&B wax is centered on the corn. Held there by the rubber coated adhesive tape (C) which wraps comfortably around the toe. Healthy tissue is not affected.

These are the reasons why millions of people have adopted the Blue-jay method. Keeping corns is folly when this easy way can end them. Treating them in cruder ways is inexcusable.

For your own sake, convince yourself by applying Blue-jay to one corn.

The Premier Explains The Referendum Ballot

"IF QUESTION ONE IS CARRIED IN THE AFFIRMATIVE THAT ENDS THE OTHER QUESTIONS, BECAUSE IF NUMBER ONE IS CARRIED THE O.T.A. IS REPEALED, AND QUESTIONS TWO, THREE AND FOUR REFER TO AMENDMENTS TO THE O.T.A., AND YOU CAN'T AMEND AN ACT THAT HAS BEEN REPEALED, DECLARES SIR WILLIAM.

In discussing the referendum at Monday night's meeting Sir William Hearst said:

"This is not a plebiscite. It is a vote on a law that is now on the statute books, and it will go into force in the way the questions are answered. There is no room for juggling on the part of the Government, because we have written on the statute books just what will follow your vote.

"Question One, 'Are you in favour of the repeal of the Ontario Temperance Act?' was put on, and in addition the other questions, were put on, because any answer to the one question would not have given the people the chance to register their opinion in the ballot box, as I had promised would be done. Every man and woman surely has a clear opinion upon the first question.

The State Is Plain.

"If you want the O.T.A. repealed vote yes; if you want it sustained vote no. If the majority vote in the affirmative the act says what will be done. It says that the O.T.A. will stand repealed from a date to be proclaimed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, and the Ontario Liquor License Act will be revived. So that the conditions would be brought back similar to what they were prior to September 16, 1916. It is written as plain as we can write it on the statute books.

Effect of "Yes" to Question One.

"If Question One is carried in the affirmative that ends the other questions, because if Number One is carried the O.T.A. is repealed, and Questions Two, Three and Four refer to amendments to the O.T.A., and you can't amend an act that has been repealed. But if Number One is answered in the negative, then Questions Two, Three and Four become important, because they refer to amendments that can be made.

Beer of Ballot Twice as Strong.

"Question two asks: 'Are you in favour of the sale of light beer through Government agencies, and amendments to the O. T. A. to permit of the same?' The beer of the ballot is 2.51 per cent. alcohol by weight, or 5.46 per cent. proof spirits, a little over twice the strength of the beer it is lawful to-day to sell. That was put in that way, because it was what the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada asked for. They were a representative body, and they asked in their resolution that beer of that strength might be sold, and so they have a right to appeal to the people of the Province on that question. If the majority of the people say that they are in favour of Question Two, then beer is going to be sold in Government agencies.

Want Questions Settled Once for All.

"Question Three asks if you are in favor of the sale of light beer in standard hotels, and amendments to the O. T. A. to permit of the sale. That question was asked for this reason: While some people wanted only light beer sold for consumption in private dwellings, others said: 'We want the liberty to get a glass of the light beer. And we want public opinion tested upon every question upon which there is any volume of public opinion, for we want these questions settled once and for all,

"Question Four asks: 'Are you in favor of the sale of all kinds of liquor through Government agencies, and amendments to the O. T. A. to permit of the same?' If you think it is a good thing in this Province to have liquor of all kinds sold through Government agencies for consumption in private dwellings under such regulations as the Board of License Commissioners may make with the approval of the Lieutenant-Governor in Council, then you will vote 'Yes' to Question 4.

To Keep O. T. A. Vote Four 'No's.'

"If you will take each of these questions as a separate proposition you will have no difficulty in understanding what each question means," declared Sir William. "Each question is a definite proposition. If you want the O.T.A. as it is to-day, then you will vote four 'No's.' and it will stay just as it is. You will still be able to get liquor on a doctor's prescription or for sacramental or other purposes as prescribed in-tact."

"By paying a doctor $9 for getting a prescription and twenty-five cents' worth of liquor," shouted someone in the back of the hall amid laughter.

"Whatever is legitimate to pay the doctor you will have to pay," answered the Premier.

"There is another thing. You have to vote four times, but not necessarily four 'No's' or four 'Yeses.' Wherever you vote 'Yes' it will be counted among the 'Yeses,' and wherever you vote 'No' it will be counted among the 'No's'."

Get Soiled First

EVERYONE knows that the cuffs are the most exposed portions of the shirt. They get soiled first.

If you turn the cuffs you can wear the shirt a day or two longer before sending it to the laundry.

But if you turn an ordinary cuff it bulges and looks unsightly. You wouldn't be seen with it.

The new "Double Wear Cuff" is different. It folds just as neat and flat when turned in as when turned out. Your friends cannot tell which side is turned out.

One trip to the laundry is harder on a shirt than two days' wear. Every time you turn your cuffs you save laundry money and get more wear out of the shirt. Get the habit —turn your cuffs—it pays.

Prisoner in Cornwall Jail Tries to Hang Himself.

CORNWALL, Oct. 9. — A young man named James E. Rolland, of Iroquois, who was arrested at Springfield, Mass., last week and brought back to Cornwall by Special Agent Tisdale, of the G. T. R., Montreal, after escaping from a county constable, who effected his arrest on a charge of writing threatening letters to officials of the Grand Trunk Railway, appeared before Judge O'Reilly on Saturday last, and elected to be tried by a jury at the General Sessions, which will be held here in December.

After spending a few days in confinement, he appears to have changed his mind about waiting until December, for when the turnkey went into the jail, he found Rolland hanging by the neck to the bars of his cell door. He had improvised a rope out of the cotton sheet of his bed, and had all but succeeded in ending his life.

Rolland remained in an unconscious condition nearly all morning. He had written a note on the leaf of a memorandum book in an evidently steady hand, before e made the attempt to end his life. The note was in lead pencil, and was as follows:

"My life has been a failure; so I have decided to settle it all. Goodbye. J. E. Rolland."

A few more minutes would have ended Rolland's career. He has been placed under a special guard.

YOUNG MOTHER ARRESTED.

BELLEVILLE, Oct. 9.—At Kaladar Inspector Ruston of the Children's Aid Society, arrested Grace Wood, aged twenty-one years, charged with abandoning her child at Bonar Law Station on the C.P.R. a few days ago. She was brought to Madoc and given a preliminary hearing before Magistrate Casement last night, and was committed for trial. She was brought to the County Jail here. The child was three weeks old and is now being cared for in the Sheuter. The accused claims she has been a school teacher.

GETTING OUT REFERENDUM VOTE

In the general work of the rousing up of the Referendum the Centre Ward has been in the hands of an energetic committee which reports most gratifying results in the canvas

The propositions on the ballot that call for assent to the retention of the Act and the elimination of the other propositions have been supported, so far as promises are concerned, beyond all expectations. In addition the canvas of men of the men's committees is closing up all over the city. The forehanded work devised and instituted has borne fruit in that objections likely to turn up have been forestalled and met.

The several churches of the city will take up the subject in brief three minute addresses prefacing each service, morning and evening on Sunday 12th and Sunday 19th. A strong appeal will be made to support the temperance cause and hold to the principles for which the fight is being made in the cause of temperance.

During the week will be made a liberal distribution of literature, the statements in which will cover possible objections and answer any appeals that may be made to support the side of liquor.

It has been suggested that the medical men of the City might in their capacities as advisers to men, women and indeed to families in general, make statement from their own knowledge of the feebleness of the general contention by some that liquor has large medicinal value. The largest number of the profession decry this theory and now is the time to drive it home. So far the profession has not taken anything like the position it could take in this regard.

With regard to the use of cars and vehicles on voting day, Mr. Andrew Brown has charge of this detail and will be glad to have those willing to assist to advise him of such intention. A large number of cars will be needed as many women should reach the poles and many of whom are unable to walk for any distance. During the day of polling the Y.M.C.A. will be headquarters for cars and transportation, and needs for service can be 'phoned in and will receive attention.

LATEST TYPE OF TOURIST CARS

The Canadian National daily transcontinental train, Toronto-Winnipeg-Vancouver made its initial trip from Toronto, with one of the very latest type of steel tourist cars as part of its equipment, the first of an order of twenty such cars in whose construction every point has been considered for the safety and comfort of passengers. This modern type of tourist car, with anti-telescopic device is of similar design to the standard sleeping coach, exception being they are upholstered in leather instead of plush.

Electrically lighted throughout, all berths, upper and lower, are provided with berth lamps. A new feature for this class of car is that lamps have been installed under the seats in the aisles of the car, so that when the ceiling lamps are turned out for the night light may be provided under berth curtains, a great convenience for passengers when going through the car.

Phosphorus push buttons can be readily seen in the dark, should the passenger require to switch on the light or ring the bell, when the berth is in darkness.

A safety feature introduced is a device for holding down the upper berth which precludes any possibility of the upper berth closing when in use. Separate berth curtains are provided so that passengers in the upper berths will not disturb passengers in the lower.

The kitchen has the latest steel range, facilities for washing dishes, and lockers enable passengers to store their food. Lavatories have received special attention, and provide greater conveniences than the older type. An electric thermostatic heating control can be so adjusted as to regulate the temperature of the car, thus preventing overheating.

Thus with the introduction of the daily service of the Canadian National lines between Toronto-Winnipeg-Vancouver, is the added convenience of the very latest type of tourist cars for second-class passenger who can enjoy a transcontinental trip in every comfort at minimum expense.

Silky Wool From Australia

No other material was ever used in these famous stockings for children.

There have been times when the Australian supply was light. Then, we were unable to produce enough Little Darling and Little Daisy Hosiery to go 'round. For we would not substitute other wool.

We thought it better not to vary the quality of Little Darling and Little Daisy Hosiery.

Mothers, we know, expect in these stockings the finest, softest and best knitted wool yarn. They expect unusual wear. It means much to them to clothe their children in such comfortable, healthful—and, at the same time, such economical—material.

LITTLE DARLING HOSIERY—for babies and tiny tots up to seven—has silken toe and heel.

LITTLE DAISY HOSIERY—for children up to twelve—has extra strength in heel and toe.

More Eggs GUARANTEED

Hens are supplied by nature with 1,200 to 4,000 rudimentary yolks. But a yolk is only half an egg, and a hen won't lay half an egg—it's the whole egg or nothing with her. To lay a whole egg, the hen must have a "white" for a "yolk." If she is to lay 1,000 eggs her feed must supply 1,000 whites as well as 1,000 yolks—she must get "whites" just as she gets yolks, bones and feathers—it's her law. Ordinary grain feeds and "all-egg-makers" will fatten a hen and produce yolks, but do not produce enough "whites" to make her lay any more eggs than usual. Only the feeding of Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder will supply enough elements to make "a white for every yolk," and make a hen LAY MORE EGGS—whiter and better—we guarantee it. The price of Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder is very little more than ordinary feed, but they make a hen lay so many more eggs that there is no comparison of values. If you are losing money on eggs remember no lay you will get from feeding Purina Scratch Feed and Purina Chicken Chowder. TO THE ELECTORS OF THE WEST RIDING OF PETERBOROUGH

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN.—

Having again received the unanimous nomination of the Liberal Convention of West Peterborough, as a candidate for Parliamentary honours at the ensuing Provincial Election, to be held on October 20th, I desire to solicit your hearty support in favour of my election.

WAR WORK

Having represented you for the past five years (war years), I can safely say that during that period, while every effort was being made to win the war—my record is known to you all; and on that record I ask you to judge me on the position I have taken on all measures affecting the war work.

TEMPERANCE QUESTION

When I was elected in 1914, I stated my views on the Temperance question during that campaign; I pledged myself to vote for Temperance legislation on all occasions brought forward by whatever party, and the record in the House will show that I carried out that pledge.

The Referendum vote is to be taken on the same date as the Provincial election, October 20th, and if I am again elected your representative, I promise to give my whole-hearted support to the Government elected to carry out the will of the people, as expressed by their votes on the Referendum ballot.

AGRICULTURAL LEGISLATION

During the years preceding 1914, every one agreed that the Department of Agriculture was asleep. The very first opportunity offered in the House, I introduced the question of a forward movement in Agriculture, and, along with other Liberal members of the House, have earnestly advocated a more strenuous progressive policy in Agriculture.

The shortage of production, the problem of farm help, and the numerous perplexing questions affecting the farmer, cannot be solved unless we seriously consider the cause and apply the remedy.

During the past few years of unrest in the country, due mainly to excessive living costs, I have advocated that demonstration farms be established in different counties, and increased attention be paid to the education to be received in our Agricultural College and Experimental Farms, and that the knowledge gained at the Agricultural College be put into practice on Demonstration Farms, where a profit and loss account could be kept, and the costs of producing 100 pounds of milk, or a pound of pork, or any of the many products of the farm, could be ascertained and established, such information being sadly lacking to-day. By such a system of education, the farm would be looked upon as a business manufacturing plant, that would attract the best brains to the development of the greatest asset in Canada to-day, the Farm. Our production is unlimited. The markets of the world are calling for food, and our own citizens living from hand to mouth at tremendous prices, wondering what the next six months have in store for them.

PROVINCIAL HIGHWAYS

Our Highways need much repair. Auto and truck traffic is becoming daily increased, and we must develop a road policy which will make for hauling our produce to market as cheaply as possible. To this matter, I promise to give my best thought.

EDUCATION

Education, I am pleased to say, is in the hands of a new Minister, in whom we hope for great things. I believe in a separate education for the City and Rural districts. An Education in the Rural districts to educate the boy and girl the great lessons of Agriculture, making two blades of grass grow where one grew before, developing the average cow of Ontario to-day, which gives 5,000 lbs. of milk in a milking period to 10,000 lbs., producing a pound of pork or beef at a lower cost, and giving to the world the blessing which we most need: a reduction in the high cost of living.

THE LABOUR QUESTION

Regarding the important question of Labour, my own policy has been to treat labour as I would wish to be treated myself. I have had a good deal of experience with labour of various kinds and conditions, and have never had any trouble along that line, and do not expect to have any.

OUR RETURNED HEROES

To me, the welfare of the returned soldier and soldiers' wives, is one of the most essential duties of our country. Therefore, I promise that I will give my hearty support to every movement calculated to promote their very best interests. The soldiers who fought for me for five years deserve, and may expect to receive, my earnest consideration during the remaining years of my life.

THE WOMAN VOTE

I am delighted to know that women are to enjoy equal privileges with men in the use of the franchise at this election, and in the exercise of this privilege, I have the greatest faith in their good judgment and purifying influence. Their power with the ballot on October 20th, especially with the Prohibition and Labour problems, will, I feel certain, be of far-reaching effect. I will, therefore, consider the votes from the ladies counted in my favour at the approaching election, to be instruction to take high grounds on all matters calculated to elevate the morals of this community as well as of the whole Dominion.

CONCLUSION

These questions I have dealt with are, to my mind, the outstanding questions of the day. If I am elected again as your representative, I promise to give the best of my ability, my mature judgment on all questions affecting the interests of the West Riding of Peterborough, the Province of Ontario, the Dominion of Canada, and the British Empire, of which we, to-day, are so justly proud.

Thanking you, Ladies and Gentlemen, for your support in the past, and soliciting your support again on the 20th day of October. I remain,

Your obedient servant,

GEO. A. GILLESPIE

LABOUR PARTY MEETING AT MIDDLETON SCHOOL

MR. NOBLE OF TORONTO WAS AMONG THE SPEAKERS, ALSO THE LOCAL LABOUR CANDIDATE.

Thos. Tooms, Independent Labour candidate, held a meeting at Middleton school which eventually turned into an enthusiastic gathering, when the speakers were about to finish, the audience called for more, so another meeting was mutually arranged for Thursday evening next. Oct 16th. Mr. Noble, of Toronto, was the first speaker, followed by the candidate, Thos. Tooms, also T. Lane and F. McMurray. Things of mutual interest were dealt with in the cost of production and the cost to the consumer and the many-sided question, cost of living, was also dealt with. A spirit of co-operation and a better understanding were arrived at.
